In all, sixty-four interviews were successfully arranged with the executive officers of the various corporations in which qualifying results. It is far too soon to state, with any degree of certainty, what final results of these contacts will be. An opening has been made, acquaintance has been established and the opportunity for active negotiations has been secured. Sometimes these negotiations extend over many months and even years before the outcome is definitely known. For instance, it required six years of persistent effort and a number of visits to the head office at Aurora, Ill., before the Stephens-Adamson Corporation finally decided to come to Belleville. But the ultimate result was abundantly worth all the time and effort expended.

I can however already be positively stated that promising negotiations have been opened with what a great industry in Kansas City that would expect to employ from 400 to 500 workers in the proposed Canadian plant. Two other corporations located in Los Angeles, Cal., are also requesting the fullest information about conditions and possibilities at Belleville.

Detailed reports of the various interviews secured during this extended and important tour are given in detail in the following paragraphs:

Moulded Products to Expand.

During the year, industrial trips were made to Montreal and Toronto.

Another important industrial development has been the acquirement of the former Tiger Tire property from H. Martin by the University Moulded Products Ltd., a group of interests of additional land to occupy their attention at home in developing the huge contracts without making further commitments elsewhere.

The commission took steps early in the year to have the entire highway from Belleville to Bancroft located, in co-operation with the Department of Highways. Mr. Roscoe Robson, M.P.P., was invited to bring the matter to the attention of the government and press for an early completion of No. 62 north of Madoc and the assumption of the Bancroft-Belleville county road.

A hunting field for aircraft near Belleville receiving much attention during the year. Ald McDougall gave much time and effort looking towards a realization of this proposal.

In closing I must again express my gratitude to all the members of the Commission for their support and co-operation the past year but in particular the enthusiastic and effective assistance given by the Chairman of the Commission, R. A. Pringle. By his genial personality and good nature and his personal influence with industrial governments at Toronto and Montreal, he has made a contribution to the industrial progress of Belleville which cannot be fully realized at the present time but which will, in all probability, exert a strong influence for progress in the years immediately ahead.

Yours for a Greater Belleville,

J. Owen Herity,
Industrial Commissioner.

Extend Lend Lease If Russia Enters War Against Japs

Washington, Feb. 12 —(AP)— A pending lend lease agreement with Russia contains a provision permitting continued shipment of arms to the Soviets after Germany's defeat, if Russia intends entering the war against Japan.

Russian signature on the agreement is expected soon.

The clause is similar to those in all lend-lease agreements defining the direct power of the President to continue or terminate deliveries whenever he sees fit. But in this case it is being interpreted by officials as having special significance because of the Russo-Japanese situation.

President Roosevelt went to the Big Three meeting at Casablanca to have some final word from Marshal Stalin on his plans for fighting Japan. American officials have predicted privately along that that Marshal Stalin will enter the war in Asia.

The problem with respect to lend-lease has been to arrange for shipments to Russia after the defeat of Germany which would serve the interests of the United States regardless of which course Russia might take. The agreement which is to be signed, probably before the end of the month, by the United States, Britain and Canada, covers several points in this respect.

(Canada, which does not receive lend-lease aid from the United States, has sent much foodstuff and equipment to Russia under her mutual-aid plan.)

Four Fatalities During Weekend

By The Canadian Press

Four fatalities, all of them in southern Ontario, were reported in Eastern Ontario during the weekend. Three men died in the Toronto area and the other in Brantford, Ont.

Robert Gemmell, 61, of Toronto, was found dead in a cell at Clarkmont-police station in the west end of the city early yesterday. Police said he had been arrested on a drunkenness charge. An inquest will be held.

Pte. John Wesley Humphreys, 37, of Toronto, died Saturday night of a broken neck after he fell down a flight of stairs at the home of a friend.

Harold O. Johnson of Etobicoke, near Toronto, was killed while working on the highway early yesterday when he was struck by an automobile which did not stop, Provincial Police reported.

Alfred Wright died in hospital in Brantford on Saturday following an accident in a saw mill at nearby Waterford, when his right arm was injured by a saw.

NEW BISHOP

Belfast, Northern Ireland (CP) —Very Rev. W. B. Kerr, Dean of Belfast, has been elected bishop of the new Down and Connor and Dromore.

Chapters Nearing Quota of $1,000 Needed for Books

The Service Libraries Department of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire has supplied over 300,000 books during the past five months for the leisure reading of troops in all women's services. But even that number of books divided among the hundreds of camps in the many branches of the service adds up to but a very few books each per year.

Personnel serving at naval bases, those on convoy duty, and guarding the lonely stations in the nation's outposts, have plenty of time for reading and these men and women must have books which will satisfy their craving for suitable reading material.

Books written in and about the world in which they live and the world in which they will return are the type most desired and it is their right to have such books now while the books will provide needed relief from the weight of long routine.

Donations will gladly be accepted at any of the four local bank branches or by Mrs. Hoyle and Mrs. B. C. Donnan. Below are contributions received to date.

District Kinsmen Meet in City

Approximately 65 delegates from 26 Kinsmen clubs in District No. 6, in which the local club is ranked, met at the Quinte Hotel over the week-end for their annual meeting, a year plans of the club.

Orrie Vandervoort, district governor of Kinsmen, called and presided over the meeting which was attended by Ken Soper, national president, from Montreal, Delegates were present from as far east as Verdun, Quebec, while another Kinsmen from Vancouver, sent his hand to present a brief for a Kinsmen post-war plan.

One of the principal matters of business discussed during the meeting was the celebration by Kinsmen clubs across Canada of the 25th anniversary of the founding of the club. On Tuesday, February 20th, Kinsmen clubs across the Dominion will meet at the same hour to celebrate the anniversary. The meeting here of the Belleville club will be changed to coincide with other meetings in Canada.

On the anniversary the national broadcast will speak over the radio from Hamilton which is the birthplace of the Kinsmen Club. B. C. Sisler, manager of the Bank of Montreal here, is one of the Kinsmen directors formed in Hamilton.

Corbyville Earns Right to Advance Into the Finals

Demonstrating a power that would not be denied following a storrless first period, Corbyville earned the right to advance to the finals in the Central Hastings Rural Hockey league when it trounced Friday evening they swamped Centenary under an avalanche of goals to win by a 10-1 count. They won both games of the series, took the round by a 16-1 count and will enter the finals against the Holden-Zion Hill - West Huntingdon "Combines."

A strong defence coupled with some nice work in goal by Hall kept the Corbyville forces out of the score sheet in the first canto but power was at last to be turned on and in the middle stanza Empson, Bentley and Martin each found time for goals, while Nicholson counted for the Centenary counter on a pass from Bellah.

In the final period, it was a parade for the Corbyville team, Laird counting three times and Gray, Empson and Woods getting the others. The game was fairly clean, Centenary getting a heavier penalty period while Martin and F. Waite received penalties for fighting in the last period.

Lineups—Centenary—Goal, Hall; defence, May and M. Waite; forwards, D. Waite, F. Waite and Cole; subs, Bellah, Donnelly and Nicholson. Corbyville—Goal, Rice; defence, Woods and Martin; forwards, Empson, Martin and Jarrell; Subs Wall, Gray, Thompson, Sheffield, Sills and Forsythe.

LOCAL, DISTRICT KEY MEN GATHER

Cost Accountants, Plant Superintendents Etc. and Others Hear J. A. Lizotte

Sponsored by the Bay of Quinte chapter of the Ontario Society of Cost Accountants and Industrial Engineers, a joint meeting was held at the Y.M.C.A. with the Superintendents' Association together with approximately forty other key men of the various industries of Belleville and vicinity.

The meeting, under the joint chairmanship of Mr. Moore, President of the Superintendents' Association and Mr. Mark Vanner, Executive Chairman of the Society of Cost Accountants, was well attended, some 75 members and guests being present.

The speaker of the evening, Mr. J. A. (Paddy) Lizotte, chose as his subject "Should Superintendents' Meetings with Accountants be Held." Mr. Lizotte, in typical fashion, spoke straight from the shoulder, pulling no punches, soon convinced his listening that it not only should be superintendents and co-operate with cost accountants, but that the needed cooperation was the weight of long routine.

Donations will gladly be accepted at any of the four local bank branches or by Mrs. Hoyle and Mrs. B. C. Donnan. Below are contributions received to date.

The War Today— Battle of Germany Goes Well For Allies on East, West Fronts

By DEWITT MACKENZIE,
(Associated Press War Analyst)

The Battle of Germany—last act of the European war—has on the whole gone well for the United Nations during over a hard fought weekend. The Western Allies, in Germany's preparatino for their projected all-out assault, fought their way into two strategic river positions, the Roer, in the north, and the Saar, to the south. Moreover, the position has grown worse sadly because of the millions of refugees from areas captured by the Red armies and because of disorganized transportation. That's a black picture and its importance can't be over-emphasized.

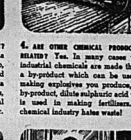
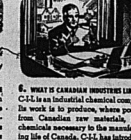
C-I-L ANSWERS SOME OF YOUR QUESTIONS ABOUT CHEMISTRY



1. WHAT IF INDUSTRIAL CHEMISTRY? Industrial chemistry is the taking of relatively small group of basic substances and, by the apparent magic of chemistry, so changing them that it takes on new forms and properties which make them useful in the domestic and industrial activities of the nation.

2. CAN YOU GIVE AN INSTANCE OF THIS? Yes. Let us take salt as an example. Salt is pumped from the earth in the form of brine. Some of this is evaporated and purified that we may use it as it is subjected to electrolysis which splits it up into sodium and chlorine.



3. WHAT PURPOSES DO THESE THINGS SERVE? From the sodium come caustic soda which is used in the making of soap, certain explosives, bleaching powder, "Calliphane." Chlorine is used as a bleach in textile mills and paper mills, is the dry-cleaning industry, metal trades and to purify your drinking water.

4. ARE OTHER CHEMICAL PRODUCTS SO RELATED? Yes. In many cases where industrial chemicals are made there is a by-product which may be used in making explosives you produce, as a by-product, dilute sulphuric acid which is used in the fertilizers. The chemical industry hates waste!

5. WHAT DOES THIS MEAN TO THE AVERAGE INDUSTRIAL USER? It means that, through chemistry, raw materials are made useful, industry is supplied with chemicals which are necessary, processes are simplified and hundreds of new jobs are provided. Any day a new chemical discovery may start a new industry in Canada.

6. WHAT IS CANADIAN INDUSTRIES LIMITED? C-I-L is an industrial chemical company. Its work is to produce, where possible from Canadian raw materials, those chemicals necessary to the manufacturing life of Canada. C-I-L has introduced new industries into Canada — such as the making of "Calliphane" and nylon.

The Great Conferences

One of the greatest meetings of all time, that of the "Big Three," has been going on in the Black Sea area, a meeting the repercussions of which will ring down the centuries. It coincides with what will prove to be the last desperate efforts of the Germans, caught as they are in the giant trap which has extended about all Germany until now the military pressure is exerted from the Berlin side of the frontiers.

These meetings of the Allied leaders have been for the United Nations world a charting of progress, events of vast importance issuing from the formulae adopted successively and successfully by the Allied chiefs. They have been giant steps in the greatest war of all time, steps that have been sanely and carefully taken, steps that have progressively advanced along the way of victory. It seems a fateful day when the world used to read of the two Axis partners, Adolf Hitler and Mussolini foregathering in the Alps or elsewhere as a regular form of inter-German-Italian action. As time passed the Axis partners' meetings grew dimmer and at last dimmed out, for there was no Mussolini in power to meet them. If Hitler has held meetings since then it has not been with anyone else who is "down and out" as ever was any tyrant and it has been with his Nazi gangster friends only. Thereafter Hitler took action on his own initiative and initiation with grave miscalculations and dire results for the German armies.

But no meetings in history can have had more far-reaching effects militarily and from the standpoint of the all-out effort of the United Nations' unity of view and action than the great series that have been held by the Allies.

Stark War Faces Huns at Home

Germany has run into evil days of her own making and these days will bring Germans to acceptance of unconditional surrender however much the Nazis fight against the East-West-South blows of the Allied offensives. These was a time when the war was entirely upon territory outside Germany but most of the war is being waged on German soil with invasions on both fronts to the East and to the West. There was a time when Germany's capital was far away from the battlelines but that distance has been virtually wiped out on the east and is being reduced on the West. Once the only things the Germans thought of were their victories and the number of overrun states and the loot they expected. Now they have war outside the east of Berlin.

A vast change has come. The Russian guns call to mind to Berlin, which is a much battered and disrupted capital, and shows according to reports the stress and strain of preparations against the spirtroach of the Red armies.

What a distressing and annoying enlightenment has come to the Huns at home which is now their front! Once German arms were moving frontiers farther and farther away. Now the fronts move back and have crossed the German frontiers. Once the German people heard of victories and propaganda built up by Dr. Goebbels, all to the disadvantage of the Allies and the exaltation of the German ideal. But now German propaganda has had to take a change of attitude, it uses the advance of the Allied armies to try to frighten the Germans into a fight to the death.

Once the Germans were the enforced and willing bearers of German expansions and victories—that was in the early days, now they are the enforced but unwilling listeners of the news of Allied offensives.

For a long time of course war from the skies has been visiting German plants of war manufacture, but the "camp of armies on German soil is something new that the enemy can hardly realize. The Hitler that led them has surely not been able to explain to the German people such a thing has come about that Nazi plans have so far all gone astray.

Germany, subject to regimentation without any objection by the people because the German people never took it into their heads to seek greater freedom and responsible government allowed a demagogue Hitler to put her on a war basis and go out after the world's crown. He has failed and the people have enough evidence of his failure, but will they do anything but obey tyranny to the end? Hitler calls on them to die if necessary for the misery and woes he has brought to them.

Now long will Germany endure this and the terrorism of Himmler?

Sleet

(New York Times)

The meteorologist draws fine distinctions between snow pellets and sleet. In his business no doubt such distinctions are necessary. He also distinguishes between sleet and freezing rain. But when one is out afoot in a snowstorm, and when what have been soft flakes turn to pellets flung into the face with the force of birdshot, most of us growl at "sleet" and let it go at that; the immediate concern is to find shelter, not the exact word. And when one is abroad in a car and the precipitation covers the windshield with ice and the road with a glare on which the tire can find no traction, most of us have no compunction about growling at "sleet" once more.

The meteorologist is thinking about what happened in the strata of air above the earth, which layers were what temperature and which ones were saturated with moisture. He is noting that snow formed at a certain altitude, that it came through an air layer saturated with moisture and in liquid form despite a temperature well below freezing. That moisture, he tells himself, caught at the flakes and froze there; and since this was a deep layer of moist area, the original flakes emerged from it as snow pellets, milky granules of ice which sting our faces, unmercifully when driven by the earth-wind.

We call it sleet. The meteorologist reaches for a more distinctive word and comes along with rain, we find some satisfaction let the resemblance between "graupel" and "gravel." But when we get caught in a storm of it, it's just plain sleet, for all that.

Dream Building On Grand Scale

(Montreal Herald)

Although John Bull has blue-printed a new home for his apartment along strictly conventional lines, he has also drawn up a companion project as fanciful as any of the be-gaggled "dream houses" which our hard-headed realists are so busily debunking today.

Still definitely in the dream stage, but listed as a post-war possibility, is a vast television theatre beneath the Thames to which Parliament debates would be transmitted, complete with every word and gesture, from the adjacent legislative halls.

Britishers, today denied the pleasure of either hearing or seeing their legislators at work owing to the restricted accommodation of visitors' galleries would enjoy the spectacle from ringside seats in the subterranean theatre, while comfortably sipping the inevitable tea.

Just to give the project utilitarian appeal, its sponsors note that the auditorium under the Thames would provide an ideal emergency bomb-proof Parmiament in the event of its being bombed out during some future war.

The under-water television theatre may prove the film stuff as dreams are made of. But even in its present insubstantial form it will bring comfort to the dream house builder here in Canada—perhaps encouragement to add another wing to his all-plastic castle in the air.

Since 1939 water and farm drainage schemes in the country of Hereford, England, have improved the productive capacity of some 1,200 farms, benefitting 11,000 acres.

LINCOLN

They could not see, who stood too near,
Beyond their little day.
The friends and foes his faults were clear,
But that's the common way.
Oft when of him his neighbors spoke
'Twas merely to repeat a joke.

That Lincoln loved his fellow men
They knew. They'd heard him sigh
Because for freedom once again
Brave boys were asked to die.
That he was merciful they knew,
But deeds of mercy many do.

With patience infinite he bore
The barbs of malice vile.
He wore the meanest others wore,
According to the style.
So, not until the day he died
Did men look on his nobler side.

As then, still now it seems to be:
Man's spirit flesh conceals
And seldom lets his fellows see
The greatness time reveals.
Death was the door, and time the key.
To glory's immortality!

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS.

20 YEARS AGO

FEBRUARY 19th., 1925

At the February meeting of the Quarterly Official Board of the Methodist Church on the Canniffon Circuit, a unanimous invitation was extended to the Rev. R. Farquhar to remain as pastor on the circuit for the fifth year.

Mr. Thomas Donahue, Dunbar Street, this city, has taken a long lease on the Grand Opera House in Barrie, Ontario, and he will shortly have to reside in that town. Recently about forty of his friends called at his home and after expressing regrets at his departure from here, presented him with a handsome smoking set.

Mr. F. Mallory of this city, is spending a few days in Toronto.

Mr. Jesse Donahue, of Orillia, is visiting his home on North Front St.,

At the annual meeting of the members of St. Andrew's Church in connection with the Canniffon Methodist Church the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. C. Benedict; first vice-president, Mrs. A. Loucks; second vice-president, Mrs. W. Clapp; third vice-president, Mrs. J. Brenton; secretary, Mrs. R. Vandervoort; treasurer, Mrs. H. Empson.

FEBRUARY 12th, 1915

Members of the Idle Rich Club to the number of twenty-five enjoyed a sleigh ride party last evening and on returning to the club rooms on Front St., refreshments were served.

Mr. A.D. McIntosh, representative of the Department of Agriculture, addressed the students at the high school here this morning.

At the annual meeting of John Street Presbyterian Church, Rev. D. V. Sinclair presided and Mr. J. Mackay acted as secretary. All the reports showed a very successful year. The new management consists of Mr. W. C. Mikel and Mr. H. Hill; Mr. Thos. Ritchie and Mr. J. Adams were re-elected. The trustees of the congregation are Messrs. Thos. Ritchie, R. Templeton, D. R. Brown, W. B. Robinson and A. J. McLaren.

Belleville Market Prices: Butter 32 cents to 35 cents per pound; eggs 32 cents to 34 cents per dozen; chickens $1 to $1.50 per pair; potatoes 65 cents to 70 cents per bag.

FEBRUARY 19th., 1900

The President of the Prince Edward Farmers' Labor Association has called for 200 farm laborers, also fifty domestic servants, all of whom will be employed in Hastings and Prince Edward Counties.

Messrs. Sidney Dellor, "Freddie" Austin, Harry McKay and Jack Hayes will render vocal solos at the concert in the Oddfellows' Hall on Friday evening.

Mr. W. R. Aylsworth has sold his late residence on John St. between Bridge and Queen Sts., to Ald. Jarvis W. Marks, and has bought for his own use the house on Dundas Street belonging to Bridge Street Methodist Church and which is at present occupied by Capt. H. Allen.

Mr. R. G. Clute, barrister, Toronto, formerly of this city, has been appointed a judge in the High Court.

Mr. Garnet Retallack of Ottawa, formerly of this city, is spending a short time here.

50 YEARS AGO

FEBRUARY 12th., 1890

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Harris celebrated the twentieth anniversary of their wedding and entertained a large number of friends at an assembly in the Foresters' Hall.

Mr. Willis Campbell of the J. F. Thompson Drygoods Store, was given a pleasant surprise on Saturday evening when after closing hours the staff gathered around and presented him with a handsome present. Mr. Campbell will shortly take charge of the drygoods department in the store of Messrs. Vandervoort and Gibson, Glasgow Warehouse.

The plan for the production of "Charley's Aunt" at the opera house will open tomorrow morning.

Mr. Joseph P. Reeves' faithful old dog died yesterday of old age. "Daisy" was a small black and tan, and had long enjoyed the age of seventeen years and seven months. The dog was well known to many citizens.

Rich Prize of Silesia

By WALTER MONFRIED

(In The Milwaukee Journal)

Silesia is not known throughout the world for its scenic beauty or its romantic vistas. The guide book never say "see Silesia and die." Indeed, some of the booklets of the Nazi Party Going to Europe" school don't even mention Silesia. Most of the tourists don't get out that way.

It is one of the modest parts of the civilized globe. Even the potentest politicians who have been kicking the various Silesias around for the last thousand years are not interested in the beauty exclusively.

Silesia has lots of coal, for Silesia has one of the best deposits in Europe—as well as zinc, lead and iron. Next to the Ruhr, it is Germany's greatest source of coal and iron. It also has potatoes, barley, rye, timber, pure mazdaan, fruits and more potatoes. All such things mean peasants, soldiers and ministers. And these kings and ministers have been bearing down on Silesia for centuries.

Right now the Russians are moving in. Silesia is a prize of war, and in any century Silesia has been over-rumbled, so much by its ambitious neighbors that the people have become inured for getting confused about it. You have Germans in Upper Silesia, Lower Silesia, Austrian Silesia, Bohemian Silesia, Polish Silesia and German Silesia.

Then Silver which rises in the Sudetic Mountains and flows northwest to the Baltic, developed Upper and Lower Silesia. More than 3,000,000 persons live in Silesia. Densities are higher per square mile in Upper Silesia than in Switzerland. European mountains north of the Alps are the Sudetic Mountains. Upper Silesia is the rugged, untilled, mineral area, with a strong Polish character—the Poles have had a Silesian press since Low. Silesia is more Germanic, with a Polish tarnish of farm and forest.

Throughout Silesia you may hear German and Polish and Bohemian spoken. The Slavic and Teutonic worlds meet here, because the Protestant and Catholic, and not always peacefully.

After the war of 1918, confusion and fighting among nationalities welled up with a bubbling violence. The wrangling was punctuated by many a broken truce. The League of Nations' council and the League of Nations' assembly in Geneva, Switzerland, were busy for years. Finally, the Upper Silesian plebiscite language predominated was awarded Lower Silesia, and the rest was divided between Germany and Poland, 43 communes to 40. And there was a Polish minority in all sides.

The Germans of Silesia bear no great love for other German refugees from Austrian Silesia. Their hatred of the Prussians is traditional, deep and unconcealed, as the traveler will find out. The Prussians are the Silesian equivalent of Yankees.

Breslau itself, the big town of Silesia, is a Prussian garrison capital. It has notable churches, one of which, St. Elizabeth's, is Gothic architecture is highly praised by experts. Legnitz, another Silesia town, has a fine old Rathaus, many public buildings and the relics of a ducal palace.

But the countryside, especially of Upper Silesia, is something else again. The visitor misses the fine old Prussian opulence, the neatness of landscape, the well-fed cattle. He does not prevail throughout the rest of Germany. Instead, he encounters centuries of conquerors and industrial exploitation and exhaustion.

The peasants, men and women, toil without any visible reward. They have so many fields to work that they have to labor for endless hours and doorways. The winter is long and hard. Silesians must walk far, some times, to get back their firewood, in cart or on back. Many Silesians are poor. You are entering the vast Slavic world. Industry is there, too, and the mills. The women and children gather and carry the loads. Potato fields without end. Women and children go up and down the rows of potatoes, with an important staple crop.

Fifty miles from Breslau, the traveler comes upon a wonderful region, the Riesengebirge, Bohemia, parks, golf courses and hotels in the mountainside. It is a favorite resort for many nations, that its benefits are open to the rich Jew and Czech laborer of the industrial area. Silesia is a land of work, not play.

The Silesians to have been the first into Silesia ten centuries ago. Their chief of Moravia was in charge. The Czech word for country Poland owned it, and Bohemia and Poland were the first Slavic kingdoms. Kings named Boleslav and Wenceslas, whom you may know, divided it into Upper and Lower Silesia and that each of his two surviving sons would get a sizable dukedom.

Around the thirteenth century Silesia was a cosmopolitan region, and the dukes thought that a German civilization would help. German colonists were invited to enter, they accepted the invitation, and by the fourteen century almost all of Silesia was German, with a Polish tarnish of farm and forest.

Throughout Silesia you may hear German and Polish and Bohemian spoken. The Slavic and Teutonic worlds meet here, because the Protestant and Catholic, and not always peacefully.

After the war of 1918, confusion and fighting among nationalities welled up with a bubbling violence. The wrangling was punctuated by many a broken truce. The Czech word for country Poland owned it, and Bohemia and Poland were the first Slavic kingdoms. Kings named Boleslav and Wenceslas, whom you may know, divided it into Upper and Lower Silesia and that each of his two surviving sons would get a sizable dukedom.

Around the thirteenth century Silesia was a cosmopolitan region, and the dukes thought that a German civilization would help. German colonists were invited to enter, they accepted the invitation, and by the fourteen century almost all of Silesia was German, with a Polish tarnish of farm and forest.

But the Prussian king had a guilty conscience. He imagined (wrongly, justification) that his foes to the south might try to take Silesia away from him, so he had the Prussian army invade it and demolish to protect his loot. In 1740, at Mollwitz, there was a warfor him for the second time.

The bloody and climactic struggle for Silesia was in the Seven Years War, which involved the entire continent and ended in 1763. Frederick found himself against Austria, Russia, France, Saxony and Sweden, and his resources, perhaps, he suffered crushing defeats, was on the point of ending his life in despairy but he pulled through, by sourcefulness, and luck, and clung to Silesia. In so doing he made Prussia to a first class power and established his own reputation as one of history's most effective generals.

Silesia remained a Germanic bulwark until the cataclysm of 1918. It then went to pieces literally, until Adolf Hitler followed the example of his predecessor Frederick, and brought it "home to the Reich." In the early years of the present-war, Silesia was safe from the foe, and the Nazis set up many industries in the cities there. But Silesia isn't safe any longer.

HEART WON'T PUMP

Vancouver, Feb. 13 — (CP) — Twenty-year-old Colin Gray has a heart it stems normal size, doctors have told his parents, and the boy needs one of the most complex operations known in heart surgery. Because the size of the heart, it will not pump enough blood to his legs and feet in sufficient quantity to enable the boy to live.

THE BLOOD CALCIUM.

A reader informs me that when he asked his dentist about calcium deficiency as a factor of softness, crumbling and rapid decay of his teeth, the dentist did not appear to get the idea but said it was a simple matter to determine precisely. The dentist sent the patient to a laboratory and the technician measured the blood calcium. The calcium level was within the normal limits between 9 and 11 milligrams per 100 cc—so the dentist concluded that no lack of calcium deficiency could be dismissed.

But that is pretty darn scientific, but it doesn't mean that the patient's teeth get all the calcium they need.

Its rickets, which is essentially due to calcium deficiency, the blood calcium is within normal limits in most instances. In tetany, too, which is due to vitamin D deficiency and inadequate intake of calcium, the blood calcium is often within normal limits.

The blood calcium level is maintained at a pretty constant normal concentration, being found only below normal only in certain critical emergencies. In this respect it is like the blood sugar. A person may have the idea of calcium deficiency in every case of rickets but tests show the calcium content of the blood is normal. A good deal of trouble which responds well to calcium and vitamin D feeding would go unrelieved.

The blood calcium is the common manifestation of adult tetany, characterized by cramps in legs and arms, particularly in the latter, especially in the night. It is seldom that we have tetany when the blood calcium is below normal in such sufferers, and calcium administration gives relief from the painful cramps over night. Likewise a period when they increase their calcium without vitamin D intake. Often where the cramps occur nearly every night they will come within twenty-four hours after the first dose of calcium and vitamin D by taking his or her diet with a suitable calcium and vitamin D ration once a day.

Take headache, plain "nervous" headache, migraine, cluster headache, neuralgic headache—few of these problems are due to calcium, yet many experience prompt relief from calcium and vitamin D supplementing their diet with calcium and vitamin D.

A great many young women particularly who have an abnormal craving for chalk (pica) and others, as, sweets) may consume far too

THE SECOND MILE

In the sermon on the Mount, their route for the king's service.
according to Matthew 5:41, Jesus Under the Roman system and offisaid:

"And whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain."

That is the only place in the King James Version of the Bible where "mile" occurs.

The word "mile" comes from "mille," meaning "thousand." The Roman mile was a thousand long paces and was equivalent to nearly 5,000 feet.

The Greek word translated "compel" in Matthew 5:41 is from a Persian word, "angareuo." The same term is used in Matthew 27:32, where it is related that Simon of Cyrene was compelled to bear the cross of Jesus.

Royal couriers and dispatch carriers in the ancient Persian Empire were privileged to impress both men and beasts of burden along cials had the authority to compel the services of citizens and animals to carry their baggage. The system was, apparently, a form of taxation, was one of the heavy burdens exactions imposed on the Jews by the Roman rulers. Hence the reference notice any Jewish subject of Rome might be called upon by any civil or official to become a common beast of burden.

Jesus undoubtedly alluded to this practice when he said, "whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain."

He had to be hitched his followers to pay their taxes, willingly and to bear their heavy burdens cheerfully; that is, to make their contributions to the kingdom of God rather than by doing more than was expected of them. He used another phase of "Render unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's."

The Merry Widow

(The following political history of "The Merry Widow" was written for a Chicago tribune column.)

Location: Vienna, first decade of this century. Floaters: Librettist Leo Stein, composer Franz Lehar, regimental band leader.

Purpose: To pick up some change for Stein and Lehar. Cashier: Crown Prince of Montenegro, man about town and "Merry Widow" admirer's night place. Launching technique: The gentleman greeting with free tickets.

Witness: That evening's show and but critical member of Lehar's and other choruses. Place: Vienna's Theater-an der Wien.

Precincts: Complete flop. Reasons: Deeper Danilo's popularity with the ingenuous and theatregoers' preference for operettas. Reference to the rescue: Good-for-nothing Danilo, Montenegro's playboy North German princess, was Crown Prince Danilo's fiancee. He was likely to be interested in the "Merry Widow" operetta. Lucky chance, "Merry Widow" modestly opened in Hamburg, Next step: "Command performance" in Berlin. Political and artistic success. Political influence in used "catchy" music. The "Widow" returns to Vienna triumphantly.

Edwards, London producer, takes option on Danilo's reality $50,000 bonus to acquire the rights for the world-speaking countries. Leon and Lebedeff, Broadway fan, the back, Edwards sells the American rights for a hundred times the purchase price to Harry W. Savage, famous impresario. Savage organizes touring American company. Runs for several years thereafter.

At that time Montenegro met Danilo, gave Romanian, in a New York night club, quiet honeymoon dining room job, reminiscing of Vienna. Meanwhile, Danilo and his kingdom disappeared.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

A Valentine's Day Dinner

Dear Mrs. Beeckman,—

1. My husband and I have invited six or our intimate friends for an informal dinner (perhaps "supper" would be a better word, as we want to have it very simple) on Valentine's Day at seven o'clock. As I say, I would like to have a simple menu, but Valentine's Day will you please suggest a menu that I myself can prepare without too much fuss? I would like to have the guests seated at table — not buffet service.

2. And would you please also suggest a centerpiece. I could make (I'm fairly ingenious about carrying out a theme), but I can't seem to hit on one now, and I find it impossible to buy the usual Valentine accessories.)

Thank you.

— E.M.B.

1. As the first course for your "valentine-y" menu, I suggest tomato bouillon or cream of tomato soup; or fruit cup with the topping cherry cut heart-shaped. Then chicken a la King or creamed chicken (decorated with some narrow strips of pimiento), served on heart-shaped toast; or cream chicken and peas on heart-shaped patty shells. For salad course: a colorful vegetable salad, featuring cooked beets, slivers of carrots, heart-shaped pieces of beet, and so forth (you might like to serve it on a bed of crisp white cabbage opened like a rose and topped with the centre). Your simple but gala-looking dessert might be ice cream with a red jelly sauce (or cherry sauce, or raspberry ice); and with it, heart-shaped cookies. Or a layer cake decorated with hearts cut out of candy pate!

2. For your centrepiece, you might make a large gold-fashioned valentine out of lace paper doilies, and decorate it with cut-out hearts, cupids, roses, and perhaps hearts cut from gilt paper pasted over cardboard. Or your centrepiece could charmingly be used to fashion a large, heart-shaped red-crêpe-paper-covered Art Horner pie, with narrow red ribbons extending in the individual places; and "when the pie is opened" it reveals a Valentine favor for each guest, no matter of a "romantic" kind. And perhaps make heart-shaped place cards and, for nut or mint containers, individual baskets with attractive red and white frills; and do, if possible, use red candles.

Why Not Send a Congratulatory Message?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman,—

A former business associate of mine has sent me an invitation to her wedding — the ceremony, that is, and not to the reception. When they were last together in the office, our relationship was pleasant but not cordial. I have never been to her home, and was surprised to receive the invitation. If I should attend the church wedding, would it be proper for me to send a gift? I am puzzled, because in all previous instances I have known the bride well and have attended both wedding and reception. If the sending of a gift would be improper, what would be the correct thing for me to do? And if I should not attend, is it proper to send a congratulatory message?

— B. M.

The general rule is that when one is invited to attend a wedding in the church ceremony only, there is no obligation to send a gift, whether or not we attend. In this case, this girl is such a casual acquaintance that you could find no reason for your sending her a gift, although of course it is not improper for you to send some simple remembrance if you wish. The invitation to the church ceremony does not require an acknowledgment, unless a reply is especially asked for on the invitation. And there is not compulsion for an acquaintance to send a congratulatory message; it is always a gracious gesture.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

LIPS THAT ARE TULIP RED

One of the advantages of living in this era is that one enjoys the benefits of a portable complexion. You carry it around with you in your hand bag. You keep it in the beauty box. You put it on; you take it off. If your face doesn't please you at the moment, you make yourself a new one.

You young, be you middle aged, be you numbered among the grandmas, a bit of make-up, cleverly applied, imparts vitality and vividness or appearance by giving the perfumed calcimine and the counterfeit blush. Rouge is a universal practice. "And why not, if it makes the sisters happier, braver, better looking?

Those, one-time bright red apple splotches on the cheeks have retired to a faint rose. Lip coloring has also subdued. The poet wrote about "lips where rubies grew" and ruby is a good name for the flesh-lighting that goes on at the present moment. Tulip red, maybe you'll find in the little pencils on cosmetic counters. They make you look healthy and robust, as befits the capable woman that you are.

Lips require more attention than decorating if they are to display that moist, smooth, satiny perfection that is necessary to make them attractive to the eye. One reason for splotches and smears is that the fabric of the lip surfaces are not in condition. Harsh winds chap the lips, as they roughen the skin.

Lip-biting wrecks the pretty mouth portals, and this bad habit goes on to a considerable extent among women who are jittery, who tap their toes and fiddle with their locks.

If young girls were forced to take an examination in face-washing, show just how they do it half of them would divulge the hateful fact that they don't wash their lips at all. Spy on yourself, you teenagers. Do you wash your hands before your lips? Is there an application of the well-used washcloth? There should be. If the flesh is to be kept in a healthy state.

Fastidious women, bathing fough shaggy lips, baths their lips right and morning with paste of gauze or absorbent cotton dipped in rose water. This also lines, keeps the Cupid's bow as smooth as silk. And no doubt about it it stimulates the blood streams, creating health, natural coloring.

When removing rouge and powder with oil or cream—which you should do every night of your life before the face-washing—pass some of the lubricant over the lips to take away the red stain. You can put on a coating of cream afterwards, just for good beauty measure.

On cosmetic counters are displayed white lipsticks to be used when lips are chapped, but one is also recommended for this purpose.

Fashion Flashes

A CHANCE from the usual navy and white color scheme comes with the appearance of navy with rust or yellow for spring. Fine wool in a pebbly weave is used for a navy suit, the curved bolero combined with rust, with rust lining and rippled side drapery of the skirt.

Boy-tie blouse is white.

A BIG CHEER for the little sailor hat noticed everywhere these days. With a short-skirted dinner dress, one girl wears a perl little black felt sailor with crown band and two long streamers of white plaid satin and taffeta ribbon, sequin studded. Hat worn on back of head.

SPECIFICATIONS of the most popular fashions include surplice-closed bodice of squared neckline, wraparound skirt and cascading drapery. We noted these details in four out of every five new black navy or print dress now coming into the shops.

A WEALTH of new blouses is now ready for early Spring wear. Crepe is white and various colors makes a handsome blouse with self ruffles outlining a simulated bolero front. Ruffles down the long sleeves. Pearl button closing.

NO REASON for grumbling on the part of little Miss Sophisticate to see the smart suits being readied for them. A charming one is a paisley green with a crossbar overplaid in rose pink. The skirt is pleated in front and back and the capelet has a rounded shoulder yoke.

EVERYTHING goes for coats this Spring, ranging from full toppers with big flaring skirts to fluffy fun-in-the-rain coats with collarless neckline! In the letter group is a coat of navy with white dots, white collar and satin seaming forming a curved panel on each side from shoulder-line to curved, silk pockets.

SHANNONVILLE W.M.S.

The monthly meeting of the Shannonville W. M. S. was held on February first, at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Virtue.

The President, Mrs. H. Shetlor, opened the meeting. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary and then the roll call to which thirteen members responded and five visitors.

Mrs. J. Sinclair read the Scripture lesson and offered prayer, after which a brief business period followed.

The Group Leader, Mrs. Arthur Bronson, then took charge of the devotional, assisted by Mrs. C. Boutwell.

Mrs. Stanley MacDonald gave a reading entitled "The Search-Light Out". Mrs. H. Shetlor and Mrs. C. Boutwell favored with a duet, "The Ninety and Nine". Readings were given by Mrs. (Rev.) Jarvis, "A Sharpened Tool" and Mrs. A. Houston, "Mrs. Brown and Her Children". After hymn "In Christ there is no East or West" the meeting was closed with the benediction.

The business and her assistants served refreshments, and a social time was enjoyed.

London. (CP)—An admiral's dress sword found in a Kentucky farm in Cardiff, was one of more than 100,- 000 articles left in London taxis last Property office here last year.

New York—Though they've never tasted southern fried chicken, Yankee bean soup or pumpkin pie, these American taste-tempters are a must, by heresay, to New Zealand brides of American servicemen.

From Down Under.

They've been learning by long distance what life is like in the land they've adopted by marriage through the monthly dispatches sent to their Eagle's Club paper by M/Dine Sgt. Walter Nye's New Zealander bride, who is living in Washington while her husband is attending officers' school at Quantico, Va.

The Eagle's Club, organized for wives and sweethearts of the Yanks by Mrs. Nye in May, 1943, in her home town of Wellington, now has some 286 members. Many of them came over with Mrs. Nye in the first boatload of brides which arrived in San Francisco several weeks ago. The others are eagerly waiting for passage and Mrs. Nye's dispatches to Americans.

Under here, this attractive ex-school teacher and daughter of a Wellington banker, lays no line in filling in her Eagle's Club friends on American cookery, which she learned while visiting her husband's folks in Boise, Idaho. "Hubby's" mother gave me an old family recipe for chicken, even to a diagram for carving it up," she beamed enthusiastically.

Interest in Clothes.

Next to cooking, clothes interest the girls back home most, young Mrs. Nye says. She warns them that typical New Zealand tweeds and sweaters aren't needed here because central heating keeps homes and hotels too hot for New Zealanders.

Her advice to them is not to waste money for large wardrobes because the American clothes slant is hard to get by remote control. What one person tells a bride to bring may be all wrong for the section of the country she may be visiting.

Mrs. Nye thinks New Zealand girls won't have to make violent changes to get along with people here. She says with her diary handed away she can't remember the things that seemed unusual at first, except little things, like tea, "At home," Mrs. Nye says, "I'd have tea at 7 o'clock in the morning, with my breakfast about 8 again at 10.30, then with lunch, and again at 3.30, then with dinner and later with supper. Restaurants here use tea-bags which I don't like, so I miss my tea. You see, we drink all day long, but we don't seem to eat as much as we do. I've put on pounds here."

Keep Up Club.

Mrs. Nye, housed precariously in Washington's seat although liked Boise's resemblance to an English village, and her husband don't know where they'll settle. She has lived in England, where her accent is which somewhat British, so led people to ask what part of Australia she was from. Though she may never return to Australia she expects her family over for a visit as soon as war's end makes it possible.

Meanwhile, she says, "we'll keep our Eagle's Club going now that we're in the States, for there's a want to be different, but we want to keep in touch with how we can visit when we travel." which sounds like a good old American custom.

Montreal Canadiens Out to Set More Records After Taking Stranglehold on N.H.L. Title

Defeat Red Wings on Saturday and Rangers on Sunday to Put Them Away Up

(By The Canadian Press)

With their grip on first place in the National Hockey League generally conceded as being in the stranglehold, Montreal Canadiens can concentrate for the remainder of the season on attempts to smash various league records, some of them established by themselves a year ago.

Most obvious record to be beaten is the individual goal mark, with Maurice Richard destined to do it barring accident. Richard ran his total to 42 Saturday night, equaling the modern mark but still one off the all-time high set by Joe Malone of Canadiens back in 1918. Elmer Lach, meanwhile, added two assists that left him just five off the record 68 set by Clint Smith of Chicago a year ago.

Canadiens as a team are aiming at their record 234 goals last year, but will have to average five a game to beat it. They have scored 183 so far. If they win nine and lose one of their remaining 11 games —no small chore—they can beat their own mark of 83 points in a season.

Toronto Beaten Twice.

The Canucks rolled along as expected over the weekend, beating Detroit Red Wings 4-3 Saturday night and New York Rangers 4-3 last night. The result was the same both times, Toronto Maple Leaf Gardens being the scene of the victories. Detroit moved out Boston 3-2 in the Motor City Saturday night in the only game that had a great deal of effect on the standings except for the hotly contested Rangers-Leafs game, the Rangers clinched to within a point of Rangers and within five points of Boston Bruins the fourth place spot.

Willie Field sparked the Hawk rise in the world. He scored the winner at Toronto Saturday night and set up the play of the goal that put the Hawks back into the fight last night Clint Smith fired the counter to offset Lorne Carr's earlier tally, and put Mosienko added the winning tally 12 minutes later. Two Year Mastery.

Canadiens maintained a two-year-old mastery over Detroit Saturday night with a 4-3 victory that gave them 16 victories and two ties in their last 20 games with the Wings. Richard let the Canuck attack with a pair of tallies while Buddy O'Connor, Ray Getliffe and Ken Blake collected one each. Carl Liscombe and Mud Bruneteau banged the Wings scores.

Canadiens came from behind a one-goal deficit to beat Rangers 4-3 last night. Elmer Lach, two goals, O'Connor and Ken Mosdell were the men for the winners, while Grant Warwick, Bill Dill and Hank Goldup did the scoring for the Rangers.

In the fifth game of the week-end, Detroit gained a stern split in their weekend games by whipping Boston Bruins 3-2 with the Bruins opening and closing the scoring and the Wings pushing in three in a row in between. Carl Liscombe was the big gun for the winners with two goals with the other going to Joe Carveth. Billy Cupolo and Bill Cowley did the scoring for the Bruins.

Americans Forced To Withdraw From Newly-Won Posts

Rome, Feb. 12 — (AP)—American troops of the 5th Army who drove to within 314 miles of Bologna in the Italian west coast are have withdrawn slightly in the face of increased German counter-attacks and heavy German artillery and mortar fire, Allied headquarters announced today.

The Americans consolidated their positions about a half mile south of Strettoia, which is three miles southeast of Massa, headquarters said.

The push of Massa negro troops of the 92nd Division repelled several counter-attacks about a mile north of the little stream, Fiume la Foce, and then withdrew to its south banks under heavy enemy fire.

Farther inland the Germans were reported making a determined effort to regain control of the road at Sotto ridge on the east side of the Serchio Valley.

From the British 8th Army front came reports that the Germans continued to dynamite Senio river flood banks so that a wide area adjoining the river will be inundated when the spring floods start.

Activity on this front was still limited to patrol clashes and artillery dueling.

Bombers Favorites Over "Flyers" As Series Gets Away

Finishing their regular 1944 Quinte O.H.A. Intermediate schedule all even and tied for first place with identical wins and losses each the Mountain City sextet and the Trenton "Flyers" open a best-of-three playoff series for the group championship and the Rome Area trophy. The winning team advances to the No. 13 R.C.A.F. Training Centre Intermediate O.H.A. series the Camp Borden "Frontiers".

At game time the Bombers held a slight edge in the betting, both in the "pull ring" on the grounds and with Jimmie McCaa's Mountain View squad having been noticeably strengthened with the addition of Goalie Williams, former Springfield defenceman in the American League who also handled goal for the Air Force champions in Sicily and overseas in 1944. Robertson, in the opposite end of the rink, also is an outstanding net-minder.

The Bombers will ice their Doucette-Boudreau-Auby line and Johnny Planck's Raymond - Ramsland - Gerrard forward unit. This gives the Bombers an edge when they has McMullen, Bombers' ace on their second line. When it comes to playing players like that, all was even as the Bombers' Gerrard and Trenton's scoring threat in the form of Mike Smirin, Orlando Wise the teams will be at full strength tonight.

What's Doing in Sport

By The Canadian Press

The reorganization of major league baseball into eastern and western divisions to save train mileage was mooted last night at Washington following a directors meeting of Group C. M. Johnson, Defense Transportation Director, said the clubs reduce travel requirements from 500,000 miles to 200,000 miles.

It was estimated that the regrouping of the 16 clubs would reduce the reduction of 1,960,910 passenger-miles. Even the present schedule division of schedules would not be a hardship on Johnson's operations, it was pointed out.

President Frank Sargent of the O.A.H.A. yesterday announced playoff arrangements for the Ontario Hockey provinces leading to the Memorial Cup championship. Finals to open at Toronto April 14. Western games get under way March 13 with the Manitoba champions at Port Arthur.

After a major-league career of 19 years during which his lifetime batting average was .316, Jimmy Foxx, 37, signed a contract for one year Monday to play with Philadelphia Nationals in an attempted comeback after one season in the minors. Foxx homered 58 times in 1934, while with the Philadelphia Athletics and hit the average of .360 in 134 games during 1936.

ST. MIKES COP 17TH GAME IN EIGHTEEN STARTS

Oshawa Generals Come From Behind to Beat Marlboros

By The Canadian Press

St. Michaels copped their 17th game in 18 starts in the O.H.A. "A" season Saturday night at Toronto coming from behind to win on the strength of a 5-3 decision at Oshawa, the Generals, Oshawa Generals scored in the third period to walk over Toronto Marlboros 8-1, at Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto and over St. Catharines in the race for 1st place. Another result was that Galt and Ottawa swept into a tie for 3rd place with 18 points apiece. For the Marlies, it was their 7th defeat in 18 games, to continue well behind Toronto Young Rangers.

Clark opened proceedings at Galt with two goals in succession but the students took command with a 3-2 edge before the first period terminated. Galt added the count 5-3 during the middle frame. Orsvelle and Clark added double scorers for St. Mikes but Galt Clark added their 4th with one goal and three assists, Orsvelle and Curik both scored twice for the losers.

The Flyers started at Oshawa minutes after the opening of the third period and in less than all-minutes had the count 4-0. The net-minding was all over with the lone Marlboro tally by Michaud, Oshawa's defence three counters by the cup defenders, Smith nabbed two of them, along with a brace by Daniels, and the other marksmen were Thaler, Shumski and Peirano.

Leaders Increase Margin in Their Respective Sections

By The Canadian Press

Montreal and western division leaders increased their margins in their respective sections of the American Hockey League in games played with Cleveland Barons scoring a pair of victories in the Eastern division.

Barons, western leaders, helped themselves by knocking off the 2nd-place Indianapolis Capitals 4-1 Sunday night. The night before Barons helped Bisons indirectly by defeating Hershey Bears 3-1. Bears are the Bisons' closest rivals in the eastern division.

The Bisons were idle Saturday night, but they ran their margin over Hershey to five points Sunday by edging out St. Louis Flyers 3-2. Philadelphia Rockets scored their 5th straight victory by trouncing Providence Reds 5-2 Saturday night but their streak was stopped last night when they ran into a 5-3 beating at the hands of Providence Reds.

CASUAL COMMENT

by R.J.C.

Marie Oberon, the actress, visiting the wounded in a hospital, asked one soldier: "Have you had a Nazi?" The soldier said he had. "With which hand?" Miss Oberon asked. She was told it was a Nazi with a kite.

Then she asked the next patient: "Did you kill a Nazi?"

"Well," came the ready answer. "I bit 'im to death!"

Difference in Opinion.

In the account of the Belleville Terriers' victory over the Oshawa Generals Feb. 9th, the Trenton press attacked the work of referees St. Louis and Hastings. Considering that the rough Belleville players got away with murder throughout the game, it is a degree he failed to score more than a single penalty was regarding Barney having his glasses broken. The Trenton reporter went on to say the game was poorly handled which tended to unnecessary roughness. However, the Trenton scribe neglected to tell his reading public that during the following Trenton at Norwood Junior game the next night, Joe Pile, classy Hastings defenceman, received serious injuries necessitating eleven stitches in his face. Joe was approached up when he appeared here Friday night, he resembled the masked marvel with strips of adhesive tape plastered all over and pass. But Joe wasn't letting on any great how! he merely remarked to Pete Gray, "It's all in the game."

There have been 31 games played in the Ontario Rec. Loop so far and the referees on the whole has been very fair. Considering the fact that the Quinte Skating Club's fantasy on Friday evening next.... Heads of the Quinte Skating Club have included Vi Vi Smith, of the Toronto Skating Club and Canadian figure skating champion, as their feature attraction, although Smith is not the only one of prominent in North America skating circles, including Susan Morrow and Montgomery Sweden. Other attractions, as well as other outstanding players.... However, tonight it is Mountain View and Trenton prying off the lid in the Quinte O.H.A. Intermediate series the winners meeting Cornwall Flyers in the next best-of-three series with the winners meeting Cornwall Flyers in the next week.... As the fans realize these two squads are evenly matched reserve seats are at a premium for the entire series. Pa Jimmie McCaa has issued strict orders to the Bombers to "stop Raymond Monday night.... However, maybe that's easier said than done.

This and That.

Delving in the records Windsor's Doug Vaughan comes up with some interesting copy on Lester "Lefty" Sewell, manager of the St. Louis Browns, is starting now that Gen. McQuinn was out at third base in the 11th in the second game of the 1944 World Series with the Cardinals, but it took him a long time to see the light.... He had insisted that Umpire Ziggy Sears had missed the play but after the pictures of the series were shown to a group of baseball writers and members of Sewell's U.S.O. troupe in a Washington theatre, Jim Kaasch, India....When Mel Ott, manager of the New York Giants, was asked after returning from a recent U.S.O. overseas tour what player the soldiers in the fighting lines were most interested in he replied that it was Pete Gray, the one-armed outfielder whom the Browns bought not so long ago.... Bill Carpenter, who supervises minor league baseball for that ex-ball players make the best athletic officials, according to air transport officials, Gunder Haegg, the Swedish running ace, forfeited a plane ride to America via the Southern route because he refused to be inoculated against Yellow Fever.... If Hank Borowy, former mound ace, resumes his career with the Yankees and their pitching next season he will start with the disjunction of being the only flipper with one or more years experience in the American League who has an edge on all rival clubs.... In three years under Manager Cartin, Borowy ha sracked up 46 victories while losing 26 games.... The Detroit Tigers are his pet club to date. He has beaten them nine times in 12 engagements.

Remember When.

Charlie Conacher was leading the National Hockey League scoring statistic column with 40 points when Lorne Chabot, goalie of the Toronto Maple Leafs, took a six-goal lead over Joe Primeau and was nine points out in front of Dupher Jackson, other member of Toronto's great "kid line" of 1934.

Last Only Fight.

Legends surrounding the life of John L. Sullivan are so fabulous that probably few present-day boxing fans realize that the Boston Strong Boy looked to successfully defend his heavyweight title.

Sullivan's fight career dated from 1878 when he failed to win the championship until 11 years later—in 1889—when he defeated Jake Kilrain in 75 rounds at Richburg, Miss.

Sullivan fought an occasional exhibition after gaining the title, but he didn't defend it until September 7, 1892, when he was knocked out by Jim Corbett in 21 rounds at New Orleans.

He appeared in the ring as a fighter only once after this defeat, meeting Tom Sharkey in a 10-round no-decision in New York in 1896.

Horse Sense Bridge

LESSON NO. 604
By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Confidence in partner is a necessity for good bridge. Only thus will a pair gradually tell each other all they can about their hands. Come back to this pair of partnership hands:

SOUTH
♥8 5
♦A K J 10 8 5 4
♣Q 8
NORTH
♠A 10 8
♥A K 10 6 4
♦8 3 2
♣A 4 3

South opens with one diamond. North responds with one heart. South then bids three diamonds, a one-jump rebid signal that says the bidding should not stop short of a game in something.

What should North do next? As always he simply follows the normal order for the choice of bids: T-A-N. Takeout is first choice; notrump, second choice; no-trump last choice.

His first response had been a takeout in hearts. For another takeout, he first looks for another trump biddable suit. With none such, he looks to see if he can takeout again to his first named suit.

Since his suit has not been lengthened, when is it strong enough to takeout again? When it is jumpbiddable; that is, when it is an honor card longer than a biddable suit.

The A K 6 4 would be a biddable suit. The ten is an honor in addition thereto. So, his heart suit is rebiddable. Therefore, his second round response is a takeout to three hearts.

Should he have any doubts about bidding three hearts? Not since a one-jump game-going bid has been made by one member of his pair; it assures him at least one more chance to bid.

South must bid again, looking first for another takeout. He has a re-rebiddable suit that has been big only twice. He can takeout to that suit a third time. His bid is now four diamonds.

Four diamonds is not a game contract. North must bid again. But without confidence in partner, south might have bid five diamonds and shut out slam information.

Bids that keep open save you hopin.

Varied Pets of Fighting Britons

(By Vernon Noble, Royal Air Force Squadron Leader, in "Our Dumb Animals" Magazine.)

When British convoys of tanks, ammunition, supply wagons and other vehicles halt on the roads that lead to Germany, soldiers can be seen to leap out at intervals down the lines to exercise their dogs. There are large dogs and small dogs, of every color and variety. Of them, there is one that companied their owners from Britain, but took their own private way along the way, canine refugees of three or four nationalities. Wherever Allied armies have passed for France, Belgium and Holland, stray dogs have only to wander into camps or way their tails at a bent door to be given refuge and a name.

Men of Britain's Royal Air Force are fond of dogs, too, and there is not an airfield without its canine mascot. Several of these airfield mals have been trained to do a useful job, acting as watch dogs at night; others are just pets roaming around the flying fields and dispersals with a proprietary air.

A cook house at a group headquarters of R.A.F. Second Tactical Air Force has little mongrel as its mascot, a sharp-nosed dog with grizzly hair, found abut and smoked in the ruins of Caen. There is no sign of shell shock now, and the thin legs carry a plump, well-fed body.

The airfields have a profusion of pets other than dogs. There are pigs and goats, hens and ducks, lizards and horses. One of the pigs was also a shell shock case. It was found in the wreckage of farm buildings, wandering about in a stupor, its head jerking unpleasantly. Airmen took charge of it and nursed it back to health.

Three hens were given to Spitfire pilots in Picardy. They manufactured a coop out of a salvaged German ammunition box and fitted it on the fat bonnet of a jeep. And so the hens travelled all the way to the German frontier, occasionally laying an egg in return for their keep.

An equipment section has tethered its pet duck in fields and orchard canopies and all life was from France, providing it with a tank of water and feeding it on potatoes.

In the case of pigs, ducks and hens, their owners contended that they were fattening them up for Christmas, and everyone knows that these pets would never be sacrificed in this manner. Their owners had too great affection for them.

Typhoon squadron has a goat which would eat tins and steel when it pleases and drops contentedly in front of the store. It will eat anything that is offered, even captured German bicycle which we all the way as granite and fit only to pave a road; but it is also fond of cake carelessly left lying about, and even the seat of a pilot's trousers.

Two German shepherds owned by R.A.F. officers in Normandy, have formed the habit of all the way to Holland, but another German possession, a fine Alsatian dog, presented a problem. It had been left behind in Palsize, but was apparently as intractable as its Nazi masters. It would allow no one to approach it too closely. It responded to sharp words of command, but refused any affection for its new master.

The pilot tried to disregard it, yet the dog followed him, always at a distance, to the airfield. It took days of patient petting to win the dog's trust, and now the animal is apparently as friendly and docile as a household pet, but to his pilot-master, only.

Perhaps the strangest pets are those of an R.A.F. Group Headquarters administrative officer. He has collected a fox, a grizzly fox-cub, water snails and water beetles. They have been accommodated in buckets from camp to camp, fed on fish and weeds from French and Belgian streams and Dutch canals. Now they have a large glass bottles for his trophies in the mess of his officer's club, and they adorn the tables and desk of his office.

There is probably a psychological reason for the caring of the British Army and Air Force for pets. Perhaps it is something akin to the fondness others have for "pin-ups". Just a reminder of things other than war, a vehicle for affection.

United States and Canadian forces show a similar affection for animals. Many of the soldiers, Americans offering to buy Alsatians found pulling heavily-laden barrows along Belgian roads or harnessed under milk carts in Holland. The dog as a beast of burden is unfamiliar to most of the English-speaking peoples. The Belgians and Dutch, in the wayside villages, stare incredulously at the confusion of pets, and shake their heads and shrug their shoulders as if they think the British and Americans a strange race.

TRENTON

Recently Released From Penitentiary Youth Again Held

Trenton (Special)—Gerald Francis Minifie, recently released from Kingston penitentiary was arrested early Friday morning by Constables O. Crawford and W. Browne, of the Trenton police force, near a store on Dundas St.

After questioning it is alleged he admitted having stolen three cars from Trenton during the past couple of weeks, in company with Russell B. Phillips, of Brighton township. All the cars had been recovered by Trenton police.

Phillips was arrested last week by Sergeant V. F. Taylor of the local force, on a charge of having stolen a letter containing cheques from the mail box of S. McQuoid, Brighton Township. He appeared in court on Tuesday last on five charges, and pleaded guilty to all five. He was remanded until Tuesday, February 13th., for sentence.

Minifie was remanded until Tuesday for sentence, by the local Justice of the Peace, on which date he will appear before the magistrate to answer to the car thefts.

G. N. Haggerman, of Peterborough, reported to Trenton Police on Friday that the license plate, 3-N-209, 1944, had been stolen from his car while it was parked on Front or between the two points.

Mrs. Hagerman, who had made several stops between the two points, in the course of her errands, said the plate was stolen as the nuts and bolts on the plate bracket had been loosened and then tightened again.

Heavy Property Damage

Considerable damage was done to a car owned and driven by Irving McCaughry, Trenton, late Friday afternoon when it was allegedly struck by a Dwight Transport driven by William McKibbon, of Toronto.

McCaughey is said to have been stopped at the intersection of Ontario and Dundas Streets waiting to enter Dundas when the transport backed out from the Bigge-Stinson service station into Dundas St. apparently without seeing that McCaughey's car was in the rear of the transport.

The grill, headlight and front of the car were considerably damaged but no damage was suffered by the transport.

Claims of Death Of Nazi Officials To Be Checked

London, Feb. 12 — (CP) — Increasing skepticism over Berlin announcements of deaths of high Nazi officials has led to the conviction here that in the future Allied authorities should check thoroughly before accepting such German claims.

A flurry of synthetic death notices of Nazis high on the war criminal lists is anticipated as the German position becomes more acute.

Last week Berlin announced that Roland Freisler, president of the so-called People's Court, was killed in an American air raid on the German capital. Freisler sent hundreds of persons opposed to Hitlerism to the gallows.

The possibility exists that in this case, and other similar instances, there may have been a deliberate death report, followed by a state funeral, to allow Freisler to start a new life outside of Germany.

$85,000 FIRE LOSS

Oil Springs, Ont., Feb. 10 —(CP)— Fire of unknown origin, fed by chemicals from a drugstore basement, destroyed the Dewar Block here last night and disrupted telephone connections for several hours. Damage was unofficially estimated at $85,000. The fire swept through the Bell Telephone Company office, the Bank of Toronto, Surgis Drug Store and four apartments above these buildings.

London, (CP)—New officer commanding the R.C.A.F. City of London Spitfire squadron is Squadron Ldr. J. D. Mitchell, D.F.C., of 221-26th Ave., Saskatoon.

COMMODORE "D"

Cmdre. George W. G. Simpson, O.B.E., R.N., whose commodore "D" western approaches, controls the destiny of Canadian-bound seaboard in Londonderry. Before attaining his present post, Cmdre. Simpson was in command of a submarine flotilla which sank, in two years, half a million tons of enemy shipping in the Mediterranean.

Shaggy Dog Stories

I don't remember just how long ago it was that we had an epidemic of Little Alice stories. All of them ended up with: "And that's Little Alice" laughed and laughed, because she knew so-and-so and so-and-so."

The so-and-so and so-and-so stands, of course, for the joke. V. V. M. writes in The Winnipeg Tribune:

Then there came a plethora of Little Moron stories—although they weren't really stories. They consisted of remarks such as: "Did you hear about the Little Moron who cut a hole in the rug to see the other floor?"

New Outlawry.

And now we have what looks like the start of an outbreak of Shaggy Dog stories.

It begins with I had better explain that a shaggy dog story has nothing to do with a shaggy dog.

A shaggy dog story is one that is absolutely incredible.

Its humor lies in its utter absurdity.

I've heard quite a few shaggy dog stories recently and I'm going to pass a couple of them along—just to show what they're like.

The first one concerns a young man who is trying for a circus manager for a job.

"You've got all the laborers I need, right now," the manager told him. "What I'm looking for is an artist who will do something unusual—something to give the crowd a thrill. Something that will make them gasp with amazement."

Often he sits.

The young man thought for a while or two and then said: "Supposing I dive 800 feet, landing on my head, on a solid brick of concrete—do you think that would thrill the crowd?"

"Of course it would. But you'll kill yourself."

"No sir," replied the young man, quite calmly. "You fix up the ladder, and the block of concrete, and I'll show you."

The manager went ahead as instructed. The time for the first performance arrived. The big top with the big moment—was packed—and a tense crowd as the young man climbed the long, long tights, climbed briskly up the 800-foot ladder.

Reaching the tiny platform at the top, he turned and bowed to all directions. Then he straightened up. The kettle drum in the band started a roll that reached a crescendo as the young man swept down in a perfect swan dive.

Lands on Head.

"Crash!" went the cymbals, as he struck the concrete block, landing square on his head.

Leaping quickly to his feet, he again bowed in all directions amidst a terrific ovation, and walked to the dressing tent. The manager rushed after him.

"That was sensational! You were terrific! I'm enthused. I'll give you any kind of contract you want. Just set your own price."

The young man shook his head.

A super western, should round up hordes of action fans. Credit the film also with unusual romance for a Western. —MOTION PICTURE DAILY.

CHAPTER 14.

"Do you have a lot of extras in the pictures?" she asked him, but he was deep in his thoughts and didn't hear her at first.

When I came into pictures—in silent days, he told her, drunkenness was more overlaked than it is now. There was a guy I worked for—Jackson, Bert Jackson—he wouldn't know him. But he was the best director I ever had. And, ever, He drank—oh, my God, how he drank. What's that about extras? Are there many? No, why?

What did you say about Dixon? I was his assistant director—a long time ago."

"D'ye ever see him now?"

Sure, sometimes. I give him a job whenever I can, poor devil."

"Where is he now?"

"D'ye know him?"

"Oh, just curiosity."

"The last I heard of him—about a year ago—he was in jail."

He was just paying the check and didn't see the expression of anguish in Livia's face. He only heard the faint echo:

"In jail?"

The burden of her secret was too heavy for Livia to carry alone. She must tell someone that Dixon was in jail.

"When do you want me for rehearsal?" she asked Pordyce. He stared at her blankly.

"Come back at 4 o'clock. I'm testing white."

"Must I?" begged Livia.

She told him about her two previous encounters with Alice.

"She's mean," said Livia. "She'll have me fired, I know it. Please keep her away from me."

Then was only one song between the girls. It was a hospital story. Alice was a rich society girl in love with a doctor. Livia's role was small, but important. She was the nurse in the operating theatre through whose negligence Alice died.

"We'll use a dummy for Alice," grinned the director. "She won't have to see you."

Livia drove to Vera's house and found her putting the knot in her sash for her afternoon nap. She had been resting.

George is in trouble again. He has to appear before another committee."

"What'll he doing this time—doping the horses?"

"I wouldn't be surprised," said Vera wearily.

Livia's sister had aged considerably since her marriage to George Maxwell. She had grown lax about her appearance. Her hair was hair scrawled untidily across her fore head.

Livia hesitated—then said:

"I have something awful to tell you. But the help is bad there. Oh, she's so cute." Livia took the little girl's hand and patted into the sleepy half-closed eyes.

"She's like you, Livia," said Vera proudly. "She has your looks."

"They went into the living-room together.

"It's about father—he's alive," said Livia slowly and waited for Vera's exclamation of disbelief. But none came. "Vera, did you hear?" she asked wonderingly. Vera nodded.

"For quite a long time," she said, "Mother told me—but we didn't want you to know."

"He's in jail," said Livia.

"He was in jail." Vera corrected. He had a private check to a restaurant, and it had "bounced" the same time". he grinned, "I hear he's going to marry Countess Sashie."

"Really! How interesting," said Livia formally.

"When you finish excavating your past, we'll discuss work," said Pordyce.

Today Pordyce hated all women. He was tired of Livia, and had said and had only all-man roles in his pictures.

Terry had a visitor—the Countess Sashie.

"Talk of an angel and here she is," he said gaily to Livia and Pordyce.

Pordyce said the director annoyed him.

"I dropped by to see Alice", gushed the Countess. "But they tell me she's gone. I wanted to invite her to a party I'm giving in which everyone comes as themselves—original, don't you think?"

"Quiet everyone," yelled the assistant director. The Countess glared at him and started to speak, but Pordyce put a finger to his lips.

"Well—" muttered the Countess and subsided into a chair, with Miss Delaware" written on the canvas back in large black letters. Her presence made Livia nervous. It's strange she should how well she can act when I'm alone or rehearsing.

Livia" shouted Pordyce. "Do I have to tell you again not to look at the camera?"

Noting her tense face, the director changed tactics and tricked her into giving a good performance. He had seen too many newcomers frozen nervous when they thought it was the real thing. But in rehearsal, if they could act at all, they usually did. So for the first few days he usually pretended they were still rehearsing.

"Come on, Livia". He smiled at her. "I'll doesn't matter if you blow-up—then he love feith you and he likes you to be with him, and Schneider is rich, and we can rehearse for days, Livia, there's no hurry".

It was the slapping scene. Estaperated at the doctor's indifference, she had to apply comprehension. Did he know something new about her father?

"That you don't like me", asked him.

"That you don't like me", Carlotta Vale reproached him. "Don't quarrel with me now, we have a headache". He could have crushed her with his strong arms.

"I'm not quite that bad—or desperate", he said to himself. And aloud. "Good-night, then".

"Good-night". Her cool lips brushed his cheek.

Honey Prices Increased During The Past Year

An increase from 17.5 to 19.1 cents per pound for honey was among the changes in prices in 1944, was learned at the annual meeting of the Ontario Beekeepers Co-operative Association, Toronto, from H. B. O. Lott, director of the organization.

Mr. Lott, who has been a director of the Co-operative for the past eighteen years attended the annual meeting held in Toronto last week.

Inability to ship honey to the United Kingdom markets due to obvious reasons confined the 1944 crop to Canada, but it is felt that domestic consumers will handle the output. Three cars were shipped recently to British Columbia and other far western points.

The quality of honey was well below normal, Mr. Lott said, due to the cold winter, the poor fall of 1943 crop are good, insofar as deep freezing is concerned, but will be best in outside colonies.

Suggestions that the organization touch United States markets have been under consideration by the Ontario Beekeepers' Association, Mr. Lott said, but nothing definite has arrived at during the annual conclave.

Most Observers Expect Election At Earliest Date

Ottawa, Feb. 13 (—(CP)— After a week's appraisal of the political situation following the Grey-North by-election it is believed the government will probably make a decision on its course of action as to a general election and the timing of a general election.

The decision may have already been reached but if it has not yet been announced, it is understood that it will be made before the end of the month.

Political observers still are divided in their opinions as to whether the session of parliament will or should be held before the term runs out on April 17, with the election details to follow, or should be no session but an election at the earliest opportunity.

In determining this date the government will undoubtedly have to take into account the intensified fighting in which the Canadian forces are now engaged in against the German counter-offensive before the election as a time which would necessitate postponing the spring Victory Loan.

Three Sons Killed On Western Front

Brantford, Feb. 13 — (CP)—The war has deprived Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Cooper, Tuscarora, of three sons, all killed in action on the western front.

Last killed Pte. Ivan Wagner, a former member of the Dufferin and Haldimand Rifles, was killed in action in France, and in August came word that Sgt. Harry Wagner had been killed while serving in France. He also was a former member of the Dufferin and Haldimand Rifles.

Sunday the third death message was received. It announced that Pte. Howard Wagner, their third son, had been killed in action while serving on the western front.

4 Church Officials Killed by V-Bomb In England Recently

London, Feb. 12 — (CP) — Four officials of the Presbyterian Church in England were killed by a V-bomb which destroyed part of a church hall recently.

Among them, Rev. W. T. Brodie, general secretary; W. H. Wright, financial secretary; Rev. T. W. Pearce, foreign secretary, emeritus secretary, and W. T. Stubbs, assistant general secretary.

An investigation is in progress to determine if there were other deaths. A conference of Presbyterian ministers and laymen from all parts of England was in progress.

The church moderator, Rt. Rev. A. A. Richardson, Edinburgh, Scotland, could not be reached the hall a few minutes later. Just as he approached, a good part of the building was blown to fragments.

ASKS HARD PEACE BE IMPOSED ON GERMANY, JAPAN

Speakers at World's Labor Conference Demand "Justice"

London, Feb. 13 (Reuters)—Demands for hard peace for Germany and Japan were made today before the World's Trade Union Conference.

Jan Stanczyk, Polish representative, stressing that the peace proposals must not be left in the hands of diplomats alone, declared "I don't ask for revenge, I ask for justice".

"I believe in just punishment for the German aggressor and making him pay. We, the people of the countries who are neighbors of the German aggressor, have established the right to demand that the German crimes be severely punished.

Germany must be taught that it will get nothing anything does war and that it will never be master of masters, Stanczyk emphasized.

Similar views by a Japan.

Trial of the Emperor of Japan as a war criminal was called for by a Chinese delegate, Chu Hsueh Fan. The whole property of the Mikado must be rooted out.

Japan must be deprived of the territories she had stolen from her neighbors, which must be restored to their rightful owners, and she should be stripped of all islands in the Pacific which she has seized and occupied, he declared.

Japan should be deprived of her industries useful for war, and Japanese labor must be transformed and used to produce for the rehabilitation of China.

Japanese militarism must also be made to make reparations to the United States, Great Britain and the other allies.

Greek Issue Raised

The Greek issue was raised at the conference for the first time by a delegate from Cyprus, A. Zlatides, who declared that the crimes against all we have fought for will be useless that the first people now to be relieved is Hitler and his fascist collaborators, but freedom fighters of the R.L.A.S. movement".

The E.L.A.S. is the militia of the E.A.M.— National Liberation Front Left-Wing Party which has good government and British troops in Greece.)

The trade unionists and people of Cyprus desired the application of the principles of the Atlantic Charter and the Teheran Conference to their own case, he declared. Women and Girls Made Liable For Auxiliary Service

London, Feb. 13 — (CP)—Every woman and girl in Germany could be made liable for auxiliary service with the Volkssturm (People Army) under a decree, broadcast by the Nazi thus bringing the entire German nation within the grip of Heinrich Chief Heinrich Himmler, commander of the home army.

The Germans had lied at conscription of women in Britain and prided themselves upon their "total voluntary system" of their women's efforts.

D.N.B. said the new decree was signed by the "Chief of the Nazi Party."

The Berlin radio also announced the innovation of "Werwolf" radio telegraph," reporting that this was designed "particularly to help those of the Atlantic strongpoints who have no other means of communications."

Under this plan German soldiers trapped in Atlantic ports can be married in absentia by merely signing a declaration of intention in the presence of their commanding officer.

Bulldozer on Scene, Roc d'Or Being Obliterated Now

Roc D'Or, Que., Feb. 13 (CP)— This once pleasure resort, situated in the Northern Quebec mining belt, where small shacks used to rent for $75 a month, six-months payable in advance, is being obliterated. In the last of the same high-rent shacks going down before bulldozers.

For Roc D'Or was just a prelude to the town of Malartic, one mile away. When Malartic, with a present population of more than 2,000 was incorporated in 1936, huge people moved there, but some 1,200 remained in Roc D'Or pending the boo gouvernment decided two years ago to make them move.

A few people are still here and it is understood court proceedings may be taken against them.

Some of the better residences have been moved to other parts but for the rest demolition has been going on from time to time; trucks and bulldozers rippling through the old walls of abandoned shacks by the dilapidated settlement, which boasted neither church, school nor water system.

Plymouth, Scotland, (CP)— Six of the crew of a fishing boat were drowned when the vessel struck a rock after the engine failed and 30 yards from the harbor mouth in this Berwickshire town.

Five Survivors Spend Nine Hours On a Liferaft

Halifax, Feb. 12. (CP)—Five survivors of the 43-man crew of a Canadian ship torpedoed off the Atlantic seaboard told a story here yesterday of spending nine hours on a liferaft after their ship had gone down. The other 37 members of the crew perished while making a futile attempt to launch lifeboats.

The five survivors—Elmer Cossman, Halifax; John Boffitt, New Glasgow, N.S.; Jimmy Bonner, Florence, N.S.; Steve Lesage, St. Hyacinthe, Que., and John Christensen, Denmark—said they were asleep at the time and were awakened by the blast of the torpedo, which struck around six a.m.

As dawn two days before the ship was sunk had washed away the shadows on the liferafts and the occupants were unable to help fellow crew members in the water. Every man said: "We saw lights bobbing in the water as heard their fellows calling all around us, but we were unable to help them".

Thirty-year-old John Boffitt spent 20 minutes in the water before he was pulled aboard. Commander for it, Christensen and Bonner had already reached it. The three huddled on the raft until they were picked up by a flier force crash boat late in the afternoon.

Battle Sidelights

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press War Correspondent

With the 1st Canadian Army in Germany, Feb. 13 (CP Cable) — Battle sidelights:

German prisoners taken by the Canadians in their advance east from Nijmegen have been just as fanatical in their opposition as the Canadians have encountered since the fighting in Normandy last summer.

Most of them have fallen into the Canadian hands between the ages of 40 and 56 and teen-aged boys of the Hitler Youth. Enough to form 20 to gain battle experience. They refused strongly brought briefly in some place but until Sunday's stiffer fighting northwest of Kleve they surrendered in droves.

1. Cpl. Cliff Bolin f Kitchener, Ont., and rifleman Len Eatringer of Hamilton, Ont. John Nichols of Driffield, Alta., and Robert Higgs of North Battleford, Sask., routed 23 Germans, defiading two officers, from one house.

The men with grenades after three plat bombs had been fired into the house, Bolin said. "When we kicked in the cellar window they started hollering and when one German stuck his rifle out of the window Eatringer pulled it out of his hands."

The two officers stayed behind clouds.

Austrian Munitions Manufacturer, Fritz Mandl Now Lives in Argentina

Down in Argentina, behind the smoke screen of diplomatic double talk, one of the most sinister figures of the western hemisphere is at work. He name is Fritz Mandl.

He is a munitions maker in Austria, (divorced husband of movie actress Hedy Lamarr). At the armistice No. 1 to the peace of the world, Van Paassen, friend of royalty pet, described Mussolini as "the greatest salesman" in the world. Mandl, Jockey Club, Fritz Mandl could give Mussolini cards and spades and still beat him hollow.

He vehmly insists at times that he is a friend of the Allies, yet he boasted publicly after Anschluss of his excellent relationship with the Nazis. He calls himself a refugee from the Gestapo, but all Buenos Aires saw him arrive a chief official from Germany to help him set up a munitions plant in Argentina. Right now he is paying Austrian prisoners the princely sum of 1,500 pesos a month.

Before he was 30 his father had given him the management of the family munitions plant in Vienna the great Hirtenberger works. Only where money and munitions are concerned are there no limits about Fritz Mandl.

He was born rich in 1900. The Hirtenberger workers, founded in 1803, sucked him. European war fattened him. At the height of the Spanish civil war Franco was in his debt. Il Duce decorated him for help to Italy in the Abyssinian war.

Armaments have netted him over $60,000,000 during his lifetime.

As a result of this harvest, weapons of destruction have always fascinated him.

"Toy Soldiers"

Fifteen years ago, Mandl married Hedy Lamarr in Argentina. He invested enormous sums in Argentine factories, mines and a steel plant—the Pilcaniyeu project. Mandl's munitions plant was built by the Austrian Hirtenberger works, of which Mandl was the owner. Mandl also had other holdings in the country. He is the moving force behind the ally and confidant of the notorious Nazi agent, Baron Fritz Von Thyssen, "the iron baron" of Germany. Thyssen's "iron baron" of Germany. CANADIANS DRIVE FOR WESEL, YANKS TAKE PRUEM

Northern Flank Of Nazi Defences Bent by Canadians

Troops Advance Within 20 Miles of Ruhr City of Wesel

By JAMES M. LONG
(Associated Press Staff Writer).

Paris, Feb. 13 — (AP) — From Canadian Army forces driving through the ruins of Xieve advanced today to within 20 miles of the Ruhr city of Wesel and within two miles of the Rhine-Industrial centre of Emmerich against resistance subdued by the punishment of seven drack German divisions. Both Wesel and Emmerich are on the opposite side of the Rhine from the Canadians.

In the centre, the United States 3rd Army mopped up the road centre of Prum, recently capture placed 3rd Army men within 45 miles of the Rhine city of Cobienz.

The loss of Prum and its arterial highways to Cobienz, Cologne, 35 miles northeast, and Saarbrucken, 73 miles south, weakened the whole German defence system in the Kifel mountains where 10 armies have been crashed from the Siegfried Line.

Heads Navy Arms Inspectn

Continuing floods on the Roer River kept the United States 1st and 9th and the British 2nd Armies quiet along the central 30-mile sector where the Germans trumpeted repeatedly that Gen. Eisenhower was massing men and tanks for an offensive to the Rhine.

"From hour to hour we expect the full scale allied offensive to roll into the Rhine plain," the German Army radio said today. "Superb divisions from massed west of Duesseldorf and Juelich are to carry our enemies to the Rhine. Twelve pioneer battalions are along and huge quantities of bridge construction equipment as well as fresh and reconditioned infantry forces are awaiting the signal to strike."

Already 78 combat divisions composed of more than 1,000,000 troops have been identified on the western front.

U.S. Division Severely Mauled On Italian Front

Rome, Feb. 13 (AP)—The United States infantry division and its supporting armor were mauled severely in weekend fighting attendant upon their withdrawal in the Ligurian coastal sector 165th army group headquarters announced today.

A special report from Lt.-Gen. Mark W. Clark's headquarters concerning the attack of the ragged division, which official dispatches earlier had tended to discount as minor action, said:

"Casualties and tank losses were relatively high and no set gains in terrain were made."

Sharp German counter-attacks supported by artillery and dive bombers repulsed the negro infantry after they had gained as much as a mile on a five-mile front.

On Po battle front, a strong German raid on the east bank of the Senio river forced British and Polish troops to withdraw from one outpost.

A front dispatch last night reported routine patrol, and sniper activities along the Canadian 8th corps' mid-bound Senio river sector near the Adriatic.

Possible Invasion Of Formosa Says Japanese Radio

San Francisco, Feb. 12 — (AP)— Tokyo radio today cautioned the home front against possibility of a United Invasion of Formosa (Taiwan.)

The broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, described the island as not only "the vanguard for the defence of our homeland," but as "the central strong point for the defence of the G.E.A. (Greater East Asia) sphere."

"The strategical worth or the Philippines is in the fact that it lies but a short distance from the Taiwan (Formosa) fortress divided only by the waters of the Bashi channel and is then connected with the Okinawa and Ryukyu chain islands," the radio continued.

This broadcast said: "The battle for the Philippines is a strategical climax in the present G.E.A. war."

'Sacred Obligation' of Unity Among Big Powers Feature of Conference

London, Feb. 13 (Reuters)—The "sacred obligation" of unity which the three big powers imposed upon themselves in the Crimea, compulsion which was regarded by The Times today as the most important feature of this "great and heartening document".

This sums up the general British Press opinion, which was in the most pressed terms.

THE TIMES said: "The world will sense at once upon the hope which it offers that the threat of all stumbling blocks to inter-Allied understanding is rolled away by the unanimity reached between the three great powers on Poland."

It is emphasized that by any agreement final collapse of Nazi tyranny may indeed come, United Nations for which these voices pre-eminent have fought with the power to mould anew for good or ill, the whole structure of international society.

In this wide domain, where the United Nations Organization will have great powers will be continuously tested. Consequences to come, the emphasis of statement is everywhere upon the evolutionary aspect of the agreement.

THE MANCHESTER GUARDIAN said the results of the Malta meeting "justify reality" on our bows. Certainly on immediate political questions of the war, Russia has been shown herself willing to move a long way toward meeting the western Allies' point of view. It is a great step that she should have agreed to the enlargement of the Lublin government.

THE DAILY TELEGRAPH said: "Nothing has been shirked. No difficulties have been ignored. In the long communique there is no loose ends. . . Such hopes of discord as Berlin may have had evidently clings to, can hardly survive".

THE DAILY HERALD said: "The clear reasoning of the document may necessitate criticism or at least the search for explanation. But it is safe to say already that the main anxieties have been met and relieved."

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express said: "The Crimea declaration is the work of practical men. Its discussions made by each of the Allies, and its statesmanship of the highest prove that it is the work of high-minded men devoted to the future of people everywhere. Problems have not been solved, but quite clearly, the world has been shown the manner in which they might be solved".

THE DAILY MAIL said the eight days of conference were "eight days that will remould the European world".

BRITAIN WELCOMES 'CRIMEA CHARTER' MEETING ADOPTS

Pledges Big Three Co-operation in The Post-War Reformation Of Europe

London, Feb. 13 — (AP) — The new "Crimea Charter" was welcomed in Britain today as a pledge of the participation of the United States in the re-shaping of Europe's political and geographical future.

The feeling in London was that the United States hardly could have been more firmly committed to a part in the post-war reformation of Europe than by the claims pledging joint assistance to any liberated or former axis satellite country in forming "interim governments of distribution."

Part of this joint assistance will be to determine that these interim governments represent all democratic elements.

The promise of United States participation was welcomed immediately in London because of the storm stirred here and abroad by Britain's intervention in Greece, Italy and Yugoslavia, and Russia's independent recognition of a Polish government which was nurtured in the Soviet diplomatic garden.

Press comment in London virtually was unanimous in praise of the charter, which was described as the "most hopeful document that has been produced in the present century" and "a landmark in human history."

Attention was focused on the new Polish problem, a compromise of Russian and British views which apparently went more space in the agreement than any other single subject. The attitude here was that the London Polish government must be dissolved since it is no longer representative of Poles inside Poland.

24 Passengers, Crew Members Killed in Crash

San Francisco, Feb. 13 — (AP) — Twenty-four passengers and crew members were killed today in the crash of a United Airlines transport in Alameda on San Francisco Bay, Governor Earl Warren announced here.

The big ship crashed 12 minutes after it left the Alameda airport. Just missing land, it hit the waters of the bay by hard that nearby residents were shaken.

Several persons said the plane's engines stopped just before the sound of the crash.

Russians Smashing Germans' Bober River Line Sliced To Within 70 Miles of Dresden

(By RICHARD KASISCHKE)
(Associated Press Staff Writer).

London, Feb. 13. (AP) — Russian troops smashing the Germans' Bober River line have driven to within 70 miles of Dresden, and farther north six battalions have fought Sorau-merfeld, only 17 miles from Berlin, in action with Marshal Georgy Zhukov's army fighting before Berlin, German broadcasts declared today.

The Berlin radio also reported evacuation of Budapest, Hungarian capital far to the southeast.

A D.N.B. broadcast said troops of Marshal Ivan Konev north of Sagan on the Bober River were beating toward Sommerfeld, 17 miles south of the Oder-Berlin railway bank where Zhukov's 1st White Russian army is fighting. Sommerfeld is 70 miles southeast of Berlin.

The German High Command communique said Konev's troops farther south had burst over the Bober River line at the Quais River sector, five to ten miles from Forst, Five Miles West of Sorau.

The Quais is five miles west of the Bober at Bunslau, captured by Yugoslavia, and Russia's independent recognition of a Polish government which was nurtured in the Soviet diplomatic garden.

Press comment in London virtually was unanimous in praise of the charter, which was described as the "most hopeful document that has been produced in the present century" and "a landmark in human history."

Attention was focused on the new Polish problem, a compromise of Russian and British views which apparently went more space in the agreement than any other single subject. The attitude here was that the London Polish government must be dissolved since it is no longer representative of Poles inside Poland.

BERLIN DECLARES BUDAPEST HAS BEEN EVACUATED

Radio Broadcast Says Germans Will Continue Fight Outside Capital

London, Feb. 13 — (CP) — The Berlin radio declared Budapest had been evacuated today by the Germans and their Hungarian associates, but that the fight would be continued.

Budapest is the 15th capital taken by the Allies since June 4, when Rome fell.

Bloody street fighting has raged for weeks in the city, the one-time "jewel of the Danube," with its defence supplied by air.

Moscow has announced capture of more than 112,000 enemy troops in Budapest and the fight declared the core of organized resistance had been broken with seizure of the Royal Palace and ancient fortress on the west bank of the Danube.

Italian-Based Planes Smash Vienna Yards

London, Feb. 13 —(CP)— Heavy United States bombers, from Italy, operating for the first time in five days smashed at railyards in Vienna and Graz in Austria and Munich in Yugoslavia today after a night in which the R.A.F. heavily struck Stuttgart in Germany.

The British blow on the big industrial city and attacks on unspecified targets were made without loss.

The night raids came after a day in which bad weather brought Allied air activity to a halt.

Germans said Budapest indicated Allied planes were striking new blows at the enemy homeland today.

the eastern tip of Silesia, to the Rhine. Russian is 74 miles from that important German arsenal city.

The German communique made no mention of Budapest, but British broadcasts said the decimated garrison had evacuated the Danube City by a dawn attack intended to break the strong Soviet siege lines.

It May Read Rhine

Bunslau, a 13-way road hub on the east bank of the stream 74 miles northeast of Dresden, was captured yesterday at the climax of a swift 15-mile advance, Glessmannsdorf, 15 miles to the north, also fell.

Moscow announcements contained no hint that the Germans had massed strength sufficient even to delay Konev. At the Bober, some Berlin reports already, however, lies the Niesse River, by some reports almost the strength fortified as the Oder. The Niesse, like the Bober, flows north to the Oder.

An even greater flanking threat to Berlin than this thrust toward Dresden was launched by the Germans declared Marshal Konev had sent into the Sudentenland district, forty miles northwest of fallen Breslau and 91 miles southeast of the German capital.

Between the Bober and Niesse Rivers from the Naumberg region west past Glogau Russian forces around the scene of attack of unnamed mans who have been holding up Marshal Konev's drive, and the White Russian army along the Oder to the north.

If Konev has troops at Naumberg they are only 37 miles from Berlin.

JAPANESE SUICIDE TROOPS IN MANILA BEING LIQUIDATED

Possible Havens of Refuge, Corregidor and Bataan, Smoulder From Raids

Manila, Feb. 13 — (AP) — Japanese suicide troops, cornered in the ruins of their shrinking battle pit by a juncture of three American divisions, were being compressed today and today as their only possible havens of refuge, Corregidor and Bataan, smoldered from a record 1,000-plane bombing.

The final phase of the battle for the Philippine capital was mopping up in ferocity as Americans of the 37th Infantry, 1st Cavalry and 11th Airborne Divisions converged to pin the Japanese against Manila Bay and the Pasig River mouth.

While 6th Division armored units 40 to 60 miles to the north of Pasig cut Luzon in two, the three divisions in Manila's shell-wrecked downtown area, being met by tanks, heavy artillery, machine-gun fire and infantry attacks in their drive to finish off the enemy garrison now confined to less than five square miles.

Across Manila Bay, American bombers dropped more than 700 tons of bombs on the southern end of Bataan peninsula and more than 200 tons on Corregidor fortress during a 45-hour period up to Sunday night.

Sink 35 Barges

The headquarters communique reported that American fighter planes and warships destroyed 2,500 enemy troops, off Bataan on Sunday.

An Associated Press war correspondent, C. Yates McDaniel, reported the Japanese in Manila are never had any hope of escaping from their self-laid trap. He wrote:

"There is not a last-minute flurry of desperation, but apparently a carefully-calculated plan to set the city afire in as many as 30 places high in lives and property as their contribution to what was to be it."

Fifth Division armored units of Maj.-Gen. Edwin D. Patrick reached Luzon's Pacific coast at Dingalan Bay, seizing quantities of enemy supplies and equipment.

This severed Luzon from coast to coast on a line about seventy miles south of Lingayen Gulf. The bulk of the island's Japanese are believed to be in the northeastern corner.

GERMAN U-BOAT SUNK, ANOTHER IS PROBABLY SUNK

Other Nazi Undersea Raiders Attacked By Canadian Ships In Ocean Battles

Ottawa, Feb. 13 (CP)—Sinking of a German U-boat, probable sinking of another and attacks on other raiders in North Atlantic convoy battles in which speeding torpedoes were launched at Canadian ships were announced here today by Navy Minister Macdonald.

Exact location and dates of the battles were withheld for security reasons, but Mr. Macdonald gave a few details at his first formal press conference since returning last week from a tour of Canadian naval establishments in Britain.

He said the sinking of the Nonsuch, in command of Lt.-Cmdr. L. F. Moser and crew of 60, was the first sank a U-boat in the North Atlantic.

He was not able to supply details on the St. Thomas kill, saying the story had not yet been passed by security. He was able, however, to give some information on another battle against submarines that developed a period of events and occurred "some months ago".

Credit for the "Probable" was divided between two Canadian ships, the frigate Dunver, 16 boatmand of Lt.-Cmdr. W. Dempsey, Victoria, and the Corvette Shediac, boatmand of Lt.-Cmdr. Neville, S. O. Dickinson, Montreal and Shediac, and an R.A.F. Sunderland Flying Boat.

The Dunver and Hespeler were credited with the destruction of a Cmdr. George Stephen of Montreal and Ottawa, and the frigate Mene, in command of Lt.-Cmdr. Thomas Shaw of Victoria, took part in another action with a submarine with a U-boat.

Mr. Macdonald said he had recently read criticism in which convoy battles were described as "routine TA" and not able to match faster actions.

"This sinking and the probable attacks I announce today are proof that the routine is not the inadequate means of combatting the foe," he said.

Flanked by Vice-Admiral George Nelles, Chief of the Naval Staff, and several high-ranking officers, Mr. Macdonald told reporters of recent developments in U-boat warfare.

U-Boat Activity.

British Closer To Mandalay

Kandy, Ceylon, Feb. 13. (CP) — British Army troops pushing down from the Irrawaddy have captured Singuze, forty miles from Mandalay, it was official communique announced today.

Mandalay remained the last major city in the southern outskirts of the Burma communications city, 20 miles west of the city, in the peninsula between the Irrawaddy and the Chindwin and Irrawaddy Rivers, British troops seized a village after a sharp action.

In North Burma, Chinese 1st Army troops have reached the Burma Road southward to within 61 miles of the key city of Lashio.

With the 1st Canadian Army in Germany, Feb. 13 — (AP) — The legendary Russian method of crossing a river — with the strongest on the shoulders of comrades patiently standing waist deep in the water — was emulated to some degree by heroic British troops on this blazing northern front.

Vanguards of a famous Scottish division stormed down on the Niers River town of Gennep, three miles from the western edge of the Reichswald, and saw a vital bridge blown up and burned in their faces.

They had no edge of rafts. Some couldn't swim, but they had orders.

"All right, boys," came the command, "in ye go — and don't be sloppin' to fish!"

Wading up to their chins, the Scots gingerly crossed the stream without a single mishap. Undersized members of the outfit were carried across on the shoulders of taller comrades.

This time, the German garrison at Gennep thinking the destruction of the bridge had discouraged the attackers, made no move for a night's sleep.

The Scots weren't sleeping. They were on the south bank, soaked to the skin and shivering in a windwhipped sleet storm.

They slipped through the darkness into the western side of town and caught the Germans napping.

Violent, house-to-house fighting erupted. Within a few hours engineers were building a bridge across the river, providing a new route into the Reich.

Big Three Doom Nazis and Pledge To Work Together

8-Day Meeting at Czarist Palace Near Yalta Ended

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

Washington, Feb. 13 (AP)—Allied armies already pivoting toward the heart of Germany massed men and materials for one more powerful offensive today in the wake of the Big-Three Crimean plan to hasten the end of the war and the beginning of a secure peace.

The picture of the peace—the Dumbarton Oaks proposal for a new league—is to be laid before a United Nations conference to be called at San Francisco April 25.

Those are the two overall results of the eight-day meeting at an old Czarist palace in the Crimea of Premier Stalin, Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt.

By their own word it offers "the hope of lasting peace after many years of unconditional surrender, for generations of international security in which all nations can live their lives in freedom from want and fear."

The dark curtains of secrecy were drawn around the conference late yesterday. This revealed the Big Three had agreed not only on mighty new blows to smash Hitlerism and permanently disarm Germany, but also on seven points of specific peace machinery to guarantee independence and self-determination to the small countries of Europe.

A formula for creating a new government in Poland, which will be acceptable to all three powers, is included.

Covers Nine Major Points

The Three-Power Announcement, covering nine major points, was hailed at the capital by both Republicans and Democrats.

In contrast, the United States in a new and active role in the settlement of European political affairs is now departing its American foreign policy. To consider these problems as they arise, President Roosevelt and American foreign secretaries plan to meet every three or four months, and later the first of the San Francisco conference.

On his way home from the Crimea, Edward Stettinius, United States Secretary of State, has gone to Moscow for a brief visit with ambassadors of Messrs. Stalin, Churchill and Roosevelt, it was announced. Presumably Premier Stalin has assured the Soviet Government of the vast commander in chief and the other two are homeward bound.

Large Plane Plants For Some Islands Partially Dismantled

Washington, Feb. 13 —(AP)— Aerial reconnaissance during the last three days has revealed that some of the largest aircraft plants in the Japanese home islands are being at least partially dismantled, Gen. Lauris Norstad, chief of staff to Gen. Arnold, has said today.

It has been known for some time that the Japanese were transferring some heavy industries to Manchuria, but this is the first indication that home island aircraft plants are being moved.

She was given the rank of major in the British army.

Tornadoes Take Forty-Three Lives In Alabama, Miss.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 13 — (AP) — Tornadoes swirling over Mississippi and Alabama left a known death toll of at least 43 dead, 300 injured and property damage running into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Worst hit was a crescent shaped area on the southern and western outskirts of Montgomery, Ala., where more than 100 box cars of a freight were ripped and scattered around the switch boxes.

Montgomery police counted its dead at 26, and its injured at more than 75. Two hundred homes or houses were levelled and in Chilton county, south of Montgomery, 35 homes were demolished and many others damaged.

Eight known dead at Livingstone, 125 miles west of Montgomery, and one at York, nine miles from Livingston.

The storm first hit Meridian Miss., before turning eastward into Alabama. The dead in the Meridian area were placed unofficially at 7. More than 50 persons were injured there.

GAME WARDEN PLANS TO FEED PHEASANTS

That provincial authorities are planning a "big" pheasant feeding this abnormally deep snow this winter which makes it difficult for wild life to obtain sufficient food from feeding trays throughout the province, Game Warden Fay Lewis said this week. Mr. Lewis who visited his wife in this district over the week-end, reports that pheasants in their search for food are being forced from their natural haunts and are coming into the vicinity of farm yards, apparently in search of something to eat.

Game Warden Lewis stated Brown has arranged for feeding of the pheasants in Prince Edward County and Mr. McDonald for those in Hastings, famous for communities Hastings Point-Some wondering the game birds will find it. The hope that the arrangements may be made for feeding them.

DELEGATES ATTEND ANGLERS' CONVENTION

Four members of the local Anglers' and Hunters' Association are expected to attend the annual meeting of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters which is being held in the King Edward Hotel, in Toronto on Saturday and Sunday of this week. Expected to attend the meeting are J. E. Sherrit, Fred Croft, Arthur Baker and Bruce Mitchell.

Included on the two-day program of the annual meeting will be the election of executive officers, the discussion of matters of interest to anglers and hunters, and the meeting the program will be devoted to fishing and anglers, with on the concluding day a motion picture on hunting to hunting will have their say.

CAR IS DAMAGED WHILE MAKING TURN

Considerable property damage, reported as being attributed only to a motor car driven, by John Bush, 167 West Bridge Street, on Tuesday afternoon during a two-car collision. Police investigated and were informed that Mr. Bush was about to make a left-hand turn into his private driveway off West Bridge Street and at the same time Harold Fraser, 32 Rae Boss Street, who was proceeding in the same direction, attempted to pass the Bush car. Extensive damage resulted to the car, doors and left fenders of Mr. Fraser's police reported.

DELIVERY WAGONS WARNED NOT TO IMPEDE TRAFFIC

City Police have received numerous complaints from motorists regarding traffic and local delivery wagons being left parked on city streets in such a manner as to impede the progress of traffic and to cause traffic congestions. Yesterday Sergt. O. C. Armour issued all bread and milk firms in the city regarding such practices, which are contrary to city ordinances. With regard banks on the west side of the street deliverymen say they find it necessary to park on the side of the street, while making deliveries to residences, however, Police suggest that some arrangement be given the matter in the future.

Stalin Likely To Take Part In War Against Japs

By JACK BELL
(AP Staff Writer)

Washington, Feb. 13 — (AP) — The belief gained headway in Congress today that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin may have reached an agreement with Premier Stalin for eventual Russian participation in the war with Japan.

This belief was based partly on the announcement that a "very close working partnership" had been established among the British, American and Russian general staffs at the "Big Three" conference in Crimea. There the political leaders undertook the terms of a "crushing decision" for co-operative action on war and peace.

April 25 — when diplomats of the United Nations will meet in San Francisco to begin the formation of a world organization to succeed the final date upon which either Russia or Japan can, by giving one year's notice — denounce their non-aggression treaty.

Could Read—Can't Vote

If the treaty is not denounced by then it will automatically be renewed. This Russian position in regard to the Japanese treaty was disclosed clearly at the time of Premier Stalin's meeting. However, some diplomats believe that the discussion this significance of the Russian position.

The Russians refused to sit down with the Chinese at the non-aggression treaty Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has arranged for feeding of the peasants in Prince Edward County and Mr. McDonald those in Hastings famous for communities Hastings Point-Some wondering the game birds will find it. The hope that the arrangements may be made for feeding them.

No Information

While these signposts might conceivably point in another direction, chairman Tom Connally of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee thought strongly that Marshal Stalin may have told Messrs. Churchill and Roosevelt that he will join in the fight against Japan.

Senator Connally, a Texas democrat, told reporters, "I have no information, but I think that I maybe in my heart that Russia is going to go into the war with Japan."

Former President Herbert Hoover called the Big Three agreement a foundation on which to rebuild the world.

"I believe it comprises a strong foundation on which to rebuild the world," Mr. Hoover said in New York yesterday night. "If its agreements and promises and ideals expressed shall be implemented it will open a great hope to the world."

The pledge for joint assistance to peoples of Yugoslavia, Greece and Axis satellites, in setting up a government of their choice, was hailed generally as reaffirming the Atlantic Charter principles.

Diplomats Believe Big Three Filled Missing Chapter

By FLORA LEWIS.
(AP Staff Writer)

Washington, Feb. 13 — (AP) — Washington diplomats believe the Big Three filled the missing chapter in the Dumbarton Oaks plan with a compromise.

Prime Minister Churchill, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin at Crimea, it was believed, must have decided on the voting question, and the faith was left unsettled, questions which the Big Three worked out their solution along the lines of the British suggestion.

Related In Two Parts

It divided consideration of questions involving major powers into 2 parts, in the first of which the council was deciding whether peace and security were threatened by the aggressor and whether anything should be done, who would be out.

But when the last question arose on whether international force should be called out to stop the dispute — Russia, Britain, the United States, China or France could quash an affirmative vote and they were accused of breaking the peace.

The idea behind this was that if the major powers got to the point of wanting to send their armies against one another, that would mean another world war and the failure of peace machinery.

Council Considers Estimates To Strike Rate After Completing Regular Business of Council

Several Reports of Special Committees Discussed by the Members

After completing the business brought before them at the regular meeting on Monday evening, the members of the committee of the whole for the consideration of the estimates for a special meeting of the council which was held in the council chamber of this week at which time the estimates will be adopted and the rate of taxation for the year 1945 struck. There were no delegations appearing before the council and there was little discussion on the estimates before they were finally adopted.

The committee appointed to investigate the advisability of putting the floor of the City Hall on different floor and making other changes, reported made an interim report to the council at the last meeting that the report be sent back and the committee be given power to investigate the matter further. The report was adopted and the committee given in full at the next regular meeting. Ald. Thompson did not vote on the matter. It was decided that the Board of Health should be consulted before any patients are put in the hospital. The clerk has been given a cheque for $500 and it cannot see the use of the Board of Health being consulted, Ald. Thompson contended. Mayor Follwell stated, there had been a lot of patients put in the hospital as an interim measure, and that they had to buy a house, and possibly having the consultation with Board will eliminate this trouble. He was not in favor of the hospital each year for indigent and that those who can afford it be protected," said the Mayor.

Ambulance Authority

Ald. Thompson: "I think you are taking authority away from the Clerk."

Ald. Butler: "I think it is a good idea to have the Board check."

The Comptroller: "Having the Clerk's name on the cheque is to check we can get a case history of the patient."

Ald. Thompson: "The Clerk can still get all the information." The motion carried.

H. B. Stock, city treasurer reported to the council on a question asked at the last meeting by Ald. Ald. Follwell stating that he did not collect a Trailaire Trailer for the Toledo Scale Company because he had been told the steel was to be a manufacturer's agents and that the Toledo Scale Co. had changed the licence fee. A legal opinion was received from the City Solicitor and he explained the law governing licences and the matter was referred back to the committee of the whole by the band committee showing the Toledo Scale Company Band to be in a sound financial condition. The report was received.

Then an inquiry be sent to the Belleville Hospital Board asking them for a statement in respect to the corporation owns in respect to the hospital, the assets arising from purchase made some time ago, which assets the City has time and also what city official is the trustee for the profits of the electrical system.

Want Member on Board

The University Club asked that a member of their organization be appointed a member of the library Board and Ald. Clapp suggested that the members to be elected from the City Council make a report on the advisability of the Library Board being sent out of the city. This was received and further discussion when it was tabled.

Fire Report.

The report was as follows:

REPORT.

Belleville, February 7, 1945

The Special Committee appointed for the purpose of investigating the question and advisability of transferring Department's leaving the City for the purpose of providing property outside the City Limits beg to report as follows:

Your Committee held its first meeting in the City Hall on January 19th, at which all members of the Committees were present including Chief Lloyd, at which a general discussion of the question was had, and it was decided by the Committee that in order to properly consider the proposition for which the Committee was appointed they should have additional powers, namely: to find all existing conditions as to the firehall relating to personnel, heating and condition of the property and amount of equipment, and that a further meeting of Council held on January 29th, 1945, additional authority was given to your Committee, which authority is set out in the list of Surveys and considered the last meeting before it.

It was indicated by the Committee that a certain binding agreement existed between the property owned by the late Col. W. N. Ponton and the City Industrial protection from the Fire Department of the City of Belleville. Your Committee received a report from the City Solicitor give a legal opinion upon the validity of such agreement and the same is of record, and assuming that the same is of legal effect your Committee recommends as follows: Your Committee finds that the Corporation being obligated, to protect the Ponton property, to protect the Hoods of Sarnia, the Ontario School for the Deaf, Ministry of Education and Canton Airports, there is a definite shortage of efficient men in the Department, together with equipment and other equipment to adequately protect the property of the City and all property within the Municipal Limits of the City of Belleville.

We therefore recommend that further action on the question of the Department leaving the City be deferred an agreement be prepared between the Corporation of the City of Belleville with the Township of Thurlow providing for the protection of all real property adjacent to the City within the following limits: that part that is bounded by Herchimer Avenue, Donald Street and to the west by the Canadian Legion Park Dear, the fee to be $10.00 per annum and $60.00 for each additional hour. That the following additional equipment is present during a fire, to give adequate protection as required by the City Solicitor and to enable the Department to do the above boundaries and to be at other points necessary of such covenants and other undertakings as may be necessary for the City's interests deems advisable.

We further recommend that if an agreement cannot be drawn up with the above Township and for the above amounts that we confine our equipment within the City Limits and for the purpose of attending fires outside the City Limits, to such legal obligations to points and the above points enumerated above as the Committee may deem fit.

Your Committee further finds that the Building housing the Department is almost impossible to heat, because the building is a dilapidated one, to give adequate heat to the Department, and we would not recommend that any expenditure of a major nature be made on the present building whatsoever, as the building is not capable of being made warm and fast would practically have to be torn down and rebuilt.

We further recommend that in view of the fact that the Department is not adequately manned so far as numbers of employees are concerned as well as the amount of equipment, that it is essential that the Fire By-law be revised so as to give to the Assistant Chief more strictly lived up to by the party or parties concerned as the Fire By-law concerned is as follows:

"There shall be an Assistant Chief of Department who shall perform such duties as may be required of him by the Chief, and in absence of the Chief shall perform all the duties and shall have all the powers thereby save and except personnel appointments, transfers and promotions from the Department."

All of which is respectfully submitted.

H. G. Woodley, Chairman,
Chas. I. Hyde.

Lengthy Discussion

Ald. Clapp: "I say leave the pumper in Bridge."

Ald. Woodley: "There are a number of people adjacent to our city who do business in the city all the time and we should help them in the event of a fire if possible."

Ald. Butler: "The people that the report will affect are only a stone's throw from those in the city limits to protect."

Ald. Armstrong: "Have we enough equipment?"

Mayor Follwell: "I am opposed to the equipment going out although we should help as much as possible but I am certain the equipment because if two fires happened one house after the other side the city at the same time I would not like to say that we did not fulfill our agreement."

Ald. McDougall: "Some Insurance Companies grant special rates to those in the county living five miles from a fire department but I do not think they will pay the rate if the fire is outside unless I think we have a moral obligation to those residents."

Mayor Follwell: "We have not met him as the township yet and I move that the matter be held back until the township have been approached."

Ald. Woodley: "You must remember that the pumper is the Chairman of Fire under the By-law has the right to grant permission to the aerial truck by the city to fight a fire adjacent to the city."

Wanted By-Law Amended.

Under the headings of enquiries, Ald. Butler asked when the garbage by-law was going to be amended to rescind the clause calling for tenders, because in the present time the city is making a purchase satisfactory.

Ald. Clapp: "I think we should ask for tenders according to the cost of our present system."

Ald. Trudeau: "I have the cost for last year on my desk."

Ald. Thompson: "Yes I have seen that but the depreciation of the equipment is not provided into account."

Ald. McDougall: "When is the Owen Sound committee going to meet?"

Ald. Butler: "I think the committee is ready to meet. They are agreed that a truck and a sprayer should be purchased but not agreed as to the type of truck to purchase. The committee will report at the next meeting."

Ald. Thompson: "What about the girl who was discharged by the O.A.A.?"

Mayor Follwell: "I have not been able to see Mr. Ruston back but not forgotten the matter and you will get a report."

Ald. Thompson: "Will you obtain from the Utilities Commission the cost of the reservoir and if there the cost we were paid?"

Mayor Follwell: "I will have that information for you at the next meeting."

Ald. Clapp: "Has anything been done on the special assessments?"

Mayor Follwell: "The committee is working on that and I will say we will complete that investigation before the next meeting."

Ald. Williams: "Has the traffic committee any duty work as yet?"

Ald. Butler: "Yes, we have had a meeting and I am going to ask the Chief to attend the next meeting of the city where complaints have been made."

Ald. Woodley: "Have any steps been taken to prevent a flood this year?"

Ald. Trudeau: "The amount has been included in the estimates and information has been given to city Hall."

A by-law was passed outlining the duties of the Industrial Commission and its functions and powers and appointing the various pages.

Ald. Butler moved, seconded by Ald. Clapp that the resolutions to be placed before the Industrial convention be drafted and that the council be empowered to act on the resolutions being sent to the secretary. Ald Clapp moved, seconded by Ald. Butler that not money comes out of the treasury for any trip from the delegations that attend the convention and that Mayor Follwell disagreed believing that if the delegates go to the convention that the organization is one of the most important in the country. Ald Armstrong stated that the Kiwanis Club is the only organization where action could be taken.

Members Invited to Meeting.

Mayor Follwell invited all the members of the council and assessment department staff to be present at a banquet on Tuesday (This evening) at 6.30 p.m. in the room the Riverside Drive will be discussed under the leadership of Ald. Clapp.

Fire Chief's Report.

The fire chief's report was submitted to the council, as follows:

Gentlemen:

I beg to submit herewith a report of the activities of the Fire Department for the year ending December 31st, 1944.

During the year this Department responded to 74 fire alarms, classified as follows: Dwellings 45, business 24, factories 4, churches 1, poultry houses and pigs 2, city dump 4, calls out of city 18, grass 62, electric stoves and wiring 2, chimney fires 5, garages 3, electric motors 2, electric heaters 2, electric fans 2, drownings 2. Only one call for false alarm during the year.

There were 416 inspections made of all classes of buildings, this was considerably less than other years as ears are short handed.

There were 115 complaints answered during the year, all of which members were recharged for setback valves and traps.

There were five fire drills held in all during the year, the shortest time on said drills was 2 minutes, 30 seconds with the exception of the Collegiate which was a three story building, time being one minute, 45 seconds.

Equipment used at fires: 16,450 feet of 2½ inch hose, forty rotary hose nozzles, 500 feet of rubber hose, 1,000 feet of factory raised; tarpaulins used, 3; ladders used, 3; hand pumps used, 20; ...

There were 1,000 gallons of water used from hand pumps. The booster pump of which there is only one is generally used for booster hose.

There were 36 first aid classes held during the year and 26 hose and ladder drills.

The men were detailed to theatres, dances and other entertainments during the year for public protection.

The health of the men on the Department has been fair, with the exception of three men who were off days lost time.

Reports were called from the Department for the Army in July, 1944, as follows: Water used; Foam, 30 gallons; pyrene, 5 gallons. For the purpose of comparison the following figures are herewith presented:

In 1943 256 value of property $2,292,843.00, loss $41,295.66, insurance $1,875,607.70, 1942, 241 value of property $534,940.00, loss $6,030.74, insurance $490,958.00; 1942, calls 256, value of property $4,485,695.00, loss $28,582.00, insurance $661,340.00.

For your information we would like to point out our three largest losses in 1944:

Smith Hardware Co.	$14,461.00
Belleville Lumber Co.	3,900.00
Blue's Grocery and Mrs. Hageman	3,932.00
	$21,193.00

I would recommend the following equipment and repairs for the year 1945:

1 new ladder truck, 1 chassis for A.E.F. pumper, 500 feet of 2½ inch hose, 3 Siamese fronts for 2½ inch hose, 3 gas masks, 1 10 inch electric saw, 3 gallons of foam, 3 fire extinguishers for the new men's homes, four men to be added to the Department for efficiency, four sets of rubber coats and a heating plant installed at the hall. As I cannot keep the equipment from freezing.

There are some hydrants in the City Water, are low and I would request that they be raised.

The Police Department gave full co-operation whenever assistance was required.

In conclusion I would like to express my appreciation to all city officials and residents of Belleville for the help and co-operation with the Fire Department during the past year.

Yours respectfully,
Chief Lloyd,
Fire Chief.

Report of Meeting.

A report of the conservation conference held in Queen's University by Ald. McDougall and was as follows:

Report on Eastern Ontario Conservation Conference Held at Queen's University February 9th and 10th, 1945.

By W. J. McDougall.

The Conservation Conference at Queen's University was a very pleasant and instructive one. It was held over the 10th and 11th, 1945, the topics dealt with were: Agriculture, Forestry and conservation of dead brushy with the above subject from a slightly different angle, namely Flood Control, Water, Soil and Forest Conservation. The latter was closely related that any study of Conservation must embrace them all.

There were many speakers covering a variety of subjects such as Children's Camps, Soil Conservation Council, Need for Urban and Rural Planning, Wild Life Conservation, Forest Regions in Southern Ontario, Forestry and Flood Control, Forestry Natural Regions in eastern Ontario and Special River Valley Development, etc. All the addresses are arranged by the Ontario Conservation Council, Development with the Minister, Hon. T. L. Kennedy, K.C. presiding.

The findings of experts from the Province of Quebec, U.S.A. are reviewed in papers given by various delegates present. It appears that much is being done and much more will be of great benefit in the future.

It is urged that all Municipal Councils, Boards of Trade, Service clubs, townships—as well as individuals—embark on a program of reforestation. Many farmers have woodlot areas in the safe minimum area of 25 acres, but with poor, low water levels, pits and forests. Farmers are urged to plant trees, shrubs, vines and fence them off from cattle. Many have found irreparable damage to the small trees and shrubs will soon prevents growth altogether. A classified directory with the proper direction will provide much employment for many men, especially those of wood and lumber.

Many thousands of abandoned farms are now increasing one. Many more have been too greedy in the past and have cut down all the land without putting anything back. Many farms have been left to go back to nature. Many more are left for unproductive acreages in every county. Many of the farms there is a waste land. Every acre has its purpose and should not under cultivation should be planted to trees. Soil erosion is prevented by proper cultivation, contour strip fertilizing, planting trees and strip cropping.

The County of Russell has been selected for a demonstration program for a period of years. The county itself has 3600 acres of forest, 1,000 acres of which is being replanted. The annual cut is now 1,000 cords, but it is estimated that at present rates it will take 100 years to cut it. Planting up to what it should be is going to be as great in every county and there is a great deal of planting every year to be done.

Proper supply and sewage are so related that they should be handled by the same department. Pollution has crept into our water supply and water system and today we are beginning to realize the value of pure water but to add quantities of chlorine. Many cities have been necessary to treat our sewage in an effort to purify our water supplies and it should be treated so that the water will not be polluted beyond the point where it can be safely used for drinking purposes. Some municipalities have their sewage flow to their water in such quantities that it is impossible to purify sufficiently for drinking purposes. Some municipalities have their sewage flow into the Great Lakes.

Ontario has changed from a fuel shortage to a fuel surplus and in the spring and low flow in the rivers, there is flooding in many districts which can only be remedied by building dams to create reservoirs, planting trees in the upper regions to prevent quick spring run-off and contour ploughing to prevent run-off on farm lands. The results of these conservative measures will also be evident in the increase in water table throughout the whole area which in itself would prevent many wells from drying up and being depleted necessary of hauling water.

Arrangements have been made for the completion of River Valley Projects and the Conservation and Ontario Department of Planning Development will proceed to make the necessary plans for the whole. As the Moira River will get the first attention it is hoped it be recommended that every attention be given to preserve as many acres as possible. A comprehensive survey will be made of the Moira River on the basis of the Canaraska project will show what it has been decided to protect the future of the Moira River.

Before closing the council Ald. Butler congratulated Mayor Follwell on obtain for the fine job done on the pictures of the South African war veterans.

RUSSIANS

Zhukov's forces at Corsaen, on the Baltic sea in the North.

Knorr's westward thrust across Northern Poland to the Oder threatened the German garrison at Breslau in ever increasing danger. The Nazi forces there remained open to the southwest, however, and in the most recent battle procedure, it seemed nearly certain Germans would avail themselves of it. Breslau is 30 miles from and die inside the city.

Farther to the south, Petrov's 4th Ukrainian Army, thrusting through the mountains of Slovakia, in the German uniforms, speared within 70 miles of Bratislava, key to Nazi Czechoslovakia's third city, by capturing Strumien in a seven-mile advance.

By German account, other Russian forces had penetrated Nazi territor in Silesia, 16 miles north of Czechoslovakia.

Petrov's troops in southwestern Poland also captured Jablunkau, 12 miles from Cieszyn (Teschen), big German fortress, and toppled Skalka (Skelka) by way of junction.

Head to Cut off Danzig.

In a fresh drive that Berlin said threatened the entire mouth of Danzig, the Russians yesterday captured Pelplin, 20 miles southeast of the Polish Corridor, industrial city on the Vistula River west bank city of Swiecie (Schwetz), 12 miles northeast of captured Bydgoszcz.

Strongpoints remained in Grudziadz and Torun, the Nazis announced last night, but Moscow declared the Germans were blasting and building 'em all up streaming up the Oder River the immediate of Lodzes-Berlin.

CANUCKS IN NEW OFFENSIVE

The new offensive by the Canadian First Army has penetrated into Germany, and captured Klein (1), northern terminal of the Siegfried Line. To the south, American First Army troops have reached the huge Schwammenauel dam (2), one of the barriers to the Ruhr and Cologne plain. Third Army troops have captured Prum, the eighth miles inside the Reich. At the southern end of the long front, the French First Army (4) broke the last Nazi opposition before Strasbourg and have drawn up to the Rhine banks on a 90-mile front.

GAVE DOG PRIORITY

Col. Ray W. Ireland, at Washington, D.C., assistant chief of staff for priorities in the air transport command, who was named by a senate subcommittee Feb. 10, as the man who granted an "A" priority to Col. Elliott Roosevelt's dog Blaze. The senate committee has been investigating the granting the high priority was an unfamiliar mistake. No mention of a priority was made in the conversation in which Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Boettiger asked for "a ride" to the coast for the dog.

School Inspector Advocates Greater Use of Rural Schools

Urging stronger links between the home and education through the media of the schools, Mr. Roy Macklem, Public school inspector for South Hastings and Lennox, yesterday advocated a greater use of rural schools by the community as a whole.

Speaking to the Rotary club augmented by the members of the Belleville Board of Education public school principals, and other educational officials, he stated that it would not be a case of renting school buildings to groups with no sense of responsibility but rather to those with educational problems in mind.

A perennial rural problem, Mr. Macklem declared, was that of its young people leaving to live in urban centres where more attractions to youth were available. "If rural communities established centres with attractions equivalent to that of city neighbors, the greater part of this problem would be solved."

"In addition," he said, there is the rehabilitation of rural young people after the war. These young men and women will not return to a social blackout in rural Canada after seeing and experiencing the bright lights of European centres. We must provide attractions for them in rural centres, and part of the answer is community schools. The places should not be confined alone to five hours of child education during the day, but should house adults in the evening with the same purpose in view.

Increased Money Grants

The government has increased money grants for education, the speaker pointed out. "There need be no worry about getting money for this purpose if the government sees that it is getting dollar for dollar value."

"As long as there is a deep abyss between trustees, the teacher and the residents of the community, not much advancement in anything will be made."

Referring to the "teen-age" movement recently gotten under way in this city, as well as others, Mr. Macklem pointed out that its purpose was not merely to give pleasure, or to keep young people away from unsupervised places of amusement, nor to "keep up with the Joneses" in other cities, but to develop in these young people a sense of responsibility and a sense of duty and co-operation.

Help to Develop Sense

"The difference between a good student and a poor one is often attributed and rightly so to his or her sense of responsibility. This movement will develop this sense also the youth's ability to co-operate. It will help him or her to take his position in the post war world and work with others for the common purpose."

He deplored the fact that the cessation of rural school fairs due to the discontinuance of governments grants in 1940, had affected the ties between the school and the home." A link between these two, was broken and took away the opportunity of children working for themselves." He warned his listeners not to confuse material efficiency with that of spiritual and educational phases.

"If we can get people to go to the schools, many problems will be solved which will go a long way toward winning the peace."

James Sherman To Head Fishermen

Commercial fishermen of the Bay of Quinte district from Kingston to Brighton met in Belleville over the weekend to re-organize their Great Lakes Fisherman's Association branch, which had been dormant for the past 11 years. Ninety-two fishermen were present at the meeting, which was held in the Wharf Street Debating Club rooms here.

James Sherman of Deseronto was elected president of the organization with Everett Collins of Belleville being named as vice president. Twelve men were elected to the board of directors, members drawn from the area ranging Brighton to Kingston.

Matters pertaining to the commercial fishing industry as a whole were discussed although reviving of the old union was foremost on the agenda. Interest in organization of 485 commercial fishermen and their helpers in the district will be served by the union.

Cruiser Uganda To Join British Pacific Fleet

Ottawa, Feb. 13 —(CP)— The Canadian cruiser Uganda will shortly be in action with the British Pacific Fleet, Navy Minister Macdonald announced today at a press conference.

Mr. Macdonald said that two light fleet aircraft carriers being acquired from the British, and Canadian Tribal Class destroyers also would probably go to the Pacific along with other units of the Canadian Navy.

The Navy's Pacific effort was not likely to be as large as its Atlantic effort, but "it would send against the Japanese "certainly more than a token force," said Mr. Macdonald. The Uganda is in command of Capt. E. B. Mainguy of Chemainus, B.C.

A second cruiser, the Ontario, now building at Belfast, will probably be ready to take part in European action before going to the Pacific. This ship will be in command of Capt. H. T. W. Grant of Halifax.

Many Training Stations Will Become Permanent

Ottawa, Feb. 13 (CP)—The H.M.C.S. Cataraqui training station at Kingston, Ont., and a score of unidentified stations will become permanent naval training stations after the war, it was learned here today.

However, with the navy's new over-all recruiting figure set at only 300 men a month, activities at Cataraqui and other naval training establishments in Canada will be on a greatly reduced scale this year.

"We have reached our required total complement—some 90,000 men —and need only enough recruits to maintain that level," a naval official said. He added that the small monthly intake could be spread through various centres throughout the Dominion and the activities of each would "very naturally be curtained."

Expenditures incurred in establishing the Cataraqui had been made in the knowledge that the station would be part of a post-war training scheme, with the R.C.N. V.R. using the facilities.

JOE E. SHORTT HEADS ANGLERS' ASSOCIATION

For the twelfth consecutive time J. E. Shortt, local Y.M.C.A. secretary, was chosen as president of the Belleville District Anglers' Association when the executive of that body met recently to choose officers for the coming year. Mr. Shortt was chosen president of the organization at its inception and has since acted in that capacity.

Vice chairmen appointed were J. H. Lewis and Dr. Van Blaklee, with Mr. Arthur M. Bishop named as secretary treasurer. The following committee chairmen were named: Membership, "Cap" Bottum; Restocking, Dr. Van Blaklee; Contests, Fred Croft; Hunting Contests, Elmer Sandercock; Reforestation, Byron Lott. George Walbridge and "Sandy" Lummiss were named as contact men for the the association's extension work.

Sentence Upheld By Appeal Court But Boy Released

A Court of Appeal consisting of Chief Justice Rose, Mr. Justices Laidlaw and Roach, hearing an appeal from sentence of Floyd Antrobus, youthful Belleville jail breaker, upheld the sentence of two years less one day in the Ontario Reformatory imposed by Magistrate T. Y. Wills, but changed it to suspended sentence and a recognizance entered into by Andrews with his father as surety for the sum of $1,000.

The judgment of the court was: "In this case which is standing for judgment, the sentence imposed is not interfered with except in this respect that with the consent of the Attorney General, the sentence, except insofar as it had already been served will be suspended and a recognizance be entered into by the appellant with his father as surety, in the sum of $1,000 that he will keep the peace and will appear for sentence when ever called upon and upon these terms he will be released from custody."

Antrobus was a member of a quintette of youths who conducted a successful break from the Hastings County Jail some time ago in which jail officials suffered severe injuries when attacked by the youths prior to making their getaway.

Provincial Police Continue Search For Stolen Money

Provincial Police are still continuing their search for the motorist who robbed Mrs. Thos. Clayton, Foxboro Road, of $82 after giving the elderly woman a ride part way home on the night of Feb. 3rd last. "We have recovered all of the goods stolen in Mrs. Clayton's shopping bag, as well as her ration books, but the money is still missing," Provincial Constable J. E. Scobbiere revealed today. The shopping bag and minor contents were found beneath a culvert on the Foxboro Road, while more recently a new shirt and the Clayton ration books were found cached beneath the C.N.R. railway bridge in the city over the Moira river.

Prov. Con. Scobbiere added the police were endeavoring to locate a 1936 or 30 model black four door coupe, believed to be the car in which Mrs. Clayton was given a ride towards home on the night of Feb. 3 when she was later forcibly pushed from the car and her shopping bag and money stolen.

"Mrs. Clayton informs us the door on the driver's side of the coupe was hard to close and also that the engine was quite noisy. Information regarding such a vehicle should be communicated to O.P.P. headquarters here," urged Constable Scobbiere today.

Riverside Drive To Be Discussed At Public Meeting

The proposed Riverside Drive along the east bank of the Moira River between Bridge Street and upper Front Street will be thoroughly discussed this evening at the city hall where a meeting of ratepayers has been called by Alderman C. H. Clapp, chairman of the Recreational Planning Committee.

City Engineer Charles Mott will exhibit plans of the proposed drive and point out the details of the intended construction and indicate the buildings, which will have to be removed to effect an entrance from Bridge Street and from Front Street at the Belvedere Hotel driveway.

Not only ratepayers, whose property will be affected by the building of the driveway are invited, but all tax-payers are urged to attend the meeting. In addition to the Recreational Planning Committee, the Mayor and all members of the council will be present and will be prepared to answer questions pertaining to the undertaking.

THE CANADIAN WAY OF LIFE . . .

Roast Beef on Sundays . . .

THE SUNDAY ROAST—week-ends in the country—the old family jalopy—these things mean a pleasant way of life. These are some of the things every man overseas is fighting for today. They won't be his, unless all of us make sure, when our fighting man comes back, his dollar will be worth a dollar.

To protect his dollar, we must realize NOW the dangers of careless, unnecessary buying. We must buy only what we need—never buy two where one will do! We must not evade rationing or price control, or deal in black markets. If we break the rules, our country—the country he's fighting for—will start on that uncontrollable rocketing of prices known as inflation!

Prices will rise. As prices go up, wages try to tag along . . . and never quite catch up. The value of money goes down. Soon your dollar will buy—perhaps only 30c worth of goods! And there is no limit to its drop—look at Greece to-day! The nation is plunged in poverty and depression.

So let's all make sure our soldier's dollar when he gets back—will buy a dollar's worth of goods! We can't give back to him his lost years or his lost youth. But, if we keep up the fight against inflation, he can look forward to pleasant, satisfying living . . . the Canadian way of life.

Published by THE BREWING INDUSTRY (ONTARIO) to reveal the dangers of inflation.

Make this Pledge Today!

I pledge myself to do my part in fighting inflation:

By observing rationing and avoiding black markets in any shape or form.

By respecting price controls and other anti-inflation measures, and refraining from careless and unnecessary buying. I will not buy two where one will do, nor will I buy a "new" where an "old" will do.

By buying Victory Bonds and War Savings Stamps, supporting taxation, and abiding by all such measures which will lower the cost of living and help keep prices at a normal level.

Frenzied Hun Propagandists

German propagandists are concentrating their effort upon the German civilian public to hold their morale and make them fight on to the finish under the threat of dire consequences which they say will follow if Germany should be defeated. Now there are disturbances reported from within the Reich and at the same time the Allied armies are pressing with more and more strength against the sagging walls of the Reich. The pincers are working effectively to the defeat and end of Hitlerite Germany.

Germans looked with a forlorn hope some time ago that they might be able to stir rifts in the harmony of the United Nations, that they might effect failure, unity is seen on the battlefields of the world and in the conferences of the United Nations leaders, the latest of which is now just been held.

Well might the enemy become frantic as the relentless pressure of Allied power continues to drive back the Huns in from both borders to lead ultimately to the fall of Berlin. Germany, sore pressed on the east and noting the United Nations strength and the new offensive of Allied power in the west, tried to withdraw some troops from the east to put them into the Siegfried defences but the efforts proved vain and the projected relief of troops and materials was battered and hammered by the eye of the Allied forces, the air squadrons.

Between the advance of the Allied armies, the feverish excitement in Berlin and in Germany at large and the frantic endeavors of the propagandists of Germany the Germans must fully realize that they are in bad plight with imminent defeat and collapse facing them.

The United Nations are showing everywhere their mastery in power and however long the Germans fight on, the Allied forces will maintain their offensive and dictate the course of future military events in Germany and Germany's end.

Valentine's Day

Wednesday is St. Valentine's Day. Traditionally, that is the day when moon-eyed maidens and big-eyed swains, swear undying fealty—until a new love pops over the horizon.

The father, listening to the exclamations of delight or disgust when the members of the household look over the mail, will light his pipe, and recall the day he courted Mother to the altar, glance quickly in her direction, and mentally remark upon the vagaries of time and its changing hands.

Mother, on the other hand, will likely recall the big day too, sigh a deep sigh, and wonder why he hasn't come across with a box of candy for the past ten years.

Junior will wonder how that new redhead next door reacted to the valentine card on which he spent his last two-bits, and what she sees in the stuffed shirt on the hockey squad who sits in the next seat in school.

Sis will giggle and blush over her quota of the cupid-crested cards, and spend the rest of the day guessing "who."

To young married couples and those who figure the honeymoon is not over when the bride drops cigarette ashes in the bacon, the day will likely be one of happy memories, not to be swapped as yet by the old gent with the scythe and whiskers.

And to those grand girls, who restrained their tears until the bridegroom, clad in khaki, navy or air force blue, waved his final good-bye, let us hope that 1945's St. Valentine's Day will be one of happy reunion.

These reaffirmations of love, fealty and exchange of letters and cards date away "back when." The ancient Romans used to inscribe their message of love on parchment scrolls and send slaves over to the baths where the current heart-throb was laving her body in scented water and not worrying about the scarcity of nylons.

The idea is said to have been born in southern Europe where, historian naturalists say, the birds used to pair and mate in mid-February.

St. Valentine himself was a bishop of Rome in the 3rd century. He is reported to have been a man of most amiable nature and remarkable gifts of eloquence, and was very successful in converting the pagan Romans to Christianity.

He that as it may. What this corner would like to know, is who invented the satirical monstrosity that formerly masqueraded under the name of a "Valentine," was printed on cheap pulp paper and pictured the victim in gargoylian features and clothing, and was usually accompanied by a verse that extolled all the virtues that he did not possess?

Fable of the Big Three

(Christian Science Monitor)

It may not be on the square, but there is a story going the rounds: It is rumored that one night recently, or maybe it was lately—an eagle and a swifty from his nest overlooking the Potomac, and proceeded on silent wing to meet his mates-mates somewhere in the great unknown. No trees rustled with the news of his passing. No little breezes whispered the tale. The stars just blinked, and the man in the moon closed his eye, for the big white house had decreed it so.

Across the shining big sea water, it is reported that a lion rose, stretched himself —or perhaps he just rose—and set out on softly padding feet to the same unconfirmed destination. Though no roar announced his going, and the Isles eyed his journey in confidence, the news of the trip was bound to spread abroad via the English Channel, for even Military Secret couldn't shut that up.

Further north, it is hinted that a great bear, who already had defied all the story-tellers of the past by refusing to sleep through the winter, shook himself and lumbered forth to the unmentionable rendezvous. Folks surmised that he did not go any too far from his lair, for though his cubs can prove a worry, and far when occasion warrants, Papa Bear—or so the gossip runs—prefers home territory.

You know, of course, this is just a fable. At least Washington won't confirm it.

New Type of House

The name of Mr. Arthur Greenwood has been given to a new type of house devised to meet the housing shortage. Mr. Greenwood has adopted it because its design fits in with "prefabs" formed when minister in charge of post-war reconstruction that temporary houses were wasteful of labor and material and that bungalows were the wasteful kind.

It starts as a flat-roofed bungalow accommodating a family of three, but it has domestic outhouses connected with the house by a covered way. At first convenient opportunity the bungalow is converted into a three-bedroomed house with kitchen and living-room by adding an upper storey.

Cars Stuck

(Gravenhurst Plain Dealer)

Railroads' snow troubles are by no means confined to main lines, not even in the western mountains, where it seems snowplows do heroic tasks every winter. Cars standing for freight yards, waiting to be unloaded, have been snowed in recently by thousands. Lack of manpower generally made it impossible to move them quickly, and either they had stood through a few days of alternate thawing and freezing it seemed impossible to move them by any means. If Nature does not send a general thaw, and send it soon, the roads may need a few tons of salt.

Two Generations

(London Spectator)

In a casual discussion on longevity a day or two ago someone mentioned that the father of the present Earl of Stradbroke rode at the head of his company at the Battle of Vittoria, which took place in 1813. It seemed hardly credible, but investigation shows it to be true. Lord Stradbroke himself is 82. The late earl was born in 1794.

LOST GENERATION

When the final wave has rolled,
We, who were the standers-by,
Will be those Who were too old
To be ordered out to die.

When the world at last is free
And the fields are cleaned of hate,
We, the "stay-at-homes," will be Spared the humblest soldier's fate.

Pride of service us denied,
Fleet or squadron or platoon!
Boys for God and country died!
We were sent to earth too soon.

Ours the generation lost,
Barred to land and sea and sky!
Money's all we paid in cost.
We were thought too old to die.

All their conclusions were not made public. The solution for the split between the Soviet Union and Russia over the issues of a world organization for the preservation of peace, and the dissolving that power in the world security organization it is to be given, only after Finland and China are consulted.

Fires Unrevealed

The plans for joint military action to be taken by the United Nations Group are unrevealed and there is no hint as to the duration of the war against Japan, which is not unchanged by the mounting predictions that after the defeat of war Russia will become an ally in the struggle for mastery of the Pacific strategic.

The decisions which were reported fall into three main categories and may be summed up thus:

Defeating and Pacifying Germany

Military Plans: Strategic, American and Russian High Commands are drawn together for the first time and planned in detail "the timing, scope and co-ordination of new and even more powerful blows" to crush the enemy. The staffs will confirm what is already necessary. "The German people," it was said, "will be forced to pay the cost of their defeat heavier to themselves than the necessary to continue a hopeless resistance."

Occupation and Control

France was asked to make a fourth power in the control of post-war Germany with the proviso that the country would be split into three zones of occupation instead of three, and ruled by a control commission of the American, British commanders in Berlin. In addition to having France's armies disarmed and demilitarized the Russian and Americans wiped out, the Germans will have all their real or potential war industries eliminated or controlled.

Said the Allied leaders: "It is not our purpose to destroy the people of Germany, but only when Nazism and militarism have been extirpated will there be any hope for a decent life for Germans, and a place for them in the comity of nations."

Reparations—

A commission will be established in Moscow to "work out organization in kind" by Germany to the Allied Countries. This probably means using German labor, plants and machinery, wealth and raw materials for the rehabilitation of the people.

Bringing Order Out of Chaos)

General Policy—Messrs. Churchill, Roosevelt and Stalin agreed—and expressed the hope that France would join them—on a plan for joint control of the liberated and former satellite peoples of Europe to "help them to solve by democratic means" with a guarantee of free elections as soon as possible. They said they would "concert" with Italy internal peace in disturbed countries, "relief of distress" and interim governments pending elections and facilitate the holding of elections. As a reassurance to the smaller nations the Big Three promised to consult them on matters of mutual concern.

PERSONAL HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

WE SHOULD SAY WHAT WE THINK AND THINK WHAT WE SAY

I attended a lecture delivered by [illegible] in Lincoln, Nebraska, years ago, and have been a follower of your column ever since . . . I remember that we were just a little [illegible] when you said at the opening of your lectures that you would always say what you thought. Lincoln friends — we, you [illegible] lecturer, you said, what I say, I am convinced that what Dr. Brady says one cannot catch cold from a draft, and test, etc., he is referring to normal, healthy people, people free from chronic infections, and not, for instance, to people who have chronic sinus infection.

(D. D.)

At first blush, Sir, I'm inclined to deny I said wined. One of the pleasantest recollections I have of that visit to Lincoln is that nobody offered me or, so far as I can remember, ever served me any kind of alcoholic beverage in Lincoln. That was in the era of Prohibition. I have always retained the impression that the people of Lincoln found life endurable without the narcotic influence of alcohol. On second thought, I'm inclined to say "stewed and dished" . . . just as I might say column and dished. But I will try and attribute, although I'd prefer to say, something to the beer.

No, if I meant that the normal, healthy people cannot suffer any illness in consequence of a draft, wet feet, etc., I'd make that perfectly clear. I say one cannot catch cold from a draft, wet feet, etc. and one means nobody, no matter whether one is normal or healthy or abnormal or unhealthy or weak or tired or overworked or "run down" or in "resistance"—if that means anything to me—can catch cold from anything to me.

The fact that I expect any old fossil reading this will change his views in the slightest even if he happens to be a physician or a health officer.

But I have always in mind the younger folks who read this column. I want to make certain they shall not have any doubt as to what I mean when I say nobody can get any illness from cold, dampness, draft, sudden change, insufficient clothing, chilling, exposure, wet feet, temporary discomfort, and so on, even chilblain or frostbite, but never any illness such as coryza, sore throat, measles, pneumonia, bronchitis, flu, acute appendicitis or your exposure with equanimity.

MARMORA

rter Century Club Inaugurated At Deloro Plant

Marmora — The inauguration of the Quarter Century Club at Deloro on Friday evening, February 9th, proved to be one of the most interesting functions in the history of Deloro Smelting and Refining Company. The only regrettable feature was the absence of two of the twenty members now constituting the club. J. A. O'Brien, managing director, president and chairman of the Board could not attend because of illness, and J. A. Paquet, manager of Sinclite operations, is away at the present time. Alan Scott, assistant to the president, presided in the latter's absence and H. J. Green, secretary treasurer of M. J. O'Brien, Limited, was also an honored guest.

The inaugural dinner took place in the staff dining room where an excellent meal was served on artistically decorated tables by Mrs. John Rogers and her staff to the members and their wives at the conclusion, two toasts were submitted, "The King" and "Quarter Century Club". The address to have been given by Mr. O'Brien in proposing the latter toast was read by Mr. Scott. In it, Mr. O'Brien stated his appreciation in being instrumental in launching the Quarter Century Club. He referred to the fact that it was 38 years since the company was formed and that from humble beginnings, the enterprise had grown to its present gratifying proportions.

Employees Praised.

"This was due in no small measure to the vision, mutual understanding, respect and loyalty of the men and women who have worked for the company. We formulated it a club of this nature," Mr. O'Brien added, "to create an esprit de corps, a harmony between employer and employee which is of great significance and promote the general welfare of all concerned."

He said "each charter member has given 25 to 38 years of devoted service to the company and I think it is very appropriate that I should record the name and length of service of each man. It was a hard one I need not say for a decision whether Mr. S. B. Wright or Mr. J. P. Crisp held the distinction of the longest service but as Mr. Wright retired on December 31st, 1944, he has been given the honor and award on the West Coast and Mr. Crisp, because of his many friends is still going strong, the palm goes to Mr. Wright." And the length of service of each man. It was a "neck and neck" race for a decision whether Mr. S. B. Wright or Mr. J. P. Crisp held the distinction of the longest service but as Mr. Wright retired on December 31st, 1944, he has been given the honor and award on the West Coast and Mr. Crisp, because of his many friends is still going strong, the palm goes to Mr. Wright." And the length of service of each man, as read by the secretary-treasurer, is as follows, up to the September 1944 issue of that interesting publication "The Plain Bulletin" from which you will note that 'Johnny' was working with the Canadian Goldfields (Deloro Subsidiary company) before, so to speak—he "Wright was born."

The list of members in order of length of service was then read with a short characteristic comment being made on each member by reason of his many friends) is still going strong, the palm goes to Mr. Wright." And the length of service of each man, as read by the secretary-treasurer, is as follows, up to the September 1944 issue of that interesting publication "The Plain Bulletin" from which you will note that 'Johnny' was working with the Canadian Goldfields (Deloro Subsidiary company) before, so to speak—he "Wright was born."

Names and Years of Service.

Edward John Cross, 38 years; Sidney Bridlow Wright, 38 years; Robert Alfred Harris, 35 years; Harry Orval Loveless, 34 years; Floyd Gray, 33 years; Dr. Arthur Hamilton Crawford, 33 years, association as "The Doctor"; Arthur Volhmann Yates, 31 years; Henry Augustine McNally, 30 years; Charles Joseph Judge, 30 years; Charles McIlmoyl, 30 years; George Franklin O'Neill, 30 years; Charles Henry Bushard, 30 years; John Alfred Paquet, 29 years; Herbert Clinton Barlow, 29 years; William Francis Pownall, 27 years; Peter Patrick Brawley, 25 years; Charles Leslie Fleming, 26 years.

26 Aggregate 623 Years.

The chairman's address as it continued gave further interesting figures. It showed that the accumulated length of service of the twenty chartered members is 623 years, an average of 31.15 years and that almost every department in the organization was represented. Mr. O'Brien added that although the following ten members of the Deloro organization are no longer actively connected with the company, they have joined the club as honorary members in the club—Frederick Alexander Saplin 29 years; Malcolmson Cadney, 29 years; Archibald Dennis, 28 years; William George Kerr, 28 years; Alexander Wilson, 28 years; Wilfrid Addison Hall, 27 years; "Our years of past friendship and devotion to the O'Brien policies be counted with that remembering those of our colleagues who have gone to their final reward: Dr. Stafford Frederick Kirkpatrick, 30 years; Jacob Brady, 32 years; William Clarke Bourne, Sigg, 32 years; Harry Smith, 31 years; Michael John O'Brien (who formed the Company), 31 years; George Mantle, 30 years; Robert Andrew Elliott, 29 years; Alexander Kennedy, 23 years.

Impressive Record.

"The grand total of the years of the 32 men named, either actively engaged in the business of the company, retired or deceased, is 975 years or an average of 60.9 years each, an impressive record by any measure, and one of which we are rightly proud. Further evidence of consolidation for the club members for their past service and the statement that future prospects for the Quarter Century Club were very bright finished the address proper."

Medals and Gifts of Money.

Speaking then on behalf of Mr. O'Brien, Mr. Scott said it had been decided to present each new member of the club as he or she qualified for the "Quarter Century" distinction with a badge and membership scroll as well as a cheque for twenty-five dollars. Unfortunately the delivery of the badges (which will be of Ontario blue and gray color) had not been in time for presentation that night but would be distributed at a later date. The distribution of the scrolls and cheques having been carried out the toast to the charter members of the Royal Hotel on Friday, Feb. 9th when District Governor C. O. (Ory) Rooks of Kingston was guest of honor. Following a sinata Drew occupied the chair and after the Royal Toast had been submitted the guest of the evening gave an historical sketch of the foundation and progress of the Kinsmen movement. One new member was initiated into the club.

BANCROFT

Twenty-One Days In January Below Zero Weather

Bancroft — The weather at Bancroft for the month of January was all that will please one, extreme temperatures for that period. During the 31-day period 21 days carried a below-zero temperature varying from 1 below to 32 degrees below, while the remaining 10 days somewhat warmer varied from 3 above zero to 22 above zero as the whole month there was no above-freezing temperature recorded as the Department of Lands and Forests from which this information was secured. There was fourteen inches of snowfall during the month, which along with the 11-inch fall in November, 34-inch fall in December and 9¼-inch fall to-date in February brings the season's total snowfall to 84½ inches. Such a cold and dry winter with no rain so far has accounted for a large percentage of wells and creeks throughout the district going dry. Farmers are hauling their stock in many areas to larger bodies of water when their own sources of supply on their farms has failed. Here in the village private water wells are going some of the village homes have defaulted and many villagers are drawing water to fill their cisterns.

Mr. W. R. Wiggins left Sunday afternoon for Belleville where he expects to spend a week visiting in the home of his son, Mr. D. C. Wiggins.

The Girls' League of St. Paul's United Church, Bancroft, held an afternoon tea in the church basement Saturday afternoon which tea was well patronized by the ladies of the village.

Mr. Earle Carpenter left Friday afternoon for Peterborough in attend the annual Normal School "At Home" being held in that city.

Held Successful Euchre.

Members of L.O.L. No. 624 Bancroft held a bridge, euchre and dance in the community hall Friday evening at which a very good attendance was present. The fore part of the evening was spent in cards, there being thirteen tables. At the conclusion of the cards the prizes were awarded the winners which were as follows: Ladies' high bridge, Miss Gertrude Gregory; Gentlemen's high bridge, Mr. W. A. Davy; Ladies' high euchre, Mrs. J. Vance; Gentlemen's high euchre, Mr. Harold Thompson. Mr. B. Ferguson won the prize for the lone hands and Mr. Frank Sprung and Miss Marie McAlpine won the low prizes awarded. The local orchestra composed of Misses, E. G. Hemstock, E. Mather, G. Power and J. Cowle, supplied the music for the young folk to dance to, which dance terminated at two o'clock with the playing of the National Anthem. The ladies of L.O.B.A. Oakwood Lodge No. 798 of Bancroft catered for the lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Hopper and Mrs. H. J. Moore spent Friday and Saturday on business in Peterborough.

Mr. Robert Robinson who is at home on furlough spent the past week visiting with relatives in Belleville.

Daintiness Imperative for A Higher Social Standing

Jinx Falkenburg enjoys a refreshing bath after a hard day's work.

By HELEN FOLLETT

CUTE little bobby-hose's must beware of the baneful B.O. that spells social ruin, by the simple expedient of using a cake laundry soap and a wash cloth.

Those ever so pretty wool sweaters are no help either, for the perfumed soap leaves the sweet glands to a decided degree. A girl can't have a high rating in her social circle if she smells.

She can wear Pa's old shirt with the tails stuck in and the sleeves in patches on her blue jeans, and it doesn't matter how dirty her shoes are. But she must be clean, completely and entirely free of unpleasant body odors.

Her body won't rush her and the telephone will stop ringing.

Frequent Bathing

Frequent bathing is imperative since bathing removes existing perspiration odor, but the decomposition of the deposits of the sweat glands takes place so rapidly that additional deodorants is necessary. A good liquid anti-perspirant will check both moisture and odor, and is almost as necessary as the daily scrubbing.

And now it seems a good time to explain that a "deodorant" means that the odor of decomposition is neutralized. An "anti-perspirant" checks the flow of moisture. There are preparations to be had that will furnish these purposes. They should be applied to the armpits where the clothing is close to the skin. Where the air has little opportunity to penetrate.

Many Preparations

Odor may develop when moisture is not present, and that is why one should be fastidious.

Some of the old-fa-hards among us insist that it is injurious to the health to check perspiration. There are those who say the glands on the body; if those under the arms are healthy, the flow is sent elsewhere. Ask any doctor.

Many a girl has lost a good job because of B.O. that is an insult to the public nose as well as the noses near by.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Bringing Home the Bride

Dear Mrs. Beeckman,

My brother is in the service, and two months ago he married a girl who lives in the city in which he is stationed.

The bride, but both my mother and I wrote her letters welcoming her into the family, sent her wedding gifts and generally made Mrs. Jones written us friendly letters, and seems like a fine girl.

Now my brother is to have a furlough next month and is bringing his bride home. How should we go about introducing my sister-in-law to relatives and friends in a manner that will make her feel "at home"? Since they are already married, would it be permissible for us to have a reception for her. Or should we just have a social gathering, perhaps a buffet supper?

E. J.

I suggest that your mother, as hostess, and you, as daughter, have a late-afternoon party on a Sunday, in honor of your brother and his bride, inviting as many guests as your home can accommodate. Your notes of invitation could be informally worded: "Tom and his bride are coming to visit us for a few days, and we want to give them a royal welcome at a party at our house on Sunday afternoon, March 15th. Won't you and Jim come at sometime between four and seven this spring; the party?"

To make your brother's bride feel "at home" and an important part of your family, your mother can warm-heartedly say in her introductions, "... this is our new wife, and my dear new daughter", and you, "my sister" (this avoiding the "in-law").

Of course a buffet supper would be proper too, but this is the more expensive, and undoubtedly you couldn't accommodate as many people as for a tea, at which a simple menu is suitable: sandwiches, tea or coffee (and other drinks, if you wish), and small cakes or cookies, nuts, candy.

Your party ready to shouldn't be a shower . . . not because the people are already married, but because (1) it isn't considered good taste for a member of the bride's or groom's family to give a shower, and (2) because the guests will not have met the bride before the party.

Wedding Should Be a Quiet One.

Dear Mrs. Beeckman,

Last September my mother died, and then recently, in November, my father. I am planning to be married in the very near future, and although a formal wedding is my preference, I am wondering if it would be out-of-order under the circumstances. Do you think a more simple wedding would be advisable?

I would appreciate your advice as to the proper dress to wear, the number of attendants, and the invitations to have.

Lois

If you loved your mother and father, and therefore revere their memory, you realize that a wedding would certainly have reason to frown and is unwise at your lack of respect should you decide to have a large formal wedding and reception. With the loss of your mother and father, so recently, your wedding should be very quiet one. It would show best taste for you to have either your mother's or the chapel of your church, or in your own home; to dress informally, either in floor-length or street-length dress with harmonizing small hat, and corsage; to have only one attendant (or none); to invite only the closest of your groom's relatives and perhaps a very few intimate friends; and to have either no reception (definitely no formal one), or one for the small group that would follow the ceremony if your wedding is a house wedding. If your heart is set on a reception, do have it in your home, and you think this would have been the wish of your parents, this might be permissible, if your dress is of simple design, luncheon, your veil of finger-tip length, your bouquet small and simply-designed (or carry a white prayer Book), and if you invite only relatives and perhaps a very few friends of your most intimate friends, and if the wedding is in church, have no reception.

BEAUTY

Treatment For Winter-Worn Hands

Many a woman's hopes for pretty hands were once her pride and joy discovers, to her dismay, that they have become pretty awful. In the peaceful, leisurely past they didn't have to wash dishes and do laundry work. Taking on household duties hasn't hurt her looks, but exercise has probably been good for her health and figure. But the housework has taken a toll of hand loveliness. The skin is dry, the nails are brittle, knuckles seem to be larger.

Beauty shops give hand and arm treatments that work miracles. But not many of us can spare time for these delightful services; it is all we can do to snatch an hour and a half for a shampoo, wave and manicure—attentions that are necessary if we are to endure our own society. So, today, we are outlining a manicure treatment that can be self-administered. Try it out some time. You'll be delighted with the results.

Begin with a rousing old scrubbing with warm soap suds and a brush. Rinsing in the finish will have a good soaking and the cuticle surrounding the fingernails will be softened. Rinse and dry; apply a heavy massage cream or toilet lanoline. A thin cream isn't suitable for massaging.

While the flesh is soft and yielding the cleaning of the orangewood stick under the cuticle surrounding the nails, freeing it from the nail fibre; by doing this frequently you will never suffer from hangnails which are more of a menace than many women realize since they invite infection.

Placing the thumb of the right hand on the left wrist, work in the emollient by moving the thumb in small circles. Sweep from wrist to tip of the fingers, making a separate movement of circles each time so that the back of the hand is fully treated. Unlike facial treatments, when all movements are upward, hand treatment consists of downward strokes. Massage the palms of the hands with rotary motions directed toward the center. Then massage the finger ends. Keep using more lanoline as the hands dry up.

Do not wash away the cream or lanoline. Give yourself the treatment at bed time, then slip on loose cotton gloves. In the morning you will notice a decided improvement in the texture and colorful of the skin.

Don't forget that protection is the chief factor in preserving good-looking hands. Avoid extremely hot and extremely cold water. Be fussy about the soap you use for housework dishes. If you must hang out the wash on wash days, wear cotton gloves. Cold winds on wet skin raises the chapping.

Use a hand lotion every day. No skipping. No stop-and-go business.

It's About Time

IT'S ABOUT TIME TO TRY this on a plain little turban which no longer seems to do things for you. Wind a band of white or contrasting ribbon around your head and wear your hair as it is. Pick the color that does most for your eyes.

Advice to the Lovelorn

Returning Soldier Can't Understand

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Since I went overseas I've been in England, Italy and North Africa, and have been wounded twice. I can't tell you how I've longed to come home to my wife and the little fellow aged two. But even on furlough we've had nothing but quarrelling. She found some girls' clothes in my pocket one day. They didn't really mean anything, but I couldn't explain. She just hit the ceiling and stayed home.

Everything seems to get on her nerves. She says bitter, sarcastic things to me, and I retaliate. That isn't another woman in the world for me, and never will be. How can this horrible misunderstanding, accusations, wrangling stop? A few kids would seem peaceful in comparison.

L. M. C.

The golden remedy to keep from quarreling is so simple that no one takes it. It's just—to stop. Imagine you're engaged instead of married. Imagine that the pursuit of this girl to whom you are devoted is still on, and that every time she speaks you may lose her. Besides, there is nothing to be gained by a quarrel as we've learned. Always gets the best of it.

Doesn't Like to Give Up Her Long Slim Figure

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 31 years old, 5 ft. 7 in. tall,

Mrs. Francis of Regina, Saskatchewan, exclaims: "When my girl, Marion Marie, was a tot of two and a half, she was seized with convulsions. I couldn't get a doctor quickly and had to act at once. I thought of mustard. I made up a hot bath with 3 tablespoonfuls of mustard and held the child in it, with the water coming well up over her chest. When I had put her in this bath three times the convulsions ceased."

Mustard Baths Quick First Aid for Coming Colds, etc.

"I saw how much the mustard helped my daughter," Mrs. Francis continued, "so I began to use mustard baths for myself, whenever I felt a cold coming on. The mustard bath has always been effective.

"I used a mustard poultice on my throat when I had quinsy and this helped to relieve the condition," Mrs. Francis added.

Mustard Baths or Poultices for Relief of Pain

Thousands who suffer from chronic rheumatism, neuritis, neuralgia, or arthritis find mustard poultices and mustard baths help to provide quick, soothing relief. For winter ailments and chest congestion as well as for any pain for which heat gives relief, let mustard help you. Never leave a mustard poultice on more than twenty minutes. And if symptoms are serious, it is well to call your doctor.

Specify Keen's D.S.F. Mustard

When using mustard medicinally you cannot afford to take chances. Ask for Keen's D.S.F. Mustard, at your grocer, or drug store. Keen's is packed to preserve its uniform quality and full medicinal strength.

Friends Entertain Bride and Groom

Mrs. Kempson, West Bridge St., entertained about fifteen ladies on Thursday afternoon at her home in honor of Mrs. A. Everett, a recent bride. After a social time they were invited to another room where the table laden with beautiful gifts was arranged under pink streamers falling from three large silver bells. The bride united the girls reading the verses accompanying each and thanked the donors. All returned to the living room where a dainty lunch was served by the hostess and her two daughters, Mrs. Blaker and Mrs. Hall.

Thursday evening about twelve members of the Horseshoe Pitching Club of which Mr. Everett is a member, met at 266 Coleman St., for a social evening with the groom and his bride. After games and chatting along with other guests, they were all fed ice cream and cake provided by the club. Then F. E. Oartley speaking for the Club expounder an address to the bride and groom and William Leslie as Mr. and Mrs. Everett them with a beautiful tea service.

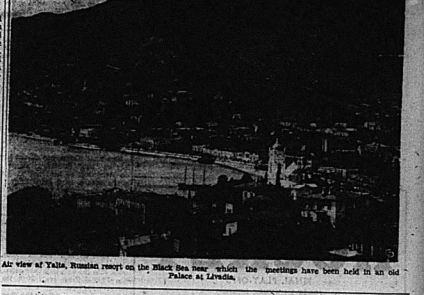
The conference, it was believed, would lay the groundwork for the anticipated World Security League, confined to the United Nations.



Put on Probation

This would place both neutral and enemy countries on probation until such time when they would be willing and able to assume active roles toward preserving world peace.

It seemed certain that the United States would oppose the admission of Argentina until the present policies and regimes of the South American country have been revised. Russia was expected to take a similar attitude toward Spain.

If future security policies actually were laid at Yalta, it was considered that Spain and Argentina might be the primary targets for probationary action among the neutrals, leaving the states of Turkey, Sweden, Portugal, Switzerland and Eire in doubt.

Such a decision, it was believed probable here, would result in giving a wide berth to those seven countries, plus Finland, Italy and Hitler's Balkan satellites, until they proved themselves worthy of a place in the family of nations.

Gloomy Life in Bombed Nazi Cities

(By Noel Panter, Writing From Zurich, in The London Daily Telegraph.)

Air bombardment and other hardships of war have made the people of Munich callous to defeat which is almost unbelievable. That is one conclusion come to by a Swiss woman traveller who has just returned from the Bavarian capital.

She recounts how she spent 12 hours interviewing churlish officials and sullen workmen in endeavor to buy a coffin in which to bury an acquaintance who had been killed at her side in Munich as the result of the explosion of a time bomb.

She describes how she sat on the pavement beside the body and how no one took any notice of her. This is a quite usual state of affairs, for "death may overtake one at any moment and everyone loves his own life too much to worry about the fate of others."

Eventually she managed to bribe a lorry driver to carry the body away in his open vehicle. In his lorry she went from place to place till a coffin could be bought.

Those with whom she had to deal left nothing undone to exploit the situation. "I had to argue and barter so much to obtain what I wanted that I felt like some unprincipled dealer. But at least my friend will not be buried in her own grave instead of a pit".

Describing her arrival in Munich at dusk one evening, the visitor states: "We stopped slowly on a one-track railway line into the wrecked main station. It is not necessary to search for the exit. One just follows the crowd till one is outside the tumble-down precincts. Many streets are cordoned off and there are trams only to the outer suburbs.

"An indescribable coat of red mud coats one's shoes. One walks laboriously as over a freshly ploughed field.

"Two days previously, I was told, Munich had its latest attack. It was cold and snow mingled with the rain. Suddenly I stood still and realized that I had reached the upper end of the Theatinerstrasse. There was nothing but heaps of ruins, dirt and people grimy and unkempt.

"Beautiful Michael's Church is a heap of debris in an open street. The towers of the Frauenkirche are still proudly outlined against the sky, but the church is battered to pieces". (The visitor does not mention that the Michaelkirche is less than a stone's throw from the Gestapo headquarters, while the Frauenkirche is close by.)

The whole surroundings of Marienplatz (the Town Hall square), are pulverized. Everywhere there is the same picture of destruction.

The journey to Munich was a series of emergency halts owing to air raids and detours which would not be mentioned in the time-table, if it were possible to buy such a thing.

Stuttgart, which this traveller had visited a short while before, she found almost unrecognizable. The station lower is still standing, but the mighty entrance building is destroyed. Between wooden fences at the northern extremity one gains the street. It is most time before midnight and the night is pitch-black. There is nobody to fetch me, for who in Germany today knows when and where a train will arrive?

"So quite alone I walk through the rain with only the fading light of my torch to guide me. There is one heap of ruins after another and it is eerie to be walking alone thus in the darkness of this dead city".

"We sit for hours in the familiar half-demolished third-class restaurant, which has been patched up with boards. There is no hot food available. We drink German ersatz tea, which tastes disgusting but at least warms one. Everywhere there are soldiers. They, too, drink this concoction and take a pill at a cigarette which is handed round from man to man".

After describing the hazards and delays of the return journey to Switzerland she mentions the last meal in Germany, which "consisted of a kind of thin sauce with boiled cabbage". Most inhabitants of the Reich today, she considers have become apathetic, and she suggests that even foreigners who have lived for a period in Germany cease to feel indignation at the manifold hardships. A kind of fatalism and nervous insensibility seems to take hold of people.

There is a different side to the picture. From another traveller just returned from Germany, we have received a reliable account of conditions prevailing in Hamburg. Details differ little from much that has already been published, but there is one incident I heard of which deserves to be placed on record.

After one severe bombing of Brunswick my informant emerged from the public shelter helping along as best he could a woman who seemed on the verge of a nervous breakdown. She spoke in disjointed tones and was, for present conditions, quietly dressed.

Suddenly a Gestapo official requested identity cards. The Swiss traveller was able to produce his but his companion pointed truthfully to the fact that she had no bag with her and thought she must have lost it in the general rush to take cover.

She explained that she felt very ill and could not even recall her own name or where she lived. She was thereupon taken prisoner and dragged into a courtyard nearby.

When she again truthfully asserted that she had lost her memory she was beaten on the temples. When she recovered the same procedure was repeated. This continued intermittently till, 14 days later, after suffering from agony of mind and body, she died.

No Immediate Reaction

There was no immediate reaction from the Polish group to the Charter's decisions nor was there from the Royal Yugoslav government to the British-American-Soviet decree which left young King Peter in an awkward spot.

It was assumed here that, just as at the Teheran conference, the Yalta meetings had arrived at many more decisions than those disclosed in the charter.

It was believed the major power decisions on policing of the peace would not be published until after Germany's defeat.

Hon. N. McLarty, Federal Sec'y Of State, to Retire

Windsor, Feb. 13 — (CP)—Hon. Norman McLarty, Federal Secretary of State who has just returned from a trip to England, announced today that he will not stand for re-election to the House of Commons at the next Federal election.

Mr. McLarty, who will be 56 years of age next Sunday said in a statement that he was retiring because of ill-health. "It is with utmost regret that I advise you that I will be unable to be your candidate in the forthcoming election," said the statement to his supporters in Essex west, which first elected him to parliament as Liberal member in 1935. He was re-elected in 1940.

Mr. McLarty explained he had recently undergone a medical checkup, and found that rest and continued medical care was imperative for a time.

To Hold Nomination

The Essex West Liberal Association will hold a nominating convention March 2 to choose a new candidate.

A native of St. Thomas, Mr. McLarty was educated at the University of Toronto and Osgoode Hall. In 1932, four years after his election to parliament, he became Postmaster-General in Prime Minister Mackenzie King's cabinet and later the same year became Minister of Labor. He became Secretary of State in 1942.

In the last general election he was re-elected with 14,133 votes to 13,940 for Reginald Pregerson, Conservative, and 2,036 for F. J. Joyce, C.C.F.

It was learned that Mr. McLarty intends to retain his cabinet post until the Dominion general election expected this year. It is considered possible he may be appointed to the Senate in a possible re-election cabinet shift. He and Mrs. McLarty will continue to make their home in Ottawa.

Goalies Star as 'Bombers', 'Flyers' Battle to Four-All Draw in First Play-off Game

Fastest Game of Season Sees Game Tied Up Twice as Flyers Rally; Late-to-Gain Draw; Second Game Wednesday

Playing all-out hockey for 60 minutes, the Trenton "Flyers" and Mountain View "Bombers" battled to a four-all draw in the first game of the Quinte R.C.A.F. service league finals before 2,000 fans at the Hume Arena Monday night. There was no overtime permitted and the same two clubs continue the best-in-three series for the league title on Wednesday night.

Trenton dominated the territorial play and led at the end of the initial frame by a 2-1 count. Matters completely reversed in the middle session with Fit. Jimmie McCaskill's Bombers carrying the play in two-to-two and lead 3-2 at the end of the second. It looked like the Bombers all the way when they made it 4-3 early in the last period, but a Flyers goal and Raymond's opportune counter evened the count again as the Flyers finished stronger.

Goalies Stand Out

Off the night's play the two goalenders, Williams for the Bombers, and Rainsford for the Flyers, stood out as the stars in an all-out offensive game, that saw continued sustained speed and fast passing that made the fastest game of the year. Rasmiusky, Reichardt and Raymond scored for Trenton, with Pilgeon getting credit for the fourth Flyer goal, when Brock accidentally shot the puck into his own Bomber net goal, while attempting to clear on a gangup play. Cowley, Brock, McMullen and Boudreau flashed the net-laurels for the Bombers.

With Swanson, their ace defenceman, unable to play owing to injuries, the Bombers saw two of the fastest goals scored against them that have been registered this year when Rasminsky Rasminsky tallied on a solo rush past Jack Robertson, but the latter saved Cowley scored a knee puck past Robertson after Wilson and Fuger had carried out of the corner. Lou Boudreau looked his best when he relieved Robertson mood him in front of the Flyers' nets. Both goalies were sensational this night, as also was the entire game with continual saves, that bordered on the sensational.

Tide of Battle Turns

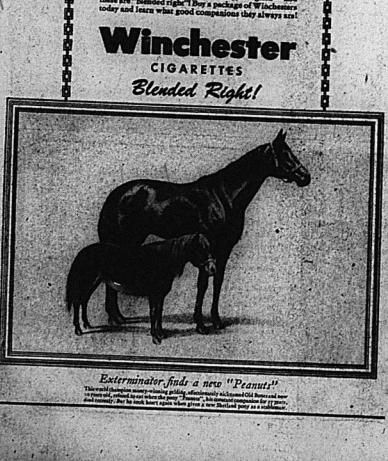
"In the second period the tide of battle turned in favor of the Bombers, whose combination plays began to show results, with Brock sinking home a shot after 1:45 of the session, following a face-off inside Trenton's blue line. Following a sensational face-off Cowley passed to McMullen and the Bombers moved ahead for the first time. Second after, the Flyers' chief play-maker and ace scorer, was twice beaten by Wilson.

goal-tending in the Bombers' nets in this stanza.

The final stanza saw all-out hockey as "God" Boudreau swept in on Robertson to beat the Trenton goalie with a hard drive after intercepting the rubber from Duquette on a face-off. Trailing 4-3 the Flyers moved fire to the attack, and literally carried the play from that point in, but it was William's night. Time and again the Flyers and victory, although they did beat him for two, Raymond passed to Pigeon, who shot on net, but in clearing Brock accidentally whipped the puck into his own net, that counted the Flyers' tying goal. Paul Rasmond tipped Marshall's long shot into the Bombers' net for the Flyers' fourth and tying goal. The game ended in a fight between Sam Rasminsky and Dan Cowley.

The line-ups — Mountain View: goal, Williams; defence, Brock and Dinnie; centre, Cowley; wings, Wilson and McMullen; subs, Duquette, Aube, Boudreau, Fuger, Beresford, Goring and Mantin.

Trenton "Flyers" — goal, Robertson; defence, Currie and Reinhardt; centre, Raymond; wings, Rasminsky and Gingras; subs, Serpaw, Pigeon, Perras, Marshall, Ray, Thompson and Dutcher.



Referee: Holway and St. Louis.

CHICAGO BLACK HAWKS BACK IN N.H.L. CONTENTION

Revamped Hawks Tangle With Boston Hoping for Fourth Place

(By The Canadian Press)

The fourth of Chicago Black Hawks in the place of contention in the standings has all the National Hockey League worried.

Several weeks ago, Hawks had been in the cellar, but they've since left the cellar of the league to the rest of the second and N.H.L. representatives of Boston Bruins, Detroit Red Wings, New York Rangers and Montreal Canadiens for the fourth playoff slot in the league.

Meanwhile, Chicago, Toronto Maple Leafs on their heels from a recent slump, everything suddenly changed. The Hawks were back and threatening the positions of both Detroit and Boston.

When the revamped Hawks tangle tonight with Bruins at Boston they'll be aiming at a fifth article slot. Should they hope will start them in fourth place and perhaps come play-off time.

Two factors combined to spark the determination of the club management to improve the team and the loyalty of the Chicago hockey fans.

Tommy Gorman, engineered a trade with Montreal Canadiens which gave them Dunc Groom, Cully Simon and Bob Maitland in exchange for Earl Siebert and Pete Peppar. Groom contributed a goal and an assist in their 4-3 victory over Toronto. McDonald scored one goal.

When Hawks were at their lowest ebb, Manager Paul Thompson, the fans turned out in only moderate numbers, but in the first 14 home games 192,664 paid customers attended.

What's Doing in Sport

(By The Canadian Press)

If this year's Kentucky Derby is cancelled under the U.S. war ban it would be the only break in the continuity of the classic since the first running in 1875. In any event, turf writers are already talking about the prospective starter with John Marshall's Pyrr for All, winner of all five races last season, as a popular choice. Support is also being given Wesley Ward's Yankee O'Lock which captured the Pimlico Futurity and Chesapeake Stakes. William Zingle's Esteem, winner of the Wakefield stakes, may also go to the post—if there is a race.

Rain prevented the staging of the final round of the New Orleans $6,000 open golf tournament Sunday and yesterday the postponed competition failed to reach a decision when Harold (Jug) McSpaden and Byron Nelson ended up with a tie for first place with 284 totals. The leaders are playing one 18-hole round this afternoon to break the deadlock.

Paul Courtenay of Providence Reds continued to lead the scoring race in the American Hockey League with a 7-point total, according to figures released last night. Courtenay's nearest rivals are off at New Haven. Bob Gracie of Philadelphia Ramblers was close second, however, with 66 points while he owned a three-point lead over third in the standing with 63.

In his first bout since he was given a two-months suspension by the Ontario Athletic Board of Control, Danny Webb, Montreal featherweight, earned the decision in a 10-round battle with Johnny Davies of Wales at Nottingham, England, last night.

Many Features For Ice Show By Skating Club

Colorful costumes, rhythmic and graceful routines of fancy and figure skating will be a few of the features at the Quinte Skating Club's annual Ice Fantasy at the Hume Arena Friday night. An ice pageantry never before attempted in this city will open the show with colorful costumes and a galaxy of skaters.

This year's pageant presented by the Quinte Skating Club is the story of Peter Pan and the Mythical Journey to the Never, Never Land. Throughout the pageant fierce pirates threaten the happy children. However, Peter Pan comes to their aid and the picturesque pageant comes to a glorious end with a tropical paradise background scene. The pageant is undoubtedly the most unique ever attempted by the Quinte Skating Club and will have a full 40-piece orchestra, directed by George Mayhee, in the background to provide the music.

In the fancy and figure skating part of the program, however, the show will be featured by Vi Smith of the Toronto Skating Club, Miss Roberta Wilcox, of Winnipeg and champion of Manitoba, by Anne Nothing of Mimico Board of Control, Danny Webb, Montreal featherweight, earned the decision in a 10-round battle with Johnny Davies of Wales at Nottingham, England, last night.

Watson's Rink Well on Way To Win Aggregate

Winnipeg, Feb. 13—(CP)—Ken Watson's Winnipeg Strathcona curling club rink was well on the way to winning its fourth consecutive grand aggregate title of the Manitoba Curling Association, posting victory No. 11 last night in British Consols play to remain the only undefeated quartet in the 97th annual bonspiel.

Watson, who skipped his Strathcona rink to the Dominion championship in 1936 and '42 and won the British Consols Provincial crown in '43, advanced in Consols play with a 25-8 win over Jack Donnelly of Brandon, Man., Watson's Strathcona rink tinked out Donnelly's counter and left the Winnipeg rink tying four.

Gordon Hudson, also a former Dominion champion from the Strathcona Club, defeated his first foe, 7-5, to Jack Caldwell of Hamiida, Man.

Watson leads the aggregate with 11 wins and is still in the three prairie events while Hudson and Billy McLeod, of Winnipeg, each with nine victories, remain in two major competitions. Caldwell has eight wins and one defeat.

Portsmouth, England, (CP)—Education Minister R. A. Butler said Britain's technical colleges have produced 300,000 men and women trained for the services and industry during the past five years.

CASUAL COMMENT
by K.J.C.

The magistrate was deaf, but certainly not dumb when he looked before him. The first man leaned forward.

"Sir", he exclaimed, "this man owes me a grocery bill amounting to twenty dollars and refuses to pay it!"

The second deaf man sprang up. "That's a lie" he cried indignantly. "My dog didn't bite him."

There was a pause while the magistrate received this situation, then he announced this decision. "Gentlemen," he said, "I fully appreciate your feelings, but I can see no reason why you should not combine to support your mother."

All-Out Hockey.

The largest gallery of puck fans to grace the Hume Arena in many a year saw the Bombers and Flyers battle to a four-all draw in the R.C.A.F. finals last night. League officials announced that only in a third and final game would overtime be played and then the game must be played "to a finish."

When the Flyers grabbed off two goals in the first minute of play it looked like curtains for the Bombers, but thanks to the good work of Williams, in the Bomber nets, the latter were able to battle back and early in the second period it looked like the Bombers in a walk. Robertson, in the Flyers' cage, turned in some high and mighty net-plaving as Paul Raymond and company went to work to even up the score. It was a thrilling game with Trenton outskating in the first and third frames, while the Mountain View in the middle stanza. The features of the game where he worked as a turnover of the goalies, although the fans are satisfied speed and the fastest game in years. The pace was so hot the players were sobbing on the fly and happy to get a rest. Trenton did a lot of fore-checking, but Brewer's Kid Mantin passing plays began to function the champs got back that. It was a case of stop Raymond and you can stop Trenton, however they didn't halt Paul in the third but claim they'll stop him Wednesday night when the rink should be filled for the second game!

Trenton Wins.

As goes Barney Leaperance, so goes Trenton, is an old saying and apparently a true one. At least Leaperance was very much to the fore when Trenton shellacked the Stirling Combines' 9 to 1 in their first "Little Big Show" Junior O.H.A. semi-final at Trenton last night. Barney was the principal marksman for the homesters, followed in line by Jack Scott. It was a bitter pill for the "combines", who were expecting to win for Doug Patterson who is now in the R.C.A.F. navy. The return game will be played tomorrow night. Incidentally Toots Holway's Belleville kids invade the Norwood rink for their second game with Hastings, one they should win, although the looks don't wans to sell 'em. Anyhow, mates, too cheaply after their 10 to 1 victory here.

Over at Trenton last night Don Lee of Belleville and Dutch Cain of Mountain View were the officials of the night. It seems the heads of the two teams couldn't agree on home and home referees which seems rather biased after a full season's play.

Oldies' Consumption.

Thanks to Harry Moore, former Trenton publisher, the following article, taking from an Indianapolis harness horse publication, relates interesting information regarding a former Belleville man. According to the article Jack Sproule, retired harness horse driver of Belleville, died at his Hutchinson, Kansas, home last week.

Continuing he adds: "Born on Nov. 10, 1856 at Belleville, Ont., he was eighty-five years old at the time of his death. Mr. Sproule left home at an early age going to Pennsylvania and thence to Denver where he worked as a turnover. He later moved to Pueblo where he owned a livery stable but after it was destroyed by fire he moved to Kansas where he began training and driving trotters.

Among his best horses were Brewer's Kid, Hank Hoss, Edna M. Dan D, and Hans M. He trained and drove Hank Hoss, Ottawa and Hutchinson, Kans., and at Pueblo and Rocky Ford in Colorado, also at Princeton, Ill., for a time. Considered a very good race driver, he was also successful as a trainer of both colts and aged horses."

He was severely injured in an accident about twenty years ago and since then had been in the hotel business. Mr. Sproule led a very colorful life in what was then the "Wild and Woolly West" and numbered such prominent men as Buffalo Bill, Calamity Jane, Bat Masterson and numerous others who helped make his section famous. His nickname, "Gentleman Jack" came from his never having used tobacco or alcohol. He is survived by his wife, two daughters and four sons, two of the sons being in the armed forces."

Remember When.

The comeback campaign of Max Schmeling, dethroned world's heavyweight boxing champion, suffered a severe setback eleven years ago tonight when Steve Hamas blasted out a 12-round decision over the German. Schmeling's campaign was launched with success in June, 1936, when he knocked out Joe Louis, but the Brown Bomber answered back with a one-round knockout in a return fight in the summer of 1938. Schmeling is like a lot of other Germans, wondering what this war is all about.

In Passing.

Local sport lovers regretted the passing of Cecil "Cece" Farnham over the weekend. Always a lover of sport Farnham was directly interested with the Belleville Intermediate O.H.A. champions back in 1937. He also took an interest in baseball at Cannifton in the old county league days. His love was horse racing and hockey. He will be missed by the legion of friends he created throughout Ontario during his life.

ELDORADO EARNS TIE WITH MADOC

A very interesting game took place on Friday night last which was the replay of the protested game of Jan. 31 when Madoc was blown off the ice by Eldorado by a score of 9-4 for Eldorado.

This game was attended by fans as the arena was filled to capacity showing that hockey is once more coming back to life.

The game was a clean and fast game with only a few minor penalties which could not be avoided.

The star player of the evening were Bud Fischer for Madoc and Gerald and Charles Thompson and Fred Stewart for Eldorado.

Eldorado had the lead by a score of 8-3 until the last few seconds when Fischer got a break away and tied the score.

Madoc now stands first followed by Eldorado, and Coover, and Marmora tied for third place.

Horse Sense Bridge

LESSON NO. 66
By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

In bridge we find the jumpy kind that puts us in a jam. With all its ills, it has its thrilling kicks like that stake a slam.

Complete the bidding in this pair of partnership hands:

SOUTH	NORTH
♠Q 9	♠ .....
♥9 8	♥ .....
♦K J 7 10 9 8 6 5 4	♦ .....
♣Q 8	♣ .....

NORTH
♠A 10 3
♥A K 10 6 4
♦9 6 3
♣A 4 3

The bidding has gone this far:

SOUTH	NORTH
1 D	1 H
4 D

The second round jump by south is a promise of eight tricks in that hand. Since then, north has known there is a slam of some kind in their pair.

After south bids diamonds three times, north knows their final trump should be in that suit. So, it is now only a matter of deciding whether it is a small slam or a grand slam in diamonds.

With seven, north counted and the trump suit agreed, the slam may depend on enough aces and kings in the hand. So north starts a test of how many aces and kings he has. In reply thereto, south comes back with a convention signal known as:

Using the Kibitzer's convention, a reply of five clubs shows no aces; five diamonds, one ace and no kings; five hearts, an ace and one king; five spades, an ace and two kings; and so on.

South will respond with five hearts; the signal for showing one ace and one king. Knowing now that opponent has two kings, it would not be surprising if North finds at least a small slam in diamonds.

Of course, it is possible that he can make a grand slam if he finds opponent's third ace, so I'll show you what happened.

RICHARD FIRST PLAYER SINCE '30 TO GET 43 GOALS

Elmer Lach His Forward Partner Fast Reaching Assist Record

Montreal Feb. 13 — (CP) — The National Hockey League made it official today in its weekly scoring statistics that Maurice (Rocket) Richard is the first player since 1930 to score 43 goals in a season and that his linemate Elmer (Lach) is fast approaching the assist record.

The official statistics put Richard atop the scoring race with a total of 84 points on 43 goals and 31 assists. Lach was right behind with 83 points on 31 goals and 52 assists—just five short of the record 88 piled up by Charley (Chuck) Smith a year ago.

Lach has eleven more games in which to set a new assist record, and Richard has 11 in which to pass the 43-goal mark set by Cooney Weiland in 1930 and the all-time 44-goal of Joe Malone in 1918.

Rounding out Canadiens' big line, Toe Blake moved into third place in the point race during the week, his present 54 total putting him up on Bill Cowley of Boston. There's a nine-point play-over Cowley, with Detroit's Sid Howe in fifth place with 45 points, four ahead of Toronto's Ted Kennedy.

Howe needs another five points to equal the all-time N.H.L. point record of 514 set by Nels Stewart in 13 years of play. Detroit forward has 13 games left before he completes his 12th season.

AT THE McCARTHY—Fred Brady finds it easy to smile at life—and why not—when he appears to be the organizer of such lovely damsels as Jeff Donnell and Ann Savage? The scene is from "Dancing in Manhattan," next at the McCarthy, along with the comedy hit, "King Arthur Was a Gentleman."

AT THE BELLE — Belle Davis in Warner Bros. "Mr. Skeffington," considered by critics the greatest picture she has ever brought to the screen. Claude Rains and Richard Waring are featured. The next presentation at the Belle Theatre.

Toronto, Feb. 13 — (CP) — There is no known way of calculating, with or without Euclid, the amount of face that was saved by changing the rules for the all-star benefit hockey match being played in Toronto next week. Originally, plans were to have a team of former NHL stars oppose a team of amateurs, no holds barred, and may the best man win, but the old-timers never really looked on that with no great enthusiasm.

They can hardly be blamed for that, either, since it's been many years since most of them were idols of the hockey world, and faster time has since dimmed things to creaking joints and muscles. Put them against a bunch of fellows skelter youngsters who are all over the ice at once, and the result might not be too encouraging from the standpoint of maintaining past glories in full flower.

Anyway, the present plans will operate much more successfully. The teams will be split up, and the old-timers on each squad will play only against their counterparts on the other side. That gives the fans a chance to see some of the old boys in action, without risking any embarrassing moments for the veterans.

Presidential Qualifications:

In case anyone is wondering just why LL-Gen. Montague Price has been suggested as a candidate for the N.H.L. presidency after the war, it might be said he has quite a few of the necessary qualifications as a possible hockey Landis. An outdoors lover and all-round athlete in his younger days, Gen. Montague was a keen and rugged polo player right up to the start of the war. As Jim (Tommy Gloer said) said in his man report: "He is the kind of man who would crack down when the N.H.L. needed it, and crack down out of hand."

Right on the Manitoba Court of King's Bench before the war, no crooked lawyer could get away with

DEBERT BEARCATS ENTER A-P-C. PLAYOFF TILT

Many Former N.H.L. Stars Now Playing Hockey in Maritimes Loop

Halifax, Feb. 13 — (CP)—Debert Bearcats qualified for the play-offs of the Antigonish-Pictou-Colchester Hockey League last night with an 11-4 victory over Debert R.C.A.F. and will be lined up in a post-season series with New Glasgow Rovers, Pictou Thistles and St. Francis Xavier University.

It had been more or less considered that New Glasgow and Pictou would clash one-two for first place but St. Francis Xavier's bid for a berth in the title play was a recent addition to the league picture. The Debert soldiers moved into the playoff picture when they defeated the airmen in the last scheduled game for the R.C.A.F. team.

In the opposite end of the province, Greenwood Flyers are in the lead in the Annapolis Valley interservice league with their latest victory being over Acadia University O.T.C.

Right in the middle of these two circuits comes the Halifax City senior hockey league with the standings announced from R.M.C.S. Cornwallis knocking over all opposition. The sailors downed Halifax Navy, the second-place club, 6-2, three nights ago to add to their list of wins in which R.C.A.F. brings up the rear.

Gaye Stewart, former Toronto Maple Leaf, is topping the scorers in the Halifax loop.

The name of Jack Kelly, one-time star with Detroit Red Wings, has appeared in the hockey summaries again. Pete is not a permanent fixture with any Maritime club, but he likes to get into a game now and then to keep his shooting eye keen.

Latest news from the intermediate hockey world is that the Berwick Bruins, last year's Maritime intermediate champs, will defend their title this season. It is likely Windsor, Maple Leafs, and the Halifax Industrial league champions — as for the champions — will be entered in this title race.

The town that produced last year's Maritime junior hockey champions, Amherst, N.S., seems to be concentrating on senior puck-chasing this season. Many players of last year's championship aggregation, such as Bob Dunsmuir, Ken Ferguson and others twelve in a perfect game in which she bowled 460.

"FILM-STRUCK"

By SHEILAH GRAHAM

CHAPTER 12

The persistent ringing of the telephone awakened Terry.

"Hello, you," said Terry Davidson? "Yes, it is, of course, it's Alice! I must see you at once"—Terry's voice was urgent.

"I'll tell you when I see you."

"Can't I be alone?" She had no inception of being herself with a telephone with Terry Lord.

"I'll be with you in a minute," said Terry. The click in her ear frightened.

"I won't be him in the decided. She thought of calling Bruce, but it was not yet 11 o'clock, and he was probably with the Countess, he had talked of dinner at her house.

Thirty minutes later the doorbell rang, startling her from the half doze into which she had fallen. "Nice place you have", said Terry and lit a cigarette and slumped into a chair. He smoked in silence, made several attempts to start a conversation, then lapsed into silence again.

"It's getting late, Terry", Livia reminded him gently. "And I have to be early at the studio tomorrow. What did you want to see me about?" Terry blushed and lit a cigarette.

"Whatever happens", he said slowly, "I don't want you to blame me. It's not nothing to do with me. I'm acting as a sort of agent between the parties."

"Come to the point", Livia's voice was shaper.

"Your father—" said Terry slow—and looked swiftly at Livia to see the effect of his words. Her face was blank.

"My father died before I was born", she said.

He grinned. "We both know better."

"All right—what about my father?" she demanded.

"He's in trouble."

That's nothing new with Carl Dixon. But why do you care?"

"I don't", said Terry bluntly. "Then—"

"Then open outside the studio—your father owes them a lot of money."

"But I still don't understand where you come in?"

"Me—once did me a favor", said Terry. "And they know I'm in the position that I can help Carl Dixon owns them a lot of money."

"How much?"

"To be exact—three thousand dollars".

"What happens if he doesn't pay?"

Terry shivered. "It's not nice. One day last week Sheppard and someone binds you in a quiet doorway with a gun through your head. It's better to pay."

"But he can't", said Livia. She tried to keep the horror out of her voice. Terry was familiar with bad people, and they must not know they scared him.

"We know that", said Terry. He came closer to her. "But you can—you all at once—say she's dead."

Livia detested Dixon more at this minute than ever before. Suppose they killed him? But why should she care?

"I won't do it", she said flatly. "Good night."

She stood up and indicated the door. A memory of Vera's description of Bert Dixon with the band and wanting them to play "Erotica" brought a great man made her relent.

"I'll help", she said, "But I want to see him."

"Better not", advised Terry. "He's in bad shape. Beside he'll start in now with the boys—they have to be sure he pays."

Livia wrote out a check. This left her with exactly $15 in the bank. She had given $25 to Vera the afternoon. One hundred and fifty dollars a week wasn't much money.

"I'd rather people didn't know that now that Carl Dixon is my father", she said Terry at the door. She strove to keep her voice casual. "You're absolutely safe", he assured her. "Good-night, see you in the morning." And he was gone.

Every Wednesday Livia sent $50 to the address Terry had given her. Terry did not mention the subject again. He avoided her and between scenes shut himself in his dressing room. Livia resolutely thrust the matter into the background of her consciousness.

Summer was never more than a line or two for her to speak at a time. And Fordyce was patient, rehearsing over and over again before putting him in front of the camera. For the difficult emotional scenes he repeated the trick of pretending it was a rehearsal. The actual "take" was discarded, but Livia did not know this.

She looked soft and young in her nurse's uniform and her cap set jauntily back on her red-gold hair.

"You're a new type of meanie", Fordyce decided her one day. "You look innocent—that's why I picked you for the part."

"Do you really think I'll be a star, really and honestly?" How attractive she was, her lovely eyes shining as though he owned the world and could break it up and give her pieces at will.

"This picture is only a beginning. I won't fool you. We'll probably cut most of your part—Alice will see to that anyway. But keep working; don't get a swelled head and if you're lucky, you might be a star one day. I don't see why sister, you'll never be swell-headed used to be conceited—I thought everything had to happen my way. But I've been through a lot."

He didn't believe her. There was an unsounded look about her face and except for a flicker of alarm in her grey-blue eyes, she seemed an irresponsive girl just out of high school.

Sometimes producing a picture was easy. But this was not one of those times. The picture came the hard way—like all films in which Alice Delaware starred. She had The director the first three weeks and the picture had to be suspended for ten days. Terry Davidson had a nervous breakdown. One day he stopped in the middle of a line and burst into tears. Shooting was called off while Fordyce talked to him in his dressing-room.

"It's my creditors. I owe everyone in town", he went to the director. "They're closing in on me. Can't lend him some money and sent him away.

But finally the last took of film was safely on the cans, and Fordyce collapsed, but with relief. He was three days in the California Hospital. He came to tackle the job of cutting and editing.

Eventually, Alice's deadly leg health required a month in Arizona. Charles trimmed his film without interference.

And now it was the night of the press preview. Livia expected to go with Charles Fordyce. But at the last moment Alice returned from Phoenix.

"She's giving a dinner party, and I have to go with her to the preview", explained Charles.

"I'm too nervous to go anyway", she said.

Livia passed the evening driving aimlessly along the coast. She did not return home until midnight. The telephone was ringing as she opened the door, and as almost fell over in her eagerness to answer it. It was Charles Fordyce, and he was jubilant.

"The picture went over swell", he told her, "I've been calling you since eleven. You made a hit, baby. After your scene with Terry, they applauded like mad. And is Alice mad! Don't go to the studio in the coming over. This calls for a real celebration."

Alice Is Aroused.

Livia and Fordyce went to Ciro's. Two girls at the entrance of the restaurant demanded Livia's autograph.

"You were wonderful", one of them said shyly after Livia had signed her name.

"Thanks", she said. He was as pleased with her success as he was with his own. Tonight, he knew, he could make the best pictures in town. Livia hesitated on the threshold. "Is Alice in there?" she queried.

"Why, if she is?" said Fordyce. He knew she was not.

After the preview in the lobby of the theatre, there had been the usual gush and the people who crooked. "You were wonderful, Alice". But she was so angry she could barely control herself. In a fierce undertone she had threatened Hal Schneider with divorce. If only she would! Livia had thought; then he really could marry Alice. Husband and wife had gone home to continue the battle. Poor Hal! Poor husband!

"I wouldn't be surprised if Alice married Schneider tonight", Fordyce said to Livia. She giggled and said,

"Perhaps Schneider will take the initiative."

"No, he", said Fordyce. "He's too scared. He's still in love with her." Weren't you at one time?" Livia teased him.

"Let's dance!"

Ciro's was full of people who had attended the preview; they looked with interest at Livia and Fordyce. Livia rested her red-gold head on Charles' shoulder and smiled sleepily at the dancers shuffling on the crowded floor, her eyes drifting to the green and silver walls. She saw Bruce with the Countess Saskia. He seemed unhappy. Things were going badly with the Saskia Nolan picture partnership.

When Bruce had agreed to produce "Western Love", the Countess had promised to furnish the money for the rest to the extent of $250,000. He had believed her. Bruce hired technicians he had worked with in his stunting days. He was popular with electricians, prop men, and carpenters. They would depend on fair treatment and good pay.

The Countess gave him $50,000 the day he signed the contract. They drove to the bank together to get the money.

The picture was ready to shoot in three weeks. According to their agreement the Countess was to furnish another $100,000.

"But I've given you $50,000", pointed the Countess. Bruce patiently explained that $50,000 had been spent and reminded her of their agreement.

"What do I care about contracts?" said the Countess. "All I know is that my money is gone and that the picture hasn't started yet." Bruce brought all the people who had been their weekly salaries from him and refrained from quitting.

"You must trust me, Saskia", he said, taking her hands between his own. "Be patient and trust me".

She compared him to him.

"You've neglected me shamefully", she whispered.

"In these weeks it's business, business, every evening. That's not fair to me". He might have guessed what would happen and saved himself trouble by not working for a woman in the first place. You had to make love to them twenty-four hours a day or they said you were neglecting them.

"If you love me don't you?" said Countess Saskia. He tried to recall the exact words with which he had said he loved her. And for the life of him couldn't remember,

"Let's forget business this evening—We'll have dinner together", he suggested. Her face brightened.

"Oh, I'm so glad my own Bruce. I'm sorry I was meant to you. I'll bring you a check for the money tomorrow". Bruce stifled his sigh of relief. One hurdle down, on to the next. Would he and he could convince the Countess the arrangement was purely one of business.

But perhaps she guessed this, because she was full of praise of production, she came to the set one afternoon and took control. Bruce had hired a popular star, ranked high in the list of open-air heroes. After the Countess had resolutely interrupted his dialogue, he turned on his high-heeled boots and marched off the set and into Bruce's office.

"I'm through", he said. "No dame can tell Jack Gordon how to read his lines".

Bruce hurried to the sound stage and found the Countess harangueing the director for not firing his star immediately.

"Get off the set", Bruce commanded sternly. She was alarmed and followed him out. "If you do that again I'll remove her" to his office. "I'm through. D'ye understand?"

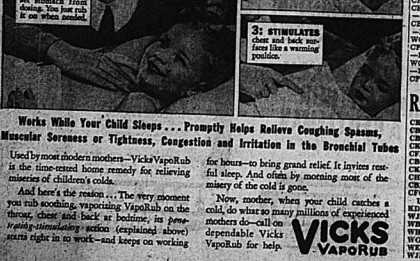
One Best Home Way To

BUILD UP RED BLOOD

To Get More Strength If You Lack Blood Iron!

Your girls who suffer from simple anemia or who lose so much during monthly periods that they often feel tired, weak, "dragged out"—due to lack of blood iron—may find Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound TABLETS.

Pinkham's Tablets are one of the most effective blood-iron tonics you can buy to help build up red blood to give more strength and energy—in such cases.



Just try them for 30 days—then see if you, too, don't benefit. Follow label directions. Well worth trying!

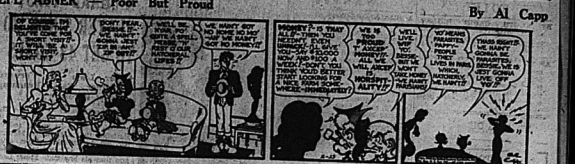
Mothers!

Be Modern when you relieve miseries of

Bronchitis Colds

Works While Your Child Sleeps . . . Promptly Helps Relieve Coughing Spasms, Muscular Soreness or Tightness, Congestion and Irritation in the Bronchial Tubes

Used by most modern mothers—Vicks VapoRub is the time-tested home remedy for relieving miseries of children's colds.



And here's the reason . . . The very moment you rub soothing, vaporizing VapoRub on the throat, chest and back as bedtime, its penetrating-stimulating action (explained above) starts right in to work—and keeps on working for hours—to bring grand relief. It invites restful sleep. And often by morning most of the misery of the cold is gone.

Now, mother, when your child catches a cold, do what so many millions of experienced mothers do—call on the dependable Vicks VapoRub for help.

FORESEES BUILDING OF YOUTH CENTRE IN BELLEVILLE

Newton Thompson, Head of Teen-Age Committee, Discusses Matter Before Rotarians

Predicting that Belleville would be faced in the near future with the question of erecting a Youth Centre, to provide a place where youth can utilize spare time in wholesome, supervised recreation, Mr. Newton Thompson, chairman of the Teen-Age Committee of the Belleville Civic Club in a brief address on Monday that "we may as well face the facts that we are going to do something for the youth of the city."

Mr. Thompson outlined the work of the Teen-Age committee of the Y.M.C.A. which was formed during the last great ado of life the chimes of a few weeks ago, when a start was taken of discussion there sprang up organized committees for co-operation. Given

Co-operation of the Belleville Board of Education was sought and obtained, and the facilities could be utilized. The Students' Council of the B.C.I. threw its facilities, not only, also, in the use of machinery was set in motion.

Considerable work has been undertaken by these young people and the fusing of their efforts has brought a success beyond the probatory hopes of the committee. It is stated, the club will be placed on a membership basis.

Mr. Thompson emphasized the fact that the club is not exclusively for delegates but that men and women between the ages of 13 and 20 will be welcome. Plans are available for the facilities and benefits of the organization, and, he added, there has been a satisfactory increase during the past week in membership. The young people of the town and the young men and women at the weekly discussions and numbers are increasing.

The meeting was early dancing to an orchestra, motion pictures, the organization of a boxing club, a canteen.

Speaking as proof of the popularity of the latter," he said, "on one night 217 youngsters consumed 360 bottles of pop, 13 lbs. of candy, 240 hot buns and 360 doughnuts."

The Rotary night parties are supervised by 7 members and 10 assistants, appointed by the Teen-Age Committee.

Also on Stirling Lodge III at Group Captain Lawrence (Larry) Wray, son of Mr. Robert Wray of this city, Group Captain Wray, according to an authoritative source, is commanding officer of the camp and has been doing splendid work in looking after the welfare of the officers in his charge.

However, the source state, that other prisoner-of-war camps established in the path of the Russian have been removed to points inside Germany, but that for Stalag III has remained in its original location. It said, that Major Sewell P. O. W. camps are located in this vicinity, and of course the hope is, that the Germans will be driven so quickly that removal of the camps will be impossible.

POLICE COURT

Roland McGrath, 18, of Belleville, pleaded guilty to charges of forgery and uttering before Magistrate Ernest T. T. Wills today. Both charges arose from the accused had having issued a cheque against his employer, O. B. Chapp. He pleaded guilty to both counts and was given a six months' reformatory sentence. "It is this lad's first offence," revealed Assistant Crown Attorney S. J. Robertson.

The amount involved was $38.72, for which His Worship ordered restitution within a month. Inspector T. C. Harper, who investigated the case, was the only witness called to obtain the necessary evidence.

Charge Withdrawn

A charge of leaving the scene of an accident was withdrawn against Opt. Leuller of the Mountain View R.C.A.F. base, but he paid ten dollars and costs upon pleading guilty to a second charge of driving without the necessary driver's licence.

Five Toronto youths, two of them juveniles, pleaded guilty to charges of breaking up the Canadian National Railways. The quintette pleaded guilty after being found in a grain car in the Belleville C.N.R. freight yards by Constable C. A. Campbell of the railway police. Ordered to Pay Fines

The three older boys, Harry Moore, 19, William C. Harper, 17, and Garnet Ivany, 18, were ordered to pay the regular fare from Toronto to Belleville and the cost of the court before His Worship gave them a six months' suspended sentence. In default of payment, however, they will serve ten days. The juveniles were given suspended sentences in special court held in camera.

Local Prisoners Of War May Be Near Liberation

Hearts of some Belleville mothers are beating with increased speed these days, as Marshal Stalin's victorious forces are pushing their way slowly toward Berlin.

For in the path of the Red armies are several German prisoner-of-war camps, where Canadians and other allied prisoners are eagerly awaiting the arrival of their fellow liberators.

Lt. Stalag Lufte III, a camp for captured Allied air officers, which is situated near Sagan, which, according to latest war maps is directly in the path of the onrushing Russians is Flying Officer Bill Hutchison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hutchison of this city. Flying Officer Hutchison was shot down while on operations during the North Atlantic Campaign.

Also on Stalag Lufte III is Group Captain Lawrence (Larry) Wray, son of Mr. Robert Wray of this city. Group Captain Wray, according to an authoritative source, is commanding officer of the camp and has been doing splendid work looking after the welfare of the officers in his charge.

However, the source state, that other prisoner-of-war camps situated in the path of the Russians have been removed to points inside Germany, but that for Stalag III has remained in its original location. It said, that Major Sewell P. O. W. camps are located in this vicinity, and of course the hope is, that the Germans will be driven so quickly that removal of the camps will be impossible.

Ald. O. E. Butler Re-elected Pres. Bar Association

Alderman Ormonde E. Butler, local barrister, was re-elected president of the County of Hastings Bar Association when members of that organization convened for their annual meeting recently. F. L. Kelly, of Stirling, was re-appointed to the 1st vice president, while Robt. Pringle of this city, was re-appointed to the 2nd vice president.

Alderman E. E. Folwell is secretary with Robt. McGuffin being named as treasurer and librarian. There are thirteen city members in the association with six other members residing in various parts of the county.

Unauthorized practice of unqualified persons doing the work of lawyers came up for discussion at the meeting and it did appear advantaining to general law practice. It is hoped shortly to have a district law association meeting in this city of associations comprising the local legal district. This district takes in the Belleville, Port Hope and Cobourg and / Peterborough areas.

PO. C. J. Finner Arrives Home

Trenton, Feb. 12 — Pilot Officer C. J. Finner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Finner, 7716 North 22nd st., Trenton, has arrived home on furlough after three and a half years' service with the Royal Air Force. He was with the 405 Mobile Reception of the County of Kent, England, being transferred from the R.C.A.F. with which he enlisted and trained.

PO. Finner's operational flights were mostly from Italian bases; but he has seen some service over France and North Africa. He completed his first tour of ops last summer, following which he instructed in wireless gunnery at Cairo before returning to England.

While on one assignment over the desert he and other members of the crew ran into several storms which delayed their return for a time and they were all forced to bail out, landing in the middle of the desert. PO. Finner, however is very reticent regarding his experiences and says he is thankful now he is the fact that he is safe and sound at home.

PO. Finner and a brother, PO. Frederick Finner, were both home day early in 1940, and the latter was recently mentioned in Canadian Press cable as having taken part in a raid on Duisburg in the Ruhr. He is now with the Lincolnshires and Halifaxes took part. Like PO. Finner, he has returned on a repatriation leave to serve on a second operational tour, and it is thought this trip to the Ruhr was the first of that tour.

Both PO. Frederick Finner attended St. Peter's School in Trenton. PO. Gerry Finner joined the wireless air gunner's wing at Mossbank, Man., while PO. Francis Finner received a similar wing at Moncton, View.

Dr. C. Brownson Dies at Picton

Dr. Carl A. Brownson, well-known Picton and Belleville physician, died in Prince Edward County Hospital, Picton, early today following an illness of three weeks' duration. He was in his 48th year. Born in Sterling the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brownson, who at present reside in Picton, the late Dr. Brownson received his early education in that district. He only recently left Mrs. Brownson and daughter, Bloomfield, predeceased him by a few days.

He spent nearly ten years in New York City, where he was associated with the Wall Street Board of Trade in a professional capacity. Returning to his native Canada, he settled in Bloomfield for a short number of year, removing from there to his late practice in Picton a few years ago. Dr. Brownson was not married.

In Picton he was a charter member of the Rotary Club of that town, being intensely interested in child welfare was chairman of the Crippled Children Committee of that service club. A musician of no mean ability he was a choral club within Rotary, and also gave his services to community welfare in many cases of good work. One of his hobbies was horticulture, his gardens, shrubbery and floral effects were the cynosure of many flower-lovers' eyes. He was active in fraternal circles being a member of the Masonic Order, R.A.M. The Preceptory and Mistress Shrine.

WROTE WORDS TO 2,000 BOYS

New York, Feb. 13 — (CP) — Al Dubin, 54, who wrote the words to 2,000 popular songs, including "Dancing with Tears in My Eyes," "Among My Souvenirs" and "Tiptoe Through the Tulips," died here Sunday after a brief illness. He was born in Zurich, Switzerland and began writing songs at 14.

Dubin, who turned out songs that sold in enormous quantities, said once: "If song writing is an art, it is the lowest form of art."

He collaborated on the music and lyrics of scores of motion pictures.

THOUGHTS BY THE WAY

WINTER DAYS

I saw from my apartment window
After o'er a frosty world,
At the west, fair-tinted billows lie
By the fiery storm-clouds hurled;
As my eyes discern the frozen landscape
Where nothing of life is seen,
My heart sees a land of clear, sweet days
When each leaf is gold and green.

And if seems so long, the waiting,
For light and life and spring,
When nature is buried deep in beauty
And the birds their songs forget,
Deep down deep on the meadow
Once starred, the wild flowers bright,
And o'er the well-worn pathway
The stone by stone was white.

And the lake that shone like silver
Is held in icy thrall,
And the leaves that whispered above
Fell to earth at winter's call;
And, as we behold them sorting doth linger
Spring's work in its light and life,
While winter rules in rigor
With purging storm and strife.

But in the fall of the tempest
There comes a calm at last,
The Storm-King's power is breaking
And spring will soon appear;
Thro' drear, dark days of winter
The snow and tempest blow,
The longer days of winter
Are nearer to spring we know.

—Helen B. Anderson.

Cold and brilliant streamed the moonlight
Over the Christmas Day, allowing the ground hog to see his shadow and then to crawl back into his cave to enjoy six weeks additional six weeks of winter. Quoting J. W. Riley, the Hoosier poet:

"Clear on into February
Nothing's sure and you be madder,
Then for Pop to stomp in hayin'
On an extra few stick sayin'
Groun' hog see and seen his shadder."

But we were glad it was a sunny day for a Friend called over the telephone inviting us to a Sunday dinner. The roads rendered smooth by the plow were fine and level and by lowering banks on either side, gave the impression of moving through a marble tunnel. At our destination we received a hearty welcome and what a delicious dinner we received! Farm homes, with cellars stocking with canned fruits, meats and vegetables, provide lavish hospitality. These are times of events in wartime, business and pleasure are often combined and in this instance a fine quilt for the local W. I. C. was nearly finished.

I often wonder why it is that the world in general considers life on a farm as one of drudgery. It may be that the farmer himself, by indulging in the habit of complaining and fault-finding, is responsible for this condition. We admit that there is hard work connected with farming, but is there an occupation that does not call for steady work and devotion to duty? Of course the lack of laborers is a drawback, but the farmer who has his own help is independent. Before an election politicians kindly discuss farm problems and present methods for solving them, but election over these are soon forgotten. The farmer in my opinion does not need pity. Most homes are pleasant and comfortable but rural people are awakening to the need of modern conveniences, such as those afforded by Hydro, and the other many benefits will come with co-operation. But one does pity on the farmer with his broad acres, his flocks and big herds. The manly farmer does not whine about hard times but carries his head high and believes his occupation the finest on earth.

And now while the snow lies deep
Along my country home; there is a sign of spring in the lengthening twilight. Quoting Miles Carman:

"Now the lengthening twilights hold Tints of lavender and gold."

What a wealth Carman has left us in his fine nature poems! And now neglected he was by his own country until the United States was preparing to claim him as their own. I recall my pleasure in hearing Carman read his poems in Belleville some years ago and a rare treat indeed, as was that of hearing the late L. M. Montgomery in the Bay City some years later.

Melville Ladies' Aid.

The February meeting of Melville Ladies' Aid was held at the home of Mrs. W. H. Morton on the afternoon of Thursday, Feb. 1st., with the president in the chair and Mrs. C. Kinnear pianist. The meeting opened with the singing and followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. The Bible lesson was read by Mrs. Arnold Cruickshank followed by prayer. Mrs. Arthur Kinnear was elected as Vice-president. The roll call was responded to by a verse containing the name of Reading was given by Miss Muriel Carley and Mrs. Arnold Cruickshank. The hymn "I'm a Child of the King" was sung at the request of Mrs. C. Cruickshank. The meeting closed with the National Anthem and the Mizpah benediction.

Mrs. Fred Morton and Mrs. Clayton Cruickshank opened their homes for Red Cross quiltings last week. Mrs. Ernest Carley will open her home for a quilting for the W. E. C. this coming week.

Mrs. Richard Sprung spent Sunday on Tuesday, Feb. 6, at her home in Consecon, after a lingering illness. For many years she resided at "The Pines," their farm home, South Lakeside, but after the death of her husband she removed to Consecon. Surviving is a daughter, Velma, Mrs. Allen Goodmurphy and a granddaughter, Dawn. Mrs. Jones was a woman of a friendly, pleasing disposition and will be sadly missed. The funeral service was held in Wellington Anglican church on Friday afternoon, Rev. E. W. Jones officiating. The body was placed in Wellington vault awaiting spring removal to Hillier cemetery.

AN OLD-FASHIONED VALENTINE

I found it 'mong the keepsakes
Of sixty years ago—
A faded, fragile message
With words of love below;
A rustic air, sunbrowned it,
It seemed to speak to me
Of youth and love and brightness
As changeless as the sea.

Its leaves with age were yellow,
But to me, was dainty thing
Of lace and fadeless perfume—
A message it did bring
Of old-time love and longing,
Far in the days long past
Breathing the old-time fervor
Of a love that ever shall last.

So through the changing ages,
Though winter winds blow chill,
Though snow-drifts deep are lying
On forest, glade and hill;
In spite of winter tempest,
The fires of love will shine
Deep in the hearts of lovers
With constancy divine.

Lost Gloves on Raid, Frost Hands, Now Home

Toronto, Feb. 13 — (CP) — WO O. W. Wetcalfe, D.F.C., of Hamilton, who spent a month in hospital after he lost his gloves in a cold over Berlin and frost his hands, arrived here last night. He was one of a group of more than 60 airmen who passed through Toronto en route to their homes from overseas.

Others returning included Fl. Sgt. Ralph Syer of Hamilton, and P.O. Art Colquhoun of Stratford. Colquhoun and Syer, his tail gunner, completed one tour together and helped bomb major German targets.

CANUCKS TURN NORTH END OF SIEGFRIED LINE
RUSSIANS CRASH THROUGH QUEIS RIVER LINE

Konev's Forces Hit Westward to Split Germany Asunder

Two Russian Units Within Seventeen Miles of Junction

By RICHARD KÄSISCHKE
(AP Staff Writer)

London, Feb. 14 — (AP) — Red Army troops have crashed through the Germans' Queis River line less than 68 miles from Dresden, a Moscow dispatch said today, while Berlin declared armored units to the north had broken into Sorau, junction city 83 miles southeast of Berlin.

Marshal Ivan Konev's forces hitting westward in "a sensational thrust to split Germany asunder south of Berlin" were approaching the upper Neisse River, which runs about 50 miles from Dresden, a direct Moscow dispatch declared.

The German high command said Konev's armor, beating northward toward a junction with other Red Army men along the Oder east of Berlin, had broken into Sorau, eight miles northwest of Sprottau, and into the Bober River. Sorau is five miles inside Berlin's province of Brandenburg.

Junction Nearly Effected.

The Swiss radio quoted German sources as saying Konev already had hinged to Sommerfeld, 12 miles northwest of Sprottau, while 17 miles of a Russian-Red Army junction by Konev's troops on the Oder.

Berlin's broadcasts said Konev "inevitably is tearing gaps in our lines" and that Volkssturm and "alarm units" were being thrown into the fight to keep open retreat lines for the Reich.

They also reported Zhukov was "feeling strong forces" on the Frankfurt-Fuerstenberg front along the Oder for an assault on Berlin.

Menaced Dresden, capital of the old kingdom of Saxony, was bombarded by 800 U. S. and R.A.F. bomber planes last night, in demonstration of Allied military co-ordination, the Moscow dispatches said Konev was 18 miles or less from the frontier of Saxony.

Great Wheeling Movement

Konev drove forward in a great wheeling movement aimed at Berlin's junction communications in the fall of Budapest — after a siege that cost the Germans more than 138,000 men — freed two other powerful Russian armies for a renewed drive on Vienna.

Thrusting forward 30 miles in a direction south of Breslau, which was eventually bring it to the German capital from the south, Konev's 1st Ukraine Army yesterday broke through the Germany's Bober River defenses and sped on — possibly checked.

Towns that fell included Kittlendorf, 68 miles northeast of Dresden.

Announcing the R.A.F. raid on Dresden, the British Air Ministry declared:

Aim to Hold Dresden

"As the result of a railway network and a great industrial town it (Dresden) has become of the greatest value for conducting any defence the Germans may organize against Marshal Konev's armies."

Both Klitschdorf and Neuhausendorf, another 7-8 miles to the west, flow north and joins the Bober in the vicinity of Sagan, 19 miles northwest of captured Naumburg.

The speed of Konev's advance of 35 miles in two days indicated there was little or no resistance short of the Neisse River, some 30 miles beyond the Queis. The latter is generally is rated as second only to the Oder in eastern Germany's defences.

Budapest Captured

A new Russian attempt to drive into Austria was portended in Marshal Stalin's order of the day announcing the capture of Budapest. It described the Hungarian capital as "a strategically-important German defence centre on the road to Vienna."

The order was directed jointly to Marshals Rodion Y. Malinovsky and Feodor Tolbukhin of the 2nd and 3rd Ukraine armies.

Minor Patrol And Artillery Action in Italy

Rome, Feb. 14 — (AP) — The entire Italian front subsided into minor patrol clashes and artillery duels today, with the Germans pouring more activity at Allied lines.

Similar activity was reported in the British 8th Army sector. A German combat patrol was repulsed with losses in an attack on an Allied outpost on the east side of the Senio River north of the Bologna-Faenza highway. The 1st Canadian Corps holds part of the Senio river line near the Adriatic.

Meanwhile, the Allied command's communique listed a number of operations under which an enemy withdrawal from northern Italy could be undertaken.

Fifth Army headquarters said the enemy was laying down smoke screens south of Bologna, "possibly to shield movement, digging parties and the laying of mines." The Germans during the last week put in several gaps in the Senio river line, broke through a similar barrier behind which a withdrawal could be effected easily.

Fifth Army troops have been rawly by the Germans during the last week along the Tyrrhenian coast and in other sectors.

The conquest of Budapest during 46 days of street fighting cost the Germans 48,000 men killed and 110,000 captured, Moscow announced. It was the greatest defeat dealt to German arms since the Battle of Stalingrad two years ago.

Counter Blows Costly

Moscow announcements stressed that the vain counter-attacks toward Budapest from the northwest and southwest cost the Germans additional "hundreds of tanks and tens of thousands of officers killed and men."

The toll of German prisoners captured in Budapest was headed by Lieut.-General Pfeffer-Wildenbruch, the officer who in 1938 commanded the Austrian police troops which moved after the Sudetenland of Czechoslovakia after Munich.

Konev's advance yesterday swept 18 German communities. In addition to advancing his and possibly crossing, the Queis river, his troops were reported by the Soviet broadcast to Sagan.

Sagan, for British and American prisoners of war are known to have been located near Sagan, but Moscow mentioned the camps since it was probable the prisoners had been removed to other cities.

'Glorious Conception of Empire Unity' Seen in 1st Canadian Army

London, Feb. 14. (CP Cable) — "Here is empire unity in all its strength and magnificence — glorious, grand conception," said Lord Beaverbrook's London Daily Express editorially today in commenting on the feats of the 1st Canadian Army in Germany.

"How admirably these brothers-in-arms work together", it added. "The fact that more than half the troops engaged are Scottish or English adds to the lustre of the battle of the 1st Canadian Army. To Gen. Crerar, the Canadian, goes the honor of leadership and he is accepted, supported, strengthened and exalted by the troops of the United Kingdom under his command.

"This is as it should be, as it must always be, when men of the Empire and the United Kingdom undertake a job together".

R.A.F. AND R.C.A.F. RAID IN SUPPORT OF KONEV'S ARMY

Batter Rail Network And Industries of Dresden — Oil Plant At Bohlen Is Hit

London, Feb. 14 — (CP) — More than 2,000 U. S. bombers and fighters struck Germany in widespread attacks today, delivering a main blow at Dresden which was already burning from a night assault by the heavy R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. bombers.

Dresden is only 66 miles or less from advancing Russian troops, and is a nerve centre of defenses in central Germany. The day and night air blows were in direct and co-ordinated support of Marshal Ivan Konev's 1st Ukrainian Army.

The R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. bombed Dresden twice in attacks three hours apart.

Part of the American force, consisting of more than 1,350 four-engined bombers and 600 fighters, also bombed transportation and industrial targets at Chemnitz, 25 miles southwest of Dresden, and at Leipzig, 70 miles west of Berlin.

Another large number was assigned to knock out an important Rhine bridge at Wesel, 19 miles ahead of Field Marshal Sir Bernard Law Montgomery's 21st Army Group's western front.

Fifth and Canadian planes dumped perhaps 3,000 tons of bombs on Dresden, the 14th largest capital of Saxony which controls railroads to Berlin, Prague, Munich, Austria and Italy. Dresden is also a manufacturing centre for armored vehicles, heavy machine tools, optical and precision instruments.

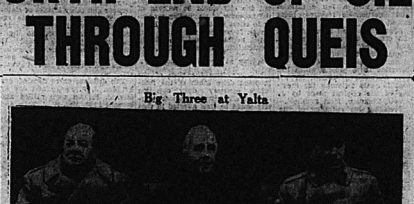
Bombing started unofficially in London that Air Marshal Sir Charles Portal, British Air Staff Chief who returned from Yalta yesterday, brought instructions from the Big Three to deal a crushing blow and also in support of the Red armies whenever possible.

Night Operations

Announcing the night operations, the Air Ministry declared:

"It is the railway network and a great industrial town it (Dresden) has become of the greatest value for conducting any defence the Germans may organize against Marshal Konev's armies."

Altogether the R.A.F. dispatched 1,100 bombers to Germany during the night. Other targets were a synthetic oil plant at Bohlen, south of Leipzig, Magdeburg, 75 miles southwest of Berlin, and the railway centre of Hamm, 20 miles east of Dortmund. All the night operations were at a cost of 16 bombers missing, four of them Canadian. RCAF Mitchells took part in the Bohlen raid. Two of the Canadian planes flew to Dresden.



In the first blow against Dresden, Germany's seventh city, was the first attack in nearly five months. A striking feature was the lack of anti-aircraft fire, Crews said fires broke out in the city.

Dresden is 90 miles south of Berlin, and the approaches to the city are flocking ahead of the Russians. The London German government official also are said to have been shifted there.

Hints Prepare Bavaria For Last-Ditch Stand Says Moscow

London, Feb. 14 — (Reuters) — Moscow radio, quoting Swedish reports, said today that the Germans "for the past three days armed scouts have been guarding the Austrian shore," the broadcast said.

Moscow radio, said the Germans were hastily preparing Bavaria for a last-ditch defence. "Everywhere subterranean hangars and airfields are under construction," it added.

Prime Minister To Be Busy For Next Few Months

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Ottawa, Feb. 14 —(CP)— Calling of a United Nations conference on world security for San Francisco on April 26 promises a busy few months for Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

On top of the live Canadian political situation it presents the Prime Minister, also secretary of state for external affairs, with the biggest task, Conference authorities said today, since the conference which has occurred in a number of years.

Canada will be prominent in the play as important role in the proposed permanent United Nations organization because of its geographical position, economic and military power. The Canadian government is interested in the form of the organization and particularly in the extent to which smaller and medium-sized powers are to be given a voice in deciding relating to peace and war.

It is expected all the leading nations will be represented at San Francisco by their foreign ministers, Finance Minister Ilsley and Munitions Minister Howe, respectively, heading the Canadian delegation.

The probability is that the San Francisco conference will last a number of weeks and Mr. King's presence for part of the time might be all that would be required.

The conference, it was felt, might be one additional reason which would suffice to help the government to fix the date of the general election later than expected—May or June rather than late April or early May.

General Amnesty For Political Crimes Since Greek Revolt

London, Feb. 14 — (CP)— Simultaneously with the lifting of martial law in Greece, the British Minister of State, Richard K. Law, announced in the House of Commons today that general amnesty would be granted for "all political crimes committed since the beginning of the Greek revolt.

Even critics of British policy in Greece welcomed it.

The Foreign Office released the preamble to the agreement signed in Athens by the Greek government and the R.A.F. (Leftist National Liberation Front) leaders and find that one chief characteristic of the pact must be "respect for treaties which the Atlantic Charter and the decisions therein proclaimed."

Paris Radio Reports German Government Moving to Nuernberg

London, Feb. 14 (CP)—The Paris radio, quoting German frontier reports, said today, the German government was moving from Berlin to Nuernberg, 225 miles southwest of Berlin and 80 miles north of Munich. Nuernberg is in Bavaria many miles from the nearest Allied front but nearer the western Allies than the Russian sector.

Provincial Roads in West Ont. Again Blocked by Drifting Snow

Toronto, Feb. 14 — (CP) — There is no letup in trying weather conditions for western Ontario. A snowfall averaging about three inches struck that area Tuesday night, blocking roads in many areas, and isolating at least one community—Linwood in the Kitchener area — which has been placed in a similar situation by many of this winter's storms.

Strong northwesterly winds whipped the snow into drifts and the Ontario Department of Highways announced that many provincial roads were blocked in the Guelph, London, Stratford, Owen Sound and Hamilton areas. Main arteries were open for traffic although in the London and Stratford areas these were heavy. News dispatches from Ontario points say that many minor roads are blocked.

Kitchener reported that a snowplow has been ordered to Linwood to release a load of livestock which has been stranded on the road since yesterday afternoon. Country roads, not cleared for traffic, were blocked again.

Bus Service Cancelled

Bus service was cancelled in the Galt area last night, but when the wind subsided this morning fear of another traffic tie-up vanished. Snowplows cleared main highways and by midday the

YANKS LAUNCH DECISIVE BLOW AGAINST JAPS

Cavite Naval Base and Two Airfields Captured by U.S. Infantry

By C. YATES McDANIEL
(AP War Correspondent)

Manila, Feb. 14 — (AP) — Grim Americans, advancing among ruins strewn with bodies of the foe, found the decisive blow for Manila today at Japanese cornered in a three-square-mile area "near the Pasig River's mouth after other infantry on the southern outskirts seized Cavite naval base and two airfields.

The end of the enemy's trapped garrison is in sight," Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced on the 13th day since American columns entered the city, which since has become the most devastated battlefield of the Southwest Pacific campaign.

Manila's toll of dead is more than 60,000 enemy casualties inflicted on the island in five weeks. The Japanese survivors within Manila are massed behind thick walls of reinforced concrete, barricaded within government buildings and among docks.

Cavite, on the south shore of Manila Bay, was the first big Japanese warrior was killed at Nichols airfield near the city's southern outskirts after five bitter days of struggle, Nielson airfield, on the southern outskirts of the foe.

Most of the enemy's big guns within Manila have been silenced. Thousands of Japanese have died here, adding heavily to casualties which during the fifth week of the Luzon campaign exceeded 20,000.

American casualties for the fifth week rose from 7,076 to 8,885. The total consisted of 2,103 killed, 182 missing and 7,580 wounded.

Girl Tells of Life for Two Years In Internment Camp at Santo Tomas

(Editor's Note— The following story of children's life in the Santo Tomas internment camp, Manila, was written by Joan Elizabeth Bennett, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Bennett, whose father is manager of the Manila Bulletin.)

By JOAN BENNETT

Santo Tomas, Manila, Feb. 14. — (AP) — I've hardly had time to think of the wheels of army trucks and tag passes between our good natured soldiers who pet us and feed us candy.

I was not quite sight when the war started. Suddenly, I remember our home was filled with people who were bombed out of their homes and our attempts to have a Christmas.

Christmas eve, 1941, we had a little party in the house around a big log fire. Then suddenly the air raid siren began to scream and we all ran to the shelter. Jap planes came over we went into an air raid shelter and sung 'Silent Night' of all things to drown out the sound of the bombs and keep us from getting frightened.

Christmas Not Nice.

Other Christmases were not so nice. After the Japs came into Manila they came and got daddy and took him away because he had written things in his newspaper before the war they didn't like. We had no chance to say goodbye to him.

For nearly a year and a half we never saw him. Meanwhile, Helen and myself were allowed to live in our home together and we said the Japs wanted to shadow her to see if they could find out something which would be used on daddy. They never got a chance.

On April of 1942 daddy was released and we joined him at Santo Tomas.

The next big occasion was in September, 1942, when people left the camp to be repatriated home. Daddy's name was on the list but he chose to remain here. He said the Filipinos who had stood so much for the U.S. and suffered so much for it and he'd not walk out on them. Mother was the same and him I know because it meant we would be separated but I felt we were doing our duty and were proud of it.

Food Less and less.

After the Japs cut us off from outside people began to grow thin. There was no meat; no milk; no salt, no sugar, no fruit; no stables except a few greens from the garden, no fish—just a little corn meal for breakfast and days been soup, mostly water, for supper.

Finally the American came in and now everything is all right although sometimes we still can't believe it. We hear lots of shooting around us but the kids don't pay much attention. We are more interested in all the good new things to eat.

Just think, today we had real bread! Yes, real bread!

We are free again.

Use Massed Guns, Flame-Throwers To Drive on Goch

Eleven-Way Nazi Traffic Centre Nearly Outflanked

Paris, Feb. 14 — (AP) — The 1st Canadian Army charged behind massed guns and flame-throwers today to within 1 1/2 miles of Goch, 11-way German traffic centre between the Rhine and Maas (Meuse) Rivers and outflanked the town on the northeast by capturing Hassell and Bedburg.

The Canadians, Scots, English and Welsh forces of Gen. Crerar's Army advanced two miles or so, leaving behind all the 45-square-mile Reichswald after breaking the core of resistance offered by seven battered German divisions. They virtually turned the northern end of the Siegfried Line, Bedburg is 7 1/2 miles southeast of Goch.

Canadian infantry closed up firmly to the line of the Alter Rhine, a tributary of the main river, northeast of Kleve and sent a strong raiding force from captured Kellen almost to the Rhine ferry town attended this morning fear of another traffic tie-up vanished. Snowplows cleared main highways and by midday the Brantford reported that the Lake Erie and Northern Electric Railway was snowbound south to Simcoe and Port Dover and north to Galt. Steam railway services were serving but the public.

Murderous barrages were thrown down. "The Germans were pushed at least three miles back last night by continuing 6 dozen miles inside Germany. The foe appeared to be falling back to a new line between Goch, eight miles south of Kleve, and Calcar, close to the Rhine. Kleve is 7 miles southeast of Kleve and 15 miles from the Ruhr railhead of Wesel.

Germans Falling Back

More than 100 miles to the south, the U.S. First Army drove 2 1/2 miles up to a half mile in muddy, tortuous terrain through fresh breaches in the Siegfried defenses opposite southern Luxembourg. Systematic blasting by tank destroyers and self-propelled guns carved avenues through the pillboxes in the west wall and a slackening of German artillery indicated that the Germans were falling back on new positions south of Prum.

On April of 1942 daddy was released and we joined him at Santo Tomas.

The next big occasion was in September, 1942, when people left the camp to be repatriated home. Daddy's name was on the list but he chose to remain here. He said the Filipinos who had stood so much for the U.S. and suffered so much for it and he'd not walk out on them. Mother was the same and him I know because it meant we would be separated but I felt we were doing our duty and were proud of it.

80th Divisions.

Other fronts were quiet. Gen. Eisenhower had committed only a small fraction of his strength to the offensive.

Clearing weather over the entire front landed to slow ground operations with increased thaws and flooding, but it permitted great Allied air fleets to flay the foe. Nearly 4,000 bombers and fighters pounded the German defences in the 24 hours ended at dawn.

Canadian Highlanders occupied Keller, two miles northeast of the ruins of Kleve, and Ontario Highlanders crossed Cranenburg, 900 miles west of Berlin and close to the Rhine. Some from Ontario aiding halfway from Keller to the Emmerich ferry encountered stiff opposition, Canadian flooding north of Kleve increased; the campaign was aquatic in that region; the tanks clanking in the mud toward Goch.

Kleve was captured still were near enough Kleve at points to shell it heavily.

South and southeast of the clearcut Reichswald, the Germans pulled back to the line of the Niers river, which already has been crossed and bridged by the allies.

East of Kleve, Germans of three divisions fought desperately with their backs set their heels and the line was taken from their counter-attacks. Front dispatches said Press wy correspondent reported.

Air support was given the troops by Typhoons and Tempests, RAF planes which hammered away at the German troops, now estimated at seven divisions.

The fighting north and east of Kleve was described as the heaviest to date in the seven-day-old 126 mile Canadian drive Rhineland.

Doubling "Water Rate".

Mr. Cadaux, dubbed "aviator rats" because of the amphibious nature of the warfare in the flooded Rhineland, is 7 miles from Kleve, 8 miles from Berlin at Griethausen, facing Emmerich, and 15 miles from the Ruhr railhead of Wesel.

Eleven-Way Nazi Traffic Centre Nearly Outflanked

Paris, Feb. 14 — (AP) — The 1st Canadian Army charged behind massed guns and flame-throwers today to within 1 1/2 miles of Goch, 11-way German traffic centre between the Rhine and Maas (Meuse) Rivers and outflanked the town on the northeast by capturing Hassell and Bedburg.

The Canadians, Scots, English and Welsh forces of Gen. Crerar's Army advanced two miles or so, leaving behind all the 45-square-mile Reichswald after breaking the core of resistance offered by seven battered German divisions. They virtually turned the northern end of the Siegfried Line, Bedburg is 7 1/2 miles southeast of Kleve.

Canadian Infantry closed up firmly to the line of the Alter Rhine, a tributary of the main river, northeast of Kleve and sent a strong raiding force from captured Kellen almost to the Rhine ferry town attended this morning fear of another traffic tie-up vanished. Snowplows cleared main highways and by midday the Brantford reported that the Lake Erie and Northern Electric Railway was snowbound south to Simcoe and Port Dover and north to Galt. Steam railway services were serving but the public.

Murderous barrages were thrown down. "The Germans were pushed at least three miles back last night by continuing 6 dozen miles inside Germany. The foe appeared to be falling back to a new line between Goch, eight miles south of Kleve, and Calcar, close to the Rhine. Kleve is 7 miles southeast of Kleve and 15 miles from the Ruhr railhead of Wesel.

Local Navymen Aboard Hespeler

Son of a fighting family whose forbears have a long record of service in the military and on ships of the Able Seaman Thomas Percy H. "George" Winter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Winter, 39 Mary Street is a crew member aboard the corvette Hespeler, recently "Hespeler" which with the Duncan, Dunver and Trentonian, with recently sinking a German submarine. The action, which was announced in yesterday's newspaper editions.

With more than five years service in the Navy to his credit, A.B. Winter has served aboard the H.M.C.S. Ottawa and the ill-fated destroyer St. Croix, as well as the minesweepers "Lord" and other ships. He had been transferred from the St. Croix only shortly before the ship was sunk.

Born in Montreal he came to Belleville as a boy and attended Queen Mary School and later Belleville Collegiate. His father is a veteran of the last Great War, serving with the Imperials, while many in his mother's family have military records. He has two sisters, Mrs. Doris Radley of Sarnia and Mrs. Kathleen, at home.

Another Belleville boy, Eugene Hoom Artificer Ralph Knudsen, son of Capt. Mrs. H. C. Knudsen, 20 Charles Street, was also aboard the Hespeler when she assisted in sinking the German sub. He is one of three brothers in the navy and has over 3 years service to his credit.

One brother, Lieut. Leslie Knudsen, formerly on the Peterborough, is overseas in the Canal Zone and another Chief P.T.I. is serving aboard a Canadian frigate.

Memorial Service For Flt.-Sergeant James Roy Bryant

"There is a real glamor to a uniform, not that the uniform is so splendid, but that it represents the loyalty of the wearer to some cause or something beyond himself," said Rev. Dr. O'Neill in opening in a sermon preached last Sunday evening in St. Christ Church at a memorial service for the late Flight Sergeant James Roy Bryant, 15 Everett Street. The director of the R.C.A.F. missing on Feb. 21, 1944 after an operational flight over the North Sea coast and has now been presumed dead.

On the altar of the church were several bouquets of memorial flowers and a floral wreath from the family and friends. Appropriate music was rendered including "O Valiant Hearts." The choir under the direction of Mr. A. W. Simpson sang as an anthem, "Lead Kindly Light" and the "Last Post and Reveille" sounded on the organ by the church organist Mrs. Ida Calvert. The text for service was his text "Greater love Hath no Man Than This that a Man Lay Down His Life For His Friend." A real tribute was paid to Jimmie Bryant who had grown up in the parish, ben confirmed by the Bishop of Ontario, who had given the real vision of sacrificial service. He enlisted for the common cause, and for the common good he laid down his life. Many friends attended the service in addition to the regular congregation.

Mother, Grandfather Struggle in Vain to Save Child From Bulldog

Los Angeles, Feb. 14 (AP) — A frantic struggle by a mother and grandfather to wrest a 21-months-old girl from the grip of a pet bulldog at their home last night was futile and the baby was killed.

When the child, Marguerite Theresa Derderian, was found with the stroke the dog's back the animal turned on her and clamped its jaws at the base of her neck, Mrs. Dorothy Derderian, the mother, told police. Mrs. Derderian and the child's grandfather, Albert Lange, then struggled vainly to pry the dog's grip.

Police said the mother asked that the five-year-old dog, named Woof, be destroyed.

Comprehensive View of Proposed Riverside Drive Given Citizens

Several Suggestions Are Advanced In Respect to "Drive"

Interested property owners along Dundas Street who premises extend to the river, and the general public had a chance to view, yesterday afternoon and evening, when at the public meeting in the Belleville Collegiate Institute the proposed plans for the Riverside Drive project were displayed and explained. A few difficulties and objectionable features were discussed.

Approximately 40 ratepayers and city officials attended the meeting which was presided over by Mayor Clapp, chairman of the Harbour Development Committee, outline the Riverside Drive project and explained the benefits accrued to council for the past 15 years following the drawing up of the original plans by J. Thomas Bell, city local architect.

Prefacing his outlining of the plans with a brief review of what the city needed in the way of a waterfront drive were to be successfully completed, Mayor Clapp said that when completed the city would be prepared to take care of the traffic for all time to come but it had needed for the past 15 years. Now, with the Dundas bridge would be washed up.

It was stated that as result of a survey approximately 90 percent of the property owners adjoining the river had expressed themselves favorably to give to the city land needed for completion of the drive.

According to present plans of Harbour Engineer Charles Mott the Riverside Drive would be a four-lane thoroughfare roadway 30 feet in width with a 10 foot park strip along the river with an entrance on Bridge Street. The park would extend from the north of the lower bridge to the Dundas Street intersection of a retaining wall while inside the roadway there is to be a sidewalk, a boulevard and parking space between the paved drive.

Further Long Term Plan

A further long term project called for the drive to be continued from Dundas to the lower bridge by means of a subway under the railway tracks by the river, to Pinnacle Park where it would connect again with Front Street. To accomplish this project the present retaining wall south of the lower bridge would have to be removed. According to the views of Municipal Board Engineer Mott, the intervening space back-filled with sand from the river bed.

This, it was considered, would provide the route and serve to help alleviate flood conditions through the subway. The river flowing to the bottom. The possibility of obtaining Government assistance in carrying out this project was seen.

It being pointed out that the present bridge was only 30 feet in width the lower bridge was government constructed through the harbor commission.

Question of Entrance.

A second suggestion for gaining a more suitable entrance to the driveway on upper Front Street was forwarded by Ald. O. Butler, who proposed continued northward from Bridge Street on the river retaining wall beyond the present Front Street to extend past the Public Machinery and Supply Company would then be enabled to continue the drive northward from Bridge Street property and the river to gain access to the Front Street by the Belleville hall now standing.

If this plan could be carried out the city would be relieved of the necessity of purchasing property to obtain an entrance from Bridge Street. It was felt the money thus saved could be applied to the actual construction of a new first hall.

Roadway at Footbridge Gangway.

It was the contention of Alderman Clapp that the increased value of property on both sides of the roadway being built would more than compensate for the cost of the project.

The possibility of traffic congestion on the Bridge Street entrance to the drive was also given considerable discussion. It was contended that there would almost certainly be traffic on Bridge Street would prevent traffic from Front Street. Plans call for the raising of the Canadian Canning Co. estate building on Bridge Street to effect a driveway there.

Objection to North Entrance.

The proposed north entrance to the drive past the Dundas Street intersection drew opposition from Mr. Weller Allen who contended that the property owners should bear the cost of the driveway construction, he said.

Alderman Woodley indicated that although a reason of the taxpayers willingness to approve of the project, the sanction of the Municipal Board would have to be assured.

Alderman Pollard said that something worthwhile had come out of the meeting and that the numbers present indicated an interest in the project.

It was decided to have the city engineer bring plans of the roadway up-to-date to include the suggestions which had been brought forward and to hold another meeting of taxpayers in another fortnight's time.

Television Not Likely for Many Years After War Kiwanis Told

Due to the comparative sparsity when he stated that in 1927 only of population in Canada and the 30,000 machines were made in the tremendous expense in setting up a Dominion, but in 1940, the year in fully cover the Dominion, radio industry does not look for general which domestic production adoption of television in Canada for ceased owing to material going for many years after the war.

This was the statement made by war production, there were 1,000,000 to members of the local Kiwanis machines made in Canada, and Club at its weekly luncheon meeting on Tuesday noon by Mr. George Brooks, Belleville radio dealer, who local Stewart-Warner-Alemite Corporation in Canada, Ltd., as he spoke up to radio as it is known today, and of the part it has played in the associated industries which have been formed since the beginning of the present war.

Speaking with the knowledge of a man who has made radio his life's work, Mr. Brooks exploded the common theory that with current radio equipment would be obsolete when television was actually available after the war.

Contrary to the popular impression the war has brought very few developments in actual radio communication; rather research has been responsible for development of radio allied equipment, such as radar, and many others still on the secret list, he said.

Beauty of Many Men's Work.

Analyzing in layman's radio as it is known today, he told the lunch club of many one man, but "is the result of many brains and the hard work of many men."

Difficulties of Television.

Difficulties of television broadcast in Canada, were declared to result because of the short waves bands through which the screen pictures are transmitted are separated stations necessary. Television cannot be introduced as is the case with radio.

Only Practical Theatre.

At present radio television was only practical in densely populated areas, while in the sparsely settled areas, which do not the faintest idea as to when or where or if television would be generally adopted.

Only practical theatre was introduced by "Vic" White with introduced by Mark Vanner, President Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, and Harold Nevin at the piano and Harold Gerrard acting as song leader. Pilight-Lieut. James Shortland, D.F.C., recently returned from overseas after completing an operational tour as bomber pilot, was a guest at the luncheon.

Red Cross Rooms Hive of Activity, Helpers Needed

Trenton — The making of plastic surgery boots occupied many of the ladies at the Red Cross workroom on Tuesday while others were busy with knitting, sewing, sorting children's garments and other articles of clothing. Mrs. Ernest Hinchcliffe is in charge of the workroom and is in need of several fairly large shipping cases. Anyone having these for disposal to the Red Cross workroom, Mrs. Hinchcliffe requests. Helpers are needed to assist in the making of sewing and wool for knitting of army socks and service socks and sweaters.

Two delicious cakes donated, one by Mrs. W. Farley and one by Mrs. J. C. Orr were raffled and brought $10.50. W. J. Potts and Miss A. Hayes were the lucky ones.

The very useful and serviceable quilt was donated by the Belleville Women's Auxiliary. Another donation was a quilt, a large quantity of knitted garments.

Regular Meeting

The regular working period the regular monthly meeting of the Trenton Chapter, I.O.D.E. Mrs. Joyce in the chair. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and correspondence read. Several bills were presented from the various committees.

The following committee showed 433 articles packed during the month of May, sent at a total cost of $30.00. Mrs. Gerry Harmer Essage, Mrs. Ernest Chaney and Mrs. Ernest Hinchcliffe.

Mrs. Ernest Hinchcliffe, convener, reported that the Red Cross workroom would be open every Tuesday afternoon when all ladies are welcome to help.

Mrs. Joyce reported that the Junior Chapter had sent a parcel to the daughter of William Fuller, Louis Street, who was married on Saturday. Tuesday afternoon when a number of members alighted from a truck owned and driven by Donald Gerrard on Dundas Street directly in the path of a car driven by Constable Gerrard Stapley, Dundas St.

Mrs. Gerrard was thrown to the ground and was only a few feet from the car when it stopped to let the girl off. She is not badly injured directly in front of the Stapley car. Mr. Stapley applied the brakes of the snow bank to avoid striking her but the momentum carried the car from bumper knocked her down."

IN MEMORIAM

FRAIN — In loving memory of our darling son, friend, boy, who passed away suddenly February 14th, 1942.

From our happy home and circle of friends
God has taken one we loved;
His is borne away from sin and sorrow
To a nobler rest above.

No one knows how much we miss him
No one but aching hearts can tell.
God has taken our loved one home
Jesus doeth all things well.
—Sadly missed by Mummy and Daddy.

BRENNEN — In loving memory of a dear mother, Mrs. Amelia Brennen, who died February 14th, 1942.

You're not forgotten, dear mother,
Nor will you ever be;
As long as life and memory last,
We will remember thee.
—Ever remembered by son James and family.

COLBURN — In loving memory of our dear father who passed away five years ago today, February 14th, 1940.

Gone, dear father, gone to rest
And left us sorrowing here behind;
We miss you at home, dear father,
And think of you with loving mind.
—Ever remembered by Reggie, Smith and Lois.

COLDEN — In loving memory of a husband and father who passed away three years ago today, February 14th, 1942.

Truly recalls sad memories
That never take away;
Where fond hearts are laid to rest
Time upon this earth we stay.
—Ever remembered by wife and son, Bobbie.

Big Three Decisions

Now the world knows in substance what the Big Three decisions reached at the Yalta Conference are. The United Nations, neutrals and the Germans and even Japan, which was not of course mentioned, know what is to come for the communique is a most comprehensive and constructive document with the aim of completing the defeat of Nazi Germany and bringing her to the dust as warmaker and also to pave the way to world peace with security.

The announcement bears the unmistakable evidence of the unity and harmony that have been the aim of the Allied Powers. The talks at Yalta reached the high water level of Allied agreement and achievement and the Allied world now looks forward to the grand achievement, the final defeat of Nazi Germany and the assurance that never again will Germany be able to raise her hand against liberty. Everywhere is seen the desire of the United Peoples to understand one another and to co-operate.

Plans have been laid to shorten the war with Germany and the Germans were told that Nazi tyranny is doomed and that they will only make their burden heavier by attempting to continue a hopeless resistance.

Germany is to be divided, the Conference decided, into occupation zones, each of Britain, United States and Russia occupying a zone and a commission will be broadened to take in France.

Formulae were agreed upon for the settling of the Polish issue and that of Yugoslavia.

A full dress conference of the Dumbarton Oaks plan for world organization will be held at San Francisco, beginning April 25th.

Foreign secretaries of the Big Three Nations will meet every three or four months to provide continual consultation of these Powers.

The Big Three will join in assisting any liberated people towards the attainment of their own choice of their government.

The leaders predicted that the Yalta Conference and the Dumbarton Oak Plan would "will provide the greatest opportunity in all history for the creation of a lasting peace, with freedom from want and fear."

Here is that the Big Three have agreed to do to Germany so it can never threaten the world again:

Disarm and disband all German armed forces.

Break up for all time the German general staff.

Remove or destroy all German military equipment.

Eliminate or control all German industry usable for military production.

Impose "just and swift punishment" for all war criminals.

Exact "reparation in kind" for German destruction. A commission will be established in Moscow to decide what Germany should pay in goods and labor.

Wipe out the Nazi party and "all Nazi and militarist influences."

News Heavy Blow to Germany

German propagandists' frantic attacks upon the announcements of the Big Three Conference at Yalta in the Crimea can be taken as the proof that the news from the Big Three parleys had reached the masses of the German people through Allied outlets and that the news was one of the greatest blows delivered at Nazism, Hitlerism and Prussian militarism. As the great armies of the Russians and the Western Allies are pressing in upon the German inside their defences the news of the absolute success of the meetings of the Big Three came over the radio with thunderous sound and like lightning to the German people who are in a position they never expected to occupy, with the Allied armies bearing the results of their victories swinging on into the Reich. The events of war on the field and the decisions of the conference of the United Nations were unusually well timed to unite and strike a deadly blow upon Hitlerite Germany.

The vehemence of the German propagandists' efforts to combat the news which had already reached the Germans through Allied broadcasts and their comment provided another indication of the plight of Germany the warlike, now headed for the plunge down into defeat. If the German commentators were taken back or nonplussed, (no one doubts that), it is easy to see why they are so for no power on earth has ever been felt in war to equal the Allied power called into being to cleanse the world of the militarists and warmakers.

The German commentators naturally hid from the German listeners the reference in the Allied announcements of aims. "It is not our purpose," the statement went, "to destroy the people of Germany," but the plan is to destroy Hitlerism and Nazism and militarism.

German propaganda has been given a terrible thrashing. It has by the very sweeps of Allied victory been compelled to tell something of the truth to explain why the United Nations' armies are on German soil. Formerly Nazi broadcasts were often complete lies, now because the propagandists know that the people know, they still distort the truth and fact but they are compelled by the very successes of the Allies to approach the facts. There has been noticed of late the readiness of the Germans to announce the progress of the Allied invasions of Germany, their purpose being of course to stir up the morale of the Germans for they know that they cannot hide the facts from the people.

The intensity of the German outbursts about the Yalta Conference of the Big Allied Three can be taken as a sign of the situation of Germany and her people as they approach the time that they never looked to see—the time when the Germany of Hitler and militarism will be prostrate.

For Japan's Overthrow

When the thoroughness of the Allied plans for the destruction of Nazism and Prussian militarism is considered and when the steady march of the Allied battalions and air and naval forces to triumph over the Huns is seen in every war theatre, when Allied unity of purpose is dominating the total effort of the powers of freedom, then the Japanese may well look with great anxiety upon the future of Nipponese tyranny.

On the way to Yalta in the Crimea to meet President Stalin, Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt stopped at Malta, reports state, to decide upon the fate of Japan. There is a hope that before long Russia may be standing with the Allies in war upon the Far Eastern military tyranny of Nippon.

The Allies are closing up on Japan and they have nearly completed their work for the removal of the German menace. So the war in the Pacific looms larger as a field of intensified Allied effort.

The Far Eastern tyrants should understand that their days are drawing to an end.

This winter moves steadily but the snow stays. Those who handle snow shovels have had the most labor of this kind that they can remember. Some folks or rather all have quite tired of the use of the shovel on the sidewalk and in the coal bin this winter and all can look forward with hope to another winter finding the city armed with small snowplows which will do most of the work or all of it that has hitherto been done by human brawn. At the same time they will know that there will not be so much anxiety about fuel as there has been of late.

Russian Moderation

(Winnipeg Free Press)

When the Red Army cleared northern Finland, its soldiers gave little time to northern Norway and pushed the Nazis out of that region of the country, too. Here, clearly, was an opportunity—if we are to believe the stories of Russia's ambition to engulf Europe—for the U.S.S.R. to establish themselves on the Atlantic seaboard.

Instead, what happened? Marshal Stalin asked Great Britain and the Norwegian government-in-exile to help him and his men of this task of occupation. He wanted to withdraw his men and to leave to the Norwegians and their British ally.

This is something for the world to remember, for it is evidence as it stands of a fundamental moderation in Russian policy, a moderation which, as it is pursued, will greatly enhance the prospects of a durable peace.

All grand thoughts come from the heart.—Vauvenargues.

ASH WEDNESDAY.

With this Wednesday Lent's beginning;
Time of sorrow for our sinning!

May our souls today be shriven
And our sins be all forgiven!

'Tis the wish of mortals lowly
To receive God's blessing holy.

Lord, although it be not due us,
Grant this day forgiveness to us!

This evidence of Japanese atrocity was found by Americans who overran the camp site after the Limayen landings.

PERSONAL HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

AW, PSHAW, BUTOR STILL HAS THE CHOUP

When I was a boy, doctor in the home, Butch has been exposed Penn Yan was considered a fair number of night calls to treat the croup throughout the fall, winter and early spring, and each summer a number of cases of typhoid fever which, at a dollar a visit, was all that is a thing of the past now but I know a lot of folks are saying that typhoid fever has become almost as rare as smallpox in Penn Yan or any other community of intelligent citizens. Croup is rare now, that I can't speak so confidently of whooping cough or grippe. I wonder if anyone else has noticed, as I have, a year ago, inferring that spasmodic croup and whooping cough must be pretty rare now, because I haven't had any requests for requests for remedies for relief of these troubles, whereas, I formerly received frequent requests for advice about it, in recent years there has been remarkably few requests for information or advice about croup, which brought immediate replies from several mothers who have had cases of children with croup—naturally, these mothers did not ask for my advice, since I had betrayed modern improved diet, nutrition, ventilation etc., and even intelligence, as parents to explain why modern children do not have croup.

Now comes Mrs. I. P., who says her child has had croup every little while, although not severe enough to call a doctor, as ever had any sign of it. She asks if Butch may mean well, but nevertheless he puts the finishing touch to quandary; Unless Butch has been most unusually careful, he must have betrayed modern improved diet, nutrition, ventilation etc., and even intelligence, as parents to explain why modern children do not have croup.

Answer—I hope I make it clear in the pamphlet "The Hair and Scalp" which I am sending (self stamped self addressed envelope) that any effort to provide the anti-grey hair vitamins on gray hair is a waste of time. Consequence or, say, the manifestation, of heredity, constitution and vita. Don't begin taking any of the hair vitamins unless you carry on for a year at any rate.

(Mrs. W. S.)

Answer—Dr. Blair's clear on the pamphlet "The Hair and Scalp" which I am sending (self stamped self addressed envelope) that any effort to provide the anti-grey hair vitamins on gray hair is a waste of time. Consequence or, say, the manifestation, of heredity, constitution and vita. Don't begin taking any of the hair vitamins unless you carry on for a year at any rate.

Boniea

Have bunions on the joints of both big toes. What will remove or dissolve them? (V.L.)

Answer—Surgery. Bunion is not an external condition such as corn, wart or callus, but a partial dislocation of the great toe joint. Surgery is recommended if is far cheaper than letting it cripple you or letting it continue to give you pain and discomfort.

Never Heard of It

On trying to get copperas (sulfate of iron) in several drug stores in our neighborhood we were met with astonished stares. They had never heard of it, and can't be blamed for not in confusion. (E. J. W.)

Answer—Any druggist who has ever heard of the U. S. Pharmacopoeia—and that is a "must" for all druggists—knows or should know that copperas and green vitriol are common names for iron sulfate and that it is the U.S.P., and British Pharmacopoeia for iron sulfate.

YOU'D BE SURPRISED

By GEORGE W. STIMPSON

WHAT IS A WEED?

"Weed," which is of unknown origin, is a term of reproach here.

In the most widely accepted sense, a weed is any troublesome and useless plant that grows in cultivated ground to the injury of the crop or the benefit thereof in the soil.

The Oxford dictionary defines the term as "a worthless plant not valued for use or beauty, growing wild and rank, and regarded as cumbering the ground or hindering the growth of superior vegetation."

Shakespeare, in Henry V, refers to "such plants as lacking both beauty and utility."

But in another sense, any plant growing where it is not wanted is regarded as a weed, because a plant might be a weed in one place and not a weed in another. Even a corn plant growing in a flower bed would be a weed; the same plant in a corn field would not be so regarded.

On this subject the U. S. Department of Agriculture says: "A weed is defined as any unwanted plant, or a plant out of place. The definition of a garden flower changes as it is treated ground to the injury of the crop, or the benefit thereof in the soil.

"A weed is a weed. Many other definitions might be given, but one set of conditions and pests under other circumstances, places and times is weeds. When valuable, they are not weeds.

In the more popular sense, however, "weed" signifies a plant-in itself noxious or troublesome, irrespective of where it grows. Emerson wrote: "What is a weed? A plant whose virtues have not been discovered."

"Weed" in such phrases as "pearly weed," which is derived from an Anglo-Saxon root meaning "to weave" and is not related to "weed" in the sense of an obnoxious plant. Formerly clothes in general were called "weeds."

200 PRISONERS SHOT

New York, Feb. 14 — (CP)—The Germans have shot 200 Russian prisoners of war at Harland in Northwest Norway for "sabotage in the large fortifications at Kraakenes-fjord," Harald the Black-holm newspaper Svenska Dagbladet said today in a dispatch reported by the Office of War Information.

White's District

White's District. — The Official Board of the Bayside Pastoral Charge held its regular quarterly meeting at Wesley United Church on Monday evening with a good attendance. The Rev. A. C. McCallum, minister of the charge, presided, while Mr. H. M. Rutter, secretary of the Official Board was also in attendance. The reports as submitted by the representatives of each congregation were very encouraging, each congregational Treasurer carrying over a balance into the current year. The three Women's Associations reported as having raised the grand total of $580. The two Missionary Societies sent to the Presbyterial Treasurer $167, while the total givings to the Missionary and Maintenance Fund amounted to $150. Young People's Union and Sunday Schools reported receipts of over $200. The sessions also reported an increased membership of the churches by profession of faith.

It was decided to accept the new regulations for the Ministers' Pensions' Fund. Mr. George Short was re-elected Lay Representative to Presbytery and Mr. H. M. Rutter, secretary of the Official Board for the ensuing year. A hearty vote of appreciation was extended to Rev. A. C. McCallum for his services and an invitation to remain another year. Mr. McCallum thanked all for their co-operation and paid a fine tribute to the Rev. J. M. Spence, his immediate predecessor on the charge.

Personals.

Miss Dorothy Stanley of Trenton, was a Sunday visitor of Cpl. Clare Millar and Mrs. Millar.

Mr. George Bilham opened her home on Friday afternoon and evening for a quilting.

Mrs. Bramhall, of Belleville, was a weekend visitor of her sister, Mrs. A. Ketcheson.

Sunday School and Church Services were conducted at White's Church on Sunday afternoon. At the conclusion of the Sunday afternoon, At the conclusion of the Sunday School the Rev. A. C. McCallum gave a Temperance talk to the young people.

Bayside Women's Missionary Society.

On Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Mooney and the Rev. A. C. McCallum opened their home for the February meeting of the Bayside Women's Missionary Society with the President, Mrs. Glenn Meyers, in charge. There was a good attendance of members. It was decided to hold a banner and home-cooking sale at the regular meeting during Easter week to be held in the evening. Mr. McCallum was asked to speak on this occasion, when he will relate some interesting experiences. Mrs. George Bush, a new member, now residing in Belleville, gave an invitation to the Society to meet at her home for World Day of Prayer. The offering for the year was made out. The Roll Call was answered by most of the members paying their dues. Mrs. Mooney served delicious refreshments and a social time was enjoyed.

SAYS GERMANS USE CRIMINALS TO FIRE V-2 PROJECTILES

In Liberated Holland, Feb. 14—(CP)—Anela)—A person who escaped from German-held Holland reported Tuesday that the Germans were using their criminals to fire V-2 rocket projectiles at Britain. He said he knew of prisoners who had had their sentences commuted because they had taken part in firing the missiles.

Tweed

Tweed.—After being closed for about a month undergoing extensive repairs, Rupert's Rexall Drug Store opened its doors again last week after installing a very modern appearance.

The heavy snow played havoc with the roofs of buildings in town over the weekend.

The roof caved in on a barn at the Hupck's hotel, and snow sliding off the roof of Mr. A. C. Blakely's furniture store took the eave trough and part of the ridge board with it.

Mr. Clarence Elliott is confined to Belleville General Hospital, for a few days due to an injury to his leg.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Finley of Trenton, spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. John Colgan and Mr. Colgan.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Chase of Frankford, spent from Thursday to Saturday in Toronto, attending the Ice Capades and the hockey game in Maple Leaf Gardens.

Mrs. Lionel Peake and daughter Carol, of Smithfield, Ont., are spending a few days with Mrs. Peake's sister, Mrs. John Colgan and Mr. Colgan.

Mr. L. Newton of Toronto, spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. John Newton.

Soldiers from Camp of Marlbank, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. L. Ketcheson.

Mr. George Stokes, M.P., and Mrs. Stokes, Belleville, are spending a few days with the latter's mother, Mrs. W. H. Craig, who is confined to her bed through illness.

TORONTO STREETS BETTER

Toronto, Feb. 14 (CP)—Despite the fact the street department has 220 men and 126 trucks clearing the streets of ice compared to a pre-war staff of 4,000 to 5,000 men and 600 trucks, 300 miles of Toronto's 870 miles of roads are in splendid travelling condition, street commissioner H. D. Bradley said.

Gore

Gore.—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brickman opened their home to the members of Centre and Victoria forum on Monday evening with a good attendance. Following the usual broadcast and discussion the remainder of the evening was spent in playing euchre.

Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Green and Mrs. Earl Fox. After much social intercourse all departed expressing thanking Mr. and Mrs. Brickman for the very enjoyable evening.

Sunday School was well attended at Centre Church on Sunday morning, with an attendance of forty.

A missionary program followed Sunday School with Mrs. Earl Fox in charge. The program opened with the hymn followed by the Call to Worship being given by Barbara Keeler, Leo Fox then gave a guitar solo. The Old Rugged Cross with Sybil Redner reading the meditation.

Mrs. Earl Fox read the story "A Chinese Heroine".

Offering was taken by Joe Smith followed by all singing a hymn. Meeting closed by the use of the benediction.

Girls' Club.

The members of Centre Girls' Club were entertained at the home of Misses Anita, Barbara and Sybil Redner on Saturday evening of last week.

Mrs. Roy Brickman and Margaret spent Thursday evening of last week with Mrs. Earl Fox.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Brooks were tea hour guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Greer and all motored to Bethel in the evening to attend play and pie social held at the church.

Your home test can bring you SOFTER, SMOOTHER SKIN in just 14 days!

Compare your complexion with your shoulders. You'll find your shoulders look 3 or more years younger. Why? Because shoulder pores are kept clean by your daily bath. Change to Palmolive bath and see, why so famous freely, for bath pores, plagued with dirt and make-up, can't breathe freely. Let your pores breathe freely for lovelier softness and ages before its time. Use Palmolive's fragrance to your complexion. Palmolive offers no more keep it to achieve lovelier skin.

You can look younger in 14 days! Wash your face 3 times a day with Palmolive, and each time work a full minute to lather Palmolive's lather and rinse it off. Then pat dry. Do this for 14 days and see! This easy, Palmolive Massage stimulates the skin to exhilarate, clears the pores to help your complexion to regain its flexible softness, to become softer, smoother, lovelier, in just 14 days!

WEDDINGS

PHILLIPS—DESHANE

Thomasburg—A pretty wedding was solemnized by Rev. W. H. Baugh on Tuesday, January 23, at 4 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Deshane, Marlbank, when their youngest daughter, Irene Deshane, became the bride of Mr. Leslie Roy Phillips, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Phillips and the late Mr. Wilson Phillips, Thomasburg.

The bride looked charming in a floor length gown of white satin brocade with long pointed sleeves and deep sweetheart neckline. Her shoulder length veil was caught to a white ostrich plume and her bouquet was pink carnations and maiden hair fern. She was given in marriage by her father.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. George Young, Mrs. Young, sister of the bride, wore a gown of ashrose blue georgette and also carried pink roses and maidenhair fern.

The groom's gift to the bride was a chest of silver; to the bridesmaid a gold locket and to the groomsman, a gold collar and tie pin.

A wedding supper was served to relatives and friends. Later a shower was held in the Orange Hall, which was attended by a large number of friends of the bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips left the following day on a wedding trip to Toronto and Hamilton.

On Thursday evening last, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips were honored by a reception in the Cobdallows Hall, Thomasburg, when they were presented with many useful gifts from their friends here.

KELLY—LAHEY

A very impressive ceremony took place at St. Michael's Cathedral, Belleville, on Saturday, February 3, when Lt. Ian Gladwell, second daughter of Mrs. Lahey and the late Wm. Lahey, was united in wedlock to George Leo Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Catherine Kelly, and the late Andrew Kelly, of Stone.

Rev. Monsignor Nicolson performed the nuptial mass and the ceremony.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her brother, Pte. Jack Lahey, who also gave her away. Beautiful Bridal March played by Sister Mary Athana, sister of the groom.

Her niece, Lieut. (W.O.S.) Margaret O'Connell, of Petawawa Military Hospital, sang very sweetly, "O Perfect Love," "The Beautiful Garden," and L-Cpl. J. R. Gerol, of Camp Borden, rendered "O Sacred Head Divine", and other appropriate hymns.

The bride wore a two-piece ensemble of brown wool crepe with touches of green and gold, the accessories to correspond. She carried a shower bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Miss Gwen Burley, of Belleville, was bridesmaid and looked charming in a floor length gown of copen blue crepe gown, embroidered with pearls and sequins, and a shoulder length veil of tulle fell in graceful folds from a coronet of pearl blossoms. She carried a beautiful bouquet of white carnations and red rose and greenpeas. Her only ornament was a gift from the groom

RUSSIAN LETTER

Written for The Canadian Press by Eva K. Nepemnyaschy

Moscow, Feb. 14 (CP)—Winter sports on an organized basis are part of the Russian scene again for the first time since the war against Germany began.

Skiing is the major interest of sports-minded Russians and ski jumps have been built in many areas. There has been widespread training in volunteer skiing instructors who, in turn, are training novices.

Millions of collective farmers who participate in the traditional skiruns held by youth and sports organizations—events which in peacetime drew 2,000,000 to 6,000,000 contestants annually.

But not only rural areas have prepared for winter fun. In Moscow 17 sports clubs and 150 industrial enterprises have opened ski stations and others were prepared by army recruiting depots. Big skating rinks are open for adults and 250 rinks have been built in children's parks through the city.

The first frosts and snow came early in December and skiers in Moscow, Kemerovo and cities through the Urals began their training. Sverdlovsk was the first to hold races, with students of the industrial training school there as contestants.

Sport is emphasized as part of the Red army training program and one army unit, typical of many through Russia, held ski races after the first snowfall, with the entire personnel participating.

But aside from the organized skiing and skating program is the larger sports participation by the men and women who this year find themselves able to devote more time to relaxation than in the previous war years.

Universities plundered and burned by the Germans during the occupation of the Ukraine are functioning again

More than 36,000 students have taken up studies in six universities, 20 collegiates and 17 normal schools. The restoration of higher schools will be continued during the next year and, it is determined that it shall be a year of normal study.

Poltava, Zaporozhye, Chernigov, Lutsky and Kremenchug university varsities were razed and the main building of Kiev university was blown up and burned. Kiev's greatest scientific treasures were lost.

This year 9,200 students are studying in Kiev's 13 departments using buildings that were left standing. Three new departments have been opened, in philosophy, economics and international relations. Many of the students are men returned from the front lines.

Lvov university suffered heavy damage though not as much comparatively as Kiev's. Of 300 lecturers, teachers and professors were tortured and killed during the German occupation of the city. Now Lvov also is operating along with the colleges at Kharkov, Dnlepropetrovsk, Chernovtis and Odessa.

Mr. Churchill Wears New Headdress— Lambskin Shapka

Moscow, Feb. 14 (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill's latest headgear—a black lambskin shapka—has two advantages. In addition to keeping one's head warm it protects the top of the ears.

The wearer may even pull it down over his ears, but that is not good form.

Pictures from the Crimean conference showed the Prime Minister in the black headgear, of a type long worn by Moscow merchants and professional men. Foreign commissar Molotov often appears in the same kind of hat.

U.S. TO FURNISH COMPETITION

Toronto, Feb. 14 (CP)—Canada will meet keen competition from the United States in the British meat market after the war and unless livestock breeders not only maintain present quality but improve it they will not be able to retain their market, William F. Watson, assistant director of the livestock branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture said.

When Children's Eyes Are Bigger Than Their Stomachs...

There's the child who eats not just six or seven pieces of candy at these frosty, wonderful parties and celebrations, but twenty. Perhaps there is no need now to substitute dried fruit, nuts and candy for the sweets of peacetime, but it appears we have them feeling weak and "sick" instead. Let's remember that Children's Own Vitamin Tablets are designed for children from toddlers age to 12 years. They're so much easier to get at reasonable prices, relieve distress and betray about 10 times more vitamins A and D than the average cod liver oil. Get a bottle of the whole year well used the help of Children's Own Vitamin Tablets for the rest of your health ages today. Only 35¢ at your druggist. Make sure you get Children's Own Vitamin Tablets—your guarantee of a reliable product.

Write clearly or print in block letters, giving complete details. Write your own name and address on upper left hand corner.

Don't take a chance on your "handwriting". You may save a minute—at the cost of many weeks' delay.

THIS is a war of rapid movement. Overseas mail must be handled many times before it reaches your man. If you write a wrong or incomplete address, it may cause weeks of delay in spite of all your Post Office or Canadian Postal Corps can do to speed delivery. You can save much heart-ache by following these simple rules:

1. Write clearly or print full address in block letters.
2. Make sure the address is COMPLETE and correct. Omissions or errors in Army mail by senders cost time and number of unit.
3. If you are writing to a wounded man in hospital Overseas, write his usual COMPLETE address, then ADD the words "IN HOSPITAL" in large letters on the envelope.

YOUR PARCEL MUST FACE THE RIGORS OF WAR . . .

Your parcel must stand the weight of thousands more pressing down on it in the hold of a lurching ship at sea. It must stand rough transport, often under fire, over shell-torn roads. Pack your parcels in corrugated containers, wrap in several layers of heavy paper and tie with strong twine.

DON'TS for SENDERS: Don't pack matches or lighter fluids. Don't send foods that can spoil. Don't send liquids in cartons or glass. Don't forget to affix completed customs declaration. Don't use "shoe boxes", they crush easily.

Sun Life of Canada

yesterday . . . today . . . tomorrow

THE Sun Life of Canada is an institution of Public Service conducted in the interests of its policyholders. Such was the purpose of its founders in 1865, a purpose which has been proudly maintained through nearly eight decades of continuous development. And such will be the purpose that will guide the destiny of this Company in the generations yet to be.

The premiums paid by its more than one million policyholders go into a common fund operated for their benefit. It is out of this fund that policy obligations are paid as they become due. The savings resulting from efficient management, apart from a very small shareholders' interest, go entirely to the policyholders. Each individual policyholder has an interest in the common fund according to the particular form of contract he holds. The relationship of the Company to its policyholders is in the nature of a trusteeship under which the Company agrees to carry out its obligations with the money entrusted to its care. The assets of a life assurance company represent the funds accumulated from the premiums paid by the policyholders. It is the responsibility of the company so to manage these funds as to ensure the faithful carrying out of every obligation, and to endeavour to furnish life assurance at as low a cost as possible. The insurance laws provide ample safeguards to protect the interests of the policyholders and to assure sound administration.

In the past year, the new business secured by the Sun Life of Canada amounted to $90,323,142. The assurances in force increased by $139,107,959 and now total $3,312,515,426. The benefits paid during the year were $80,582,921, which brings the total amount paid since the founding of the Company to $1,710,446,363. The Company's activities during 1944 give ample evidence of its continued progress. The business and the assets of the Company have increased, and substantial additions have been made to surplus and other funds to further safeguard policyholders' interests.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Says Wife Not to Leave Him, While Squandering Money on Other Girls

Dear Miss Fairfax:

When I married my husband I worshipped him, but I was soon disillusioned. Where he is employed, the girls call him an easy mark. When cherry-s part of cigarettes they go to him, and borrow as much as ten and fifteen dollars and never pay it back. At noon he takes them to tavern and buys drinks.

He runs around with another married man and the two men take out women, after which I acquire him of these things and threaten to leave, he cries and pleads that I stay. My friends tell me if he cared for me he would buy me some clothes. I have absolutely nothing.

I want to take a job and buy my own things, but he doesn't want me to leave. He buys me all the things that go with night-life, but I prefer to stay at home. What do you suggest?

Miss D.

Your husband seems to be the type who wants to eat cake and have it, too. He pleads with you to stay with him, and yet he wastes his money foolishly and when you work him for a good thing. No self-respecting woman is supposed to put up with such behaviour. While jobs are going for the asking, why don't you take one of them?

Your letter is very intelligent; your typing excellent. You'd have no difficulty in finding a good job. Your independence may teach him to reform. If it does not, it is then up to you to decide what to do.

Talking Girl to A Movie Weekly Does Not Imply Engagement.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My girl's father is the commanding officer (a Colonel) at a nearby base. I like the little girl very much. We were both 21 and in high school together. I took her to a dance or a movie every Friday night; her parents never objected.

After we graduated when we were both 18, I was drafted. We were pretty much in love by this time, and I gave her a ring. I was writing my uniform when her Dad sent for me, and when he asked me if I think I was a pup, just a candidate for the pound.

I explained to him if a girl went out regularly with a boy every week other guys stayed away, took it for an understanding. He said the understanding between us from now on was I should never come to his house or speak to his daughter again. I hear my girl took this very much to heart, and she stays home all the time, as she doesn't want to have to cut me dead. Was I right in thinking we were engaged.

No matter how this affair turns out, and I'm terribly afraid it won't turn out the way you youngsters want it, it will remain with you even in old age as a heavenly experience.

But I have to agree with the Colonel that taking a girl out once a week does not constitute a hard and fast engagement, according to adult standards. It may, according to high school code, mean a hands-off policy. And other boys, unless they're highly courageous, will refrain from dating her. But an engagement—real or implied—does not hold as the result of a weekly date.

A Royal Blue Season

Royal blue beach ensemble.

By VERA WINSTON

ROYAL blue looks like a coming summer success, since it appears at many of the southern beaches and western resorts, both as a solid color and with bright color accents. It is used for this nice beach ensemble of coat, halter and shorts. The coat is of solid royal blue cotton with a border of hand-blocked cotton in yellow. The yellow and blue cotton shorts have gathers centre front. The coat, which buttons at neck and waist, has a 2½-in band of the cotton print at the whistling and down the front. This is a preview of what we'll be wearing come summer, while royal blue will appear in Spring coats, hats and accessories.

Psychoanalysis will never lose its popularity as long as it gives a woman a chance to talk about herself for an hour at a time to somebody who will give her his undivided attention instead of sticking his nose in the newspaper.

Since conclaves and conventions have been ruled out for the duration, the average husband can sleep better nights, instead of lying awake trying to dope up the annual alibi for leaving the Little Woman at home when the boys get together next June.

Many a girl's cruelest memory is that of her first visit. Mother thus wasted so many of her days going around places, trying to make dream-man "accidentally."

I have often wondered why people keep diaries. A diary is either a dull statement of irrelevant facts or an unwonted exposure of the soul.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Overdoing a Quality of Charm

Betty Gillespie had two of them, one in each cheek. They're as cute as the dickens, and she knows it. They play peek-a-boo when she laughs; so she wears a perennial smile. She's a nice girl, and nice and then. It is a tired smile, on the job all the time.

A bit of facial repose would be a relief to her family and her friends, who get bored at times with the dimples' constant play. Now I don't it would also be a relief to Dorothy's self-conscious, self-effacing mood at times. Here we have a case of over emphasis of a beauty asset.

Betty is a talented girl in her class at college, walked away with honors, had a lively wit. She was a scream; everybody said so. She never opened her mouth that she didn't make people roll on the floor with laughter. She was just the funniest girl that ever lived.

Nancy is married, has three children and cares for a large house. She has no help. There are times when she'd like to crawl into a coal cellar and sob. She doesn't feel at all funny. But she must live up to her reputation. Her best friends say it would be pleasantly exciting if Nancy would join up with other mamas, talk smutty once in awhile about farina and rubber pants and kids that wake up before dawn. It would seem a bit more normal. As Nancy's humor is getting forced through long use, there are soft whispers to the effect that her wit isn't what it used to be and probably never was.

Joan has pretty hands. When she was a little girl, her mother called attention to them. "Look at my baby's hands, isn't they adorable?" Mama would say. When Joan got into her teens she became vain of her paws. She fluttered them, she practically stuck her fingers into other people's eyes. She smoothed her hair, posed her hands with the pinky finger rigid, a practice that some individuals consider silly.

Why can't she keep her hands still? her friends asked each other. Fiddling with bracelet or beads got on their nerves. Nancy was just over-playing her beauty hand, that's all. She didn't know that repose has charm. Before she is attractive a girl should appear at ease. And the amount of vermilion she'll be put on the cheeks should be limited only by the quantity they could carry.

Too much awareness of goodlooks qualities robs them of their charm. People like to discover them for themselves, not have them advertised and displayed. It isn't necessary to call attention to them.

True loveliness is in self-conscious, natural of manner, easy as an old shoe. Everybody is wise to the girl who is always play-acting putting on a show.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

The Doctor's "Informals"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman,

1.—Should a young lady who has a doctor's degree, use the title of "Doctor" on her Informals? Or is the prefix "Miss" preferable, since theis folded-over cards are social, rather than professional?

2.—If the title of Doctor is used, should it be abbreviated or spelled in full?

3.—Is it permissible to omit the address on Informals?

A. O.

1.—You mean, I judge, that the young lady is a Doctor of Medicine? If so, she may have her informals engraved with her title . . . Doctor Mary Alexander, or, if she prefers, Mary Alexander, ... several women physicians I know use what I think is excellent taste. . . . on the cards they use in their social life they have their name without their degree. Miss Mary Alexander, or, if married, Mrs. William Foster Grant and, usually, their home address. Then the professional card bears the name and title in the centre, the office address and telephone number in the lower right-hand, and the office hours in the lower left hand.)

2.—Either is proper, Doctor or Dr. My personal choice is to have the title engraved in full.

3.—It is not necessary to include the address on Informals or visiting-cards . . . but it is usually very convenient.

What the Bride in her 40's Wears.

Dear Mrs. Beeckman,

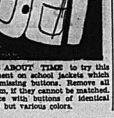
What should a woman in her forties wear at her wedding, to take place in church in the afternoon? Would it be proper for her to wear a veil?

J. E.

It is indeed hard to say at what age shall be the limit for a bride's wearing a white wedding dress and veil. But in my opinion the older bride who wears a lovely afternoon dress and has her wedding in church shows the best taste. Although occasionally an older woman, fortyish-perhaps, does wear full bridal regalia, it is certainly obvious that young, or fairly young, faces suit the bridal costume better. Never criticised is the bride who dresses "neither too young nor too old, but just right".

Naturally, because of the important occasion of her wedding, any bride must concentrate attention on herself, and the best way for her to do this, is to be herself at her best, sincerest herself. So the best taste, I definitely think, for the older bride is to wear a long afternoon dress, of some fashionable . . . perhaps an interesting pastel or a rich jewel tone, with a small spart hat either matching or harmonizing with her dress. An interesting choice for her to make is a pert flower hat, with her corsage natural flowers of the kind or shades of the flowers of her hat. Her attendant, if she has one, also wears a long afternoon dress and hat with corsage.

Attendants Are Not Mandatory.



Dear Mrs. Beeckman,

I am to be married in July, and want very much to wear a real white wedding dress. Would it be proper to do so without having a maid of honor?

Rita

Yes, entirely proper. At either a formal or informal wedding, it is not necessary for the bride to have any attendants, if she doesn't wish to.

CANADIAN Y·M·C·A WAR SERVICES

Saturday night the Red Triangle Club staged a very successful dance. A large number of airmen from nearby ports spurred on by the music of the Melody Boys and the charming hospitality of the girls lived and waltzed in their hearts content. The Red Group were in charge.

Highlights of the occasion were two spot dances. Prizes were given by the Y.M.C.A. War Services. Prize winners were Mrs Olive Reeve, Garland Irwin, Mt. View, and Miss May Totton, Ernie Munharvey, Trenton.

Sunday, the hostesses entertained with small games and bowling. Refreshments were supplied by the local Y.M.C.A. with Red Triangle hostesses assisting in the serving.

The outstanding item of entertainment for the evening was the motion picture "Above Suspicion", which kept everybody's interest sustained to the very last moment.

Monday night, the "Y" was a buss of activity with Dancing Class held upstairs under the direction of Miss Marjory Cook. Interesting and practical articles were made in the Leathercraft class under the supervision of Mr. Harold McKaig. War Services Supervisor, while others enjoyed bridge or letter writing in the lounge.

ST. MIKES MARCH TO 18TH VICTORY BY TAKING GENS.

Gall Upsets Dope Bucket by Beating St. Catharines in Overtime

By The Canadian Press

St. Michael's marched to their 18th victory in the O.H.A. Junior "A" campaign last night by whipping Oshawa Generals all 8-1 loss on Toronto ice. But the real dispute of the evening took place at Galt, where the Red Wings managed to edge out the St. Catharines Falcons 5-4 in an overtime battle. With this triumph Galt increased its command at the top section of third place in the standing with 18 points, only two games below second-place Kitchener. Meanwhile Oshawa now holds fourth spot alone.

The league-leading St. Mikes actually came from behind in the 2nd period to take the rough tilt at Toronto. Fred Petrura of Oshawa having notched the only marker of the opening frame. The students fired three into the net in the middle session and ran away with five more in the third chapter. Top scorers for the Collegians were Leo Lewellyn with three goals and one assist and Guz Morlock with one counter and three assists. There were 19 penalties.

The Falcons were well away with three goals in the initial period at Galt but the Red Wings managed to score four times in a seven-minute stretch of the second stanza. With five minutes to go before the close of regulation time Ab Unger let go with the equalizer, to Bill Ourik went the credit of the payoff goal in 3-02 or overtime play.

What's Doing in Sport

(By The Canadian Press)

Until recently a Brigadier General in the U.S. Army, William O'Dwyer, District Attorney at Brooklyn, N.Y., yesterday asked Governor Samuel S. Leibowitz to preside at a special investigation into the athletic programs of all colleges in Kings County, including Brooklyn Collegein which was included the basketball betting scandal. The probe will be under way Monday.

O'Dwyer suggested that the Court should deal with the question of the release of men from the Armed Services who are able to participate in strenuous athletic activities.

Through Bill Hughes of Montreal, chairman of the Big Nine Committee, the Quebec Rugby Football Union yesterday proposed four changes in the playing code for consideration by the Canadian Rugby Union meeting in Toronto March 26. The suggestions included deletion of the provision requiring possession at the deadline scene of one point; prohibiting the kicking of the ball by players behind the line of scrimmage and the interference instead of the 5-yard limit.

New York Yankees open their 15-game Spring training schedule March 20 against Boston Red Sox at Atlantic City, followed by Philadelphia, Athletics, Brooklyn Dodgers, New York Giants. Practice begins and the first exhibition games are Braves and Baltimore Orioles.

Cliff Manahan, canny skip of the Edmonton Royal-Purdys Club, was the latest successful Northern Alberta Curling Championship at Edmonton last night when he whipped Fred W. (Cliff) Rose of Sedgewick 16-6 in the finals of the British Dominion trophy.

Manahan will meet Hube Goodfellow of Cadds, Alta., winner of the Southern Alberta title, in Calgary for Provincial honors.

O.H.A. Club Must Pay Percentages In Playoff Games

Toronto, Feb. 14 — (CP) — In issuing instructions to clubs engaging in group playoffs, Secretary W. A. Hewitt of the Ontario Hockey Association announced last night the schedule of percentages from gross receipts which home teams will be required to pay to their visiting opponents.

In the senior and junior "A" series the O.H.A. requires 7 1/2 per cent of the gross sale for playoff games before the final round. The O.H.A. share is five per cent in all group playoff games in the intermediate "A" and junior "B" series. In the finals in all four series the O.H.A. share is 15 per cent of the gross gate of each game.

The O.H.A. office announced Owen Sound Orphans are playing their first playoff engagement in group 6 of the intermediate "A" series at Southampton tonight, with the return game at Owen Sound Friday.

The second game of a group No. 3 playoff between Trenton and Bitwing-Marmora Combines has been postponed until Thursday with the third game, if necessary, Saturday at Trenton.

Belleville plays tonight at Hastings-Norwood.

SENSATIONAL WIN SCORED BY NELSON IN GOLF TOURNEY

Puts Together 5-Stroke Win Over McSpaden in Play-off Match

New Orleans, Feb. 14 — (AP) — Byron Nelson, Toledo (Ohio) pro, for his sensational win in the New Orleans Open — was on his way to the Mississippi Gulf coast today, where he hopes to continue his bid for a new all-time tournament record in the $5,000 Gulfport Open.

The Toledo Ohio, money-maker yesterday annexed his fourth tournament victory of the winter season in trimming hard-luck Harold (Jug) McSpaden by five strokes in an 18-hole playoff yesterday and needs only two more wins to tie the record set by Jimmy Demaret, of Houston, Tex., in 1940.

Nelson got one of the greatest exhibitions in winning the play-off over McSpaden on a sopsy course that made heavy by hard rain. His card was 32-33—65 for the 18-holes and gave Nelson a one-stroke margin over second place money. His victory boosted his earnings for 1945 to $7,367 in war bonds (maturity value).

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By STU THOMAS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, Feb. 14 — (CP) — This Valentine's Day there are prospects of some gifts, in the way of records, being handed out in the N. H. L., Dutch Hoyle and Canadians' big ills the most likely customers.

Maurice Richard, the controversial "second Morenz," is a cinch to break Howie Morenz's goal-scoring record of 44 in as single season, although he may take twice as many games to do it. Maurice, the old Canadiens' star, took only 22 games to collect his 44 goals back in 1917-18, while Richard has 41 in 39 games, and 11 more chances to make a mark in the world. Coincidentally, the "Richard-for-Morenz" boys haven't cared to point out that the Howie Morenz record was 40 goals in 1929-30, another of those high-scoring seasons.

Elmer Lach, with 44 assists, now is almost certain, to better the mark of 46 set by Clint Smith of Chicago Black Hawks last season. No one else has much of a show, Bobi Richard or Lach have an outside chance of equalling or bettering the point total record of 85 set last season by Boston's Herbie Cain, but it doesn't look as though there will be such a flood of high scoring as last season when eight players notched 70 points or more.

Besides Lach and Richard, only Toe Blake of Canadiens and Bill Cowley of Boston look good to reach the 70-point mark.

Then there's one more record Canadiens' big three might crack—the total points for a single line mark. Right now, Richard-Lach-Blake have piled up 85 goals and 96 assists for a total of 181, and they have 11 games to reach the 225-182-301 total made last year by Chicago's top line of Doug Bentley, Clint Smith and Bill Mosienko. That's only a bit over three points a game they need, and so far they have averaged well over four points each appearance.

If they don't make it, a broken leg or two will be the reason.

Last words:

This is "30" on sport snapshots, for Thomas, who has another assignment, Fred Kerner, former Montreal sports writer, will be carrying the ball from now on. We don't know about you, but we've had a lot of fun out of this, despite occasional differences of opinion.

So long for now.

HERB CAIN LEADS BRUINS IN WIN AGAINST HAWKS

Newmarket Boy With Eleven Years in N.H.L., Sparks Victory

By The Canadian Press

Newmarket's Herbie Cain still is a bundle of dynamite after 11 years in the National Hockey League. He touched off a three-goal period explosion last night which gave Boston Bruins a 5-3 victory over a 3-2 victory over Chicago Black Hawks.

Hawks, fighting for a needed win, held Bruins scoreless during the first period and Cain's second, a deflected drive in the second while Clint Smith was off for interference. The attack backfired.

Cain, who left his Newmarket home in 1933 to join the Montreal Maroons and launch his N.H.L. career, started the fireworks. Lorne Duncanson, Jop Cooper at centre and shot it past Mike Karakas in the Chicago nets. Bill Cowley, Bruins star centre, deflected Doug Bowser's rebound into the net less than a minute and a half later and Armand Gaudreault made it 3-0 for Boston before the period ended.

Both Chicago goals were engineered in the third period by Pete Clerehan, rookie of the American League, Butch McDonald beat Harvey Bennett early after taking a drop pass from Horeck just 30 seconds after Gaudreault's marker slapped Horeck's rebound into the net.

The loss left Chicago in the loop cellar and dimmed the hopes of gaining the fourth place play-off berth.

GORDON DRILLON PAVES THE WAY

Valleyfield, Que., Feb. 14 — (CP) —Gordon Drillon, in his first appearance on Valleyfield ice, last night paved the way for a 5-3 victory by the Braves over the second-place Verdun Rapids, and extended the Braves' lead in the Provincial Hockey League. It was Drillon's first game with Valleyfield since rejoining the club.

Drillon, working on a line with Phil Chiupenyk and Gerry Plamondon, scored both his goals in the second frame, and in the third assisted Chiupenyk on another Bernie Wheet added the other counter when he battled in an assist from Kilcoyne Jeannette.

CASUAL COMMENT

by K.J.C.

Lighter Vein.

Joan aged five, out to tea, was puzzled when she saw the family had cheese for tea.

"What are you doing?" she asked.

"Drinking tea, dear, for our daily bread," she was told.

"Don't you give thanks at home, Mummy?"

"No," said Joan, "we pay for our cheese."

"Black boy, how did you get all that soot on yo' coat?"

"Ain't soot, Miss, that's dandruff."

Junior Jabberings.

When the Belleville juniors take to the ice against the Hastings kids this afternoon, they'll be out to make it nine in the services of Ross Noah, their hard-hitting defenceman. Ross is home on leave from Camp Borden and Camp Petawawa, and in the latter camp he's a member of the hospital on Monday.... However, the lads from Hastings have come to play.—"We'll not lose another game this year," is the slogan on their lips. Frankly the locals don't feel the "Amalgamated" outfit away, even though they have Harry Hall and Gord Green for regular defence work.... No doubt Coach Tom Rorey will use Jerry Meiker for relief purposes on the "Reds" blue line if the occasion is necessary.... Gord Green and Rorey should be about the best defence pair in the O.H.A. Junior "B" series.... Starting at Trenton junior fixture.... Jimmy Thornton indicate a hometown fan reached over the boards and grabbed a Stirling forward by the hair.... Referee Alf Lamb, with a wringer bald-headed.... The only thing that can be said in favour of the he should have "dented" the spot. The latter is by no means a bald spot.... Apparently there was a fight somewhere these two scrappy squads, who became hostilities at Stirling tonight.

Ready For Action.

We nearly stopped Raymond Mondays night.... tonight we'll slow him up to a walk.... Coach Pat Jimmie McCue, who masterminds the Belleville "Terrible Seven". In rebuttal Johnnie Pianos of Trenton remarked the "Flyers" slackened off in the second period of the four-six meeting and thereby lost their own game. "We had those Bombers bouncing and it looked like a rout, then our guys went off in the middle session. That was our mistake, we won't commit the same error twice. Tonights another night and the Trenton Flyers by two goals" Johnnie predicted as the Trenton Hastings fight workout at the Rome Arena Thursday at noon.

Local fans are still talking about Monday night's game and judging from the attendance at Stirling it seats the Market Street igloo. We are in hopes the county jaunt will be over and Bombers meet in second play-off tussle tonight.

Open Season For H.

For the past month Point Anne "Comedimen" have been knocking off hockey rivals with regularity, so-much so that Point partners don't have run out of competition, at least that's their opinion.... Undaunted, however, the Point Anne management hereby challenges the winner of the Central Hastings Hockey League to a series for the county title.—After all there's two clubs of Tyendinaga and adjacent townships in the southern end of the county," explained the Comedimen's management. Hockey teams feeling the Comedimen are biting off a goodly sized chunk in their challenge can contact Murney Green or this department in the event they're interested in accepting challenges of this nature.

Further on the Ox Pobb' subject we wonder who the player is with the Comedimen who heard this crack the other night—"Pass the puck, grand-pa."

Remember When.

Juho Kurikkala of Finland won the 19-kilometer langlauf in the world ski championships held at Lahti, Poland, six years ago today.

Dorothy Lamour was #5 J-9 minutes, Christel Claus of Germany won the women's slalom event in 2.36 3-10. Fraulein Crahn also won the combined event.

Did You Know.

Fritz Crisler, coach of the University of Michigan football team, once opened a class for high-school coaches in Detroit by asking the visiting his students for their names and addresses.... "I have three reasons for doing this," he explained. "First, I get an autograph bonanza; second, you fellows may be useful for a coaching job some day; third and most important, when I win my out of a job and I would like to call on you fellows for references.... Two former University of Michigan football stars are serving on US aircraft carriers in the South Pacific.... They are Lt. Tommy Prichard, all-American quarterback for the Wolverines back in 1940, and Lt. Comm. Paul G. Goebel, captain of the undefeated 1940 team.... Goebel was an official in the Big Ten Conference prior to his enlistment in 1943.

Galaxy of Stars.

Knox Dafoe, business manager of the Quinte Skating Club "Winter-ama" has stopped in to say Friday night's ice show is on.... The show will boast of internationally-known skaters from the Belleville and local talent that is as well recognized.... Barbara Ann Scott, Suzanne Wilson, Junior and Intermediate pairs champions of Canada hailing from Winnipeg, will be one of the stars.... Bill Vi Smith, Toronto's own darling and Canada's sweetheart of the Canadian title also will thrill the public by an appearance.... Outstanding pair—Miss Sunanne Wilson and Mr. Norris Bowden 1945 junior pair champions of Canada.... Only a few we can mention.... Looks like a great show and tickets ranging from the pre-sale of tickets at Conn's Friday night's gross score at the arena will be "hall, hall the gang's all here."

WINTER ROUNDUP

Toronto, Feb. 14 (CP)—Residents of Toronto's suburbs staged an impromptu "winter roundup" Wednesday when a snowstorm when a cattle truck ran into a ditch spilling eight cattle on the road. After rounding the cattle to a haystack the villagers pulled the truck out of the ditch and loaded the cattle back on.

20 MEN WORK 2 DAYS TO CLEAR ROAD OPEN

Cobourg, Feb. 14 (CP)—After digging in relays for three days 20 men opened the road from Cores Landing to Grafton Wednesday afternoon. A distance of about two and a half miles. The county has not been able to clear the road from Cobourg to Rice Lake only one day as Plainville, after it was blocked by blown snow last Wednesday.

Horse Sense Bridge

LESSON NO. 666
By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

When bridge players really are lake, they play many hands with much pride. If adept at science, they take unusual contracts in stride.

Maybe you would like to handle his deal:

NORTH
♠A 10 3
♥8 6
♦A K J 10 6 4
♣5 2

WEST
♠A 5 2
♥Q 7 5 3
♦3
♣J 10 9 6 3

EAST
♠K J 9 7 6 4
♥J 9 4
♦Q 9 7
♣K 7 5

♠Q
♥K 8 2
♦A K J 10 9 8 5 4
♣Q 8

The final bid should be at a small slam. But suppose you are in the south as declarer at 6 contract or seven diamonds. The opening lead from west is the club jack.

When dummy hand goes down, what do you see? It looks as if you may lose the second round of clubs. Only it west has all three of the outstanding clubs, it will have a trump trick.

So you take the first trick with the dummy club ace and lead a trump from dummy. When east plays a trump on that trick, you know there is absolutely no danger of losing a trump trick.

With east having a trump, west can not have three. If west has none and east has three, you have no worry. Because then, on the next round of trumps, you draw finesse east out of the queen.

You win that trump trick with your south king of diamonds.

When west plays a trump on that trick, too, you merely lead your ace of diamonds next, knowing it will knock the queen out.

Now, you lead hearts. After winning with dummy king and ace of hearts, you lead a thing heart from dummy and trump in with south. Your hope is that east and west will both have a third heart.

If they do, you can enter dummy with the ace of spades and lead a fourth heart. On that, you would shuff the south club queen. But when you have declarer when east shows out of hearts too soon.

If they do, you can enter dummy with the ace of spades and lead a fourth heart. On that, you would shuff the south club queen. But that plan is abandoned when east shows out of hearts too soon.

Now, only a squeeze can hope to take all 13 tricks. So you lead out all your trumps, shifting everything to dummy except the 4 low spades. Your last trump lead puts east in a bad way.

Any discard you squeeze seems to trump from dummy. When east whisper pulleese.

Zombies Using Bush Camps For Hiding Out

By The Canadian Press

Military and civil police pressed their search today for members of the Canadian Army absent without leave, having reduced their numbers by 16 through recent arrests in remote hideaways in the bushlands about the head of the lakes and in the Sault Ste. Marie area.

A police sortie by automobile and snowshoe to a log cabin hideout at Orca Gap, 15 miles from Sault Ste. Marie, resulted in the capture of 13 Sault Ste. Marie men absent without leave, one a general service soldier and the others home defence conscripts.

These arrests were made in the early hours Tuesday.

Earlier, though it was announced only yesterday, another police descent on the village of Port William, journeyed 20 miles to the southeast and rounded four draftee defaulters in a mountainside cabin at Mount Mackay.

Two more arrests from Canada's home defence army were picked up by Nanaimo and Sault, British Columbia police on a street at Nanaimo.

None offered resistance. The men arrested Sunday and Monday at Mount Mackay were believed to have been in the district for a month. Those taken at Sault Ste. Marie had been absent varying lengths of time, from Nov. 24 to Jan. 26. They appeared in court without their uniforms, wearing bush togs and were unshaven.

No Lack of Food

But police said they suffered no lack of food in their hideouts of ficers found plenty of food stored, including butter and tinned goods.

It appeared that all had been taken to them by persons who realized the advantage of night travel in a country where frequent and heavy storms have been blotting out tracks by daylight.

The Orca Gap location, in an area sparsely inhabited in the winter, was surrounded by a high fence and offered a good view of anybody approaching in daylight.

The police made their first call about 10 p. m. Monday night and arrested five draftees. Two policemen were detailed to watch the cabin and about 4 a. m. Tuesday arrested seven more men.

Stead by Figures

Others of the arrests stood by figures issued early this month that 1,000 of 8,300 absentees have been apprehended and said the search was being pressed across the country under the broad direction of the various military districts.

Reports said that since arrests were the first indication soldiers absent without leave have actually banded together in some instances and taken to the woods.

Others, it has become known, have gone across the international boundary to the United States, as was the case with a 20-year-old private held at Buffalo, N.Y., yesterday and identified by police as Michael Alkupchy of Thorold, Ont., absent from the Canadian Army since Dec. 3.

1,500 Apprehended

Latest official figures show that since it was announced Jan. 20 that 9,300 men of the Canadian home defence army were overdue from embarkation leave some 1,500 have been apprehended. But those figures are over a week or more out of date.

The Sault hide-out was fairly secure and few people visit the area in the winter time. In the summer it is a popular spot among several cottages. A number of Indians live nearby, fishing for lake trout being their means of making a living.

The area about the camp, protected by a high fence, has few trees. Some of them large, on Orca Gap hill, an ideal place to watch for any unwanted visitors. Anybody approaching the hide-away in daylight could easily be seen. The abandoned cottages was approached by a road rising at a 45-degree angle for nearly half a mile.

All 13 are from Sault Ste. Marie. They are: Albert Sarlo, Hugo Sarlo, Guido Sarlo, Mario Albanese, Otto Gerardi, Frank Madonna, Enio Pasanello, Rino Antonello, Adolfo Albanese, Edward Saffiel, Frederick Digasparro and John Pasanello. Zaffinal is the general service soldier.

Bracken Calls For Replacement Of McNaughton

Ottawa, Feb. 14 (CP) — John Bracken, National Progressive Conservative leader, called in a statement last night for the "immediate" replacement of Defence Minister McNaughton "in the interest of men overseas" and "in respect of the sentiments expressed by the voters in the Grey North by-election.

Mr. Bracken said that after Gen. McNaughton's defeat in Grey North he had expected an announcement of the general's resignation but instead read with "surprise and disappointment" a statement yesterday in which Gen. McNaughton said the Canadian army now had sufficient reinforcements overseas to meet contingencies operating over several months.

"The Defence Minister says that Canadian soldiers are now joined in an offensive which may be the opening phase of one of the world's most critical and decisive battles," said Mr. Bracken. "The fact is that they have been joined in such an offensive since last June, with their reinforcement, and the method of reinforcing them were the issues before the electors of Grey North.

"There is one important thing to remember. It is that the issue is not merely the number of reinforcements included or the time which those reinforcements are obtained. The King-McNaughton method is the one, which has caused great bitterness overseas, and has brought anguish to thousands of Canadian homes."

Mr. Bracken said the Prime Minister chose Grey North "as the testing ground for the King-McNaughton policy of a limited draft" and from that testing ground came a "clear and unequivocal reply."

"In the interest of the men overseas, and in respect for the judgment of 8,300 drafted, that must be but one course which Mr. King properly should follow. It is to replace the defence minister immediately and bring to the office a man whose policy will command the confidence of our fighting men and the people at home in Canada."

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was reading the paper while he was waiting for me to tell him it was time to take her to the movies, and he said to her, This is interesting, it says here that women can stand all kinds of hardships and suffering better than men, and maybe they can at that.

Of course we can, well naturally, say, said she, we always been perfect connection and I'm glad you're agreeing with me at last. You men always fancy yourselves as heroic martyrs with all the world's trials and tribulations rolling gracefully off your shoulders but the truth is you're actually nothing but sissy cry babies sitting as-if the tiniest splinter was a major operation, with one foot in the grave, she said.

By golley I believe you're right, pop said. Oh well, I guess it's the way we're made and there's nothing we can do but grin and let you women bare it. Here's an example of it right now. I'm getting a little pane in the back of my neck, hardly enough to mention and yet here I am talking you to bare the brunt of it, he said.

What can I do about it for land sakes I'm said, and pop said, well, if I go to sleep at the movie show according to my usual custom, my head will be resting on the back of the seat with my sore neck and I'll imagine I'm suffering the torment of the damned, so I suggest that we stay comfortably at home. Of course you'll miss the picture, but you're a woman and you can take it with a smile, he said.

William Potts, in the first place I dont believe that you're being in that paper about any sex suffering in any way, and by the 2nd place I believe your neck's as well as it ever was, and by the 3rd place, you're perfectly right on both counts, but you cant blame me for trying.

And they started out for the movies with pop still brooding at himself as if he thought he was guilty.

Which he is.

LAST NIGHT'S STARS

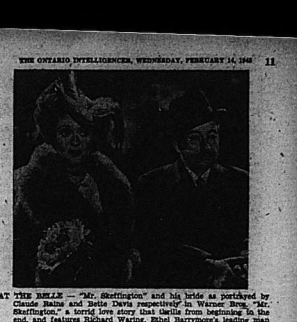
Grand Aggregate Honors in Grasp Of Ken Watson



Winnipeg, Feb. 14 — (CP) — A one-sided victory in the British Consols last night virtually assured Ken Watson's Winnipeg Strathcona curlers their second consecutive grand aggregate honors in the annual Manitoba bonspiel. Winners of Dominion championship rinks in 1936 and '43, whipped Dave Petch of Virden 14-3.

It was Watson's 13th victory against one loss and placed his rink one game ahead of Billy McLeod of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange Club.

McLeod, however, has a slightly more game in the major competitions while Watson's remand in two competitions, the Birks-Dingwall and British Consols.

AT THE CAPITOL — Musical trio goes into action in Paramount's "And the Angels Sing." Betty Hutton gets in some hot licks on the clarinet as Fred MacMurray tracks the saxophone to the accompaniment of Dottie Lamour's guitar. The musical film opens next at the Capitol Theatre. On the same program Roy Rogers' new hit, "Sands Across the Border."

AT THE BELLE — "Mr. Skeffington" and his bride as portrayed by Claude Rains and Bette Davis respectively in Warner Bros. "Mr. Skeffington," a torrid love story that thrills from beginning to the end, and features Richard Waring, Ethel Barrymore's leading man for two years.

HOLLYWOOD and HERE

By HYE BOSSIN

When New York had the World Fair a few years no notables pictures were used it as a background for a comedy drama. Now such fairs are coming into their own. "Meet Me in St. Louis," in which Judy Garland stars, shows the fair of 1903 and now Susanna Foster will appear in "Once Upon a Dream," which will deal with the Chicago World's Fair of 1893.

. . . Deanna and Red Cross drive collections will be taken in theatres after the house lights have gone on. This method of raising money is very popular in the USA and has been in use in Montreal in the past. . . . "The Yearling," starring Roddy McDowall, will start soon. Another postponement for the same has been the fact that Roddy will be too big for the role.

The Canadian Film Weekly, motion picture trade magazine, is polling Canadian theatre men to determine which pictures and players were the greatest boxoffice attractions last year. The entire have also been invited to state their preferences. The results will be announced soon.

Grace Garson was picked in 1943 by both exhibitors and critics. However, the theatres men named "Yankee Doodle Dandy" as the film which attracted the most patrons and the critics chose "In Which We Serve" as the best picture of the year. "In Which We Serve" was 1942 in a Noel Coward production.

Apparently the tastes of the average patron are different from those of the critics.

This continent's newest hobby is the collecting of "stiffs"—drawings or big photographs of scenes from motion pictures. The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences has been collecting stills since 1927 and its library includes a large representation of films made from 1915 on.

Still collecting, like other hobbies of that type, has its ramifications and high prices. One rare collector paid $100 for a set of 20-stills from the film classic "Birth of a Nation." W. W. Griffith, "Birth of a Nation."

Other fine collector's items which bring high prices are scenes from "Mary Queen of Scots," made in Europe in 1895 and starring Sarah Bernhardt, "The New York Hat," starring Mary Pickford and Lionel Barrymore in 1912.

• • •

A film is being made called "The Vargs Girl" . . . David O. Selznick will make a musical out of "Gone With the Wind." The straight version has never played Canada at popular prices . . . Wallace Beery is celebrating his 40th year in films and will make "Bad Bascombe" . . . Paramount Pictures, which offers a Canadian news, will establish a production units for the making of short subjects, according to Adolph Zukor, founder of the company and chairman of its board of directors . . . The British are trying to match Hollywood publicity methods and it won't be long before pinup pictures of stars from the Old Country will be distributed in Canada.

"FILM-STRUCK"

By SHEILAH GRAHAM

CHAPTER 16

She wept. "You're the meanest man I ever met. I can't think why I fell in love with you or trusted you. I hate you."

"Never mind that now," said Bruce. "Finish the picture. Then without interference from you—or you, Judith Fortune"—Countess Saskia was frightened. There was now $150,000 tied up in the film. And she did not want to lose it—got Bruce.

"If you only came to see me once in a while, I wouldn't come to the silly studio at all."

Bruce compromised. "I'll see you on Sunday."

There were two more weeks to go on the picture.

"Let's celebrate the end of the picture by getting married!" said the Countess slowly.

Bruce grinned and said "Where I come from the man asks the woman".

"You're cruel to me", she whimpered. But she was not discouraged. There were many ways of getting what you wanted than by asking. And she was shrewd enough to know that at the moment, Bruce meant what he said.

The film was completed. And now the Countess played her trump card. She decided to hold up the release until Bruce yielded to her charms.

When Livia saw them at Ciro's, Bruce looking a final plea for justice. The Countess was triumphant and exaggerating when he mentioned the film. He was getting impatient. And seeing Livia dancing with Fortune did not make him feel better.

Livia called after him as they crossed the ballroom floor to the exit, but he pretended not to hear.

"You think that guy, don't you?" said Fordyce to Bruce, his arm around her slender waist. She shuddered and said vehemently.

"I wanted to tell him about our picture—Alice was air."

"You look lovely." Charles told her. "Can you blush in technicolor?" Her eyes clouded.

"I'm going to be a star," she told herself with renewed confidence. "Then I can have Bruce or any man I want."

The next day she was fired.

At 10 in the morning Hal said the director pleasantly, "I am resigning from this studio as of this second unless you absolutely promise me you will have Alice altered by one fool of film." Schneider's rage against his desk and groaned. He was going to be very angry with Alice.

"Dear," he began from the garter to be the biggest star in pictures?" he screamed. She lit a cigarette and blew the smoke into his face. His refrain was short.

"The picture will be a flop," whimpered Alice. The silence was emphasized by the ticking of the clock on his desk—the clock had been a gift at a banquet honoring him for his achievements in the Motion Picture Industry.

"It will be re-made," he said.

"Good-bye then," said Fordyce quickly.

"Charles, you're a good director —one of the best I have. But Alice stays."

Fordyce was genuinely sorry for the producer. He walked to the door. Then he turned. "I'm sorry to go. I like you, Hal, in spite of the fact you're good so and so you married."

He closed the door without looking at Alice.

"Alice my darling, what are you complaining about? The picture is a success. The office is now very pleased. Schneider congratulate me. It'll make a million dollars."

You," Alice wheezed on her handkerchief. "Why, you cannot direct little Schneider retorted to the back of his chair. Fordyce grinned. Schneider was the most important producer in Hollywood, but no one would guess it now.

"Alice my darling, the girl is fired. I tell you She is fired." This was the first Charles had heard of it.

"I want her part cut out of the picture," Alice hissed dramatically. "She would never have been in it in the first place if you hadn't tricked me." Alice glared at Fordyce, who met her eyes steadily and with contempt.

"But, my darling, we can't do that now without re-making the picture," moaned Schneider.

"Then re-make the picture," mimicked Alice in her husband's slightly foreign accent. Schneider clutched his portly-bald head.

"What have I ever done to deserve such treatment?" he asked the bankers' meeting in ten minutes, I'll have to placate his wife, if only temporarily, he said, "All right, I will see it. If we can re-make the picture and cut Miss Clarkson out entirely."

"You don't mean that Schneider?" said Fordyce quietly. The producer tried to compose with his eyes that of course he didn't mean that. But Alice was a terrible shrew. He spread his hands supplicatingly first to Fordyce, then to Alice.

"Tell him about it, please, darling," cooed Alice.

"We will cut out Miss Clarkson's part and re-shoot with another girl," he said weakly. "And now excuse me, I have to go to an important meeting." Fordyce blocked his way to the door.

"It's a good picture, Schneider," he said softly.

"I know, but what can I do?" Schneider said frantically. "Please, Charles, I have my troubles. You make things worse for me."

"They'll be worse much worse," said the director pleasantly, "I am resigning from this studio as of this second unless you absolutely promise me you will have Alice altered by one fool of film."

Schneider's rage against his desk and groaned. He was going to be very angry with Alice.

"Dear," he began from the gar-

"Alice," he said, "I'm sorry, but I'm afraid I'll have to get another director. I'm not going to have you ruin my picture."

"You can read can't you? Or can you?" said Fordyce. "I was in all the trade papers."

"Oh, is it want?" she screamed. She was right. At Livia's suggestion, her name had been kept off the production sheets.

"The New York call is waiting, Mr. Schneider." He picked up the receiver.

"No you don't," said Alice. She snatched the receiver and brought it down on his head. Schneider squealed in pain and looked at her lonely at Fordyce, but made no attempt to recover the telephone. "You both thought you were pretty smart," she said. "You and that girl—you thought you could put something over on me."

Fordyce was genuinely sorry for the producer. He walked to the door. Then he turned. "I'm sorry to go. I like you, Hal, in spite of the fact you're good so and so you married."

He closed the door without looking at Alice.

Livia and Fordyce lost their jobs on the same day.

Jack Tytnant in the publicity department, had called Livia at 8:30. Two newspaper columnists wanted to interview her, and she was to pinch-hit for one and have tea with the other. She was palpitating what she would say to them when Chas tele-phoned.

"Get your hat. We're going to the beach. All," he added, as she told him of her appointments. "You don't have to worry about them," he said grimly, did you understand.

"They'll say I'm temperamental if I'm not here," she protested.

"I'll be there in five minutes." When Fordyce arrived, Livia said jubilantly, "You get everything you want. The office just called to cancel my interviews. That means I'm free to go."

"You certainly are free, lady," he said. Her smile faded at the tone of his voice. "You've been fired," he added, avoiding her eyes, a

"It's not even a good joke," she scolded.

"Come on, I'll explain in the car." The sky was a deep blue, and the morning air, by 11, were greenly fresh and wet from the rain the night before. Livia thought how lovely California was outside but everything else was rotten and soft. It was bad enough to be fired—getting a good performance. But Charles—and Bruce Barnes in Hollywood who had cared enough to give her a break. And all his job because of her.

"Take me to Mr. Schneider," she begged him. "I must explain. Alice hated me before. I love you. Please turn back now and take me to the studio. I won't let this happen to you."

He continued driving toward the beach. Fordyce was not only worried, merely angry. He was a producer and could walk in any studio in Hollywood. He had never failed to scent up on his investments, but he guessed he was worth about a million dollars. He would accept another job when he found a good story.

What of Livia? He stopped the car along the Malibu highway and suddenly brought her body close against his and kissed her. She did not resist. She tried to follow Bruce Barnes' mind.

She had come around to him finally, though therefore they all did sooner or later. Few had held out as long as Livia.

Cars were passing in a steady non-ending rush. It was Saturday and everybody was going somewhere in cars driven by raucous high school students or by middle-aged chauffeurs—they were all going somewhere but to work.

"And where am I going?" thought Livia, a little from Charles' hard arms. But she was grateful. He had helped her, and was that all to his kindness. "I'll do anything he wants," she thought, and kissed him.

Some boys in a jalopy shouted at them. And they both laughed.

"We'll charge an admission fee" said Fordyce. "Ten cents to watch Fordyce and Clarkson in a world's record embrace."

She put on the hat that had had fallen from her head and moved to the front of the car. He caught her fingers and kissed them.

"You're raved," he said, she smiled back confidently. Well, it was something to have an important man like Charles in love with her. But did he want to marry her? Livia had no will-number five. She made it less exciting somehow.

"Let's have lunch," he said, "I would lunch at Santa Barbara; then drive back. She don't ever seen his house. She would see it in the moonlight.

They lunched at the Samarkand, and afterward, walked through the flower-filled gardens. Livia wanted to stay there. It was peaceful, and the air was full of sweet scents, and the sky and the sea. The heart-break and intrigue of Hollywood seemed continents away.

"From now on you are under personal contract to me," Charles said casually. "I'll put you right as the studio 'did.'" It was quite usual in Hollywood for directors and producers to put promising players under personal contracts. But it was one more example of Charles' kindness to her, and one more link binding her to him.

The sun warmed their backs as they drove along the coastal route to his house in Beverly Hills.

Bruce was having a showdown with the Countess. In a trade paper that morning appeared the same page reviewing Livia's picture, there was an announcement of the definite shelving of "Western Saga." He telephoned the Countess—at the Ciro's Livia and Charles were lunching at the Samarkand.

"But I didn't understand," Saskia said. She was vague and fluttering, until Bruce said:

"I'm coming over to wring your little neck."

It was a long time since a man had called the Countess' neck little, or cared enough about it to want to wring it. And a pleasurable thrill passed through her, dumpy body.

She received Bruce in her pink and blue Louis Quinze boudoir. The blinds were carefully arranged to dim the yellow sunshine. The air was heavy with the perfume Countess Saskia used.

"Now you've said Bruce after he had been in the room two minutes. "Do you mind if I open the windows? I can't breathe." And it was family purple against the light, and Bruce thought she said "Never."

He showed the film to some friends of mine, and they think it's good, she said hesitantly.

"Who?" demanded Bruce.

"Oh, directors and people," the Countess stopped to the window. She played with the blind cord, and softly lowered the blind. She had not meant to be brutal about picture—until Bruce's cold, objective eyes had made her want to scratch and claw.

"But," he burst out, "Bankers and people aren't the audience. Give it a proper trial in a theatre. Show it to the press. This is my picture as well as yours. Or have you forgotten the small matter of a contract?"

She opened a drawer in a gilt writing bureau and handed him their contract.

"You don't seem to have read it very thoroughly," she said and pointed to a paragraph in which she had to approve the film before release.

"I guess I'm at bad business man as I am a picture producer" Bruce said slowly. He moved to the door. He would have gone, but Countess Saskia said hurriedly—

"I didn't mean that about the picture. It just needs some re-takes, then you'll see. I don't look at me like that," she tried to make him sit down. He rolled a cigarette, slowly puffed it, and left her standing in the middle of the room. For the first time since his college days Bruce went to a bar with the deliberate intention of getting drunk.

It was dark when Livia and Charles drove up the circular drive-way to his colonial-fronted house.

There were several telephone messages for Fordyce—reporters from the trade papers had been calling all day to get confirmation of his resignation from the studio. Fordyce smiled. There were no secrets in Hollywood.

The white-coated Filipino servant conducted Livia up his dim spiral staircase and into Charles' bedroom, and down before a large mirror over a mahogany chest of drawers, pulled off her hat and loosened her hair. She was tired.

Police Blotter

Following complaints that parked motor cars were being looted in the downtown areas of Belleville, police constables C. A. Spencer and Cpr. R. W. Shaw, both of the Canadian Army and stationed in Kingston, on charges of theft and also of being found in possession of stolen goods. The two soldiers appeared before Miss Mary Butler, Junior Justice of the Peace, today and were remanded in custody until Friday.

Complaints that goods had been stolen from parked automobiles on McAnnasy, Market and Bridge St. were received by local police late yesterday afternoon. The complainants were of the opinion that two soldiers were responsible for the pilferings from the vehicles. Later the apprehended the two soldiers on North Front St. Found in their possession, police report, were sheepskin shells, ladies' silk stockings, a leather jacket, glasses and a flashlight.

The War Today—
Japan Fishing For Easy Peace, But U.S. Home Front Won't Weaken

By DeWITT MACKENZIE

Announcement by the government-controlled Domei news agency that Japan's policy is "not to reject any hand which offers peace" came today as the Tokyo fishing rods are tackle to report that I understand our peace rod and reel are the best for fear the Allies won't be as easy-going with Nippon as they are with Germany.

The Tokyo statement certainly can be labelled as a fishing expedition. The Mikado's little men are casting for peace.

Murlin Spencer, Associated Press war correspondent who has been two years on the Pacific front, tells me there's widespread apprehension among the men that the end of the European war will find the American public weary of conflict and inclined to make a compromise peace with Japan. The Yanks who've been battling the barbarians in the Pacific don't want any tempering. They want to beat the Japs to a pulp.

U. S. Home Front Won't Weaken

Well, I don't believe for a moment the home front will let them. We shall see the job through though the length of time it will take is problematical. Right now we are fighting a delaying action, just as the Germans are doing. They're pursuing this strategy in the hope that we'll negotiate and compromise. For this reason the European war has been a Gotterdamerung. They haven't given a thought to any other alternative but victory or surrender.

Nevertheless, while enough of Allied war power to the Orient. Japan, it would really expedite the end. It's a safe bet that this thought is in Tokyo's mind as today's peace feeler. They haven't overlooked either, that Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt conferred over the Pacific War in Malta en route to the meeting with Marshal Stalin.

LIVELIER SESSION OF LEGISLATURE IS ANTICIPATED

Former Premier Hepburn to Occupy Position as Liberal House Leader

Toronto, Feb. 14. (CP)—The second session of the 19th Ontario legislature opens tomorrow with the usual war-reduced ceremonial but proceedings in the Chamber are expected to have a livelier tone than in the 1944 session.

Important legislation included in the throne speech forecast will deal with measures affecting the status of women in industry, the new civil action act and the new securities act, it is reported.

Predictions of a stormier session than last year when Premier George Drew's 38-member Progressive Conservative Government succeeded in passing every measure, it is understood, are based partially on the altered complexion of the 90-seat assembly.

In the 11-month interval the 14-man Liberal group, which only once voted against the government in the 1944 session, signified termination of the political truce with the absence former Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn. House Leader Conservative Harry L. Nixon, Mr. Hepburn, Liberal member who is Leader of Independent Liberal last year, announced his return to the Party fold in order to give a statement that he was ready "to do battle with reactionary Tories as I have done previously head in Ontario today".

The Tory majority strength of the C.C.F., official opposition led by E. B. Jolliffe, has been reduced from 34 to 32 members by the recent defection of Nelson Allen of Essex North and Leslie Haunder of Wellington South. Both members resigned possibly with a view to contesting the co-operate with the Labor-Progressive group, newly represented by two members, Mr. Allen will sit as Independent Labor Progressive member and Mr. Hancock as an Independent Farmer Labor Progressive.

All parties have adequate representated by the $2 non-government members in the House. Mr. Jolliffe has criticized Premier Drew for his opposition to the Family Allowances Act and his post-war immigration policy, and have expressed fears that failure to implement fully his 22-point election program. The Tory administration has declared it will come before the House, but vigorous attack along the lines feared is not expected to continue.

Labor legislation to be introduced in the coming session is believed to include redrafting of the Conciliation Act to provide for setting up a permanent conciliation board, revised regulations on disclosure of details in financing of trade operations and with severe penalties for infractions.

Election Act Changes.

Under changes in the Election Act which will be introduced, it is anticipated for the proxy vote for those serving in the Canadian Army and the government legislation is expected to include extension of the list and implementation of the 23-point program and post-war development and rate establishment plans. The government's assumption of 50 per cent of Municipal relief costs also will appear only in estimates.

The Ontario budget is due and a half hour session yesterday to prepare its legislative program. It also had held a Monday night session which lasted until one hour each day. An outline of major legislation is expected to be presented at the next session of the Progressive Conservative members at two p.m. tomorrow, on which day the House session is scheduled to open.

The effective strength of the Progressive Conservative group is expected to be 37 with the addition of member, Hon. Capt. the Rev. A. W. Downer from Dufferin-Simcoe, is a chaplain with the Canadian Army overseas and is not expected to return before summer.

Combines Beat Corbyville In Playoff Game

Finals Now Being Played In Hastings County Hockey League

Stirling, Feb. 14 (Special)—After overcoming an early first period lead, the Stirling Combines beat the Hill-West Huntingdon "Combine" team here last night in the first game in three series for the championship in the Hastings County Hockey League when on Tuesday evening they downed Corbyville by a 6-3 score.

The ultimate winners were ahead in the second period, leading by the scores being 3-2, 4-3 and 6-3. The Corbyville team never led after the opening 6th check the championship, while Combines have won the next tussle to stay in the running.

Lyle Walsh and the Sills brothers were a great asset to Combines while for the "Combines" win in the first game of the finals, and the former counting twice in the 1st stanza, and the Sills brothers accounting for another brace of goals in the second and third periods. For the losers Martin played an aggressive game and chipped in with two counters to help out the cause. For Corbyville drew first blood in the first period with Sheffield getting the first goal on an assist from Clew. The "Combines" came right back however, and counted three with C. Wright getting two and J. Tummon scoring on a long shot from the blueline. The first goal for Corbyville on a pass from Jarrell made the score 4-1 at intermission.

Corbyville gained a momentary lead in the second period when in the second stanza, but L. Sills regained the winners advantage on a goal from his brother one minute later. Scores by A. Tummon and Jarrell, in the 3rd period, made the victory sure for the winners.

The game was quite rough with ten penalties being handed out, including one to Tummon, one major, two to Jarrell and Brough, and one each to D. Wright, Gray, Martin and Clew.

Lineups:

Corbyville: Goal, Ritz; defence, Walt and Guay; forwards, Sheffield, Tummon and Jarrell; subs, Martin, Sills, Jarrell, Empson and Clew.

Combines": Goal, Oldford; defence, Brough and Thompson; forwards, A. Tummon, Wray and C. Tummon; subs, L. Sills, R. Sills, Lyle Walsh, D. Wright and McCurdy.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Feb. 14.—(CP)— Wide gains were posted this afternoon on advancing industrials, all four groups advancing. Trading swelled to 1,050,000 shares.

Leading spots in the golds included Giant, Pickle Crow, Lorado, Little Long Lac, Chesterville, Willans, Beatrix Malartic, O'Brien, Moneta, God's Lake and Siscoe. Lorrimount sold over 10 cents and heavy selling of Trans-Canyons weakened the price of the issue.

Smelters gained a point and fractions, Noranda, Hudson Bay, Falconbridge and Nickel, Walte-Amulet, Labrador and Pend Oreille were up.

Base metals were active and gains of 2 to 5 cents were showing for Lake Shore, Dominion Steel and Consolidated.

Utility, Inner, food and senior oil stocks were higher in industrials.

WALL STREET

New York, Feb. 14 —(AP)— President Truman's pump-primer had leading industrials higher in the stock market today.

The rise was general although there were a few pronounced issues slipped from the best levels.

Roosevelt May Report Directly To the Congress

Churchill Also Expected to Make Statement in House of Commons

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
(AP Staff Writer)

Washington, Feb. 14 — (AP) President Roosevelt may report directly to Congress and the people of the United States on the accomplishments and significance of his meeting with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin.

He is reported to be greatly cheered by the agreements reached on both military and political issues.

First-hand information on the historic Big Three gathering in the Crimea came, meanwhile, from Major F. Byrnes, War Mobilization Director, who arrived yesterday from the Crimea and met reporters in late afternoon. Mr. Byrnes said he hoped Mr. Roosevelt would make a radio broadcast or address Congress.

He disclosed that the President had acted as chairman of the meeting and presided over all the sessions of those on liberated areas and the Dumbarton Oaks voting issue, which was announced in Monday's communique.

Temporary Guest

The Dumbarton Oaks decision, like many others arrived at, remains temporary in character, but it cleared the way for the April 25 United Nations conference at San Francisco. That date, Mr. Byrnes indicated, may be changed, depending on the future military developments by the Big Three.

He expressed conviction that it had nothing to do with Russia's entry into the war against Japan or against Japan. He described it as unfortunate that any date at which the leaders thought the conference could be called in view of the military situation.

If there is any hope that the nations battling Germany may be finished by that time, however, Mr. Byrnes did not indicate it. It is believed the military plans made in the Crimea call "for a war involving the utmost in effort and sacrifice until this conflict."

The military chiefs, he added, are "do not minimize the possibility of civilian collapse in Germany" but they are counting only on fighting to the bitter end "with greater concentration of power than ever before existed."

Reminds a Scene

London, Feb. 14 (CP) — Prime Minister Churchill is expected to give the House of Commons a full report next week on the "Big Three" conference in the Crimea, it was learned today. He will present whereabouts today re-mained a secret.

It was believed the conference report may be one of the longest ever made to the House of Commons.

While the "Big Three" conference was still well reported in both Houses of Parliament, some members here expressed fear for a clearer definition of some points.

Churchill also is the subject of speculation that Mr. Churchill may visit Italy

Thirteen Teams Join Ki-Y Loop

Thirteen hockey teams in the Ki-Wanis sponsored Ki-Y loop will shortly swing into action on Kiwanis sponsored rinks in the east and west ends of the city when Ki-Y hockey schedules are started either this week or next. The first meeting of the league officials, to be followed by a general meeting of the Ki-Y hockey players, will be held on Thursday night at the east end rink.

Although public skating will be held on both Kiwanis rinks, the Ki-Wanis Kiwanis operated rinks will be reserved for Ki-Y hockey on Monday evening when they will be open eight o'clock and members of the Ki-Wanis club will be on hand to act as time-keepers or otherwise aid in the games originally during the period allotted for the games.

To arrange for drawing up schedules in the different age groups and to discuss other matters pertaining to the running of the league sports committee members of the Ki-Wanis club will meet with officials from the Ki-Y clubs on Tuesday at 8 o'clock in the evening when a display asked for volunteers to officiate at club-operated rinks during the Christmas holidays. That was a way learned members were not expected to officiate at the Ki-Y games sufficient number of volunteers could not be found.

City Council will back the Public Utility Commission in the fight that it takes in dealing with General Electric Control, said Mayor Robert Saunders.

Burrs

Burrs—The February meeting of the W.A. met at the home of Mrs. Ewart and Mrs. Douglas Harris on Thursday afternoon. Though cars could not be used due to drifted roads, an attendance of sixteen members was reached with the aid of sleighs. Plans for holding the annual birthday supper were discussed. A letter from the Dominion Women's Association, Council of the United Church of Canada was received inviting the Association to become a group member of the Dominion Council. Mrs. Douglas Harris, Mrs. Eric Edwards and Mrs. Stella Brooks contributed readings. The roll call was responded to with Valentine greetings. The March meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Tom Riordon. Mrs. Don Osterhout was received on the program committee.

Mrs. Harold Hall and Mrs. Cyrus Pulford opened their homes for Red Cross quiltings on Tuesday.

Mr. Douglas Harris has been confined to his home through illness for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Murney Parks were recent guests of friends and relatives in Oshawa and Toronto and were in attendance at the Ice Follies at the Maple Leaf Gardens.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Osterhout were tendered a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Richards of the Dundas Community on Monday evening.

Several homes have had interesting guests. Mrs. Ida Wood is the appearance of blue jays in quest of food, where they had been cut up at the home of Mr. Gerald Brooks at Consecon. Cee came to the kitchen window sill at the home of Mr. George Huffman while a pair have been coming for crumbs and fat for several weeks at the home of Mr. R. Bates. Also a pair of nut hatches.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Burkitt and Pte. Harry Burkitt were Wednesday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burkitt on the occasion of the host's birthday anniversary.

Mrs. E. Anderson and Mrs. S. LaPointe were tea hour guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Worden on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Osterbout were Wednesday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Adams, Amelias-burg.

Miss Mae Brooks was the tea hour guest of Miss Pauline Burr on Saturday. Miss Pauline Burr was the Sunday noon hour guest of Miss Mae Brooks.

Mr. and Mrs. Wes Middle were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Fulford.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sobie and family, Consecon, had a happy surprise, at an early hour Wednesday morning when their front door opened and a familiar voice said, "Hello, Mom!" It was their son, Cpl. A. W. Sobie, arrived home on relation leave after several years' service in Italy. They had not received the cablegram stating his home coming and were much surprised and overjoyed.

Marmora

Marmora—Two euchre parties were held in St. Paul's Parish Hall this week. On Monday evening, March 5, C.G.I.A. were hostesses, the sponsors. The winners were Henry Blake and Mrs. A. Ellis. Henry Fluks also won the consolere in the drawing held the same evening. On Wednesday evening, members of St. Paul's Ladies' Guild held a party with the honors going to Mrs. Don McInroy and Mrs. John Fox.

The Young People's Guild, a thriving organization of young ladies of Deloro who banded together a few years ago to help the church effort, decided upon a Mothers' and Daughters' meeting for Thursday evening in the Deloro Hall, to which they also extended invitations to the Deloro Red Cross executive, Mrs. F. B. Wright, Mrs. G. E. Blake (formerly of Deloro, but now of Tweinton) to be guests. All the mothers were in attendance, thus fulfilling the best hopes for the success of the gathering. The program opened with greetings to the mothers being extended by Anne Barlow, which was followed by a short address by the president of the Y.P.G.I.A., Audrey Jane McNally. Next the girls rendered their Club Song. Succeeding this was the Roll and the Secretary's report. Then the mothers were asked to view the girls' work which was on exhibit and later given to the Red Cross through the President, Mrs. L. K. Crawford. Mrs. C. W. Whittemore, vice president, Mrs. Lorne Brickman, secretary of the Deloro Branch, then conducted a question bee, girls asking, "Carry on Canada", and the girls presented a short skit, "Hot News". A few games of bingo and progressive euchre after which the presentation of a small gift with a bouquet of spring flowers was made to Mrs. L. B. Wright, who will be leaving with Mr. Wright on Wednesday for their new home in Vancouver. The serving of a delicious lunch concluded the evening's program.

The girls of the Club are now preparing for their annual February stamp drive in which the executive receives the hearty support of the organizer, Miss Sara M. Scott.

Victoria

Victoria.—The attendances at Sunday School, Sunday morning, was rather small owing to road conditions.

The Women's Association met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Brickman on Wednesday. A pot luck dinner was enjoyed and two Red Cross quilts were quilted. Proceeds amounted to $6.50.

Mr. W. H. Mooomey spent a few days recently in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bedell spent Wednesday at Mr. Lorne Brickman's.

ELECTRIC EYE RECORDS SPEED

Schenectady, N.Y., Feb. 14 (AP)—An electronic eye that records the exact level of slovenly rotation known is now in war work. General Electric Company announced that the newly-developed photoelectric tachometer will indicate a speed of approximately 200,000 revolutions a minute, or one-so-slow the human eye can hardly follow it. In the war effort, it may be used to measure the speed of model aircraft plane motors in wind tunnels.

CANADIANS REACH RHINE OPPOSITE EMMERICH REDS REACH GOERLITZ IN 22-MILE THRUST

Speed of Drive Indicates Dresden DefenceCrumbling

Cross Neisse River in Area Only 65 Miles From Berlin

(By JAMES P. KING, ASSOCIATED PRESS STAFF WRITER)

London, Feb. 15 —(AP)— A German military spokesman said today Russian tank and cavalry forces, smashing ahead 17 miles in 24 hours, had crossed the Neisse river in an area only 65 miles from Berlin in the drive on the German capital from the southeast.

Other columns of Moscow dispatches said, had raced 22 miles in the offensive west of Breslau and reached Goerlitz on the Neisse only 53 miles east of Dresden and now were battling for bridgeheads in southern Germany.

Marshal Ivan Koney's steadily reinforced blow fell with a speed and success which suggested that German resistance had been almost paralyzed.

Allied Bombers Assist

British, Canadian and United States bombers smashed at the clogged railyards at Cottbus, only 12 miles west of the deepest penetration claimed by the Russians, and dropped tons of bombs at Dresden, Chemnitz, Berlin and Magdeburg.

The Berlin military spokesman said Koney's free-wheeling columns had reached military highways both northwest and southwest of Forst, 65 miles from Berlin.

Forst is on the west side of the Neisse, 12 miles east of Cottbus and 40 miles north of Goerlitz.

The town is the west-east of Sommerfeld, which the Germans said the Russians reached yesterday.

The Germans said Koney in this area had established a "loose connection" with Marshal Gregory Zhukov's forces fighting east of Berlin, where they have established bridgeheads over the Oder south of Fuerstenberg. Fuerstenberg is 57 miles north of Forst.

To the south Koney apparently had by-passed the important railway junction and stronghold of Kohlfurt in 22-mile thrust from Bunslau to Goerlitz on the Neisse, last natural barrier before Dresden.

Kohlfurt, 11 miles northeast of Goerlitz, is a fire-point ready to give way centre.

Pravda first announced Koney's thrust to the Neisse, the last major water barrier before Dresden. Its correspondent said when groups of German troops had been captured, by-passed or sealed off in a spectacular 35-mile advance.

The speed of the drive indicated German resistance in the sector was crumbling.

The new successes of Koney's troops left the Silesian capital of Breslau surrounded some miles to the behind the Soviet vanguards, and the German said the fight for the city of 620,000 was at a climax.

Moscow announced that Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's White Russian army had completed the conquest of the holdout fortress of Schneidemuhl 9 miles below the Soviet lines in Pomerania to the north, hitting more than 7,000 Germans and capturing 5,000 after a two weeks' siege.

Other Russian troops driving northward through the Polish corridor captured 50 additional towns in an area some 60 miles southwest of Danzig and were little more than two miles from the communications centre of Chojnice.

In the drive across Silesia Koney's army was credited with having killed 100 prisoners yesterday and taking more than 300 localities, including seven German city strongholds. Breslau said the northern prong of his advance had reached Sommerfeld, 71 miles from the German capital, and 200 Germans planes were captured, making 540 in two days.

The other prong of Koney's drive was aimed at Dresden, which was aglow with fires set by 4,000 tons of R.A.F., R.C.A.F. and American bombs. The closest co-ordination of British and American air power with thick cloud formations possibilities possibly marked the first fruits of the Crimea Big Three Conference.

A BBC broadcast quoted a Soviet military observer as saying the Allies were working together "with precision and according to definite plan."

Koney's onslaught, besides ringing Breslau, had left in its wake many pockets of German resistance including Glogau, on the Oder river 35 miles northwest of Breslau.

Moscow news dispatches said 1st Ukraine Army units had crossed the Queis River defence line, west of the Bober River, in the advance on Dresden.

Weather Forecast

'Greatest Political Event of Modern Times,' Says Smuts

Capetown, Feb. 15 — (CP-Reuters) — Prime Minister Smuts yesterday hailed the Crimea "Big Three" declaration as "the greatest political event of modern times" — evidence that the great powers had achieved unity in purpose.

He was replying to Dr. D. F. Malan, opposition leader in the Union Assembly, who had questioned whether the objects set forth in the declaration were the same as those for which the Union entered the war.

Dr. Malan had asserted that while, for Marshal Stalin, Yalta was a victory, for the western powers it was defeat. He accused Smuts of being flanged in Bolshevising Europe and expressed misgivings that the Polish question had been discussed without Field Marshal Smuts being consulted — "a slap in the face for South America," he said.

The Prime Minister said in reply that Russia today was not the Russia of 25 years ago and that South Africa and the U.S.S.R. were partners in the great commonwealth of the world.

YANKS CARRY OUT GREAT OFFENSIVE AGAINST GERMANY

1,300 Heavy Bombers In Night Assault Pound Chemnitz In Dresden Sector

London, Feb. 15 (CP) — United States heavy bombers carrying out one of the greatest air offensives of the war, blasted Dresden again today, and bombed the clogged railyards of Cottbus, only 12 miles from a sector in which Russian advance units were reported operating.

The raids continued an offensive highlighted Wednesday night by an RAF-RCAF attack by 1,300 heavy bombers on Chemnitz, 35 miles southwest of Dresden and one of the last undestroyed cities in Saxony.

Still another force of American heavy bombers today again attacked the synthetic oil plant outside Magdeburg, 75 miles southwest of the smoking German capital.

Sound New Alarms.

Even while this great fleet of more than 1,100 heavies with 450 fighter escorts was making those attacks, the German radio sounded new alarms. Fresh formations of Allied bombers were reported flying in over Holland and also from the south over Austria.

The attacks brought to about 12,000 tons the number of planes which have linked the eastern and western Allied fronts under a blanket of explosives and incendiaries in the last 48 hours.

Pravdia reports said tactical aircraft, also, were having another great field day against enemy road movements.

It was the second night in succession more than 1,000 R.A.F. bombers were out. Tuesday night 1,400 planes struck at Dresden and other targets. R.C.A.F. heavies also participated in both attacks.

Five powerful waves of heavy bombers, each with a strong fighter escort, were reported participating in the new daylight raids, giving Germany a scourging exceeding anything she previously had experienced.

9,000 Planes Used.

During the 36 hours up to dawn today more than 9,000 British and United States planes had loosed thousands of tons of explosives and incendiaries upon German cities, supply lines and troop concentrations.

Chemnitz was hit a few hours before the big fleets of U.S. 8th American heavy bombers, part of a force of 1,350 planes, struck at targets in Germany yesterday.

The Flying Fortress bombers last night also attacked a synthetic oil plant at Rositz, just south of Leipzig, while Mosquitos hit refugee-packed Berlin.

Announcer Nervous.

R.C.A.F. tactical planes flew almost the 1st. Canadian Army operations.

Legislature Sittings Under Way In Most Canadian Provinces

By The Canadian Press

The Quebec Legislative Assembly having disposed of the Throne Speech today settled down to the business of its first session since the 1944 provincial election while legislation skirtings started in Ontario and Saskatchewan and continued in three other Canadian provinces.

The Quebec House last night registered its approval of the Throne Speech after minority group leaders had called for cessation of "economic dictatorship" in the province.

Andre Laurendeau, young leader of the four-man Bloc Populaire, in his maiden speech said the Bloc would co-operate with the government of Premier Duplessis but "we are and shall remain absolutely independent."

After approval of the Speech, the House went into committee of the whole to study the family allowance act.

At Toronto, where the second session of the 19th Ontario Legislature today, forecasts of a stormy time for Premier Drew's Progressive Conservative government hinged on a return of former Premier Mitchell Hepburn to House leadership of the 16-man Liberal group in the House and Agriculture Minister Douglas today leads his C.C.F. government into its first full-dress session since its election by a landslide victory in June. A special session was held last fall.

Labor legislation scheduled to be introduced covers post-war working hours, changes to bring higher compensation rates, holidays with pay and allied subjects.

The Manitoba and British Columbia legislatures have been in session for more than a week.

CANADIANS CLOSE TO RHINE

Canadian "water rats" in the northern sector of the 1st Canadian Army front are close to the Rhine. More than 100 miles south the United States 3rd Army has made a new break in Hitler's Westwall, south of Prum.

JAP ATROCITIES IN BURNED MANILA UNBELIEVABLE

Unarmed Civilians Shot and Bayoneted by Enraged Japanese

Manila, Feb. 15 (AP)—Hundreds black from new enemy destruction destruction, United States troops cautiously tightened an interstate drive across today on Japanese so desperate they coldbloodedly shot and bayoneted civilians in bizarre revenge.

Americans of three divisions closed in on the enemy, fighting for each street intersection, amid a flood of front line reports of Japanese artillery matching the rape of Nanking.

The Americans had to move carefully as Manila's hospitals overflowed with the wounded of the Pasig River assault. The Germans were brought by demolition charges, threatened to equal that which ravaged the Escloza business district north of the river.

The doomed Japanese, holed up primarily in the Intramuros, where some walls are 20 feet thick at the base, were weakened but still fighting. Japanese artillery fell off markedly after American big guns poured a deadly barrage into the enemy-held sector Thursday and Wednesday.

Japs Hold Hospital

Troops one of the 37th. Division, bearing the brunt of the Intramuros house onslaught, yesterday reached the grounds of the Philippines' campus, a half mile from the old walled stronghold, and overran on this bay front.

The Japanese still held the general hospital nearby, however, and the American position was unlencumbered by casualties. They converted into one of the enemy's strongest positions.

(George Thomas Folster of NBC broadcast that men, women and children had been burned to death in houses fired by the Japanese, and killed if they fled the flames. He said some civilians had been bayoneted or hacked to death with sabres in "this wanton mass murder.")

CBS reporter John Adams said Japanese atrocities in south Manila "undoubtedly will go down in history as a darker chapter than the rape of Nanking." He said army photographers documented the story of the atrocity incidents found, at the south Manila intersection, "the bodies of 26 civilians, of which nine were babies. It was the worst I had been bayoneted, and many of them with their hands tied behind their backs. It was the worst story in other parts of the city.")

Across Manila Bay on Bataan, 28th. Division troops captured Anyay in an 11-mile push southward on the east coast of the bitterly-contested jungle peninsula. Anyay was the eastern anchor of the first defence line of the Americans and Filipinos fighting a valiant delaying battle in the spring of 1942.

MORE ECONOMIC AID TO ITALIANS IS PREDICTION

Relaxation of Armistice Terms to Some Extent is Expected

London, Feb. 15 — (AP)—A joint British and American statement relaxing Italian armistice terms to some extent was reported in the official today as Paris dispatches declared President Roosevelt was expected to visit Rome before returning to Washington.

It was predicted the statement would promise greater economic aid to Italy and lift some of the Allied control of administrative affairs.

An Associated Press dispatch last night from Rome declared it was understood there the declaration would be announced soon in Washington and London. This dispatch said: "agreement on the most important points for post-war reconstruction for Italy was reported to have been reached after the British *steadfast*ly refused an American suggestion that the present armistice be scrapped.

The new pronouncement is believed in Rome to keep Italy still definitely in the category of a conquered country. Some Italian officials are said to have advocated full elimination of the armistice agreement on the ground it constitutes a psychological impediment to full Italian collaboration in fighting the Nazis.

The Rome dispatch said that despite the expected new declaration it was believed all secret clauses of the surrender terms signed in September, 1943, by Marshal Pietro Badoglio, would remain known only to a few.

Military security still is said to be involved.

Superfortresses Hit Again Japan's Home Island

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)— B29 Superfortresses hit again today at Japan's home island war industries, the army communique broadcast after a war department announcement here said the important Musashino aircraft engine plant was hit by 80 superforts as well as areas in Tokyo. Structure at Musashino Bay suffered "some damage" from high explosive and incendiary bombs.

The mission was blown by a force of 500 from the Mariana Bonin command in the Marianas. A communique gave no additional details.

Earlier, the Tokyo radio reported that superforts had bombed the Tokyo-Yokohama metropolitan area and the Nagano district last night and early today and returned later in reconnaissance flights.

POPE HAS INFLUENZA

Vatican City, Feb. 15. (AP)—Pope Pius XII is suffering from influenza and audiences have been temporarily cancelled, it was announced today. Although confined to bed, the Pontiff is continuing some work through the Secretariat of State.

THRONE SPEECH FORECASTS PLAN POST-WAR WORK

Foundation To Be Laid 'for Municipal Planning'—Need Of Conference Seen

Toronto, Feb. 15 (CP)—Legislation "laying the foundation for municipal planning" and providing for the establishment of conservation and flood control authorities was foreshadowed in the Speech from the Throne read by Lieutenant-Governor Albert Matthews at the opening of the second session of Ontario's 21st. legislature.

The 4,500-word speech also said measures would be introduced providing for the fixing of minimum wage rates for women, co-ordination of the administration of advanced agricultural education institutions at Guelph, replacement of city and county jails with regional institutions where necessary and for the control of social diseases.

5,000,000 Man-Days' Work in Ontario.

A post-war building construction programme with the help and assistment of Public Works will "provide 5,000,000 man days of employment out the province" and plans of the department of highways for a road construction progress will be reached the stage so "work could be started as soon as materials and labor became arise to provide employment for returning war veterans or those now engaged in war industries."

The Speech said the government is greatly concerned about the delay of the calling of a Dominion-Provincial conference at which it has been pressing for considerably broader powers.

"With brighter hopes of victory in Europe, the need for such a conference becomes increasingly imperative and the government has again stated that at such a preliminary meeting be held to settle the principles upon which inter-governmental co-operation must rest if agreed upon, important plans for post-war reconstruction and full employment will scarcely are to be prepared on a realistic basis."

Last year the Ontario-Electric Power Commission constructed 400 miles of rural primary line, chiefly short extensions of existing lines, Speech said. This year it plans to extended service to 10,000 new customers, 7,000 of them receiving service from the Hydro-Electric System.

CANADIANS REACH RHINE

With British Troops in Germany, Feb. 15 — (AP) — Canadian troops reached the Rhine today directly across from Emmerich.

By HOWARD COWAN
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

Paris, Feb. 15 (AP)—Canadians fought flood waters to the wet bank of the Rhine opposite Emmerich today swung slowly along the northern end of the Rhine Valley in a drive behind the Siegfried Line threatening to outflank the Ruhr munitions industries.

The 2nd Canadian front was the only active one in the west. On its south flank, British Empire troops crashed a series of violent German counter-attacks and pressed close to the key defence bastions of Goch and Calcar, respectively eight miles south and seven miles southeast of Kleve.

More and more Germans were drawn into the semi-static battle which steadily was turning the Germans flank in the north.

Barrages from hundreds upon hundreds of Field Marshal Montgomery's big guns and huge fleets of Allied planes paralyzed every German attempt to regain country and exacted terrible casualties.

Nowhere was the German so road to the Rhur and Rhineland, the heart of every German war effort, that Field Marshal Von Model must defend every reserve he could scrape for his defending army group.

Rhine Reached at Nurendaich.

The Rhine was reached at Nurendaich. There the river is normally 2,270 feet wide but now lies in dykes in the desolate lowlands have made the river over a mile in some bulging.

At low points north of Kleve and west of Emmerich, the Rhine was as wide as the English Channel between Calais and Dover and flood waters were eight feet deep, leaving only hilltop villages and the Canadian "water rats" used amphibious tanks to advance.

The 1st Canadian army, already behind the Siegfried Line and close to the Rhine, was in a position to push south and confine or fill the gap between other parts of the Siegfried Line.

Field Marshal Eisenhower's armies to the south watched with satisfaction as gradual recession of forces on the Roer River barring their path to the Cologne plain, fifth farther south and near the centre of the western front, the United States 3rd army was pushing its advance to within sight of Bitburg, seven miles from military highways meet.

ward the Cologne plain. On the west edge of that plain, the British 2nd and the United States 9th and 1st armies were bunched by Roer river floods, flowing from the Ardennes and Eifel borders.

The Canadians, Britons, Scots and Welsh commanded by Gen. Crerar captured Hochsteinen, nine miles southwest of Kleve, Heiden, Asperden, Winnekendonk and south of Gennen, and Warfheyen, three miles southeast of Kleve. Opposite Emmerich and its plants producing iron, chemicals, heavy goods, textiles and fall equipment, the Canadians were 13½ miles inside Germany and 49 from the great Rhine city of Duesseldorf.

Resistance Stiffens.

German resistance stiffened on the eastern and southern flanks of the oozing battleground between the Rhine and Meuse. Two bridgeheads were widened and strengthened across the Niers river along which the Germans hoped to shield Goch. One was at Hommerden, the other at Weeze. There are five miles from Goch, but vantgarde pressed to within three miles of that town yesterday.

The small Kleve state forest three miles north of Goch, was cleared. Empire troops were within three miles of Calcar, and another drive to the Rhine and seven miles southeast of Goch.

Gen. Crerar's Canadian and British troops advanced 14 miles beyond the jump-off line during the first week of the offensive, broadened the base sector five to 30 miles and on a curving front between the Meuse and Rhine, and took more than 5,500 prisoners.

Yank Outposts Withdraw From Coastal Sector

Rome, Feb. 15 (AP) — German infiltration tactics drove back American outposts on the Tyrrhenian coastal sector of the Italian front and an evening raid on the Serchio Valley indicated another slight withdrawal but the main defense line was regained, Allied headquarters announced today.

Brazilian troops repulsed an enemy attack on Mount Belvedere of Affrico, a village 27 miles southwest of Bologna.

Fifth Army forces suffered some casualties when Germans laid down heavy fire on them today from strongly-entrenched positions north of Castelnuovo.

Action on the 8th. Army front was limited to patrol activities, it was announced.

One enemy patrol attacked a Canadian post but Canadian troops south of the Valli Di Comacchio repulsed the 1st. Canadian Corps has been strengthening its sector.

The Italians, who moved into the line only a few days ago and in several weeks ago, hammered back the attackers. A second German attempt to take the positions was thwarted by heavy artillery and mortar fire.

British coastal craft torpedoed and sank a 500-ton enemy merchantship and destroyed three heavily armed vessels during the night in the Istrian peninsula at the head of the Adriatic Sea, the Allied naval command announced today.

Resolution on War in Pacific Amended at Request of Red Delegates

London, Feb. 15 — (Reuters)—A resolution on the Allied war effort which called for the prosecution of the war against Japan until unconditional surrender was amended at the request of Vassili Kuznetsov, leader of the Soviet delegation, after it had been presented to the Inter-Allied Union Conference today as the unanimous recommendation of the committee concerned.

On this committee were two Russian delegates.

The sentence, as amended and unanimously accepted by the conference, read "The war against Japan must be prosecuted by the nations at war with her" with the same vigor as the war in Europe until unconditional surrender is wrested from her as well."

Another reference in the resolution to "maximum delivery from the Nazi and Japanese aggressors" was also amended to read "Nazi-Fascist and Japanese aggressors."

Britain's reference to the Japanese war in the resolution, asking for maximum assistance by the Soviet Chinese people against the Japanese invaders, was restricted to the countries at war with Japan already in the original draft.

The amendments were not publicity submitted by the Soviet delegation, but put before the conference by the spokesman of the committee. No objection was raised in the conference to any of them.

PROPOSE INCREASE IN HONORARIUM

Members of the Belleville city council are getting generous with their mayor and want to raise his honorarium to $2,000 per year, according to a news release from the city hall in the Peterboro Examiner. At the present time the mayor in the Limestone City gets $1,500, the proposed increase being added to $500. But Peterboro mayor thinks he is living all right at present and is reported to have asked the finance committee to leave his honorarium as it is. Council, however, is not with the answer that the job of mayor is gradually becoming a full time job with little time left for looking after private interests. The matter will be decided when the tax rate is set.

SGT. JACK LAIRD BACK IN CANADA

Overseas for the past 5 years the Bismillah Belleville weapon, Sgt. Jack Laird of Kingston, has returned to Canada on repatriation leave from service on the Western Front. His wife has been informed. A member of the topographical division of the R.C.E. Sgt. Laird has been serving in Holland. Attending the investiture, Mrs. Laird was advised in Belleville for the past four years as a hairdresser but, on the completion of action recently to meet her husband. While her war has been spent in Jacqueline, whom her daddy has never seen.

VALENTINE MAIL LARGEST ON RECORD

Wartime shortages of paper labor and so on can't daunt Dan Cupid his dastardly arrows it seems, with February 14th coming in the largest flow of valentines ever handled by the local postal department, according to Postmaster C. C. Trudeau. "Why a couple of days it appeared as though Christmas cards had returned," commented Mr. Trudeau. "We even had to call in extra staff to handle the rush on Wednesday." A large volume of valentine mail was dispatched for overseas and this was not so noticeable as they were mailed over a longer period.

FORMER BELLEVILLIAN WINS MINK AWARDS

One mink award at Ontario Mink Show at Woodbridge, the largest ever held, went to Mrs. Ken (Dr.) Munnings (nee Irene Kemp), of Pumsley Park, formerly of Belleville. She exhibited 3 mink and did exceptionally well. The awards are one to fifteen prizes, fifteen to twenty-five awards in each.

From a total of ninety-one standard-bred silk males, Mrs. Munnings took first and tenth, while her awards were as follows: kit males one and ten, adult male, tenth, kit females tenth and two A awards in kit females.

BELLEVILLE CLUB HOLDS PARTY

Members of the Belleville Club paid party bonges to St. Valentine on Wednesday night at an enjoyable party held in the club rooms. Members, their wives and guests danced to the music of an orchestra while those not dancing attended to enjoying themselves at cards.

Refreshments were served at midnight and dancing continued until the early hour. The function was enjoyed by approximately eighty members and their guests.

Roy Cronk Dies In Hospital After Brief Illness

Employees of the local post office department for 62 years, Mr. Roy Cameron "Wargy" Cronk, 216 Albert street, died at the Belleville General Hospital on Tuesday morning following a very brief illness. Taken suddenly ill one week ago, he had gone to the hospital for an operation but failed to rally.

Resident of Belleville all his life Mr. Cronk was born in the city, son of Mr. Charles Cronk and of the late Mrs. Cronk. He was educated in local schools, high school, and was a veteran of the last great war going overseas with the 79th Battery and transferring to the Canadian Field Artillery to the artillery. He served overseas for two years, and rejoined the postal staff here following his discharge from the army. At the time of his death he was assistant in the money order office and when working nights acted as foreman of the night staff.

He was also a member of the Masonic order.

Surviving besides his father are three sisters, Miss Hazel Cronk here and Miss Jean Cronk, both at home and Mrs. R. A. Pringle, Toronto.

The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this edition.

Garage Owner Captures Intruder at Gun Point

Captured at the point of a gun in Irwin's garage in Deseronto, Pte. Ken Whitmore of the Canadian Army stationed overseas, was charged on a charge of breaking and entering the garage in the village of Deseronto early yesterday morning.

Edgar Irwin, proprietor of the garage, heard a disturbance in his garage and notified Chief Laughton. Mr. Irwin held the robber at the point of a gun and police arrived and arrested the soldier. Whitmore appeared before a justice of the peace and was remanded in custody until Feb. 23rd. He is also reported to be absent from the unit without leave.

Dept. Game, Fisheries To Expand When Material Available

Toronto, Feb. 14 — (C P) — Ontario's Department of Game and Fisheries is prepared for a substantial expansion as soon as personnel and material are available, Hon. Thomas Kennedy, Minister of the Department, said in an address to the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters in Toronto.

If Ontario was to benefit from a possible tourist trade of $200,000,000 after the war, it was necessary to rehabilitate the province, he said. Further hatcheries would be built when it is possible to build them.

Dr. Norman R. Douglas of Owen Sound, suggested formation of a commission to control Game and Fish management. He said the commission should be "non-political" and should be given freedom to undertake rehabilitation of game and fish resources along practical and scientific lines.

P.O. D. Beare Glad To Be Home After 35 Trips Over Europe

There is joy in the Front Street, Union Club, once again. For the popular proprietor, Dick Beare, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Beare, Bleecker Avenue, and a veteran of the war skies over Europe, has arrived home once more than two years "over the pond."

It is a modest cuss, won't say much about his experiences in his manner, while reminiscent of the well known "Dick", who formerly dispensed Bill Cook's tobacco and cigarettes, is tempered with the experience of being close to death in the camaraderie, that is born of knowing one's turn for the great beyond.

Dick is a navigator. He has sailed the flak-torn skyways of a continent that has seen its like, has himself flirted with death up to the hilt and come out.

From his navigator's seat in his Halifax bomber, he has seen the enemy hopped-up Me 109 pitted with the holes caused by the 1,000 shells of the gun mine. Thirty-five times he has flown over Germany and French territory in formation with flotilla terrifers of the air dividing wing level to keep off enemy interceptors.

In Palatine Show

He rode his big ship in the Palatine show with 1,000 other bombers. "The sky was black with our stuff," he said. A forest used as supply depot by the Jerries was blasted completely off the face of the earth by the RCAF and RAF bombers.

"There was a absolutely nothing left but a huge scar on the landscape after we went over the target," Dick related.

Like England

"England is a wonderful country," Dick asserted. "Picadilly and Trafalgar Square are places to be remembered as are other spots of the old land, but this Province in Belleville is just about heaven to me. Brother, it is certainly good to get back to a country where the sight of aircraft, the roar of big guns and other war noises seem to be very remote."

Dick left the RCAF over two years ago and did his early training at No. 5 Initial Training School in this city. He took advanced training at other stations and graduated as a sergeant navigator from a Quebec station. Shortly afterwards he went overseas and was posted to a Halifax squadron.

At the end of his second flight over Germany, Dick was given his commission as a pilot officer.

LEGISLATURE

Attorney - General McLaughlin Manitoulins, announced in the House yesterday that every automobile owner in the province will be assessed a dollar, in addition to the car licence to establish a fund for which cannot be collected by civil action.

The scheme, which sets up an "uncontrolled judgment fund," is believed to be the first of its kind on the continent. Legislation to put it into effect was delivered during the present session, the attorney-general said.

Under the plan, a fund of from $1,000,000 to $175,000 would be established on the Highway Traffic Act to protect motor accident victims with no financial resources. An estimated 100,000 automobile owners will be assessed a fee not to exceed $1, in addition to their annual licence fees.

Leonard A. Sheppard (CCF-Delta) said in the British Columbia House yesterday the economic prosperity of agriculture depends on a permanent international action. Speaking in the throne speech debate, he said the price of Canadian wheat during the years preceding the two great wars "was set in Europe by an international cartel."

He said neither the Canadian government nor any Canadian company had anything to say.

The Speech from the Throne was confined to a review of the Liberal government's record last year and announced that the report of a royal commission studying postwar reconstruction financial resources will be laid before the House.

Sweep Entrance to Bay

San Francisco, Feb. 15 — (AP) — Twenty American mine-sweepers swept an entrance to Manila Bay Tuesday under cover of a naval and air bombardment, the Japanese radio agency reported today in an uncontirmed dispatch adding "some 10 enemy transports" were believed to be following for a sea-borne thrust at Manila.

The Domei dispatch, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, said 11 United States warships sailed in an artillery duel with Corregidor's remaining big guns while the minesweepers went to work on channels lying between the rock-like fortress and Bataan.

Domei said two battleships, four cruisers and five destroyers opened fire against Corregidor, coupled with heavy attacks from enemy aircraft. Domei asserted one of the 20 minesweepers, which appeared later was sunk and the rest "were effectively checked in their attempt to make a way through the channel."

Sqdn. Ldr. Hollanquist Arrives Home After Three Years Overseas

Veteran of Mediterranean skyways and former commanding officer of Belleville's famous 400 ... Squadron Leader A. M. Hollanquist, DFC, arrived home from overseas today after spending nearly three years overseas. He is the husband of the popular Betty Westen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Westen of this city.

Squadron Leader Hollanquist is a westerner by birth, coming from Three Hills, Alberta, as his home town. He enlisted early in the war in the RCAF, and was trained as a pilot attending at the Trenton Air Station. It was during his course of training there that he met and married Miss Westen. The couple have a baby daughter.

Graduating as a sergeant pilot in Canada he was soon promoted to the rank of flight sergeant going overseas in October, 1942. He was commissioned as a pilot officer shortly after arriving in England and a few months later was posted to the Mediterranean area of operations.

He flew on several operational flights in Libya and was a few months ago was promoted to the command of 400 Squadron with the rank of squadron leader.

Brig. H. Graham Helps Soldier Wounded in Italy

Cpl. Corp Borden, Feb. 15 (CP) — Signal Sgt. Frank Ide of Kingston, Ont., today gives drill instruction to Canadian soldiers in training here, thanks to a Canadian officer who saved his life.

RSM. Turner was invalided home from Italy after Brig. Harold (Mike) Graham sniper's bullet had passed through his helmet and creased his head during an action near Ortona in the fierily fighting.

Cpl. Ide remembers only when a corporal with a couple of German prisoners came in a ditch along the road near Valguarnera," he said. "They bandaged my head, gave me water and a smoke and moved on. After that I passed out."

Brig. H. D. Graham, Deputy Chief of the General Staff, then in command of the first brigade, recognized him in the ditch, he said.

"I and other wounded were given first aid and the brigadier sent for an ambulance to have me evacuated to North Africa."

With Lieut.-Gen. Crerar, Canadian corps commander, Brig. Graham has got his old hobby, photography, and photographed hundreds of X-ray plates on 35 mm. film for a unique lecture described at length in a London medical journal.

His father, RSM. F. J. Turner, now is stationed at No. 3 Vocational Training School, Kingston.

John Thompson Sentenced To Serve 3 Months

John Thompson, Rosemore, was sentenced to serve three months in the common jail after being convicted of several charges in police court, held before Magistrate F. Wills last week. Thompson was originally charged with attempting to steal a motor car, stealing a bus, breaking and entering the Belle Ewart Inn, theft and intoxication.

Crown Attorney Arnott, K.C., represented the accused and on each count pleaded guilty to the court his client had been misled and that no conviction he was charged. The charge of attempting to steal a motor car Thompson's car was dismissed, while the charge of theft of a battery was withdrawn as was the theft charge at the Belle Ewart and the Glen Roy Creamery charge. Thompson was convicted on the stealing of the bus, breaking and entering and three months in the common jail. On the breaking and entering charge the Belleville Theatre office the accused received a three months' concurrent sentence and a similar concurrent term on the drunk charge. Assistant Crown Attorney for G. Robertson conducted the prosecution in all cases.

STIRLING

Parker Block Purchased By William West

Stirling — The ladies of St. John's Anglican Church Guild catered to a record crowd on Shrove Tuesday, when they held their annual pancake supper. The supper which was held in the Masonic Hall was attended by many from out of town, despite heavy side roads.

The attractively arranged tables were well laden with good things to eat and everyone did justice to the delicious pancakes, sausage, and of course plenty of pie. The ladies are to be congratulated on the success of this event.

Business Block Purchased

The Parker business block at the corner of Henry and Front streets, was purchased by Mr. Wm. West on Thursday, February 8th for the purpose of installing a cold storage plant in the very near future. Work to commence soon in converting the premises and making an addition at the rear of same.

This business block has been the property of the Parker family for over fifty years, and was owned by Mr. Francis Parker and left to his daughter, Miss Emily Parker, who was the owner for many years until the present sale to Mr. West took place.

Capitals Captured by Allies

Budapest, capital of Hungary, where Nazis fought for seven weeks at a cost of 49,000 Germans dead and 110,900 captured, has been the greatest German disaster as far as the taking of prisoners goes, since Russia was victor at Stalingrad. Material loss of the Germans has been staggering. Here Huns fought for Nazism and suffered losses which Germany cannot make good at this crucial time of manpower shortage.

Blows such as this have been frequent during the past year, that is in the point of losses sustained by the enemy. Allied armies in Western Europe have captured 903,206 German prisoners alone. This is equivalent to ninety divisions of the enemy as the divisions are now constituted and greater it is believed than the total of German troops now in the west. Of the captured enemy, 1st Canadian Army has credit for the taking of 124,520.

Budapest's fall to the Reds was accompanied by the loss of garrisons numbering 269, besides 1,257 cannon, whose seizure is credited to the second and third Ukraine armies.

These losses are fatal to Germany when considered in conjunction with the many hundreds of thousands they have lost in slain together with huge numbers of wounded.

Budapest was the seventeenth capital to fall. Berlin, seat of the lawless warlords of the Huns, will probably be the eighteenth to fall. While the loss of Berlin may not mean the end of the war it will be a great military loss and at the same time a psychological disaster of the greatest importance. It will be the sign of the end for nothing the Hun can do or say will offset the loss of the capital.

What this inspiring loss of Berlin may mean may be gathered from the words of a Russian statement regarding the drive of Marshal Koney's forces, "a sensational threat to split Germany asunder south of Berlin." That would cut off as it were Germany's head with Berlin chopped from the south of Germany.

Yalta and Great Men

Many Russian cities have been for generations in public knowledge in the Western World and the war has added to them thousands of others, many of which will remain familiar at least to the generation which has passed through the present war. But there is one name that has just been added this week, it is Yalta, that of a resort in the Crimea on the Black Sea. Yalta conference may be the last before the end of Germanic aggression and tyranny for it planned action that is to hasten the defeat of Germany and shorten the war. So Yalta will probably be remembered by posterity in connection with the Allied triumph over German tyranny.

Ages yet unborn will know the names and study the lives of the three great Allied leaders, Churchill, Stalin and Roosevelt, who met there and who will emerge from the war with the gratitude of mankind for their share with others in bringing this struggle to an end and bestowing the blessings of peace upon the world. They and the cause they represent will surely bring ages of fame to the various meeting places where the Western World chiefs have met to chart the course of freedom-loving nations through the Hitler-Nazi-Prussian-made struggle to a serene and enduring peace.

Made Into Hitler's War Machine

Germany's old and new cities have been paying a heavy price for the use that the German militarist class has made of them as channels for war traffic. Berlin, while dating back centuries, is largely a modern city but there are others of great antiquity such as Dresden, capital of the old Kingdom of Saxony, now much in the news. In the names of so many cities, now rail junctions and key positions in the Hitler war machine, one can read a part of the past of Germany. A list of the names of old capitals of political divisions of Germany indicates how ruthlessly the Germans from before the time of Frederic so called "The Great" have welded together into the anvil of conquest the separate German states, kingdoms, grand duchies, duchies, free towns, which today have only historic significance as the units which became engulfed into what has been known as the German Empire or Deutches Reich. Militarism, Junkerdom and Nazism have ruthlessly trodden on the separate German states and made one dead level as far as possible in moulding a military machine. Cities bearing old names now are considered in Hitlerite Germany only for the pivotal positions they occupy or the links they were in the chain Germany wished to forge into a power that would conques mankind.

But this military network that is and was Germany is being torn apart by the giant strength of Russia and the Western Allies and is blasted by United Nations air fleets and invaded by the armies of nations loving freedom.

War has been Germany's business for generations and everything has gone into making Germany a fortress or arsenal to enslave mankind. Nothing has mattered to her but war and aggression and everything German has been turned to the purposes of war. Old and new cities are but parts of the war mechanism of Hitler and in consequence they undergo attack because they are the homes of great war plants or centres of transportation systems.

Those "Handsomest" Males

(New York Times)

Lists of the most beautiful women, the best-dressed women, the best-dressed men or even the handsomest men never pose anything, are often amusing and do no harm. Katherine Ward Lane, Boston sculptress, thinks she has added to the sum of human knowledge by naming the ten most decorative American males, there can be no answer, except for the ten males to grin and bear it and not answer sharply when spoofed by their womenfriends. The two generals mentioned, Mark Clark and Douglas MacArthur, can't be spoofed by their subordinates, for this one believes could be considered an authority. Actors, such as Gary Cooper, Frederic March, Raymond Massey and Cary Grant, won't mind, because looking the way they do is with them a capitalizable asset. No doubt they could incorporate and issue stock on their manly beauty. Paul V. McNutt may have a grievance, and so may Admiral Richard E. Byrd, who certainly didn't rely on what nature has given him for "aristocratic features" when he ventured alone at the Antarctic.

All things considered, one is inclined to believe, first, that all women should be beautiful; second, that except in the theatrical and motion-picture worlds, all that a man needs in the way of looks is the usual number of features placed in about the customary way. The most popular men in our history have been more often plain than otherwise. Washington's expression was changed for the worse early in life by the loss of his teeth and a badly fitting new set. Franklin was as homely as an old stove and as pleasant to look at as a nicely burning stove on a cold day. Jackson's countenance was too long and angular, but he had his followers just the same. The best-loved of our Presidents had a beauty of spirit that grew until his death, but Lincoln's enemies called him ugly. He was a rugged, craglike grandeur that he achieved in the end. Perhaps it is strength that appeals, with kindliness added. Women would know about that. In the meanwhile there is little that any of us can do about the matter and therefore little to worry about.

Highest Stakes

(New York Herald Tribune)

Undoubtedly the Russians are taking chances in their drive, but they are playing for the highest stakes. And it is possible that the first flights of their real success—not in ground gained but in an army shattered—are beginning to appear. For if not the city or district that can be abandoned without a fight that is important; it is the corps or divisions cut off, the armies left without liaison with the other units on their flanks, the general disruption of organization and command that make for military defeat.

AS GRANDPA

Now this, as grandpa, you will find:
That you are strangely less inclined
Than as a father round the place
From dawn to dusk, full-steam, to race.

You will discover, unaware,
As time has silver-dyed your hair
So it has also sapped your strength
And cut your walks to shorter length.

Amazed, as grandpa, you will be
To note a youngster's energy!—
You'll wonder when you were a lad
If such a boundless stock you had.

As grandpa, when their prayers are said,
You'll smile to see them tucked in bed,
And for an hour from tumult free
At evening you will grateful be.

NEARING DEATH?

Colin Gray, five-year-old Vancouver, B.C., youngster, who must undergo a complicated heart operation before his sixth birthday on June 26, or he will die. His heart four times normal size, only specialists, one in ocion and the other in San Francisco, can save his life. Here he is at play, not knowing that death lurks near.

The War Today—
Fall of Budapest Releases Two Principal Russian Armies

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

The European war is sweeping across the screen with such speed that there's only a flash of time in which to examine individual operations, but we shouldn't overlook the significance of the Russian capture of Budapest, for its potentialities are tremendous.

The fall of this great city—most important communications center in all southeastern Europe—goes far towards opening the Danubian route into Austria. It means that the Muscovite forces in Hungary have just about smashed the lock on Hitler's back door—a fact which should be considered in connection with the thrust toward Austria via Czechoslovakia by the converging of the Red Forces assaulting Germany. The two final operations complement each other.

Now that's the first thing. Naturally our attention is centred on the drive for Berlin from the Russian offensive to take Dresden and cut Germany in two—on yesterday's furious assault of 8,000 Allied planes under which Dresden and other key cities shuddered—on the Allied attack against the Shenish defences through the terribly floods and mud.

After Fall of Berlin

But after Berlin has fallen—after Germany has been slashed in two and the Russians have been kicked out of the northern half—what then? Well, if the Nazis still are capable of carrying on their fantastical suicide-war, we shall see them making a stand in Bavaria and Austria, providing their present plans materialize. Then they will have the Alps at their backs, and in order to shorten the war it will be vastly important for us to be able to get at them through Austria as well as by attacking from the north.

The fall of Budapest, after one of the most fiercely fought and bloody battles of the entire war, releases two strong Red armies and what there has been no announcement as to their further disposition. Observers generally have assumed that Budapest provided a terrific interlude in an offensive against Austria. Marshal Stalin "on the way" to Vienna." So he apparently is. Marshal Rodion Malinovsky, Nazi Leader at Budapest in Seven Indistinguishable Stalin also decorated a highly interesting item, in reporting that the Nazi commandant at Budapest, Gen. Karl Pfeffer-Wildenbruch, and his staff were captured in a sewer. Stalin also took pains to repeat that when the Germans sent envoys to the German command in Budapest to demand a surrender at the outset of the siege, the Hitlerites killed the envoys. Pfeffer-Wildenbruch, but the latter may well have been the man.

Whitehall Notebook

By JOHN DAUPHINEE
(CP Staff Writer)

London, Feb. 15 — (CP)—There's not much danger any wooden-leg Pawkes will get into the House of Parliament in years to come. There are more guards there per square inch than almost anywhere in Britain.

When Prime Minister Churchill spoke there recently reporters had to show their passes as many as 10 times between main entrance and press gallery. One is stopped at every doorway.

Facilities for Members of Parliament to listen to debates are poor compared with those in Ottawa. The Commons Chamber was halved and the M.P.s now use the Red Chamber of the House of Lords. There are not enough seats to go around, and the members have no individual desks like those provided in Canada.

But even in the destroyed Chamber there were only 346 seats when there are 615 members. After the next election, following a parliamentary redistribution, there will be 640.

Older members, among them Mr. Churchill, argue that to increase the size of the Chamber would spoil the "intimacy" of debate which has been a characteristic of the British parliamentary system through the centuries.

But there is no argument that the House of Lords is much too small to accommodate the Commons when Westminster Hall is jammed. Sometimes there is a crowd right on the floor, or on chairs arranged outside the Bar of the House, that is the back. Space for visitors is quite inadequate.

An agreement on a proposal for the release from the services and subsequent return to their pre-election agents has been reached among the various parties.

ORDERED TENANT TO MOVE

Minneapolis, Feb. 15 — (AP) — Phillip Seltzo, real estate operator, said in court his second-floor tenant was saving heat by drilling holes in the floor just above his furnace room and kitchen stoves. Judge W. C. Lansen ordered the tenant to move.

SEEK FULL STATUS

Sudbury, Feb. 15 — (CP) — A bill to be tabled during the present session of the Ontario legislature will seek full university status for Sacred Heart College of Sudbury, it was learned. The bill proposes to give Sudbury the title of University of Sudbury.

Fuel Situation

Ottawa, Feb. 15 —(CP)— R. J. Manion, coal controller, has announced the following announcement by the Munitions Department of restrictions on deliveries of anthracite coal, coke, and bituminous coal to householders and industries in the Dominion, with regard to the capital as a strategically important defence centre "on the road to Vienna." So he apparently is. Budapest provided a terrific interlude in an offensive against Austria. Marshal Stalin "on the way"

TRENTON

Service Clubs Asked To Join Fight Against V.D.

Trenton Rotary and Kinsmen Clubs this week were asked by Trenton physicians to join the crusade against venereal disease, now much to the fore in this dominion. In connection with national health week, the Rotary club was addressed on the subject "Social Hygiene" by Dr. J. V. Byrne, a member of the Lions Club, and while Dr. E. A. McQuade, medical officer of health for Murray township, a Rotarian, spoke to the Kinsmen Club on "Victory over Disease."

Dr. McQuade told the Kinsmen that V.D. is the next big plague in Canada to go, and that Canada must be prepared to do what other countries have done in its eradication. He suggested the need for public enlightenment and personal education regarding the disease; the recognition of social and economic factors as profoundly influencing the presence of V. D.; a national and personal morality that envisages Canada as a nation of homes where all, warmth, security and affection abound, together with a high regard for justice and enforcement of the laws directed against third party participants in prostitution and against other unsavory community conditions that favor the spread of the disease. He described syphilis as a "fifth columnist," and gonorrhoea as a "fire." He advised measures to protect mothers and unborn children, also couples contemplating marriage, also early treatment of the disease when discovered.

Turning back the pages of time Dr. Byrne showed the Rotary Club that venereal disease had been a scourge in many countries in the early centuries. Dr. Byrne in urging early competent medical care pointed out various means of treatment some of which had been many or less successful. Dr. Byrne said that the disease can be cured in its early stages. To delay means oftimes death. The health of mothers and babies should be protected in this respect and many causes and sources of infection avoided. Treatment often involved long period but it depended upon early detection and early medical consultation. Speaking of the new wonder drug, Penicillin, Dr. Byrne stated that as a cure for V.D. it has been disappointing, it was also too expensive as a cure.

The speaker invited his hearers to join in the crusade against the disease.

PILOT NOW ICEMAN

Formerly a special pilot for Winston Churchill on the Prime Minister's history-making trips to all parts of the world, Capt. John Howard Ruggles now delivers ice in San Rafael, Calif. Ruggles was discharged from the R.A.F. Ferry Command because of injuries sustained last year in a Greenland air crash.

Red Roses Sent.

Undoubtedly many thousands of Valentines passed hands on St. Valentine's Day, 1946, but none with more feeling than the one received by a local high school teacher here. From a far off German prison camp came a greeting to her from one of her former students, Warrant Officer Taylor Beale, a dozen red roses and half a dozen daffodils.

Warrant Officer Beale has been a prisoner of the Germans for more than three years after having been shot down over enemy territory.

Before enlisting he attended high school here and later worked in a local drug store. His parents now live in Toronto but two sisters teach public school in Trenton.

FORMER WPB CHAIRMAN WEDS

Washington, Feb. 15 — (AP) — Donald M. Nelson, 56, former War Production Board chairman, was married last night to Marguerite S. Coolbaugh, 36, former campaign beauty queen in a civil ceremony. Nelson is now special representative of President Roosevelt and was observed about five weeks ago in Chicago.

TELL-TALE VAPOR TRAILS POINT TO NAZI TARGETS

Somewhere in the skies above the Mediterranean war theatre, vapor streams trail from Allied Liberators as they streak toward the railyards at Vienna, their bomb bays loaded with missiles that later spread destruction over a wide area. Such attacks are supporting the rapid Russian advance.

IS THAT PALE YOUNG GIRL YOUR DAUGHTER?

Parents should not ignore the depressed health, the listless, tired air, the pale face, the poor appetite of the spring spells — many develop subtle ailments that hamper when they are passing into womanhood.

If her health at this stage is not unlike that of a sufferer of good rich blood, all kinds of conditions may arise to make her later life unhappy.

So should you notice any of these distressing signs in your daughter, we suggest Dr. Williams Pink Pills at once. They help to build up the blood, to enrich the blood and have helped to transform thousands of thousands of sickly, pale girls suffering from simple anaemia into happy, healthy girls. Start them on Pink Pills regularly for a while and help with the housework, attractive in others. Remember simple anaemia may be weakening the strength and resistance your daughter will need in the years to come. Dr. Williams Pink Pills today.

Large Contingent Of Fighting Men Back in Canada

Ottawa, Feb. 15 — Many hundreds of Canadian fighting men, one of the largest contingents to return from the battlefronts in this war — came back to Canada recently after service in the European theatre.

Some of them veterans of 60 months overseas, almost all of them in the Dominion's Army were in the massive movement, which also brought British and Canadian naval personnel, airy warriors of the R.C.A.F., and some 400 wives and children of Canadian and British servicemen.

Four hundred and forty-eight of the big Canadian Army group returned on rotation leave — the second such quota from northwestern Europe and the United Kingdom. The initial lot arrived in Canada just before Christmas.

The remainder are back for numerous reasons. Some on duty, others on exchange, compassionate leave, and for medical reasons.

Still more came under the "tit-wound" scheme, which provides leave at home and posting nearby after a soldier has suffered three wounds.

Nursing Sisters in Party

Several Nursing Sisters and Auxiliary Services Superiors and a Canadian Women's Army Corps officer were among the Canadian arrivals.

A small group of British Army officers and other ranks, another detachment of the Corps of Canadian Firefighters and a South African Nursing Sister also were among those arriving.

Members of the R.C.A.F. Women's Division also disembarked.

Passengers reported a rough voyage, but otherwise, they said, it was uneventful.

Army officers, included: Lt.-Col. A. H. Jarvis, of London, Ont., and Lt.-Col. G. O. Gamble of Ottawa.

"Fellows over three or four years are raring to go to the Pacific, Tpr. Michael Torelick of Windsor, Ont., who served with reconnaissance units in the western invasion, said shrapnel from a last 88-millimetre shell cut into Kerelluk's left hand last fall.

The R.C.A.F. announced Tuesday night's operations cost only one Canadian bomber, instead of four as reported previously.

German radio programs were interrupted every few minutes this morning by the voice of "Achtung Ann," the girl who warns of approaching Allied bombers. Apparently nervous, she got her announcements mixed up several times and made a number of false starts.

Chemnitz Hit Twice.

The German radio reported 1,100 bombers again over Saxony, but west of the Chemnitz, Dresden and Leipzig areas. The spearhead of one formation 100 miles long was declared approaching Neimar, southwest of Leipzig.

More than 1,300 aircraft participated in the four night R.A.F. attacks. Chemnitz was hit twice, each time by approximately 400 bombers.

The first night blow at the city was timed at 9 p.m. Fires still were raging when the second wave struck hardly after midnight.

Like Dresden, Chemnitz is believed packed with refugees fleeing the Russian advance. It also is one of the places where some Berlin government offices are reported to have been moved.

Chemnitz became the major Allied target in a quick switch from Dresden, aflame from three concentrated attacks within 12 hours.

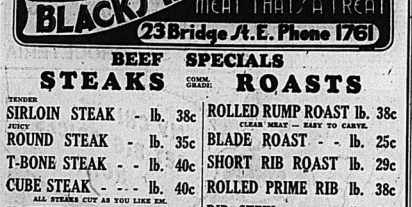
Mrs. Ralph Stone and Barbara spent Friday afternoon in Belleville.



COMPLETELY CEASED

London, Feb. 15 (CP)—Manufacture of civilian goods in Germany "has now completely ceased," the German D.N.B. agency reported in a broadcast last night. "Even everyday necessities cannot be produced anymore," the radio report stated. "Everybody should use old reserves, and materials available now must last until the war is over."

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. Ivy Horton and son William of Oshawa, have returned home after spending the past week with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C.H. Joby, Ealry Street.

The Merchinier Ave. Community Organette Club held a successful card party on Monday evening at the home of R. Babcock. Prize winners, ladies, Mrs. Mabel Shepherd; Mrs. Lenora Walker. Special lady, Cheryl, consolation Mrs. D. Brock; Mens' set, Mr. Dunsberry; consolation G. Langdon, hand, Harold Darling. The draw on the apron donated by Mrs. W. La Rue was won by ticket no. 160 held by Mr. A. Barlow.

The members of St. George's guild were invited to Christ Church Rectory on Tuesday by Mrs. Speaking for a social afternoon. The tea table was decorated with a bouquet of gladioli. The president Mrs. Will Colbyer, poured tea with Mrs. Rose and Mrs. H. McPee assisting in serving. A vote of thanks was given Mrs. Keating for a pleasant gathering.

Mrs. Harry Semark of St. George St. received flowers for St. Valentine's Day from her husband Mr. Harry Semark who is with the 19th Spec. Duty in Holland.

Mrs. P. O. McTaggart, 302 Albert St. received a cable from her son, Pte. Morley McTaggart, of his safe arrival overseas.

On last Friday evening St. Michael's Academy auditorium was the scene of a very Valentine colored party given by the Sodality of the Children of Mary of St. Michael's parish. A centre table was tastefully arranged with lace cloth, red candles in silver candelabra. Nightlights of the evening were the spot dance, won by Miss Rita Flynn and Mary Kane, and the elimination dance, won by Miss Mary Jane Rinden and LAC Glynn. Prizes for the best costumes were awarded Mrs. Betty Flynn, Miss Maureen Upper, and Thel Boyle. Near the close of the evening, welcome refreshments of sandwiches, cakes, and coffee were served to the many guests.

Out of town guests at the Knast-Ebler wedding on Monday included, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Keast, of Copper Cliff; Mr. Clarence Keast, Sudbury; Mrs. I. P. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. WEDDINGS

KEAST—ETHIER

A very impressive ceremony took place at the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, on Monday morning, February 12, at eleven o'clock, when Margaret Helen (Peggy), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jules Ethier, of Deloro, was united in marriage to John David, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Keast, of Copper Cliff. Rev. Father O'Donnell performed the marriage ceremony in Nuptial Mass.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, Mr. Jules Ethier to the strains of the Bridal March played by Mrs. James Grant. During the service, Mrs. C. Clapp sang beautifully Gounod's "Ave Maria", "This Day, O Beautiful Mother", and "Because". The bride wore a stunning fiber-length white crepe gown, sweetheart neckline with dainty floral design picked out in tiny white beads. The bead motif was repeated in the long sleeves. The skirt fell in many folds and a dramatic figurine note was struck with the graceful half bows over the hipline. Full sleeves to the silver end-ed in gracefully shirred fashion over the wrist. A tiny Dutch cap with the original petal points completed the wedding dress. A bridal bouquet of Killarney roses was carried.

Miss Dorothy (Dotsy) Feeney was bridesmaid, wearing a floor length gown of rich fuchsia crepe and matching pill box hat. She carried a bouquet of Butterfly roses.

Mr. Clarence Keast of Sudbury, brother of the groom, was groomsman for the event. William Ethier, brother of the bride, was usher.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Bridal cake where dinner was served. Later the wedding party proceeded to the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Lascombe, Dundas Street, and the guests of the bride, from where the bridal couple left to take the evening train for Toronto and western points.

Out of town guests were from Copper Cliff, Sudbury, Marmora, Seaforth and Trenton.

OUT-WITTED BANDIT

Montreal, Feb. 15 —(CP)— A quick-witted bandit failed at a branch of the Banque Canadienne Nationale yesterday, escaped with the theft of more than $6,000 when foiled by an alert girl. The bandit's loot was $600. The teller told him "I'm sorry," which he gave the bandit who fled.

Mid-Season Fur Style

By PRUNELLA WOOD

The fur stole is tops in fur fashions just now, and one which is vastly more becoming to most women than the short fur jacket. It is just as fashionably for evening wear, too, and making an even dressier affect with one's evening gown.

Shown here with spring's light weight navy blue wool, the hat giddy with daffodil coloring ostrich and a triple choker of pearls to finish the neat affect.

C.G.I.T. Week Being Observed

"C.G.I.T. Looks to the Future" is the theme being discussed during the week of February 11-17th in the Protestant churches when the Canadian Girls in Training, a program of Christian Education for adolescent girls is reviewed. This program which is sponsored by the National Girls' Work Board of the Religious Educational Council of Canada came into being during the last war to fill the demand for a church-centred program for teenage girls. It now numbers approximately 40,000 girls.

What is C.G.I.T.?

The ideal C.G.I.T. group is the Sunday School class meeting in the midweek. The basis is the development of Christian character through vital connection with the whole life of the church. Activities or programs include worship, business, project, activity, games and singing, with fun and fellowship as important factors. The organization of group is judged in terms of growth—knowledge, skills, attitudes, Christian citizenship relationships in daily living.

A Provincial Girls' Work Boards, their secretaries and denominational secretaries direct the planning of programs and other work. National oversight is given through the National Girls' Work Board of the Religious Education Council of Canada by means of publications and through the work of the National Girls' Work Secretary. Provincial camps are promoted during the summer months and in the past summer all previous records in attendance were broken.

To fit into the theme of C.G.I.T. Week, the hymn chosen is "These Things Shall Be" a Loftier Race" with the Scriptture passage from Paul's Letter to the Philippians "Let this mind be in you which is also in Christ Jesus."

HOLLOWAY C.G.I.T.

On Tuesday evening, Feb. 13, the Holloway Street C.G.I.T. met this their mothers and members of the W.M.S. to take part in an affiliation service and also to observe C.G.I.T. week.

The rooms were prettily decorated in C.G.I.T. colors and three group secretaries, Jean Campbell, Muriel Duffin and Carolyn Rickette wrote name cards, while the Pres. Denis Dorothy Dobbs, Jean Scott, and Doreen Matthews punned them on the 25 guests.

Betty Olmen president of the department, presided and the meeting opened with the girls singing the C.G.I.T. hymn, followed by prayer.

After welcoming the guests the president conducted a brief business period. Jean Thurston reading the minutes of the previous depty meeting and Phyllis Kane giving the treasurer's report.

Since it is C.G.I.T. week in Ontario, the girls first order was the organization of the local C.G.I.T., inducting the two new local officers and groups. Jean Scott explained all the insignia of a C.G.I.T. uniform and Doris Forlard explained the necessary requirements for a chevron recognition. Mrs. Hornby and Mrs. Judd then gave a short synopsis of the work of C.G.I.T. in Ontario emphasizing the part played by the Ontario Girls' Work Board in it.

The offering for the Girls' Work Board was received by the group treasurer's Betty Nesbitt.

Mrs. Hornby, Janet Sopha with Ruth Oliphant, leader of the Junior group, leading in the dedication prayer.

Mrs. Larry Buck, leader of the Senior group told the Mission and aims of the missionary project of the year, while Dorothy Dobbs outlined the study taken, the story of the girl pioneers a true story of the Japanese Canadians.

The meeting was handed over to Mrs. Leonard Reid, president of the W.M.S., who spoke a few words of welcome to the mothers and ladies and also of appreciation to the girls and leaders for their work.

A very impressive re-affiliation service was then conducted with Mrs. A. C. Chapman, dept. of the Grp. Secretary, Bernice Stoneburg, Lois Buck, and Maureen Upper assisting from the C.G.I.T. and Mrs. Denton, Mrs. Ross Gordon and Mrs. L. Wilkes assisting from the W.M.S. The girls in turn presented the W.M.S. with $10 as an affiliation gift from the girls.

Miss Ruth Oliphant led in a few enjoyable games after which the ladies of the W.M.S. served the gathering with refreshments.

Mrs. Leonard Reidford on behalf of the C.G.I.T. expressed their appreciation to the W.M.S., and Donna Ferguson conveyed the thanks of the girls to the mothers for attending also to Mrs. A. McIntyre, C.G.I.T. mother and to Mrs. A. Hitchins, mother of Mrs. Wilkes for their help. Mrs. O. Dobbs expressed appreciation to the leaders from the mothers. The singing of Taps brought a very pleasant evening to a close.

CHATTERTON W.I.

Chatterton Women's Institute met at Mrs. Harry Reid's home in the form of dinner and Red Cross sewing bee, ten members and two visitors were present. Dinner monies realized $4, $2.85.

Mrs. MacInnes, president conducted a short business session. Plans were made for a supper meeting in March. Several more letters of appreciation, were read from boys overseas for Christmas boxes received by them. One letter worthy of special mention from a boy sent an unknown soldier in care of Capt. Lafferty. The recipient being Cpl. Gus Allen in Holland, a West Indian, who had been in Canada, only four days before enlisting in Oct. 1941 in Canadian Army.

BABY'S HOT LITTLE HEAD MAY BE A DANGER SIGNAL

WHEN your Baby's head feels hot to your hand, when he's restless and cries a lot, when he's off his feed and doesn't sleep well, you'll be glad to know that Baby's Own Tablets are just the thing to help him. Baby's Own Tablets act as a gentle laxative, sweeten the stomach, relieve simple colds and constipation, and regulate baby's system. Concerning Baby's Own Tablets, Mrs. Leon Gervais, of Midland, has said: "I have given Baby's Own Tablets to my baby when he was cross and restless and they have always done him good." Baby's Own Tablets are sold by druggists or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The World Day Of Prayer for Women

The World Day of Prayer for women falls on the 1st Friday in Lent.

After more than 50 years of prayer fellowship, the movement has girdled the globe and drawn into its circle women from various faiths and many nations.

Women throughout the world who have a part in this movement believe that God hears and answers prayers and that united prayer, as in the case of the early Christians can open the flood gates of Heaven and bring down showers of blessings upon those who pray and those for whom they pray.

Those who take part in this ecumenical Movement through corporate worship experience a new sense of belonging to the whole Church of Christ. (Contributed)

Popular Couple Leave Delora.

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Wright left on Wednesday afternoon for their new home in Vancouver. The former has been associated with Deloro for a period of forty-seven years, the last thirty-eight of which have been spent in continuous service for the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company, Limited. As has been truly said "You cannot think of Deloro without thinking of Mr. Wright." Mr. Wright received his early training as a chemist in England and joined the staff of the Canadian Goldfields, Limited, at Deloro, as a chemist in 1897. By this association he was interested in the production of gold from the local ores, and continued to work for the Company until 1901 when the operations at Deloro were terminated. Still interested in the production of gold, he moved to Australia. After several years in that country, where incidentally, he met Mrs. Wright, he returned to Canada via England and in 1906 came back to Deloro to be superintendent of the newly organized Deloro Mining and Reduction Company, Limited, serving in that capacity until 1913 when he was appointed manager. The following year he was promoted to the position of general manager which position he held with the original company until 1916 when the name was changed to Deloro Smelting and Refining Company, Limited, continued as general manager of the new company until 1940 when he was appointed vice president and succeeded by the late R. (A. Elliott as general manager, in addition to this, Mr. Wright has filled a real niche in the affairs of Deloro village. He served as reeve of the council for many years, eventually seeing the village incorporated. He was a prime mover in the formation of the social welfare of the community and a member of the curling Quartette and playing violin solos which will be pleasantly remembered by those privileged to hear him. In the field of sport he was a top notch tennis player and a keen supporter of all pastimes apshores by the former Athletic Association. In particular he enjoyed watching a soccer game. Mrs. Wright has been linked strongly with all that has been carried on in the village in the form of women's activities. For the past two weeks Mr. and Mrs. Wright's many friends have been entertained in the district, and while their loss to the community will be keenly felt, their best wishes for a prosperous future in Vancouver go with them to Vancouver.

SOMETHING AFOOT IN GERMANY SAYS CORRESPONDENT

Sees Signs Rank and File of German Troops May be Asking Awkward Questions

By JON KIMCHE
(Reuters Military Correspondent)

London, Feb. 15 —(Reuters)— Something is afoot in Germany, it may surprise the Allies.

"The evidence comes from the Nazis themselves. During the last week the radio press transmissions by the propaganda ministry to the German forces at the front have become a long series of arguments with the German rank and file.

The newspaper for the German forces in Norway discusses the situation in the east and echoes questions that the author has heard asked on every side:

"How could all this happen? Had we again under-rated the Russians? Has the whole of our centre been blown away like a cloud of dust? Have we no more reserves? What about our armament and food supply now that we no longer hold Upper Silesia and Polish territory?"

The answer to these soldiers' questions is striking by the lack of Nazi self-confidence it reveals.

"We must remain sober and not make pathetic statements nor yield to worries about the past or speculations about the future. Shut up the people, pessimists and rumor mongers."

Another event has clearly upset the German rank and file on many fronts. Monday's issue of the German forces paper contained this significant item:

"When hearing the German High Command communique, many a German may ask why should the German soldiers capture Szekesfehervar (in Hungary) when Oppeln (in Germany) has to be adandoned? Why can formations of the army and the Waffen S. S. break through enemy positions between Lake Balaton and the Danube (Hungary) while Soviet tanks endeavor to establish bridgeheads across the Oder?"

Again the official answer can hardly convince the questioners.

Field Marshal Albert von Kesselring in Italy appears to have the same problem on his hands. On Sunday a special, grave, translation to the German troops in Italy sought to counter the German worries on that front.

These are a few examples of what is going on at the German front. They all indicate, without a doubt, that perhaps for the first time in this war the German rank and file are beginning to question the infallibility of their leadership, to ask awkward questions, to indicate a state of dissatisfaction.

Priest, Who Defied Nazis, Walks To Allied Lines, Then Broadcasts Back to Huns to Quit Fighting

By THOBURN WIANT
(AP War Correspondent)

With U. S. 94th Division, In Germany, Feb. 15—(AP)—A 36-year-old former priest of Theodow Cardinal Innitzer's Vienna Archdiocese never preached before as he preached Tuesday.

For few hours before he was a private in the German army on the front southeast of Luxembourg. For weeks he had not been permitted to say mass. Then, like Cardinal Innitzer, he defied the Nazis. He decided to go ahead and take the consequences. For that his commander kept him under arrest for 10 days and threatened him with confinement in a concentration camp.

When the 94th Infantry Division increased its pressure the commander ordered the priest to take a machine pistol and fight. The priest took the pistol and walked up to the front lines. He kept right walking—into the American front lines.

Wednesday, over a loudspeaker, his voice rumbled two miles deep into the German lines.

The priest said:

"As your comrade and chaplain I want to say a few words. When I was captured I was received with open arms.

"I want to implore you now, my comrades, to cease these bloody doings, this murder. Put your weapons away, come over to us here because it is senseless to continue fighting.

"To you really believe Adolf Hitler and those officers close to him can give you the promised peace? No, never, comrades. Because a man ridden by the Devil can never bring peace to our Fatherland."

Kinsmen Fag Fund

"We would practically have to do without cigarettes if it were not for organizations like yours in Canada," wrote J. V. Mills from overseas to the Kinsmen Fag Fund in Toronto. Similar admissions are weekly received by Chairman Buster Lalkarr to indicate the importance the gifts of tobacco, smilingly lives of Canadian boys serving overseas, mean to them. When a gift is as plentiful as they are in the Dominion.

Even from North Ireland, where John Dall put in port with his naval unit, came praise of cigarettes received there. "It doesn't take long for the Kinsmen Fag Fund cigarettes to catch up to we sailors and the whole crew enjoy them," wrote Dall. From the Army in Italy, Holland and Belgium come similar replies, all repeating in keep up the good work, send up plenty of those good old Canadian cigarettes.

The list of Belleville boys sent individual shipments of 200 cigarettes through the Kinsmen Fag Fund this week included:

One Man Killed In Garson Mine One Is Injured

Sudbury, Feb. 14 (CP)—One man was killed and another seriously injured last night in the nearby Garson mine of the International Nickel Company. The men were working on the drift round started to fire before they were in safe shelter.

Clarence McMillan, 36-year-old shift boss and driller, died in hospital a nearby Copper Cliff about two hours after the accident. He formerly lived at Strathclair, Manitoba, and has worked at Inco since 1942 except for a brief period on his Manitoba farm.

Nick Pearchuk, 38-year-old Sudbury driller, was seriously injured. Cause of the accident is being investigated.

Silent Bats Hear Way Around

(By Alan Devoe in Pageant Magazine)

Bats, as everyone knows, are creatures of the darkness. They frequent the depths of pitch black caves; and they emerge in flight over the countryside only when daylight has gone.

How do bats, which skim through the air at high speeds, manage to avoid running into obstacles?

The answer to that ancient mystery of natural history has been a long time coming. The recent development of the scientific study of supersonics helped give it. In the soundproof Cruft physics laboratory at Harvard, Dr. D. R. Griffin and Dr. Robert Galambos fired bats and noted the fabulous skill with which the darting and swooping aerial mammals avoided striking the ceiling, walls, furniture and even the fine suspended wires with which the laboratory had been festooned. One by one the scientists eliminated, as possible motes by which the bats' uncanny skill might be explained, the senses of sight, touch, smell and taste.

Finally, stopping the bats' ears tight shut, the investigators found that the bats then began to bump der. Bats must hear the presence of obstacles, even of such delicate obstacles as wires. But how?

Modern science has established that man can hear, as sounds, only the vibrations frequencies ranging from about 30 vibrations a second to about 20,000 vibrations a second. Above the latter limit are "supersonics," which we cannot hear at all. With this en mind, the two Harvard investigators connected the laboratory's ap amplifier which translates supersonic vibrations into humanly audible sounds. And found their answer!

Everyone is familiar with bats knows that the winged mammals seem to be extremely silent. Only rarely are they heard to utter a little squeak. But the instrument of Galambos' amplifier was set up this "silence" of bats joined the host of other ultrasonic noises that from our narrow sense limits. Far from being silent, a bat's flight is continuously emitting an uproar of shrill cries. But its hearing is almost wholly supersonic, the bat laryngeal supersonics helped apply. In this such sounds and the bats' inner ear specially adapted to hear them.

The bat's hearing is indeed of an "soundlessly." In the summer dusk it actually seems to register every instant.

By patient experiment the investigators determined that the bat is guided through the darkness by hearing the echoes and reflections of the continual supersonic sounds it makes. As the echo bounces back from an obstacle, its angle lets the bat know instantly the obstacle's location. A bat can hear supersonics echo from a wire one millimeter in diameter.

Little Benny's Note Book

Cousin Oscar finished his 3rd helping of dessert and then he started lying room to talk to pop and me about different subjects now and whether Oscar was homesick yet. Him claiming he was not and didn't sick in his life, or even seasick, and just then everything went dark on account to the electric going out, and pop said, Keep calm, everybody I'll find out what's going and have it right in half a jiffy, or in a jiffy and a half at the most.

I intend to keep calm, but not to pitch darkness for land sakes, ma said.

And she took 2 candles out of the table draw and lit them and pop said, Undoubtedly a use has blown out. Now the thing to do is to start with firm, masterly steps to the fuse box and look very close in the eye till one of them gives you a black look, and that'll be the guilty party. Then with a few deft trifles you remove it and replace it with a fresh fuse, and presto, there will be light, he said.

I don't know as I altogether agree Cousin Oscar said. In the army, when there was trouble we learned to go right to the root of it, and in this case the root of it may be in the main switch. So I say the first thing to do is look in the main switch box and examine the master fuse, he said, and ma said, And in the talkative meantime we're sitting here by candle light like people in the backward days of yore.

Which just then the lights went on again, and pop said, By golly it was some trouble with the city current. We were right not to stew around uselessly. Oscar, Harris makes waste, he said, and Cousin Oscar said, Absolutely, there is nothing to do and we did it.

Oh, you men are such wonderful creatures, ma said. This world would probably be an entirely different place with no men in it, she said.

Mountain View "Bombers" Come From Behind in Last Period To Tie "Flyers" 6-6

Score Tied Four Times in Sixty Minutes of Sustained Speed

When it comes to unpredictable hockey, trust the Quinte R.C.A.F. service league to produce just that. On Monday night the Trenton "Flyers" raced back to gain a four all tie with the Mountain View "Bombers", and last night the "Bombers" rallied strongly in the final second to reverse such matters as the same two squads thrilled 3,100 fans rising through to a similar draw. And mike, that is modern hockey. The teams play again on Monday night.

It looked set for the "Bombers" early when Frank Aube and Bill Robertson whipped the rubber past Bernadine Gilbert in the initial stanza to put P/L Jimmie McCaa's Bomber two up. That advantage was cut down with rapidity when Trenton drives home three in succession, as the period ended 3-2 for Trenton.

How Goals Scored

In case there might be interest as to how goals were scored, "Duke" Duquette gave Frank Aube a perfect pass for the opening counter following which Williams, in the Bomber net again proved himself as Robertson's No. 1 rival as the goalies again stood out as the best. Following a face-off Pat Dowley whipped the rubber to Dinnie, who made no mistake and the Bombers were two up. Dutchie raced thru into the corner and passed to Thompson, who gave the Flyers their first goal. That counter sparked the "Flyers" to heights as Raymond made no mistake with Pringle's perfect pass and Marshall set up a "sweetie" for Hamminby as the "Flyers" ended the stanza 3-2 in their favor.

Early in the middle session goalie Williams stood precariously alone as the "Flyers" swept in, around and sometimes over the Bombers' goalie. With the pressure off, George Reid broke away and raced the length of the ice to score true and hard to even count. Back came Reinhardt and the "Flyers" hard-working defence-man, to solo and give the "Flyers" one up again. Apparently it was George Brock's night as he took Stef Bourdeau's perfect pass for his second goal of the night as the squads left the ice all even at 4-4.

Flyers Went Two Up

It looked like curtains for the "Bombers" when Paul Raymond stick-selected his way through the Bombers and fired, box true, on a solo effort and then Jack Farmer Les Canadiens star made little mistake when he picked up Sammy Rasmussky's pass in front of goal and put the Flyers two up.

Only game "Mac" MacMullin and before the 2,000-odd fans had settled back in the seats "Mac" set up a perfect pass for Don Willson and you then turned around and whipped home Dinnie's pass to knot the score once again and that folks is something of a record as the game was tied exactly four times throughout.

As suggested in the lead, this All-Service hockey is the most unpredictable hocked played, but, it, per-ACTION.

The line-ups — Mountain view: goal, Williams; defence, Dinnie and Brock; centre, Duquette; wings, Aube and Bourdeau; subs, MacMullin, Bernadine, Gilbert, Gerry, Foster, Conley and Wilson. Trenton: goal, Robertson; defence, Currie and Marshall; centre, Raymond; wings, Hamminby and Pringle; subs, Reinhardt, Prigon, Harper, Perry, Ray, Thompson and Dutchek.

Referee — Bidwell. Campbellford, Puffer, Hastings.

SUMMARY

1st Period—
1. Bombers—Aube (Duquette) 1.19
2. Bombers—Dinnie (Cowley) 8.01
3. Flyers—Thompson—(Dutchek) 13.44

K. Watson's Rink In Consols Finals

Winnipeg, Feb. 15 (CP) — Ken Watson's Winnipeg Strathcona entered the Brier Consols finals of the 37th annual Manitoba bonspiel last night by defeating Doug Cartwell of Glenboro, 16-8, for the rink's 26th victory in 27 starts.

The Watson four will meet Howard Wood of the Winnipeg Granite Club in the Manitoba championship final tonight. Both are former Manitoba championship skips. Wood defeated Cliff Wite of the Strathcona club 13-8 in the semi-finals.

Earlier, Watson won the grand aggregate for the fourth successive year, first skip to achieve this feat in curling history in the province.

BOTTOM TEAMS IN SPOTLIGHT OF HOCKEY LOOP

Losers of Chicago and Rangers May Slip Into Cellar for Good

By The Canadian Press

Interest in the current National Hockey League race today is centered on the bottom of the standings.

With Montreal Canadiens secure in first place and Detroit Red Wings enjoying a six-game lead over Toronto Maple Leafs who are six games ahead of the fourth place Boston Bruins, attention has been diverted to New York Rangers and Chicago Black Hawks, respectively the fifth and sixth clubs in the standings.

The two teams, battling one point apart for the cellar slot, tangle tonight at New York and the loser will slip into the cellar, probably for the remainder of the season. The question is, how will Rangers react to Chicago's new defensive tactics which proved troublesome to other N.H.L. clubs.

The Bluebirds dropped a 4-2 decision at Detroit last night, which insured Wings a berth in the Stanley Cup play-offs and left Hawks the opportunity to climb out of the cellar with a win tonight.

Goalie Flash Hollett paced the Wings to victory with two first period goals, one a 65-foot shot which broke the period wide open. Goalie Doug Stevenson, playing his second professional game for Rangers, kicked into the net. The second resulted from a solo dash late in the session.

Stevenson kicked out 16 Detroit shots in the second period, holding the Wings scoreless. Kilby MacDonald slapped a rebound past Al Lumley from five feet to draw Detroit early in the period.

Wings beat Stevenson twice in the final period, the goals coming from the sticks of Jim McAtee and Ted Lindsay, while the best Rangers could do was a goal by centreman Al Dewsbury on a scrambled between the other two.

What's Doing in Sport

By The Canadian Press

Bill Quinlan abandoned his early retirement as president and general manager of the Boston Bruins while observing his 39th birthday yesterday at Boston. He would devote his attention to the development of extensive farm system of the Maisons-ard League club, he said, and the post of general manager would be taken over by his son, John, now secretary of the club. He said the Bruins hoped to secure a working agreement with some class AA club.

Well known as a track star with the Belleville Rowing Club and prior to enlistment in the R.C.A.F. in 1942, P/O William (Mel) McQueen has been killed in action after service as bomber pilot overseas since January, 1943, according to word received by his relatives in Hamilton yesterday.

Six Toronto high school hockey teams engaged in a triple-header last night at Maple Leaf Gardens during which injury played under the experimental code which eliminates the 5-minute penalty and calls halts for offsides were reduced by half. It was decided to continue with the new rules for the balance of the season.

After winning 23 successive fights by the knockout route, George Costner, Cleveland Negro welterweight, last night did not last one full round at Chicago against Ray (Sugar) Robinson of New York, No. 1 contender for the title. Robinson flattened him in 2:55 minutes.

Previously turned down by the draft board because of high blood pressure, Al Norton Cooper, retired pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, yesterday was again rejected for service with the U. S. Army and then was returned to 4-F category following a re-examination at Jefferson Barracks, St. Louis.

Action.

Two men worked side by side at the Belleville Board office. They never spoke, but one watched the other. One man left work daily at 4 o'clock. The other toiled on till 6 or later.

Some months passed. Then the harder-working of the two approached the other.

"I beg your pardon," he said, but do you mind telling me how you can clean up your work every day at 4 o'clock?"

The other looked at the other man. "When I come to a rough piece of detail," I mark it, 'Refer to Commander Smith.' I figure that's a department as large as this there is sure to be at Commander Smith and I must be right; those papers never come back."

The harder worker started to remove his coat.

"Brother," he said, "prepare for action. I'm Commander Smith."

Jesters In.

Handicapped with the absence of players, Toots Holway's Belleville Junior O.H.A. race with a 6 to 1 win at Norwood last night. Now the Belleville kids can get in a little practice before shifting and Trenton battle matters out in the end of the series. Minuts Al Meagher and Rance Bush led the local kids and their way back last night by scoring three goals apiece. The players from Lakefield in a bobsled picked up three in a hurry. With Trenton playing at Stirling last night there should be a goodly sprinkling of local fans who attended that fend between the "Combines" and Stan Jackson's Frontenac. In the meantime the Bears can sit back and relax and take their time as they get the "Combines" in the finals. After all the boys think they have a score to settle with the only team that haven't beaten this season.)

What, Again!

Maybe the skeptics might think it's a frame-up. And who are we to disagree. First the Bombers and Flyers play a four-all draw, then they try it again last night and behold it's a six-all draw. Perhaps you know the answer, we don't. But there will be a definite answer on Monday night when the same two squads must declare a winner, which may be hard on reporters, especially after the initial two starts.

Never in the history of hockey in Belleville have fans seen two such evenly-matched teams. On many occasions either team could have won either game, but the only predicable seemingly entered into the picture just when it appeared as though either one of the squads had the upper advantage.

Again it was swell goal-tending by Williams and Robertson that kept the scores tied. But the fans went for Raymond's two third period goals. Coleman was picked Defence-man of the series. Incidentally next came Reinhardt, the Flyers' drifting defenceman.

Fits and That.

For those interested in the high-hoop game there'll be three splendid basketball games at the "Y" tonight commencing at seven o'clock ....Two local quintettes pry off the floor before the Peterborough "Y" girls and men tangle with Shorti's Belleville "Y" squads. The Peterborough girls raises the basket lassies in the second game while the schools' City men tangle with Ed Shorti's Intermediate squad in the final game of the evening....Three games for admission, just a bargain night; folks....Then on Friday night the Bear carnival at the Hume arena is the centre of attraction....There really must be big dough in this game, folks....According to the story out of St. Louis Harold (Muddy) Ruel, the former Washington catcher and now coach of the Chicago White Sox, along with one Donald F. Rickard, has purchased controlling interest in the Rochester club in the International League. The Sladen bank's total capital, surplus and undistributed profits are nearly $500,000....Deposits up to Dec. 31 of 1944 totaled $7,750,000.

Remember When.

Forty-one years ago Canada's oldest racing fixture, the Queen's Plate, run at Toronto, had its value increased to $2,000 by the Ontario Jockey Club. The event was first run in 1860 when Queen Victoria donated the plate to encourage Canadian racing.

Toronto, Feb. 15 — (CP) — One of the oldest arguments in Canadian women's basketball circles was cropped up once more. Percy Page, whose Edmonton Grads were such championship claimants in their hey-day, again comes to the defence of his smooth-passing, back-happy girls.

The silver-topped cage coach, who keeps abreast of court doings at his western home, backs Roy Van Grafan to task for the umpteenth time. Van Grafian coaches Rochester Flyers which won Canada's first in Ritzies as a basketball umpire and continually has contended that his Flyers could have beaten Grads had the teams met. Page, of course, is inclined to disagree.

And Percy has substantial factual evidence to back up his claim that Grads — any edition of them — could have held their own against their Rochester successors. In 25 years of play, the prairie girls ran up a 300-win total while dropping 30 games, some of the latter to boys' teams, yet they cleaned the boards at four Olympic Games and stopped every team of note in the U.S. at the time.

Congenial Percy told Bill (Nagal-Pala Retiere) Cayman he has no desire to enter an argument with Van Grafan, but thinks the Rochester mentor has gone overboard on a question that never can be satisfactorily settled.

Grads had one opportunity to play Flavets some six years ago, but forewent it in favor to attend a presentation to their coach Nell MacDonald, in Toronto. Noei, king-pin centre of the team, was being awarded the Rose Bowl, symbolic of outstanding ability in Canadian women's athletic circles.

LESSON NO. 607
By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

The squeeze is such a heartless play. You cannot overcome it. No matter what you do, so to say, you cannot wriggle from it. Lay out these cards:

NORTH
♠ A 10 3
♥ None
♦ None
♣ None
WEST	EAST
♠ None	♠ K J
♥ Q	♥ None
♦ None	♦ None
♣ J 10	♣ K
♠ Q
♥ None
♦ 3
♣ Q

What you see are the last three cards of a deal in each hand. The tricks have been played. South is declarer. The trump suit is diamonds. South is still in the lead.

It happens that declarer has taken the first five tricks. He has four of which were straight trump lead. It was at a time when no trumps were in the other three hands.

West and east and dummy discarding side cards on the four last trump leads. The cards you now see in each hand are the best they could hold under the circumstances.

Will declarer be able to take the three remaining tricks? The west cards in this case are immaterial. Sit yourself in the east seat and see if you can stop a trick.

If south leads the club queen, you are sure to win a trick with your club king. If south leads the spade queen and wins with the ace in dummy, he must trump the next spade. But you will get a club trick.

But there is an entirely different story to tell if south leads the last trump. Because that will squeeze you in spite of anything you may try to do.

On that trump lead, you dare not give up the club king. If you do, south will take the club queen and spade ace for the last tricks.

On that trump lead, you must give up the spade jack! If you do, south will then lead the spade queen. Dummy will win with the ace and your spade king will drop. The spade ten is then good.

When you gotta get, you gotta go.

11 "Hopefuls" For Kentucky Derby Train

Miami, Fla., Feb. 15 — (AP) — With midnight tonight the usual deadline for Kentucky Derby nominations, 11 "hopefuls" whose names are already in the hat "just in case," went through their paces at Hialeah race course today.

The Calumet Farms' trio of Pot O' Luck, Good Blood and Hail Victory head the list of three-year-olds at Hialeah who are getting ready to "run" should the ban on racing be removed in time for the big race.

Gertrude Donovan's Fighting Don an early summer sensation among last year's juveniles, "has done everything asked — and more," in trials, says trainer H. E. Battle.

The colt has been breezed twice and once worked a half in :51. An ankle which was "tied" last September is reported "good as new."

Trainer Jean Parks rates Hopp Jr., ahead of Alabama in choosing between Fred W. Hopper's two derby aspirants. Parks, however, admits that it's "close picking."

FRICK DENIES TALKS PLANNED WITH MR. BYRNES

Baseball Not Asking Any Favors Says National League President

New York, Feb. 15 — (AP) — Hinted by reports that baseball would waste little time in hurrying to Washington to clarify its status, Ford Frick, president of the National League, denied yesterday that any talks were planned with James F. Byrnes, war mobilization director, or other government officials.

"There is absolutely no truth in the stories," said Frick bluntly "neither Will Harridge (president of the American League) nor I have an appointment with Mr. Byrnes or anyone else in Washington and we are not seeking appointment with anyone, until we know what happens to the pending man-power legislation."

Frick, who was named with Harridge to represent the major leagues in Washington, said he would go to the capital only if there was a reason for doing so.

"As I have said many times, baseball has never asked for any favors and has no intention of doing so. We will go to Washington only when certain developments arise which aren't clear as to how they apply to us."

Frick also revealed that the major league schedule was in the hands of the printers with only minor changes from the 1944 playing pattern.

Frick insisted the removed proposal of a regrouping of the two leagues on an east-west basis was never seriously considered and there was no indication the Office of Defense Transportation would make any such request according to his recent conversation with Col. J. Monroe Johnson, director of the O.D.T.

New York, Feb. 15 — (AP) — When an American Army boxing team from Anzio Volcanic Club up in the All-India boxing tournaments at Calcutta last week, it had been brought to light a few items that might be worth noting by Eddie Hagan in his efforts to improve boxing in New York. . . The tourney was fought under Marquis rules. The referee remained outside the ring, fans weren't allowed to make escape except between rounds and the bouts served to eliminate each of the six nights of scrapping. Still Getting Stupes

Yankees Win Night Batting Championship

Chicago, Feb. 15 —(AP)— Joe McCarthy's Yankees have no lights in their home stamping grounds but they slapped the ball in other parks on the circuit for a team plate mark of .283 to win the 1944 night batting championship of the American League.

Figures released today by the American League Service Bureau show that the Yankees, who hit .278 points better at night than they did in all games, played 18 after dark contests, winning 13 and losing six for a .667 percentage mark. In the 36 games, the Yanks went to bat 563 times and banged out 795 hits, eight of them home runs.

Philadelphia Athletics, who won 14 night tilts and dropped 18, batted .261 under the lights. Finishing third in are- light hitting, the championship St. Louis Browns wound up with a .239 mark.

CAPS RECEIVE SETBACK BY BUFFALO BISONS

Pittsburgh Hornets Improve Chances for Second Place by Beating Barons

By The Canadian Press

Pittsburgh Hornets improved their chances of overtaking the second-place Indianapolis Capitals in the American section of the International Hockey League last night with a crushing 8-4 victory over the pace-setting Cleveland Barons. At the same time, the Caps received a setback at Buffalo, bowing to Bisons 4-3. In the other league game, Hershey Bears defeated Providence Reds 5-2.

At Pittsburgh, the Barons had gone ahead 3-0 on goals by Freddie Hartholome, but a four-goal splurge sent the Hornets ahead. Jimmy Jamieson had two of these with Marcel Bonetto and Bob Walton scoring singles.

In the second period, Tony Hemmerling and Bob Graves combined for Pittsburgh with Bartholome getting in white for Cleveland, and in the third frame, Hemmerling scored for Barons with Johnny Mahaffy and Jamieson another scoring the last two for Hornets.

At Buffalo, Phil Scrapur, Johnny Sherrell and Dick Kowcinak scored for Capitals, but counters by Paul Mundrick, Jack Hamilton, Bobby Jones add Oscar Artcukle gave Victory to Bisons. Referee Larry Hood, Buffalo defenceman, scored his 34th assist of the season and a new A.H.L. assist record for defencemen.

At Hershey, the Bears and the Reds ace-sawed back and forth for the first half scoring for Providence, but after that the scoring was all by Hershey. Cooper and Gooden each got another with Chuck Gooden earning a single.

The game was bitterly contested with frequent fist fights breaking out. In the final period, five majors and one match penalty were given. In the scramble, Manny Cotton, Reds' defenceman, was charged with whacking a spectator with his stick and was banished from the game.

Leo Gravelle Replaces' Blute As Leading Scorer

Toronto, Feb. 15 (CP)—Leo Gravelle, St. Michael's Majors' inside flankman from Quebec, replaced teammate Johnny Blute as leading scorer in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A scoring race. Gravelle has 52 points while Blute has 51 with eight games to go. Tied with 51, Joe Sadler and Edmonton's Johnny McCormack. Also of St. Michael's, trail the leaders with 42 and 41 points respectively. Two western players playing with St. Catharines Paiocca, Laurie Peterson and Ted Sloan of St. Michael's are next in line with 37 points.

4th Belleville Cub Pack Wins Hockey Game

The second game of best out of seven series between 1st Belleville and 4th Belleville Cub Packs, was played last Monday to the tune of 3-3 in favor of the 4th Belleville Pack. The din could be heard from afar and not only the puck but the rules, (if any?) were smashed off-ice by these stalwarts. The next game is scheduled for Saturday at 10 a.m. Look out 4th Belleville, 1st Belleville are howling for revenge.

The lineups were as follows:

1st Belleville: Bruce Irvine, goal; Glen Blair (1), Bernard Harvey, defence; Bill Spencer, Ronald Elston (2), wings; Paul Baldwin, centre; Gary Spawn, Bruce Page, Albert Farrar, Robert Pearce, Lloyd Kellet.

CHAPTER 17

She powered her nose and put on new lips. Then she studied the pictures of the beautiful women whose faces adorned challengingly from the dressing-table top. "To Charlie—I shall love you forever—Bernice" was the inscription on one. Livia wondered whether Bernice was one of the wives or merely a passing infatuation.

The other portrait was a young girl. "She can't be more than sixteen," thought Livia. There was inscription on this.

There was another portrait by his low, wide bed. This woman was much older than the others and like the young girl, a stranger.

"One of his wives," concluded Livia. And, of course, she was the mother of the girl. How strange it would be to be the stepmother of a girl who was only a few years younger. Livia had decided to accept Charles as a husband.

The adjoining bathroom was almost as big as the bedroom. It was green and cool, with silvered racks and taps. A silky dressing gown lay across a white leather armchair. She felt closer to Charles than at any time since they had known each other.

She went downstairs, found him in an oak-beamed room which had a long bar on one side, and a brass rail. The Filipino brought in a tray of fried shrimps. They were hot and delicious. Livia drank from the long tumbler containing rum, and a few other things Charles told her. She sat on a high stool facing him and felt sophisticated until the liquor caught at her throat and she coughed. She took the tumbler from her.

"I'll weaken it," he said. She liked him for that. Fordyce was surprised himself. But he didn't make them drink. That wasn't his way. The last time a girl had insisted on getting drunk he had her driven home in the chauffeur—greatly to her surprise.

They had dinner by the candlelight in a dining-room of shadowy wood and gleaming silver. The Filipino was assisted by a twin, and the service was noiseless and swift. Later they returned to the room with the bar and were sitting on a wide red leather sofa.

Charles held her close and kissed her hair.

"I'm crazy about you," he whispered. "Do you love me—a little?"

"Yes, I do—a little," she said—and waited for him to say, "Will you marry me?" He kissed her again, passionately and possessively. Charles was unprepared for her sudden withdrawal.

"What's wrong?" he asked without getting up. There was nothing wrong.

"I'm a fool", she said. Her voice was hard.

"Livia!" his voice was genuine.

"I thought you were in love with me", she laughed.

"But I am," he protested. She really was sweet and her eyes were beautiful with tears. "Do you want me to marry you? Is that it?" he asked in a matter of fact voice. She was embarrassed.

"No", she answered hurriedly, "No, not that at all".

"Will you marry me?" he asked her. She paused, then said:

"Yes, yes, I will".

After his last divorce, Fordyce had sworn off marriage. No woman would possess him again. Now he was taking a girl, barely older than his daughter, to be Mrs. Charles Fordyce, number five. And he was the cynic who had coined the phrase, "The husband who marries again doesn't deserve to lose the first wife".

All right, he would marry again—probably make another fool of himself.

"Stay here tonight", he whispered, his lips close to hers. She thought of the loneliness in her apartment and almost said, "Yes". He saw her hesitation.

"We're going to be married. What difference does it make?" he persisted.

"None—I suppose", she said slowly.

"You won't be sorry—I swear it". He kissed her again. She stood up. "You don't really love me, do you?" said Charles watching her closely.

"Oh, but I do", she protested, "only——"

"Only you'd like for us to be married first".

"Yes. Is it prudish of me? But there hasn't been any other man I mean, I was in love with some one, but——"

"I'll hire a plane tonight, and we'll fly-to Las Vegas and get married". Now she was very agitated.

"Not tonight—I've got to get ready, and things", she ended lamely, "there are so many things to do".

"Like what?" Her brain refused the answer. "All right, darling", he said suddenly, "All right, we'll go tomorrow night, all right?"

"Yes"

"And now I'll take you home".

He kissed her gently at the door of her apartment, and she was glad when he left her there. She was still confused, but before she reached his car, she called him back. He came swiftly to her.

"Do I give up my career?" she squied faintly.

"Not at all", he assured her. "We'll be a family company—star and director".

"Yes", she said eagerly and brushed his cheek with her soft lips. "Good night, Charles". Livia waved while the car went slowly away.

The following day had the unreal quality of a dream. She was awakened at nine o'clock when an enormous box of flowers arrived. There were roses, daffodils, narcissus, iris, gladioli, jonquils, lovely poppies—all the flowers of California. And a large spray of white orchids.

Charles was calling for her at 11. They were to go shopping. There was much to do.

"I must tell Bruce", Livia thought suddenly. She wondered at the sudden depression dampening her excitement.

She called him. There was no answer. If she rushed, she could see Vera and get back in time for Charles.

"I'm eloping with Charles Fordyce tonight", she told her astonished mother.

"I'm glad, darling—" Vera kissed her. She had wanted Livia to marry Bruce. But she liked Fordyce.

"What shall I do about father? Shall I tell him?" Livia asked.

"No", Vera said quickly. "Why should you? You'll probably never see our miserable patent again. And why should you risk security and happiness for a man who has done absolutely nothing for you? I'll take the responsibility if anything ever happens".

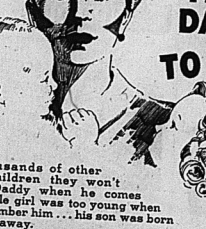
FEELS BETTER TODAY THAN IN YEARS, SINCE TAKING SYNTONA

Relieved Nervous Indigestion, Gas, Cramps, Headaches and Dizzy Spells, Also Backache and Rheumatic Pains. "Feel So Much Better That Even My Work is Easier," She Says.

MRS. DELVA M. DALE



MRS. DELVA DALE, Reservoir Cottage, London, Ont., is glad to pass her experience along to others, because she knows what it means to suffer from years of suffering with stomach disorders as well as headache, nervousness and rheumatic pain. Here is Mrs. Dale's experience as told in her own words:

"I had sought relief for years from stomach disorders and gas and indigestion, which made me a pitiable and was wrecking my nerves. I could eat hearty meals and what I formed as bloating. I had awful headaches almost every day, and such dizziness I had dreaded to go out. In my back and this seemed to get worse, and I was so nervous, as I said before, that I could get very sore and painful. I often very nervous that I felt as if I was not refreshing. As a result, I was irritable and cross, and I hated my work.

"I had tried so many different kinds of medicine with no benefits, that I had no faith in anything, but when I heard about Syntona, I got a bottle even though I was skeptical. I felt better after the first dose, so I continued and as I kept taking it I felt stronger and better. I have taken five bottles now, and I have practically no trouble. I am free of many spells, the headaches, dizziness and pains do not come, and my nerves are relaxed. For the first time in years I sleep soundly all night, and I feel so much better that I can do my housework easily.

"The biggest favor I can do others suffering as I was, is to advise them to take Syntona. Don't delay! Get Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville at DOLAN THE DRUGGIST.

Post-War Bonus Big-Family Plan Proposed in Britain

London, Feb. 15 —(CP)— A post-war bonus plan for big families providing five shillings (about $1.10) weekly for each child after the first was proposed in a government bill made public today.

Sir Walter Monckton, Minister of Social Insurance, estimated about 2,500,000 families with approximately 4,600,000 children, apart from the first child, would qualify.

The bonus would be part of the comprehensive government "Beveridge Plan" for social security. Beveridge originally proposed a bonus of eight shillings weekly. The government contended, however, the new bill was more generous for it would provide school meals and free milk worth 10 shillings.

EARLY SOLUTION EXPECTED

Winnipeg, Feb. 15. (CP)—Maurice Sterin, war correspondent for the Hamilton newspapers, in a Belgrade dispatch published yesterday by the Winnipeg Free Press, said an early solution of the Yugoslav Regency is anticipated in that country as a result of the big three conferences at Yalta, in the Crimea, and Mexico City.

POLICE COURT

The Thursday session of County Police Court was presided over by T. Y. Wills, was rather brief when only three cases of interest were heard by the court.

Claude McInnes, Holloway, pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal passing with a motor vehicle in a restricted area on the highway. He was assessed $7.50, which included costs.

Fred McCutcheon, Stirling, appeared on a charge of failing to report an accident in which damage to an enlarged size de after the accused stop, agreed to procure employment.

"Did you ever live alone with no one to look after you?" McCutcheon asked Assistant Crown Attorney Hugh G. Robertson. The latter jovially admitted he had never experienced that problem.

Wm. J. Ayton, Foxboro, appeared on a charge of having obtained $175 from Gardiner Post, also of Foxboro, by fraud. The matter was enlarged for one week at the request of the defendant.

THRONE SPEECH

Bear Half Cost of Education

In a review of educational matters, it was noted that the most important single step taken throughout the year was the assumption by the government of 50 per cent. of the total cost of elementary and secondary education in this province. This would make it possible to equalize educational opportunity in all parts of the province and permit the acceleration of improvement of school facilities in less satisfactory schools." It also would lessen the taxation burden on real estate for educational purposes, mortgage on building and improvement of homes.

Steps had been taken to improve rural education through merging of the old township school sections into township school areas and through special grants to rural high schools adapting regular school courses to the needs of the locality, introduction of the study of practical agriculture, shop-work and home economics. More rural school with an enrolment of less than eight pupils have been closed, bringing the total so closed to 425. The value of these units not so much in economies as in improvement in instruction which could be given in larger classes.

"The Provincial scholarship plan has been extended to include scores of scholarships and bursaries were studying in universities, normal schools or other institutions of higher learning.

A new step was taken in advanced technological training by the re-opening of the Provincial Mining Institute at Haileybury in northern Ontario. A training centre had been opened for Trades where returned service men and women could obtain occupational instruction.

Teachers' Profession Act

The Ontario Teachers' Profession Act passed at the last session of the Legislature had led to the assumption by the teachers themselves of the Teachers Federation and "it appears that many improvements which are also necessary in educational administration would be greatly helped, if there were brought about the creation of a similar nature which would enable the boards of control or school boards and in the Ontario College of Education, to meet the shortage of trained teachers. Increased attention has been paid in the curriculum on history and the responsibilities of citizenship and the teaching of these subjects and explaining the history and operation of democracy. Legislation which would soon be ready for use in grade seven.

In the field of health, sustained efforts had been made to reduce the toll of tuberculosis and diphtheria and "during the past year there has been a substantial drop in the number or reported cases of the most serious of these diseases. Legislation has been introduced to further assist an effective control program.

Mass Radiography X-Ray Surveys.

It was planned to extend the use of mass community X-ray surveys to help control tuberculosis. Lack of general hospital facilities and facilities in smaller communities was a problem which was to be met in establishing a comprehensive program to meet such needs as soon as personnel was available.

"Investigation has shown that the number of mentally defective indigent patients in public hospitals is increasing. Because of the increasing cost of hospital care at the Provincial Institutions, legislation will be introduced to deal with this subject. Hospital accommodation is to be provided in such a manner as the needs of those municipalities which are to be brought under the Workmen's Compensation Act, the speech said, adding that "it is the opinion of my ministers that every person who works for an employer should immediately be given protection by this act."

The Ontario Labor Relations Board dealt with 400 cases since it was established last April and "it is a gratifying fact that the many days of work lost in industrial disputes in the province Ontario have been considerably reduced." The Regional Wage Boards, established by the latters federal wage control legislation in Ontario, dealt with 8,000 cases last year—one-third of the number for the entire Dominion.

Which would be set out and its regulations would be amended so provide "a more satisfactory remuneration for female workers and change the hours of work from 55 to 48.

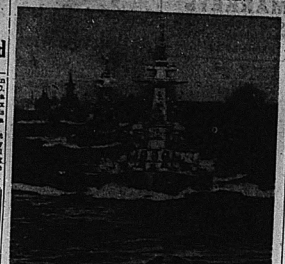
Agriculture, continued to be Ontario's greatest single industry

Officer Attempts Suicide After Wife's Body Found

Columbia, S.C., Feb. 15.—(AP)—His throat and wrists swathed in bandages, 30-year old Lieut. S. C. Epes was under guard today in a post hospital after, Detective Alex Heise said, he admitted bullying his young ex-col teacher wife in to shallow fashion.

Army authorities at nearby Fort Jackson said the action of a wealthy Virginia family attempted to kill himself last Monday by slashing himself with a razor blade. The body of Mrs. Mary Lee Epes, 26, was exhumed yesterday.

Heise said she had apparently been drugged and the state Identification Bureau announced after an autopsy that a blow on the head seemingly was the cause of death.



Mrs. Epes had left her job in Jacksonville, Fla., during the Christmas holidays and had come here to be with her husband while he awaited transfer overseas.

Although admitting he took his wife's body in the trunk of his car to the fortside, the sheriff said, the Lieutenant disclaimed any knowledge of how his wife was killed.

Traveling in an ambulance from the post hospital, Epes himself let officers to the grave, one of about 40 army-fashioned foxholes, recently dug by troops on manoeuvres, about 12 miles here.

Epes was quoted by the sheriff as saying that four nights after burying his wife he returned to the grave and placed a Fort Jackson sign over it. The sign, reading "Latrine closed," was still in place when officers arrived, sheriff Heise said.

General Marshall Makes Surprise Visit to Front

With the 5th Army in Italy, Feb. 15 — (AP) — Gen. George C. Marshall, United States Army Chief of Staff, made a surprise tour of the Italian front, told 5th Army soldiers yesterday they have immobilized large German forces in Italy, preventing these troops from bolstering sagging lines on the eastern and western fronts.

It is estimated the Germans have 27 divisions in Italy. Gen. Marshall's statement was an obvious sonic to the 5th Army troops. He made an unexpected, three-day tour of the 5th's sector on his way home from the Crimea conference.

It was Gen. Marshall's first visit to the Italian front since last June. He gave officers and men here all the way from rear echelons to the front a general picture of plans for the defeat of Germany.

As his tour ended, Gen. Marshall said:

"Probably the most impressive phase of the operations in Italy is the degree of co-operation and unity evidenced by the Allied command of the forces. The guard of honor which met me at Clark's (Lt.-Gen. Mark Clark, Commander of the 15th Army Group) was composed of military representatives of 13 nationalities in the 5th and 8th armies and paraded as one body commanded by one officer."

Two Nazi Spies Sentenced To Die

New York, Feb. 15.—(AP)—William Curtis Colepaugh, an American whom the government called "a double-crossing traitor," and Erich Gimpel, his German accomplice, were convicted yesterday as Nazi spies and sentenced to die by hanging.

Without displaying emotion, Gimpel—and then Colepaugh—stood before a seven-man military commission and heard Col. Clinton J. Harrold, its president, say:

"This commission finds, by a secret written ballot, finds you guilty upon all three counts and you are hereby sentenced to be hanged by the neck until dead."

Colepaugh and Gimpel then were led by federal guards from the courtroom and taken back to the 12th year-old Castle Williams, Governor's Island guard house.

The charges against them were: They violated the laws of war by secretly landing behind defense lines from a submarine; they acted as spies in violation of the 81st Article of War and they conspired to commit espionage and sabotage.

The verdict meant that the 28-year-old Colepaugh, a native of Noank, Conn., had tried in vain to throw off the traitor label.

Pleads Compulsion

He testified he went to Berlin a year ago to join the German Army and was made an agent against his wishes. He said he became disillusioned with conditions in Germany and saw in the assignment an opportunity to get away.

The finely censored communiques of the closed trial indicated that he finally approached the Federal Bureau of Investigation—after a month after their landing last November 29 off Hancock, Me., and "turned in" Gimpel. Gimpel 30, was described by Colepaugh as an important person in army security headquarters in Berlin.

Before the sentences can be carried out they will be subject to review, first by Maj.Gen. Thomas A. Terry, commanding general of the 2nd Army Service Command, and then by the Board of Review of the Judge Advocate-General's office at Washington.

It took the commission less than three hours to reach its verdict, but whether it was unanimous was not known. Five votes—two-thirds of the commission—were necessary to convict.

VIRTUAL MARTIAL LAW NOW RULES GERMANY

Sweeping Decree Demands Utmost Devotion to Govt.

Civilians Showing Cowardice Subject to Death Penalty

London, Feb. 16 (CP)—Almost all Germany was placed under virtual martial law today by a sweeping decree calling for military trial of "whoever tries to evade his duties toward the community."

Civilians who show "cowardice" will be subject to the death penalty in the "Reich's defence areas threatened by the enemy."

The decree was one of the most drastic decrees ever issued by the Germans in their effort to bring every man, woman and child into their struggle. It was issued, Berlin said, on orders from Adolf Hitler and with the agreement of Heinrich Himmler.

The German radio gave the text of the decree:

"The hard struggle for the existence of the Reich demands of every German fighting determination and devotion to the utmost.

"Whoever tries to evade his duties towards the community, especially if he does it from cowardice or selfishness, must immediately be taken to task with necessary ruthlessness if he is not to damage should arise to the Reich from failure of an individual.

Test of Order.

"On orders of the Fuehrer and in agreement with the Reich's Minister and Chief of Reich's Chancellery, it is decreed:

"1. Members of summary justice will be established in the Reich's defence areas threatened by the enemy.

"Military courts of summary justice will be presided over by a man who will be assisted by a political leader of the Nazi leader of the National Socialist Party and an officer of the Wehrmacht, Waffen SS or police.

"The Reich's defence commissar will appoint members of court and a public prosecutor.

"2. Members of summary justice will be instructed to try all crimes by which German fighting strength or fighting determination is endangered.

"Proceedings will be in accordance with rules of the Reich's criminal code.

"3. The sentence of the military courts, summary justice is to be for death, acquittal or transfer to regular judicial proceedings.

"Decisions of the court requires confirmation by the Reich's defence commissar, who will also fix time, place, time and method of execution of sentence.

"If the Reich's defence commissar cannot be reached and immediate execution is absolutely necessary, his function will be exercised by a public prosecutor.

"4. Regulations necessary in amplification, alteration or execution of this decree will be issued by the Reich's minister of justice in agreement with the Reich's ministry of interior and the chief of the party chancellery.

"5. This decree comes into force with its public announcement in the press and on radio."

The decree did not mention civilians specifically, but the context made it clear they were affected. Makeup of the courts will be under control in the hands of the Nazis, although a German jurist usually will sit on the court martial boards.

Heavy Bombers Pound Mandalay

Kandy, Ceylon, Feb. 16 — (CP)—Heavy bombers of the Eastern Air Command pounded the port of Rangoon supply dumps south of Mandalay and hammered road and rail communications feeding enemy forces on the Burma fronts, Allied headquarters announced today.

One plane was lost.

Headquarters reported continued mopping up operations on Ramree Island off the Burma west coast and in the Kangaw sector of Western Burma, but otherwise gave little information on ground activity.

Severe Electric Storm Follows 6-inch Snowfall

Bancroft, Feb. 16 — (Special) — Following Thursday morning's fog, snow began falling and reaching blizzard proportions by late afternoon, which lasted until near midnight, during which time a severe electrical storm accompanied by sleet and rain which lasted for two hours, disrupting local telephone service during that period. Six inches of snow fell which together with high winds throughout the night blocking most of the side roads. The main highways are clear.

Dresden One Huge Inferno Since Raid

Stockholm, Feb. 16 — (Reuters) — Since the R.A.F.— R.C.A.F. raid last Tuesday night Dresden has been "one huge inferno where tens of thousands perished," the Berlin correspondent of the Dagens Nyheter reported last night.

Refugees from the bombed city, streaming into Berlin, told of a scene of horror, so that "the name Dresden now dominates the minds of Berliners," he said.

Almost all Dresden's well known buildings have been completely or partly destroyed."

RUMORS CIRCULATE

London, Feb. 16.— A Montevideo broadcast recorded here today quoted a Madrid English language saying rumors were circulating in Spanish government circles that Argentina was contemplating a declaration of war against Germany before the United Nations Conference opens in San Francisco, April 25.

RESERVE JUDGMENT

Calgary, Feb. 16. (CP)—The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of Alberta has reserved judgment on the appeal of Otto Strasser, prisoners of war, Otto Stolzl and August Kuesler, from conviction on a charge of stealing a truck while attempting to escape. The appeal hearing ended late yesterday.

Legend of Blond Gertie Stimulates Marooned Soldiers in Rhine Valley

By NED NORDNESS
(AP War Correspondent)

On the Rhine, Feb. 12—(Delayed) —(AP)—In the wastes of the swollen, dyke-damaged Rhine where Canadian and British troops are fighting a forlorn, lonely battle, the legend of the mysterious Gertie of Keeken, blond Hausfrau, has done much to ease the herve strain of this ugly and depressing phase of this northern war.

And this is an ugly war — and a most depressing one in the present campaign.

Imagine a barrier of water almost as wide as the English Channel between Dover and Calais and 1 1/2 acres again in area, 5 feet of it the average depth of eight feet of water, the shells of houses, with here and there a miraculously sound building, buried in water to the second floor.

Telephone poles skeletonize the horizon and only the uppermost branches of trees are visible above the water. Roads disappear in the muddy flood and then you come on an island a few feet square with perhaps a house or a barn on it.

On these islands, soldiers are maintaining guard to protect the flank of Field Marshal Montgomery's offensive to the south of the Rhine.

From these islands and from sunken villages they drove the enemy beyond the rebellious Rhine at gunpoint — operating from amphibious buffaloes. They are out here alone, and the radio is the constant link at times from their own command posts. The loneliness, huge water and land craft, have been their constant companions.

Scarcely had the Canadians buffaloed into Keeken, ferreted out the enemy and taken their unconquered of a blond Nazi beauty spread like the sullen floodwaters. A beauty who, how long since the attack began who had taken to the Allied conquerors.

This delicious morsel of gossip was the meat of many a conversation during the early days of Keeken night and the lads began thinking of ways to get invited to Keeken, which even now is under enemy fire from across the Rhine.

Then came proof of blond Gertie. A Canadian platoon reporting by buffalo sent a note to the commander that "enemy quiet, blond beautiful and cooperative." Soon Cook blond Venus who marooned here and was also by now, not unfraternizing, but sure frail-gazing. Nothing to report."

Gertie still at Keeken and the boys who man this post have sent no complaints. It is said that volunteers by the score are prepared to take over the assignment to be had in Keeken and life in the watery wastes is infinitely more cheerful because of Gertie, the Nazi maiden.

Konev Bearing Down on Spree River Defences

Correspondents Say Neisse River Posts Shattered After Fierce Battles

London, Feb. 16 — (CP) — An armored mass of Marshal Konev's 1st Ukrainian Army bore down on Berlin's Spree River defences from the southeast today, smashing toward Beeskow and Cottbus, 31 to 52 miles from the capital.

Soviet war correspondents indicated that the Neisse river defenses had been shattered after fierce battles in the areas of Forst and Guben, Neisse river tributary, that flows into the Oder south of Frankfurt.

They told of columns of tanks and cavalry rolling through shattered villages within sight of the Spree, indicated that the main weight of Konev's 1st Ukrainian Army was directed in the "Berlin direction" after forming a link with Marshal Zhukov's, 1st White Russian Army for an assault on the German capital.

The Oder river defence line east of Berlin was rapidly being outflanked.

Reported Across River

Konev's southern wing, however, was reported across the Neisse and within 37 miles of the upper Elbe, the river that rises in Czechoslovakia near Prague, passes through Dresden and flows diagonally across Germany to the North Sea at Hamburg.

The Soviet armored trains bearing down on Berlin, Moscow disclosed, were using the Berlin-Moscow mile stretch between Beeskow and Cottbus and flanking the Germans who have held up Zhukov's attack on Frankfurt and Kuerstin along the Oder.

Beeskow is 31 miles southeast of Berlin and 13 miles southeast of Frankfurt on the Oder; Cottbus, directly east of Beeskow, is 52 miles from Berlin.

Both Beeskow and Cottbus are on many lakes and water courses to form a defence for Berlin. Both are important communication centres.

Soviet correspondents said fighting was raging near the east bank of the Spree. The dispatches indicated that Forst, 12 miles east of Cottbus, and Guben, 13 miles to the north, either had been by-passed or captured.

Beeskow Besieged

With his left flank now solidly anchored on the great river bastion of the 1st Ukrainian Army, Zhukov was free to launch the attack of his 1st White Russian Army on Poznan.

(KONEV BEARING—Page 3)

On the Eastern Front Nazi Germany is confronted with a new threat from the south, as Konev's Red army drives through German Silesia toward Dresden. Budapest has fallen to the Russians, after 48 days of street fighting. Frankfurt to the north is threatened and reports indicate evacuation of women and children.

Canadian Army Patrols Land on Schouwen Is.

Crerar's British Forces to South Closing in on Goch and Calcar

Allied Supreme Headquarters, Paris, Feb. 16. (Reuters)—Canadian Army patrols landed on Schouwen Island in the estuary of the Rhine and Maas Rivers, Wednesday night, it was reported here today.

The patrols drew German fire, showing that Field Marshal Von Rundstedt's troops have not yet evacuated the island.

(Berlin radio said in a dispatch recorded in London that British Spitfires attempted a landing on the Netherlands Island of Schouwen Wednesday night.)

Schouwen Island lies north of the Beveland Islands, and Walcheren and Tholen Islands, which were captured by men of the 1st Canadian Army during the month-long campaign last autumn to drive the enemy from the Scheldt Estuary approaches to Antwerp and open that port to Allied shipping.

The German garrisons there previously have reported Allied landings on Schouwen but Allied patrols have mentioned only patrol actions against the island.

Germans Admit Raid,

London, Feb. 16. (CP)—The Berlin radio said today the British attempting a landing on The Netherlands Islands of Schouwen at the mouth of the Rhine north of the Beveland Islands on Wednesday night.

A transocean broadcast said the first wave of the amphibious assault was thrown back under the heavy fire of German coastal batteries, and a second attempt was repeled with British units leaving behind their arms and ammunition.

Schouwen Island is part of the Rhine Estuary between the Oosterschelde, a branch of the sea, and Oranjlegen Kraumer Volkerak, one of the mouths of the Rhine.

It is 22 miles northwest of Antwerp and 24 miles southwest of Rotterdam.

Transocean did not indicate whether the assault forces finally gained a foothold.

Japs Resisting With New Fury in City's Heart

Documents Found Indicate Japs Contemplate Major Defence of Manila

Manila, Feb. 16 — (AP)—Documents showing that a large Japanese force expected to turn the tide of the Luzon campaign at Manila on a line from today as the cornered remnants of that out-smarted garrison fought with new fury in its blazing south Manila trap.

Headquarters, announcing a deeper penetration of Bataan Peninsula, a 113-ton bombing of Corregidor and the steady reduction of "the enemy's final lair" in the rubble of the once-proud capital, disclosed also the seizure of the Japanese documents.

These indicated that the enemy "contemplated a major and successful defence of Manila."

Headquarters reported the Japanese, prior to the American Luzon landing, had a garrison of more than 20,000 men in Manila, with great quantities of guns, mines, pillboxes and fortifications, expecting an attack from the south and from Manila Bay.

Several thousand Japanese may still be left in the thick-walled intramurous district of South Manila along the Bay shore just south of the Pasig River mouth, and in the adjacent Ermita and Malate districts.

Rains Limited to Yards

These Japanese, confined to an area about 8,000 yards by 1,500 yds. opened up at dawn yesterday with murderous fire and limited American gains in a matter of yards.

This renewed Japanese vigor blunted the 37th Infantry Division spearhead which had pushed through the University of the Philippines campus toward the bay shore. To the south, the 11th Airborne Division thrust was slowed by fierce opposition in their push from captured Nichols Field.

Many of the total of 536 Japanese artillery pieces captured or destroyed in the Battle of Manila have been counted around Nichols Field. This underscored the Japanese idea that the main American invasion spear would be from the south, rather than the north as it was the case.

Troops of the 11th Corps pushed four miles south of Abucay, along the peninsula's Manila Bay coast, to the Balanga-Pilar area, the eastern end of the last line held by the American and Philippine defenders of Bataan three years ago.

Water-Hemmed Huisberden Falls to the Canadians

United States 3rd Army Carves Out Half-Mile Gains in the Pruem Sector

Paris, Feb. 16 — (AP) — The 1st Canadian Army, aimed toward the target of the Industrial Ruhr, thrust almost a mile deeper into the lower Rhine valley of northwest Germany today through storms of heavy artillery and mortar fire thrown by an ever increasing flood of enemy reserves.

The Canadians held 30 miles of the south bank of the flooded Rhine from the Nijmegen sector to opposite Rees, holding the six bridges at crossing the wide waterway. They advanced and captured waterlogged Huisberden, four miles east of Kleve and 10 from the Ruhr gateway city of Wesel.

Scots, Britons and Welshmen under Gen. Crerar's command pushed toward the defence keystones of Goch and Calcar in the centre of the bulging 20-mile front. One front-dispatch said the British Empire troops spread out south of Moyland, indicating an advance in the area less than two miles from Calcar. Scots swinging southeast along the highway from Rees moved to within 1,000 yards of Moyland.

Other troops closed slowly toward Goch from three directions and were within easy artillery range. Goch and Calcar both are important military highway hubs, respectively eight miles south and 8 miles southeast of Kleve.

The German committed elements of 25 fighting divisions in the critical northern front, the 8th Parachute Division, three other parachute, two infantry and two tank divisions have been identified. Prisoners totalled 3,700 for the offensive.

Silence Army Resting.

The United States 3rd Army in the Pruem sector, also a big Prussen sector, slowly reducing German fortifications. The United States 1st Army in northern sector also rested after a local line straightening operation which overran Rimling, two miles south of the German Siegfried Line defence villages.

Only the Roer river receding rapidly at the edge of the Cologne plain, teh Germans increased their fire from the east bank. The U.S. United States 9th and 1st armies' artillery on the west bank of the river had been strengthened immensely by the recent offensive operations on the Rhine, 30 miles away Some 700 shells fell on the 9th army sector in Duesseldorf-Hilfarth, the only Southern southwest of the Roer army sector.

Ground mists covered sodden battlefields in the Northern sector, denying air support to the Canadian army. Three more Germans counter-attacks were repulsed and the sting appeared to have been taken from the enemy.

Peterborough Football Star Shot When Gestapo Kills Camp Personnel

Peterboro, Feb. 16 — (CP) — The parents of WO. Griffin Young of Peterboro said today they had been informed their son, Griffin Young, son is believed to have been killed last Aug. 26 when the German Gestapo machine-gunned the entire white prisoner personnel in a mixed white-Negro prison camp.

Young's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Young, said they were not told the number of prisoners involved but they were British, Canadian and American. They said they were told of the affair by Flt. Lt. Kay Hall, padre, R.C.A.F. padre stationed at Trenton, Ont., and that his information was received by the R.C.A.F. in Ottawa through an escaped American prisoner.

Here is the story the parents were told:

Young was shot down over France last Aug. 22. His squadron leader reported that Young bailed out and landed safely. Two days after he was captured by German soldiers. He was said to have occupied, White prisoners were shot and the Negroes were taken by the Germans in the direction of Germany, a group set to work.

One of the white Americans was of dark complexion. He passed himself off as a Negro and got away. Later he escaped from France and on reaching England reported to the R.A.F. what had happened. Griffin Young's name was the only Canadian named he remembered.

Young, 20 years old, enlisted in 1941 and saw service in the Near East before being moved to the western front. In his younger days he played football with the Peterborough collegiate football team.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden disclosed in the British House of Commons last year that R.A.F. Dominion and Allied airmen were shot by the Germans after a mass escape from a prison camp near Dresden last March 22. Six of them were Canadians. Later 33 more fliers were shot by the Germans, alleged-ly while attempting to escape, but Two Into Airfields.

Rocket and bomb-bearing helicats and helldivers and avenger torpedo planes, numbering over 1,000 in 214 square miles, tore into airfields and military installations some at 7 a.m. Japanese time. They tangled over the city with the Japanese air force in fierce sky fights.

Admiral Mitscher appeared bent on knocking out the bulk of Japan's home-based air force as his Immediate attack. It was learned that the carrier air arm in January destroyed by 800 Japanese aircraft in sweeps from Saipon, French Indo-China, to Amoy, China.

"This operation has long been planned and is the opportunity to accomplish it fulfills the deeply cherished desire of every officer and man of the Pacific fleet," officially announced Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz at his new Guam headquarters, within 1,500 miles of Tokyo.

"Admiral Mitscher, whose carriers began the westward sweep in January, 1944, in the Marshalls, went the honor of completing the last mile of the 6,000 to Tokyo from Pearl Harbor where Japanese carriers struck Dec. 7, 1941.

Challenge Flung at Japs.

The close approach to Japan by the largest mass of American warships and carrier planes assembled flung a challenge at the Nipponese fleet. Japan was no invitation it had been accepted.

Admiral Mitscher's Associated Press War Correspondent who saw the giant fleet assemble for the Tokyo attack said: "Never in the world have I war fleet in history".

It included the largest and newest aircraft carriers, battleships, light carriers, cruisers, destroyers and destroyers.

It packs a wallop with "considerably more than 1,200 planes", Hanigund disclosed.

Battleships, warships and refueling units are participating. The warships are literally thousands of anti-aircraft guns to protect them and behind the best the Japanese air force can offer.

Superiority 20 to 1

Nimitz and his officers pointed out that in carrier sweeps of January-February in the greatest concentration of American carrier strength in the homeland, these officers said, Japanese air superiority can be maintained, even 20 to one.

Possibly the largest formation of Superfortresses ever to bomb Japan proper, 150 of the bombers are slated to come by plastering the Mitsubishi aircraft plant at Nagoya yesterday. Tokyo said Bibs also hit Yokohama, Tokyo's port.

Nimitz's fleet packed powder. More important, it is a mighty thing which to be reckoned with and again, Admiral Mitscher's planes are looking down on Tokyo with 2,000-pound bombs, their returning to reload with more of them.

DESERONTO MAN SUFFERS BURNS

Percy Brooks of Deseronto, an employee at the Kingston Plant of the Aluminum Company of Canada, was admitted to the Kingston General Hospital on Saturday night suffering serious burns about the face, arms and hands. Mr. Brooks, who works in the rod mill department, was near a large vessel of molten metal that was being poured. It is thought a drop of molten metal from the vessel touched something in its surging. He was rushed to the hospital by one of the company ambulances, and a doctor and nurse were standing near Mr. Brooks and he received slight burns to the face, neck and forearms. Both goggles were wearing their protective shield which prevented the molten metal splashing in their eyes and perhaps saved their eyesight.

ENGLISH WAR BRIDES ARRIVE IN DISTRICT

Another group of English war brides arrived in Canada en route to Canada destined for Military District No. 3 where their soldier husbands make their homes.

The group arrived in Kingston yesterday but were prevented from proceeding westward because of a derailment near Brighton at the time expected the brides will be able to go to their various destinations some time today.

Included in the group is the wife of Sergeant R. J. McCaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. McCaw, 200 George Street, and Mrs. T. A. Boyle, wife of Bombardier L. A. Boyle whose brother resides at 31 Dundas Street.

A baby wife, Mrs. T. J. Cole, whose husband is Petty Officer T. J. Cole of 197 Station Street, also arrived at Kingston with the group.

RELATIVES RECEIVE MEMORIAL CROSSES

Mrs. Annie Absy and Mrs. Helen Absy, mother and wife respectively of the late Sergeant Stanley Absy of Mount Anne, have received Memorial Crosses from the Canadian Government to honor the soldier who gave his life for his country.

The late sergeant was a well-known resident of Point Anne and went overseas early in the war with the 1st member of the Hamilton Light Infantry and saw considerable service with that regiment prior to his death from illness in Belgium.

The Memorial Crosses are enclosed with a tribute to the memory of the fallen soldier.

BARTON HINCHCLIFFE NAMED ROAD SUPT.

Tax collector for the township for the past two years, Mr. Barton Hinchcliffe of Wallbridge, has been named as road superintendent for Sidney, it has been announced by Reeve G. J. F. Wilson. Mr. Hinchcliffe was recently appointed and succeeds Mr. Thomas Robinson who had held the position for approximately twenty years. It is understood the new road superintendent will relinquish his duties as tax collector.

BUILD FRIGID LOCKER SYSTEM AT STIRLING

Attesting to the popularity of the Frigidaire locker system, which are being built in many rural centres throughout the province, a system of this kind for storing of farmers' meats and other perishables will be constructed in Stirling, it has been learned.

Mr. Frank C. West, proprietor of Stirling Creamery, has purchased the Dundas Street Front Street in Stirling, and proposes to erect a modern locker storage for convenience of citizens in the surrounding district. Permission from the Warden and Township Council and Board to install the system has already been acquired, it is learned, and the necessary alterations to the building will be made as soon as possible.

PTE. C. L. STARK REPORTED SAFE

Member of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, Pte. Clayton Lorne Stark, formerly of Picton, is now listed as safe after being reported missing during enemy action, according to the latest Canadian Army Casualty list released for publication today. Pte. Stark's next of kin is given as his grandmother, Mrs. Annie Stark of Picton.

Also a member of an Eastern Ontario Regiment, L.-Cpl. Leonard Carl Hicks of R.R. 1, Hybla, Hastings County, is listed in the same casualty list as being wounded. Pte. Kuno is the son of Mr. Mursalo Kuno of Hybla.

FLT.-SGT. McKAY MISSING FOLLOWING AERIAL OPERATIONS

Air Force with a Royal Canadian Air Force member over overseas, Flight Sgt. Alexander Grant McKay, formerly of Montreal, is missing following aerial operations his wife has been informed. He has been informed from Air Force headquarters. The action from which her husband failed to return took place approximately one month ago.

A native of Montreal, Flight Sgt. McKay was stationed for some time at Mountain View and during his service there lived with his wife in Belleville at 24 Charlotte St. He went overseas in the spring of 1944. Mrs. McKay and her two children, Ronald and Peter have lived in this city for approximately three years.

SIX NORTHBROOK MEN LEAVE FOR YELLOW KNIFE MINING CAMP

Rigors of Arctic sub-zero temperatures hold no fears for men in the Northland district, it has been learned. Six young men from Northbrook ranging from sixteen to seventy years have left for the Yellow Knife in the Northwest Territories, following a survey of stake-claims for a Toronto mining concern.

All hardened outdoor men and used to life in the woods, the party will make the last 40-mile lap of their journey by air after which they will sleep in tents, cook in the open and travel by snowshoes and sleds. The men are Charles Ruttan, Donald Thompson, Thomas Ruttan, Ben Thompson, Russell Sedore and Roy Reid.

AB Lawrence Cook On Corvette Which Sank U-Boat

Member of another fighting Belleville family, Able Seaman Lawrence Cook, son of Mrs. Mrs. J. Cook of 35 St. Paul street, Belleville, is serving with the crew currently when his ship the corvette H.M.C.S. Chambly, a submarine on the North Atlantic, the sinking of the Nazi sub was announced by Rear Admiral L. W. Murray, R.C.N. Cook was recently appointed and succeeds Able Seaman Robinson who had held the position for approximately twenty years. It is understood the new road superintendent will relinquish his duties as tax collector.

Able Seaman C. West, proprietor of Stirling Creamery, has purchased the Dundas Street Front Street in Stirling, and proposes to erect a modern locker storage for convenience of citizens in the surrounding district. Permission from the Warden and Township Council and Board to install the system has already been acquired, it is learned, and the necessary alterations to the building will be made as soon as possible.

Six Desk Sets Arrive Aboard The "Belleville"

Six handsome desk sets valued at $225 have arrived aboard the corvette H.M.C.S. "Belleville," Lieut. Jack Kerning, commanding officer, has informed Committee Secretary Harold Lockwood. The young officer wrote a fine letter of appreciation to the members of the Activity for the many gifts received during the past few weeks.

Ten pairs of hockey pants in addition to complete ice equipment are being shipped to the Belleville complement while a new motion picture projector, screen, and recording entertainment for the officers and men on board.

Those who visited the ship during her stay at Kingston will be interested to learn that Lieut. (E) Barrett-Leonard is now second in command, replacing Lieut. Anderson Ayre, while two officer additions to the wardroom staff are Lieut. R. W. Creed and Sub-Lt. H. Bruce Strathdee-Strathdean and Wilson and Sub-Lt. Clarence Leonard.

According to Lieut. Kerning the ship is undergoing intensive training but is expected to go on operations in the near future.

Maj. Stockloser, Madoc, Promoted To Lieut. Colonel

Major William K. Stockloser, of Madoc, former member of the original Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, and recently second in command of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel, National Defence headquarters announced today.

Lieut.-Colonel Stockloser, who recently celebrated his 38th birthday was born in Madoc township and village and lived there until the time of his enlistment in 1939. He was educated at the public and high schools in Madoc. He is a son of Mr. Karl Stockloser of Madoc and Mr. Stockloser of that village.

Enlisting as a private with "Hasty Pees" in 1939, he went overseas in November of that year, with the rank of lieutenant. During the long Canadian period of the Canadians in England, he was promoted to the rank of captain.

Going to Italy with his regiment, Lt.-Col. Stockloser was given his majority during the fighting in Sicily in 1944 he was returned to England where he was again posted as second in command of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders. While not announced it is believed that this has been given command of that famous regiment.

Col. Stockloser was married three years ago to Miss Jean Ross, of Madoc, wife, and two children, reside at Wallbridge. Another brother, Mrs. W. McCartney lives in Brandon, Man.

Accidents Attributed To Icy Pavements

Two motor accidents occurred on city streets Friday morning, both being attributed to the icy conditions which prevailed following Thursday night's rain and subsequent freeze-up.

On Pinnacle Street a car driven by Thos. Hutchinson, 36 Russell Street, slid off the built-up icy roadway and was in collision with a parked motor car driven by Mrs. R. Kerr, 294 Bleecker Ave. Extensive property damage resulted to the fenders of the vehicles involved.

About the same time the city bus, driven by Cameron Morton, 136 Mcdonald Ave., also slid off an icy shoulder and scraped the fender of an unidentified automobile owned by G. E. Thompson, 90 West Bridge St. The damage was slight in this incident. Sergt. D. Ellis investigated both accidents.

With city streets resembling glaring sheets of mirror-like icy glass traffic moved at a cautious speed early today. Later in the morning the employees of the Department of Public Works completed the sanding of all principal intersections and hills with the result traffic resumed normal conditions long before noon.

Lac. H. W. Collins Of City Killed In Explosion

Leading Aircraftman Herbert William Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Collins of Dundas Street, East, has been killed as the result of an explosion and resulting fire which destroyed an R.C.A.F. storage building at Debert, Nova Scotia, on Thursday, his parents have been informed. The explosion killed three others and injured 15, according to an official announcement.

Born in Belleville 24 years ago, L.A.C. Collins was educated in the city and was a member of St. Thomas' Church. Before his enlistment he played in the Argyll Pipe Band for two years prior to his enlistment in the air force. He had been stationed in Newfoundland eighteen months and last July was transferred to Sydney, N.S.

Surviving besides his parents are two sisters, Mrs. Clayton Webb of Belleville, and Miss E. D. Sailor of St. Thomas, and one brother, Leading Seaman Wilbert Henry Collins, serving on the West Coast with the R.C.N.V.R. He has been in the service for the past three years. His father is a veteran of the First World War, enlisting with the local 34th Battery and serving overseas with the 80th Battalion.

The body is expected to arrive in the city some time today; the funeral announcement will be made at a later date.

berg, the fortress in the southwestern corner of the Oder bend south of Frankfurt.

Presumably these attacks were preliminary to a general assault to break past the Frankfurt-Guben fortifications in a double-barreled attack on Berlin from the east and southeast.

At the same time the German high command reported that the Russians had broken their assault front to the north by pushing an advance of more than 16 miles from Soldin toward Stettin, Berlin's Baltic port.

30-Mile Break-Through

In a 30-mile break-through, Koniev's troops yesterday toppled the Brandenburg province strongpoint of Sommerfeld, 67 miles from the German capital.

His rapid thrust from the depths of Silesia already has destroyed the effectiveness of the Oder defences north of Frankfurt, where the Germans checked a direct march toward Berlin by hurling that Gregory K. Zhukov's 1st White Russian Army.

With Zhukov steadily building up new strength a large-scale crossing of the Oder, Koniev now is in position to cut in behind the enemy's Fuerstenberg - Frankfurt defence line.

Whether the Germans could deploy their forces to stave off both threats for long remained to be seen.

As the two powerful Russian armies thus were bolstering the enemy troops into position for the eventual knockout blow against the German capital the Allied air forces were lending a strong helping hand.

Rev. Don. S. Amos Called to Bridge Street Church

The Rev. Donald S. Amos, B.A., interim minister at Fairmont Park United Church, Toronto, has been called to the ministry of Bridge Street United Church here, church officials announced today. He will succeed the Rev. James Semple, former minister of George Street United Church, Peterborough.

Mr. Amos, who preached in Bridge Street Church on Sunday past, is the final selection of the official board from a large number of ministerial applicants.

He has had considerable experience in the ministerial field and some time ago was selected to serve Home Missions Board of the United Church for the field of the Alaskan Highway where he spent two years.

The Rev. E. W. Stapleford, interim minister of Bridge Street United Church, will continue in his capacity until the arrival of Mr. Amos.

One Bill Given First Reading In Legislature

Toronto, Feb. 16 — (CP) — One bill was given first reading yesterday as the Ontario Legislature observed routine formalities and members settled down to the work of the current session, the second of Premier Gordon Daley's Progressive Conservative administration.

Introduction of the bill, by Attorney-General Leslie Blackwell, preceded reading of the Throne Speech which outlined government activities of the past year and forecast legislation, including municipal planning legislation. The new bill would revise the active service election act passed at the direct ballot in place of the proxy vote for Canadian servicemen outside the province.

Other business before adjournment until 3 p. m. today was the naming of special committees and passing of private bills. Second and second address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, Charles H. Marsh, Progressive Conservative member for Halton and Norval, next Tuesday will move the motion and R. R. Scott, Progressive Conservative, Toronto, Parkdale, will second.

Premier Drew and R. B. Jolliffe, leader of the C.C.F. opposition, will speak briefly in welcoming the members. Both are agreed on the absence through illness of Agriculture Minister Duncan Marshall and both expressed the hope that two House members now under service, J.K. Wismer, C.C.F., of Toronto, Trinity, and Hon. Maj. The Rev. A. E. Downer, government member from Dufferin-Simcoe, might return to participate in the session.

City Council Sets 35-Mill Rate of Taxation for 1945

Two Lengthy Sessions Held Before Rate Agreed on by Members

At a special meeting of the Belleville City Council held on Thursday evening, the municipal tax rate for the coming year was set at 35 mills a reduction of two mills on the rate that prevailed last year. This reduction was accomplished despite the increase in expenditures that the council was forced to meet by giving increased service to the citizens. For the past few years council have given considerable time long session on Monday evening, after the regular council session and again last evening before accepting the above rate.

After the estimate by-law was passed through the various phases along with the other by-law making the rate legal, His Worship Mayor Wills gave a review of the year's business.

Mayor Gives Statement

Mayor Pullwell in addressing the council said citizens said that the municipal tax rate set by your council will be 35 mills for 1945. Belleville has grown considerably and grow and higher expenditures are necessary to maintain essential services and progress. In my municipal address I outlined a programme which your council hopes to complete during the coming year. The program is a heavy one with little to co-operation and backing of your council every citizen I feel it will be carried out.

Public Works $0,100

The Public Works appropriation is increased approximately $10,000. This amount is necessary from the increased cost of snow removal due to excessive snowfall this winter and also anticipates the cost of snow removal for next winter by which time we expect to have completed an order to purchase to clean our sidewalks. Of primary importance are the industrial development and regional and postwar planning. The appropriation for these two departments are increased $1,000 each. This is to take care of active action on the part of our industrial commission to endeavour further development of new industries and industrial expansion.

Many Meetings Held.

"Under Regional planning meetings have already been held and plans formulated for harbor, river and waterfront improvements. Also an enthusiastic meeting on the proposed Skyside Drive. From such meetings we feel something definite will be done on both projects in 1945. The Tourist and Publicity Board has been increased for tourist inducement and more publicity for our city. As the restrictions on street lighting have been lifted our street lighting returns to normal this year. There is an increased expenditure in the department of Relief. Salaries of police and fire departments have been increased to carry out recommendations made by the Police Commissioners and by the Fire Chief and the Chairman of Fire and the Fire Committee, to increase efficiency of force and provide the citizens with more protection.

Fire Department

"The Parks Board has presented an increased budget over last year and has a program of Parks improvement. Also the Cemetery Board increased allowance and spruce facilities. Your council has provided for a paid man to look after public skating rinks and has made plans for an early start in the fall season of this year to have four outdoor rinks one in each section of the city. The tax rate in 1944 was 37 mills and with necessary increase in expenditures has been cut to 35 mills this year but we must be fair-minded that this could not have been done if your school board had not received increased grants from the Ontario Department of Education.

By-Laws Passed

The number of by-laws were submitted dealing with the levying and collecting of taxes. These are by-laws that are passed each year and make the estimates by-law legal.

The by-laws were, a by-law to authorize the levying and collecting of taxes for High School and Vocational School purposes in the City of Belleville for 1945; a by-law for the levying and collecting of taxes for Public School purposes in the City of Belleville for 1945; a by-law to provide for the payment of the accounts of the Public School; a by-law for the levying and collecting of taxes for the purposes of the Roman Catholic Separate School; a by-law for the levying and collecting of taxes payable by the municipality at large for city's share of Local Improvements; a by-law to change a by-law for the levying and collecting of taxes for the purposes of the municipality of the City of Belleville for 1945 and other than schools, city's share of local improvements; and unenforceable rates"; a by-law for the collection of taxes by distress; penalties when not punctually paid; a by-law to provide for discounts for payments made in advance; a by-law to fix the day and finally a by-law for the appointment of a collector to collect the taxes levied by council for municipal purposes and for High and Public schools and Roman Catholic Separate School; also poll tax and frontage taxes for local improvement work and for oiling and watering certain streets in the City of Belleville as under various by-laws for such purposes passed. Mr. R. R. Stock was appointed collector of taxes.

Peterborough Wins Two Games Of Basketball

Peterboro basketeers handed the Belleville "T" cagers two defeats at the Centennial St. Association last night, as the Lifebuoy City "T" senior squad defeated the Belleville "T" intermediates 48-10-19. In the ladies' game the Peterboro "T" girls defeated the Belleville "T" ladies, 30 to 20. To add to the night's entertainment the Juniors shot out a 30-10 win over the local Intermediates. "Sonny" Goode was the star performer from the opening whistle to the finish. Goode, with three games played, shot an average of 8.33 per game. Reed, of the Belleville "T" intermediates, was high scorer for the night with 5 points.

Peterboro's high-scoring centre, Hicks, in the senior game was off his form and could only collect 4 points. Hicks, who has been averaging around the 20 mark per game, was closely checked by Belleville's defence. Gord Ranger was the only Belleville marksman with eight points, George Crowder picking up five, Carson two, Copple three and Hamilton one.

In the intermediate girls' game Lois Hutchinson, city "T" star, was in front with 21-6-15 at the halfway gun and continued to out-score Ill. Shirley Goode was high scorer in the basket in the second half to win 30 to 20. It was a thrilling match with the scoring honors well divided, as the two girls' star defensive players before the driving attacks. Mr. McPherson with eight points and F. Hamilton with seven led the Belleville men, as R. Castle picked up five scoring points and M. Hawthorne four. For Belleville Peg Bonsky with six points led the attackers. Dot Richardson and Pat Hutchinson picked up three each, while Marion Bellsbury, Pea Wee Langmaid, Judy Chaplant and Artie Gilbert racked up two points each.

In the junior exhibition game Taylor, Kyle, Lepore, Chappelle, Barkhouse and Bennett did the scoring.

Early Spring in Paris

Paris, Feb. 16 — (Reuter) — After the hardest winter in 80 years spring has come three weeks early to Paris to end the suffering of civilians who for weeks shivered in their fuelless homes with the temperature at one or two degrees above freezing.

Balmy breezes are now wafting along the boulevards, which have recently been bathed in brilliant sunshine. Rose bushes and other early varieties of shrubbery are already showing green leaves.

Parisians have their windows wide open, gratefully welcoming the warmth.

Christmas in Prison Camp Cheerless Affair Writes Local Soldier

Christmas of 1944 was a pretty drab affair for Canadian prisoners of war in Stalag 344, German camp situated somewhere in the province of Berlin, according to a letter written by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Collins, 305 Dundas Street, by a nephew, Private Bert Collins.

The letter was dated Dec. 17 and arrived here a few days ago. Mails, however, are uncertain, Private Bert says, as prisoners of war are concerned, for the prisoner soldier states in his letter that he received word from his aunt a few months ago which was written in August of last year.

The letter bearing the official stamp of the German censor follows:—"Many thanks for your letter received last week which was dated Aug. 2. It takes a long while to get mail through and I shan't get the one you send in August in time for Christmas." (Mr. Collins learned later that the cigarettes never arrived). "We have neither cigarettes nor Red Cross parcels and in fact we shall have absolutely nothing at all for Christmas.

"At present we are scraping out our pockets for tobacco dust to make a smoke with. I'll keep on and hope to get the same and hope to reach our happy homes soon.

"I hope you have a happy Christmas and a bright New Year. Give my love to your self, the public in general and Cross pence and let fact we shall have absolutely nothing at all for Christmas.

East Meets West—in the Air

Russian troops on the Eastern Front reported recently that they could see the smoke from the fires of Berlin which were started by the R.A.F.'s night raiding Mosquitos and greatly augmented by the U. S. Eighth Air Force in daylight. Advance patrols on the Oder said they saw the American formations glinting in the sun as they wheeled and turned for home. To the Russian soldier, this visual evidence of Allied assistance must be very encouraging, but their staff officers know that it is only a part of the story.

At Russian Battle Headquarters and at the Kremlin it is known that the reduced resistance the Russians have met in their sweep to Berlin is partly the result of the years of patient and costly Allied strategic bombing. They know that the bombing of the German war potential at its source has reduced the effectiveness of every unit of the Wehrmacht and the . Luftwaffe wherever it may be. The Russian armies are today benefiting from the British and American long-term policy just as much as the troops on the Western Front.

What is not so well known is the strength of the Russian Air Force. It has an air superiority in the East so enormous that during a fine spell of weather they were able to make 10,000 sorties a day for three days running. The Luftwaffe, short of oil, short of trained men and short of supplies—thanks to Allied long and short term bombing policy — was helpless to stem the onslaught.

The Russians have never built up a large force of heavy bombers nor developed the intricate technique necessary to operate it. They have been able to concentrate on a tactical air force to work with their swift moving armies, by leaving the smashing blows that have put whole cities out of action to the British-based bombers. The Russians have concentrated on engaging as many of the enemy's ground forces as possible while the R.A.F. and the U.S.A.A.F. have looked after the German home front.

The help that the heavy bombers have been giving to the Russians in the last few days however, has been more tactical than strategic. Every effort has been made to stop the enemy's moving his supplies from the Western Front to the East.

One can not long go air reconnaissance photographs revealed that the Germans were sending troops and equipment from the southern part of the Western Front. Immediately the R.A.F. made heavy night raids on the rail junctions of Mannheim and Ludwigshaven through which the enemy had to move. Even if many of the troops did eventually get through to the East, the delay and chaos caused by these raids was of great assistance to the Russians.

Similarly, raids on the communications systems of the Ruhr recently, have aimed at preventing newly manufactured supplies being sent to the East. Formerly the aim was to prevent them reaching the Western Front.

The Berlin raids, also designed to cause traffic and administrative chaos in the East, are but the latest blows of a series that have been the work of years and the benefits of which the Russians are now sharing.

More Jap Atrocities

(Copyright, 1944, Edgar A. Guest)
By EDGAR A. GUEST

Japanese soldiery in Manila has been guilty of atrocities which are declared unbelievable, civilians bayoneted or hacked to death with sabres in a wanton mass murder, men, women and children had been burned to death in houses set afire by the Japanese or killed if they made any attempt to escape the flames. This was the story of a correspondent of the N.B.C.

A dark picture can be painted of the atrocities which the forces of the Japanese have committed in their race for power in Eastern Asia. The barbarism and savagery they have exhibited in the present war recalls the unforgettable scenes in Nanking, China, when it fell to the Japs.

The world can recall the story of the cruelties the Japs perpetrated on American soldiers who fell into their hands after the fall of Bataan and Corregidor, the details of which crimes against humanity can never be forgotten and which will forever stand as a mark of ignominy against the Japanese.

Seventy-Five Percent Less for Zeros

The attacks on the oil refineries of Palembang, Sumatra, by the British Navy's Air Arm are estimated to have seriously damaged or destroyed the source of 75% of Japan's aviation gasoline.

There are several significant points about these attacks. One lies in the fact that they were made by Vice-Admiral Sir Arthur Power's East Indies Fleet; this is the smaller of the two British fleets in Eastern waters, the bigger one being Sir Bruce Fraser's Pacific Fleet. The force assigned was a very formidable one; there were four of the Navy's fleet aircraft carriers, including the 30,000-ton H.M.S. Indefatigable (this is the first time that she has been mentioned as in commission), accompanied by four new light cruisers, three destroyers and one of the most powerful battleships in the world, H.M.S. King George V. Yet formidable as it was, it evidently was not the whole of the British East Indies Fleet, since the operation was commanded not by the Commander-in-Chief but by Rear Admiral Sir Philip Vian. All of this is suggestive of the tremendous increase that has already taken place in the British naval forces now fighting Japan.

Another point is that the production of aviation fuel at Palembang was strategically situated for the Japanese near the fighting front where it is used. Although there is believed to be a surplus refinery capacity in Japan, this will not solve the Japanese aviation spirit problems. To transport the crude oil to Japan, refine it there, then transport the petrol back to the battle areas would require double the tanker tonnage needed to take the petrol direct from Sumatra to the battle areas. Thanks to Allied submarines and carrier-borne aircraft, Japan's tanker tonnage is not equal to such a task. Furthermore, the tankers would have to run the gauntlet of the U. S. Navy. Thus the only co-ordinated naval action is bringing about in the Far East a state of affairs similar to that created in the west by R.A.F. Bomber Command and the United States Strategical Air Force.

A further interesting point is the demonstration of the strategical mobility of aircraft when operated from carriers. Without these the Japanese oil refineries which are outside the range of Allied shore-based bombers, could not have been attacked, and the work of the Allied submarines in the intercepting tankers could not have been so successful. This success will materially help the battle between Japanese shore-based and Allied naval aircraft.

Some particulars have now been released about H.M.S. Indefatigable. She was built at John Brown's, Clydebank, and launched appropriately enough by the mother of Admiral Mountbatten, Supreme Commander SEAC within which command the ship now operates.

The 'Indefatigable' is an improved type of the 'Illustrious' class. She displaces about 30,000 tons, and has a complement of about 2,000 officers and men. Four engines, each driving an independent shaft and propeller, combine 150,000 horsepower with a speed of over thirty knots.

Leacock on Insomnia

(Wall Street Journal)

Stephen Leacock contended that insomnia was 90 percent nonsense. The humorist related that once when he was living in a boarding house in Toronto he was visited by his brother who shared his bed.

In the morning Stephen inquired politely, "Did you'sleep well?"

"I didn't sleep a wink!" growled George. "Nothing doing at all," said Stephen. "I lay awake all night."

Then the two young men put their heads up from the bedclothes and saw the bed was covered with plaster. The ceiling had fallen on them during the night.

"We hadn't noticed it," Stephen wryly commented later. "You see we were too busy enjoying our insomnia."

THE WAR

Oh, does the war seem far away
Because no buildings fall
And none must flee by night or day
To find a sheltering wall?
Go ask the father of the lad
Who's still in basic grim
And hear him tell in accents sad
How close it came to him.

They say we haven't learned, as yet,
How fearful war can be;
That little are our lives upset
By war on land or sea.
Well, ask the mother of the boy
Who fell where cannons flame,
If war has left her any joy
That will be quite the same.

They call us a complacent lot
That still can dance and sing.
We haven't learned from shell and shot
That war's a fearful thing.
But, where a blue star turns to gold,
The loved one who have turned it,
Need not the war's horror be told.
Too bitterly they've learned it.

Ernie Pyle Gives Some Thoughts On New Assignment in Pacific

Editor's Note: Ernie Pyle is with the Navy in the Pacific. Pending receipt of his dispatches from that war theatre, we are publishing a few articles he wrote before he left Hollywood, San Francisco, of which the following is one.

By ERNIE PYLE

San Francisco—Well, here we go again.

It has been four months since I wrote my last column, from France. In four months of nonproduction a writer gets out of the habit. He forgets the rhythm of words; falls into the easy habit of not making himself think or feel or remember.

This first column is a stab-in-the-dark. Your mind automatically resents the task of rousting itself again. Your thoughts are scattered and you can't get them together to put onto paper. Words come hard. You have to think what you're going to say over you took up writing to make a living.

So until I'm once more immersed in the routine of daily writing, and transported once more into the one-track world of war, I'm afraid you'll have to be tolerant with me.

There's nothing nice about the prospect of going back to war again. Anybody who has been in war and wants to go back is a plain damn fool in my book.

I'm certainly not going because I've got itchy feet again, or because I'm a war addict, or because there's any mystic fascination to me in a war that is drawing me back.

I'm going simply because there's a war on and I'm part of it and don't know all the time I was going back. It's going simply because I've got to—and I hate it.

This time it will be the Pacific. When I left France last fall we thought the war in Europe would be over. I say "we" because I mean everybody over there thought so. I felt it was so close to the end I could come home and before the time came to go again, that side of the war would be finished, and only the Pacific would be left.

But it didn't turn out that way. Now nobody knows how long the European war will last. Naturally all the fighting is assaulting and sentiments are on that side. I suppose clowning in my heart I would rather go back to that side. For hot. Oh boy!

carriers escorted by what is described as the largest battle fleet in history, is a sequel to our successful invasion of the Philippines which has torn away Japan's main protective shield and turned her heart, we have entered the final phase of the war of the Pacific and while it's likely to be long and bloody, we are at close grips with the last organized force that can subjugate the whole Orient and establish permanent war east over Asia.

The immediate objective of today's attack, Japan's sea lifeline, is as much as possible of Japan's raw materials needed at home. The operation is, of course, an extension of the Battle of Britain tactics which will starve all Japan's industries and bring her war industries to a pulp from the air.

Challenge to Mikado's Fleet

It is of amazing significance that our naval armada should be ready to approach the Japanese mainland to within less than 60 miles. It's a startling challenge to the Mikado's battle fleet and to his defenses by air. It means control of supremacy of the Pacific.

The war in the Orient is likely to take on a striking new complexion when the European conflict ends and the Allies have only one foe to lease their colossal aerial striking power for the crushing of Japan. The Japanese homeland is comparatively small, concentrated and tiny space—prime target for bombs.

Incidentally, of the total Allied air strength against Germany now given at a better test than we yet have had. Only a small fraction will come to wrinkling a war on its own. Obviously the Allies will not throw but it certainly will be a major factor in subduing Japan.

MANIFESTATIONS of CALCIUM DEFICIENCY

A familiar bit of holdover taught by the school physiology books in the old days is this, quoted from the Provident Weeks in Human Physiology by J. Norman Means, published by D. Nutting Co., Boston: "The composition of the bones at maturity is about two parts mineral to two parts mineral matter. The composition of the teeth is about one part animal and two parts mineral matter. The bones and teeth will not yield to treatment if a nearly half and while the old age the mineral is greatly in excess."

Of the average layman this may sound right, but it is not in accordance with the common popular notion that bones of the elderly are more brittle, more liable to break than the bones of younger persons because in the elderly too much mineral matter (calcium phosphate) is in the bones.

The truth is that, as Bond describes it in his book "Keep Healthy Past Fifty" (The Year Book Publishers, Inc. Chicago) as a result of the calcium deficiency in the body, the elderly experience a steady, long continued loss of calcium throughout the years ...as a result of this constant, gradual loss the bones become poor in calcium and more fragile."

But, after all, this osteoporosis is not due entirely to deficiency of calcium from the bones is called) to a late manifestation of aging. Some authors state that this deficiency in the bones may be a result of long-continued calcium deficiency and not necessarily an accompaniment of old age. It probably could in large part be prevented by "greater calcium storage in earlier years."

Greater calcium storage in earlier years—in youth, in adulthood, in middle age, before the "golden years who cares about the osteoporosis of the advanced age? Why, we're young we are concerned about having a good time now. Let's let the old folks to worry about calcium deficiency.

Greater calcium storage in earlier years means more liberal consumption of milk, cheese, green vegetables, particularly cheese, nuts, green leafy vegetables, greens, cereals, and more exposure to sunshine or daylight to enable the body to manufacture adequate vitamin D to insure assimilation, utilization and retention of calcium (and phosphorus), or what is of more importance if impossible, then daily eating of sufficient vitamin D.

Mrs. F. B.) writes: "In Calcium Shortage" series, by request. If you indicate ten cents and stamped self-addressed envelope) numerous complaints of deficiency are described. If young folks are interested, I would like these earlier manifestations of calcium deficiency they could not only avoid many of these troubles, by keeping calcium metabolism at a high level, but they could have many young longer. But, shucks, there we go again, preaching to deaf ears. As the old proverb expressed it, "You can't make a horse drink, they are old must be old when they are young."

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Cosy

Son, 8 1-2 years old, gets three or four colds in the head during the winter. First attack when he was 3. Also troubled by his tonsils.

(Mrs. F. B.)

Answer—If the tonsils were merely enlarged perhaps it was the best plan to remove them. Send stamped envelope for Health Bulletin on Tonsils and Adenoids, Indicate ten cents. Sulfur is merely a mild laxative—washed sulfur (Sulfur precipitated) is better than flowers of sulfur. The latter is powdered sulfur which is generally used for internal medicine. Sometimes the familiar "compound licorice powder of sulfur, given at night, to children, is a mixture of senna, licorice and washed sulfur. Your Ma is right—sulfur is more effective than any other laxative, although just because it is effective is wrong about "cleaning out"—but then, let us not blame Ma for her ignorance.

VALUABLE ENEMIES

"We love him for the enemies he has, made's is a popular paraphrase of what General Edward Stuyvesant Shaw, of Wisconsin, said of Grover Cleveland in a speech at the Democratic national convention in Chicago in 1884.

Cleveland's name was placed in nomination by Daniel S. Dickinson of New York, in a brief and formal speech, and by no other speaker.

General Bragg, in seconding the nomination, made a fiery speech in which he used a happy phrase that has become famous. He said in favor of the nomination for the governor, and that is still frequently referred to.

"Grim and gray, personally fighting his battles, Cleveland has declared Bragg. "I stand today to say that I, too, am proud to be the men of my State when I stand for Governor Cleveland. His name is the synonym for the hate of bad men's hearts . . . They love him, gentlemen, and they respect him, not only for what he has done himself, for his integrity and judgment, but they love him most for the enemies he has made."

The speaker referred to the "valuable enemies" that Cleveland as governor had made as a result of his vetoes, chiefly of "jobs" bills. Cleveland had particularly aroused the Democratic Hall. The speech was especially significant because Bragg turned and faced the Tammany delegation when he came to the dramatic part of his oration.

Bragg, who was born in New York State in 1827, rose to the rank of brigadier general in the Union army in the Civil War, and after the Civil War Congress was later appointed to several diplomatic posts in the foreign service. He died in 1902 at the age of seventy-five. His name is often confused with that of Edward Braxton Bragg, noted Confederate officer.

CWACS Transform Ottawa Barracks Into Cosy Home

Gay Curtains, Rugs and Plants Bring Friendly Atmosphere to Big Building in Dominion Capital

By HELEN BANNERMAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Feb. 16 (CP) — Glebe barracks here now is a cosy home for nearly 300 girls of the Canadian Women's Army Corps, who assemble in on the word "cosy."

The big building which was formerly the Ottawa Ladies' College has housed army girls for some time but it wasn't until last autumn that anyone thought of covering its bare concrete floor or of hanging gay chintz curtains and bedspreads. Soon rugs and potted plants to make the barracks into a real home, a warm, friendly atmosphere.

It all the doing of the unit's commanding officer, Major Helen Rankin, of Ottawa and Moose Jaw, Sask., who was posted to Ottawa in Nov. 1943, and found the place in a dismal state. She immediately set about to change it and knew her girls would like to have something to say.

She did a lot of the work herself. When she hike persuaded a department store to donate a bolt of curtain material she carried it home on several street cars under her arm.

Capt. Leslie Inglis of Walkerton, Ont., second in command, and the other officers helped. The girls co-operated enthusiastically.

The result now emerging from behind the big piece of painters' equipment is a barracks in name only . . . each room has been made into a comfortable grey plastic floor with rugs and a cheerful chintz scheme different from the other rooms. The girls have a blue and white recreation room where they can entertain their boy friends, a beauty parlor, a canteen-type mess, games room.

The curtains in the sleeping rooms are chintz, in the sergeants' mess homespun dark blue, the officers' mess brocade. Bedspreads are plain blue, peach, gold or green with a four-inch band of chintz which makes double decker bunks look quite luxurious.

Nice Place to Work.

"It's a treat to work here," said Sgt. Gook Alice McDonald, Sandy Lake, Ont., chief cook. Miss McDonald, she looked at her steaming pots and pans hanging in front of the freshly painted wall.

Cpl. Audrey Rudland of Dalhousie, Ont., in charge of the mess halls, came out of the pantry kitchen and agreed with her. "This used to be when where the barracks' cakes, buns and bread were baked. She painted pale yellow with a red trim and broken every three or four days by a kitchen-inspired transfer appli-

Dr. McKay Gives Talk To Literary Society

The regular monthly meeting of the Literary Society of St. Mary's was held in the book room last Friday afternoon, with Cyril Holland presiding. After the reading and adoption of the minutes of the last meeting it was announced that a Valentine dance would be held in the Assembly Room on Tuesday evening. Following this a short comedy skit directed by Sheila Doyle, was enacted by Charles Chapelle, Mary Agnes Whitmore and Bernadette Hanley taking the various roles. The Glee Club then gave several songs and Rose Marie Scanlon very capably rendered two piano selections. The main attraction of the meeting was the address of Dr. Fred McKay, who in his talk dealt first with vocations in general and then more specifically stressing the study of medicine, his chosen vocation. Dr. McKay very kindly invited the students to come in groups to his laboratory, where they would be able to see for themselves the lingering work in which he is engaged. In conclusion he urged the boys and girls to use their influence "as far as possible to persuade their friends to donate blood for the Armed Forces, the need of which is now so urgent."

Cyril Holland extended to Dr. McKay an appreciation for his very fine talk.

Reverend Father O'Donnell was present and he also expressed gratitude to Dr. McKay for his kind and appropriate address to the students.

The singing of the National Anthem brought to a close this enjoyable meeting.

Teachers' Federation Holds Meeting

The Teachers' Federation held their monthly supper meeting on February 14. King George School is responsible for the Red Cross meeting. The Federation under the capable leadership of Miss Annie Tucker realized $180 from the social evening held in the Collegiate Institute. This sum is for the British Red Cross.

Mr. S. Alec Gordon, the speaker for the evening, chose as his subject "Canada's Funny Money". Miss M. Lashbrooke moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Gordon for his amusing and entertaining address.

Young Women's Guild Holds Pancake Tea

The Young Women's Guild of Emmanuel Church had a most delightful Aunt Jemima Pancake Tea, in the Sunday School room, Tuesday afternoon.

The room was decorated in keeping with St. Valentine's Day.

For the occasion the Guild members dressed as famous Aunt Jemimas as they could.

The guests were received by Mrs. T. S. Russell who also presented each with a little booklet entitled "Spiritual food for the Lenten season."

The servicers were Mrs. W. Dennis, Mrs. W. Wright, Mrs. Ida Worrell and Miss Bertha Gannon.

The tea table was replenished by Mrs. J. Gannon who was also our Aunt Jemima for the occasion and Mrs. J. Riley assisted her.

Treasurers for the afternoon were Mrs. T. S. Russell and Miss Bertsel Gannon.

The proceeds realized were gratifying.

At the close of the tea, the Guild members had the pleasure of presenting a Birthday cake to Miss L. Worrell. Aunt Jemima carried the lighted cake into the room followed by the musical quartette, "Happy Birthday to You". Miss Lois Wright, as was helper, presented birthday cards to the guest from the members to Miss Worrell.

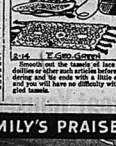
School Club Holds Pot Luck Supper



The February meeting of the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association was held February 13th, and took the form of a Pot Luck Supper which was very well attended. After the regular business period the business portion of the meeting was taken over by Mrs. Mrs. H. O. Truesdale in the chair, as president of the social evening. R. H. Macklem, Public school inspector for Prince Edward North Hastings, whose subject was "Secrets Can". During his talk he brought out the fact that the child has more leisure for people to make use of their leisure time. He also spoke for communities to work together to give the young people the best recreational opportunities when people used to work in to help each other. Mr. Macklem gave several instances of the Community School as operated in England, parts of Canada and other countries. Under this plan the schools are used for adults to gather together for discussion, education and community entertainment.

Mrs. W. C. Burgoyne delighted the audience with a solo, also Mrs. J. R. Guthridge acted as accompanist.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

CATHOLIC WOMEN'S LEAGUE

The regular monthly meeting of the Catholic Women's League was held February 10th, St. Michael's High School with Mrs. S. B. Upper presiding. After the usual opening reports were given by various members. Mrs. Upper also showed the work accomplished since the last meeting. Mrs. J. E. Cowan reported on the success of the social and euchre held recently and expressed her gratitude to all who contributed so generously, also extended her thanks to Rev. J. J. Doyle for allowing sale to be held in his store. Contributions to various organizations were made, one to Radio Catholic Hour, Catholic Letters of Service, to the Scholarship Fund, $10.00 to I.O.D.E. for books for service personnel, and $5.00 to the Red Cross. A letter was read from the national convener of Education which stressed the necessity of religious training during early in the home, showing how parents can aid in fostering vocations to the religious life. Many more letters, acknowledgment of Christmas parcels received by our parish boys overseas were read by Mrs. V. McIntyre, war services convener.

Care of Dry and Oily Skin

Leslie Brooks has a beautiful smooth complexion.

By HELEN FOLLETT

HUMAN skin is as busy as it if were earning its living. Maybe it is, for all we know. It does a continual bad, and fevered work, discarding dead scales, creating new ones, destroying them day after day and night. It has no rest at all.

It is an important organ of elimination, sending off a portion of the body's waste. It pours out a soothing oil, necessary for the fine satin finish of the complexion and for the well being. It has much to do with keeping the temperature of the body right, a protective armour to sensitive flesh and nerves.

Excessively Dry Skin.

When the skin is excessively dry it may be rough, to the touch. Desquamation is going on too rapidly. To cope with this unhappy state of affairs, oily cosmetics must be used lavishly. A fine cream, ute friction with a heavy emollient lotion. To overdo it puts the artificial epidermis in form. Before washing the face, makeup must first be removed with oil or cream. A creamy foundation agent helps to give to day pep.

Sometimes, when the skin is dry, it rebels against such cases a soothing cleansing oil can be used. Rub it on, then wash cloth in warm water, sprinkle the oil over it, go over the skin surface lightly, rinse, dry, and on with a light cream. It's Oily Skin.

Powders best adapted to the dry skin are those with an oily base. Cold water and ice frictions are no help to the dry complexion, but should them.

Air that lacks moisture can so irritate the skin that there is an unbearable feeling. Dry air has a bad effect upon the nostrils too, interfering with free breathing that is necessary for the health. Humidifiers in rooms, or even water containers on your radiators.

Beauty specialists tell you that many victims of dry skin do not drink enough water, that their hides are thirsty. Other specialists say that some women are victims of fiction because they stick to a fat free diet, suggest regular, small doses of cod liver oil each day.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

BY THEIR WALK YE SHALL KNOW THEM.

We've all heard plenty about facial expression. Now you must tune your lip ends up in a "some-sweet smile; how your eyes must be illuminated; how you must be a rich child if you want to look nice. Faces are read like books; tell tales about character. Well, there is such a thing as figure expression, too. Have you ever thought about that? Snappy postage and grace movements are the makings of such a lovely silhouette.

There's no mistaking the muscleree, athletic girl. She's out to get her lungs full of fresh air. She walks because she finds walking builds her body and soul. Exercise sends her blood streams dancing, whets the appetite, fits her for sleep, gives her a good time has to do. Her abdomen is flat, and it likes it that way. Her head is carried regally. She is not clothes conscious.

Observe the girl who wriggles her hips, takes little mincing steps, and pulls off type. She's all for the kind of a girl who sits in the spot natural curves are the makings of a lovely silhouette.

She may get over that. We've known her ten years hence, cooking for her old man, washing the kids' clothes, trundling the carpet sweeper. She'll be watching them, and no fooling.

What sort of impression do you get of the woman whose body is rigid, whose nose is in the air, who comes down heavily on her feet? She's the boss of the office, or she's the grocery clerk, fires up a gorgeous hatred within his clerks. She's not the body what to do; she critisizes; she observes her everything that everybody.

There is also the girl who doesn't walk, but gets there any old way, usually with a lazy shuffling of feet. She suffers from chronic inertia, which is a prettier word for low vitality, and dislike of anything in her case.

The girl whose shoulders and chin droop, whose backbone is apparently made of rubber, is lazy. Courage doesn't walk that way; it sticks along on its toes, keeps its head up.

Shy girls walk shyly; bold ones boldly. Both are apt to look into shop windows to admire their own contradictions.

Correct posture is an attitude of grace. A light body is necessary for graceful motion. To enjoy this blessing there must be health and efficiency of the organs. Remember that in mind if you are inclined to love the soft cushioning and bear the thought of a daily workout of the whole body, and how to your teeth on edge.

Don't forget that a dowdy walk makes a dowdy woman. Many a girl has a reputation for style whose clothes are not out of the ordinary; she knows how to carry herself, and so carries her clothes with splendor.

The Homers' Fifty Years of Happy Marriage

A few days ago, Louise and Sidney Homer celebrated their Golden Wedding. Louise Homer, if you were so fortunate as to have heard her sing in the Metropolitan Opera House in New York, in concert, or on the radio, had one of the great voices in this country. The rich organ-like tones of her splendid contralto fortunately still appears with us in recordings.

Sidney Homer, her husband, has given us many of our finest ballads. You will recall his requiem, "Sing Me a Song of the Lad That is Gone," poignantly moving these days when so many of our brave lads do not come back, and the seventeen children's songs in Christina Rosetti's "Sing Song."

The Homers have had six children, so Father Sidney had plenty of little songsters in his own family circle to give him their reactions about those songs, and also to try out others on the children.

Youngsters are terrific cri-distinct musical ability.

Is Your Husband a Mystery

Is your husband a mystery to you? And do you go right on admiring him in spite of his strong, human reticence? Or do you try to "psychoanalyze" him? Well, he'll be more mysterious than ever after this evening.

"Woman is not a problem. The Dear One are as transparent as the shining dawn," declares Anni Le Casserre. "The problem is really man."

I agree with him heartily. When a man finds a woman who understands him, when she is looking after us she was born with the gift of clairvoyance. If a woman is "misunderstood," Heaven knows it is not her fault! She is constantly trying to explain herself, interpret herself, express herself.

When it comes to explaining anything to a woman, the average man is as inarticulate as the Sphinx. How can a woman know anything about a man when he shrouds his moods, his motives and his mentality in such deep mystery?

A wife seldom guesses what is lurking behind her husband's forehead. And that vast, cryptic smokescreen which settles between the man after marriage is not confined to temperamental artists or poets. Every man from a butcher to a banker, locks into the silence of the honeymoon and seldom emerges or comes up for air.

Of course, a husband remember her husband is worrying about his income tax or whether he has merely waited too many clams for breakfast. He doesn't know whether to come home with blackarboreate, silence or champagne.

If only she knew whether she kept light in her eyes means that it is the case or the stock quotations, or her self he is really enjoying her company.

If only he would tell her that it is the case or the stock quotations, or her self he is really enjoying her company.

But every man is a Mason at heart. He will never tell. Somewhere down in his subconsciousness there is a sub-collar where he keeps his thoughts and his emotions, his fears and hopes. And there's nothing that he so bitterly abhors to have a woman insist on digging them out and making him exhibit them.

Yes, man, and woman, is the mystery of the human race. Don't you agree with me? Has your husband or your sweetheart comes back from overseas? He will be stranger and more mysterious than ever. You will have more than ever to think about. Why? Because he is a man. Don't try to "understand" him—just love him—and don't ask questions!

GOOD MANNERS

A SHOWER GIFT MUST NOT BE A SECRET.

Dear Mrs. Beeckman.—

May I please have your comments on the following?

1. Should a bridal shower always be a surprise to the recipient of honor? I have read in several etiquette booklets that a shower must always be a surprise, and refer to the bride-to-be. Yet in our local society of late I have often read "Miss Jane Jones is to be feted at a shower given in her home, for Miss Mary Robinson."

2. If the honor guest is not to be told of the shower beforehand, then does the hostess consult with the mother of the bride-to-be about what type of shower to give and and when to give it?

2. Also should a baby shower be a surprise to the guest of honor? Is it proper at a party to give a "guest prize?" If several games are played, should each game have and prizes awarded for each game, or should the guest prize be presented at the conclusion of all the games?

1. I too often wonder why these booklets on "Showers" blithely contain such advice. A bridal shower must always be a surprise to the bride. Of course, if a party is given for a "guest prize?" If several games are played, should each game have and prizes awarded for each game, or should the guest prize be presented at the conclusion of all the games?

2. Also should a baby shower be a surprise to the guest of honor? Is it proper at a party to give a "guest prize?" If several games are played, should each game have and prizes awarded for each game, or should the guest prize be presented at the conclusion of all the games?

Childbirth Made Easy for Fathers

(Condensed from The Los Angeles Times)

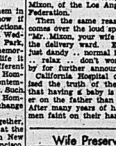
Two expectant fathers are sitting nervously in the waiting room on the sixth floor of California Hospital, Los Angeles. One of them is holding an ice pack on his head. Suddenly a voice comes from the loud speaker:

"Mr. Duschanek, 'it says—and the man with the ice pack groans and moves over to it quickly. 'Your wife is in the delivery room. Stand by. She is smiling and cheerful. She asked about you, old man. . . . Don't worry. The baby is it easy, old fellow. You'll be a father before you know it."

Duschanek, who is an American Airlines pilot, is static and grins at his fellow sufferer, Rev. John Mitton, of the Los Angeles Church Federation.

Then the same reassuring voice comes over the loud speaker again: "Mr. Mitton, your wife has entered the delivery room. Everything is just dandy . . . normal in every way . . . relax . . . don't worry. Stand by for further announcements."

California Hospital doctors realize that fathers, in the old days, that having a baby is often hardest on the husband and mother. After many years of having strong men faint on their hands, or work themselves into cases of near hysteria, the hospital has set up a physi-hap broadcasts. So now the fathers-to-be sit and smile, and go by the-loud-speaker, getting a firsthand description of the birth of his child.



"Attention, Mr. Mitton . . . stand by Mr. Mitton . . . listen closely . . . 'There was an audible but gentle smack at the big hand of the doctor connected with the bottom of that turned out to be Baby Mitton!)

"Waaaaaah! That's your baby's first cry, Mr. Mitton, congratulations. A fine baby boy . . . seven pounds, eight ounces. You may be gets a shower and a rub-down you can comv down to the nursery.

Mr. Mitton jumped to his feet, just as the loudspeaker began giving the good news to Mr. Duschanek. Both men headed for the room.

Duschanek tossed aside the ice pack. "You know," he said, "having a baby this way is much easier than I thought."

Fashion Flashes

QUITE A SEASON ahead for polka-dotted jabots, since almost every collection features them. A grand play frock and fine for general or casual wear, is of white rayon crepe with purple and fuchsia polka dots. Long sleeves; buttons from pin-tucked yoke to waist. Fuchsia suede belt.

JUST GRAND are all the tricolor costumes readied for Spring. For instance, a navy suit with navy bolero and skirt of red wool jersey with full draping in front. A white crepe shirt completes the colors.

PEARLS OF GREAT PRICE all the way to the little, very inexpensive, single strand choker is the outlook for pearls this Spring. Every shop features pearls, even dog collar, some chokers, but usually it is the 20-inch single strand that proves most popular. Pale blue, pale pinks, gray and pumetal pearls are all popular.

RIBBON IS WOUND into the millinery picture in a long bolt, with plenty of ribbon bows and a wide band of ribbon. Black milan straw makes the crown of a dress hat with puffed brim of rose taffeta ribbon, shaded in green, shocking and gray satin.

A DOUBLE LIFE is the result of the good looks of the new raincoats, for most of them are nice enough to be a fair weather friend as well. This is true of a three-quarter version of the rain coat made of silver-gray rayon poplin with satin surfaced twill. It has a cap oversleeve flange that slants down to the waist, and sleeve with easy wrist. Self sash tie.

SPRING NIGHTS will see some smart women wearing feather turbans, in pastels matched to short feather capes.

The regular meeting of Aikens' W.M.S. was held at the home of Mr. Stubbie on February 8. Due to the heavy snowfall the attendance was not as large as usual.

The President, Mrs. H. Hamilton, opened the meeting and took charge of the Worship Service, the theme being "Christian Missions in Our Nation". The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Hamilton and hymns by Mrs. Stubbie and Mrs. Pegg.

Mrs. F. Jones took the book charge of the Study Book, Chapter 4, Church in Indo-China and Thailand. The map study was taken by Mrs. S. Spafford. Mrs. F. Moon read the report of Mrs. Gordon Smith and gave the story of her visit to the city. Also the part of Mr. Sing Soo, a Thai Christian from Bangkok, Siam, Mrs. Stubbie, Miss Edith Porter, from Eastern Asia. By the ladies taking the parts of these people the meeting and the Study Book more interesting.

The offering was taken by Mrs. Stubbie "The Tapestry Weavers".

The February meeting of the Group was held at the home of Mrs. Fred Burley, Donald Street, with twenty-two members and four visitors present.

Mrs. Burley, the president for the coming year, was in the chair. Mrs. F. Rogers gave a fine current affair section in which Faith was the main topic discussed.

Letters of appreciation were read by the secretary for Christmas Boxes, received by the boys.

One complete layette, 6 pairs of socks and 6 pairs of mitts were also received for the Red Shield.

In an interesting address Mrs. G. Coulter presented the topic, "Post-War Reconstruction". The speaker pointed out that plans are being made now to assure that in the social and economic order following the war there will be a greater measure of security and employment, health and education for all, than there has been before in Canada. To see that these plans are really carried out is the re-

N.Y. RANGERS DEFEAT HAWKS TO HOLD 4TH PLACE

Kilby Macdonald Breaks Cellarhome and Don Grosso Twists Knee

By The Canadian Press

When Tin Pan Alley turned out a ballad called "I've Got Rocks in My Pockets" some time ago, the writers probably didn't dream that manager Paul Thompson would cross it today in his National Hockey League Chicago Black Hawks.

And if he didn't, the Chicago manager might well have done so, because last night the fluttering birds just about touched rock bottom in the standings when they suffered a 6-2 set-back at the hands of Rangers at New York.

The defeat, second in succession for Hawks, ended a determined bid to clamber out of last place and left Chicago three points behind fifth-place Rangers. The win was the first in seven starts for New York.

A crowd of 10,821 waited two hours and 20 minutes for the game to start due to a delay caused by lateness of the train bringing Rangers from Detroit, where they played last night. They were rewarded with a rather slow contest with five of the goals packed into the opening eleven minutes.

Bob Dill and Fred Hunt each blasted two goals past Mike Karakas in the Chicago nets, Hunt's both on breakaways in the last two minutes of the game. Grant Warwick and Clint Smith accounted for the other New York goals and Pete Horeck and Joe Cooper contributed for Hawks.

If the victory was sweet to manager Lester Patrick of Rangers, it was tempered by loss of Kilby Macdonald, who broke his ankle when in a third-period collision with Cully Simon. Chicago also lost a man in the game when Don Grosso received his knee in the second period.

Internationally known figure skaters will feature the annual Quinte Skating Club ice carnival at the Arena tonight. Some of the outstanding skaters as Miss Ve Ve Smith, of the Toronto Skating Club and Ontario juvenile champion, Miss Roberta Wilcox, junior figure skating champion of Manitoba from Winnipeg as well as Miss Suzanne Morrow and Mr. Norris Bowden, of Toronto and Dominion double champions this year.

Besides these internationally known skaters there will be the local artists, and figure skating talent is well known and appreciated throughout Belleville and district. Prior to the individual artists appearing they will be in a colorful ice pageant with gay costumes and a galaxy of skaters to add to the evening's entertainment. The Quinte skating Club ice carnival will be the only winter carnival to appear at the Hume Arena this season.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By FRED KERNER
(CP Staff Writer)

Toronto, Feb. 46 — (CP)—Sport pages and sport talk are overflowing with the "shock" story of the year—Brooklyn's basketball scandal and its aftermath. Comment is both pro and con, as one might be expected, but the faces that take on the Purple, Red and matter a distinct "Tsk, tsk!" when more shocking than the Flatbush fiasco.

Gambling is inherent in most people, Harry (London Free Press) reminds stolen. And that is especially true of sport followers.

Horse racing couldn't continue without betting; wagering and profits are the fields offered big time gamblers in baseball, hockey, boxing or almost anything else you care to name.

Even the younger generation indulges in it in a mild form—marbles, box tops, coupons and whatever else catches the youthful fancy. Grandad ladies find bingo satisfying their yen for a game of chance, while Dad indulges in a poker game and Mom has her bridge club in twice a week.

Professional sport is a field pregnant with opportunity. The boxing ring has been the catalytic agent for many a huge wager — and many more a small bet. Pro hockey—with the "built-ins" at Maple Leaf Gardens the prime example — is the betting boys' money-making means. Even "amateur" sport is not immune.

Basketball in Canada has not yet reached the proportion where a sufficient number of people are interested enough in loosening their wager-wallet strings and fortunes is in much the same position. But no doubt many a dollar has been found for the odd bet around the hardwood court or indoor bee.

That in brief is a situation to which legislators will seek to put a stop.

BARONS BOLSTER HOLD ON FIRST PLACE IN A.H.L.

Crush Providence Reds 7-4 to Put Team Eight Points Up

By The Canadian Press

Cleveland Barons bolstered their hold on first place in the American Hockey League last night when they crushed Providence Reds 7-4 before 4,881 fans at Cleveland. The Barons now are eight points ahead of Indianapolis Reds, in second place in the standings. Cleveland has won 4 points ahead of Buffalo Bisons, eastern division leaders.

A four-goal outburst in the third period brought victory to the Barons and overcame a 4-3 lead held by the Reds at the end of the second frame. Roy Kelly and Tommy Burlington each scored twice for the Barons, while Bill Lee, Lee Cunningham and Tommy Forde collected singles. Roger Gagne, Roger Bedard, Frank Eddolls and George Patterson scored for Providence.

The Reds were without the services of Emile Courtemanche, the league's leading scorer, Wednesday night in a game at Hershey.

DULTON TO PLAY INVETERAN'S GAME

Toronto, Feb. 16. (CP)— Headsent Mervyn (Red) Dutton of the National Hockey League is to be counted out of any meeting of the league.

When Dutton heard that he was not included in the prospective line-up of the All-Star team selected who are to play veteran Toronto Maple Leafs in Navy Memorial game here next Wednesday night in Maple Leaf Gardens, he began saying that if an aging player like King Clancy could come out of retirement Dutton could do the same. So in order to join the Maroons—the team with which he played until he is the N.H.L.—who are being handled by Lionel Conacher, Toronto Tommy Gorman.

Although the game is billed as a Maroons-Leafs battle, New York Rangers are contributing Bryan Hextall and Frank Boucher to join Veteran Davie Kerr.

Two former N.H.L. Referees Mike Rodde and Bobby Hewitson —have been picked for service the game which will be played under the auspices of Canada Army Sports Control at the debated centre-ice red line.

The name of Frank Stack returned to active service when it was announced last night that he had signed with the former North American speed skating champion who last year was returning to competition in the Manitoba championships which open there tonight with a two-day program. Long in retirement, Stack is making a bid for honors in the senior men's events.

For the past five seasons an arbiter in the Intermediate Baseball League, Butch Hemline of Kitchener, yesterday received his appointment to the umpiring staff of the National League.

Li. Cmdr. C. B. (Tiny) Herman, commander of Canadian corvette and former placement kicking star of Ottawa Rough Riders, returned to Halifax Tuesday and expected to point to learn his eight-months old daughter, Lynn Ann, had already passed through a crisis and was ill with meningitis during his absence.

President Mervyn (Red) Dutton of the National Hockey League declared at Montreal yesterday he was continuing in office for the duration but planned to own and manage a pro club after the war, probably in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Frank Selke of Toronto, was re-elected president of the Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Society at a Toronto meeting last night.

Cart Asmussen's Kitchener rink last night won the R. J. Ramsay Memorial Trophy at the Galt Curling Club Open Bonspiel defeating J. Moore of Oshawa 18-5 in the Oorrie of Hamilton Thistles swamped E. Brown of Platteville 16-5 to take the consolation.

The Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters at the annual convention here yesterday passed a resolution asking the Provincial Department of Game and Fisheries to release at least 100,000 pheasants annually. The Kingston and District Rod and Gun Club, in another resolution adopted, asked that the existing limit of 50 pesos a season in the Hannah Bay section of James Bay be reduced to 25. The resolution said the Cree Indians subsist on the geese for their winter food supply.

Newmarket Army triumphed 16-3 over Toronto Army in the third playoff game of the Inter-Service Hockey League, stars for the winners being three former N.H.L. stalwarts, Billy Taylor, Sky Guidolin and J. McCreedy. For the losers, in the game played at Newmarket, a stellar player was defenceman Chuck Shannon, once with Syracuse Stars and teams of the American Hockey League.

JUNIOR HOCKEY PLAYOFFS IN WEST NOW UNDER WAY

Winnipeg Monarchs Only Civilian Team to Go Through Schedule Undefeated

Winnipeg, Feb. 16 — (CP) — Western Canada junior hockey playoffs swung into second-round stride tonight with Winnipeg Monarchs, Arthur Flyers, Moose Jaw Canucks and Saskatchewan Athletic Club defeated in first-round games.

Manitoba's Kingdon, Winnipeg Monarchs are the only civilian team to go through its schedule undefeated. They open a best-of-five south division first-round against Winnipeg Rangers here tonight.

In Saskatchewan, Moose Jaw Canucks, who breezed through the Southern Saskatchewan schedule with undefeated position, will meet either Regina Commandos or Moose Jaw Canucks in the Southern Saskatchewan final beginning Monday. Commandos — Rounds are deadlocked at one-all after first-of-five series 2-2.

Edmonton Canadians, leaders of the Edmonton League, were moved to Vancouver for a four-game exhibition series. Tonight, tackle either Edmonton Athletic Club or Edmonton Canadians in the Alberta finals.

Flyers Out in Front

The Thunder Bay League hasn't started the play-offs but Port Arthur Flyers, defending champions, are out in front with a lead of 2 1/2 games over Fort William Marys.

Elsewhere on the junior front play-offs are underway in the Manitoba north Athletic circuit. Canadian Legion Athletic Club defeated St. Boniface Athletics in the first game of their best-of-three Manitoba north semi-final series.

Winners of this series will meet Winnipeg Rangers and the league champion will run up against either Monarchs or Rangers in the Manitoba final.

Edmonton Navy, whose players are not permitted to play for Memorial Cup play-offs, trimmed Saskatoon Canadians 6-5 in the opener of the northern Saskatchewan semi-final series. Navy's Albert Black Hawks downed Saskatoon Varsity Blues.

No senior leagues, leading to Allan Cup play-offs, operated in western Canada this season.

Memory!

No matter how busy or idle we are, we usually can find the time to do the things we want to do.

Take the Leafs' last game played during the second hymn, but selected the best-of-three series of a football game.

Memory harks to deserving relatives or nearest kin sometime each month for days and often weeks before they discovered sweetheart gets a special delivery letter from Jack Benny.

Memory of the "smoker" his lodge is staging.

Yes we "smiley" the address of our best friends but never of a reliant who might possibly be gerher in her will.

Human nature is pretty much the same—we forget what we want to forget and remember what we want to remember.

This and That.

The passing of time has obscured the fact that Ed Bickle, former president of the New York Yankees and Chicago Cubs and also of the Pacific Coast Baseball Club of Hollywood, Cal., and Vancouver, B.C., has issued the order that Babe Ruth's first name is not Georgetum fame....As manager of the Boston Braves in 1938, Bartlett shifted Babe from the mound to the outfield and that was the last appearance of his big bat.....Jeff Heath of Cleveland Indians reports that a knee operation he underwent recently early in the winter has been a success and that he will be back he had nerve for American League pitchers.....Hemsley Cullum is one of the best sluggers left in baseball when he isn't peeved about something.....Arch Ward of the Chicago Tribune submits this is one of the most embarrassing moments in Charley Grimm's long baseball career. Grimm was managing the Braves in Boston and asked Babe Ruth if he would be a party to a tinuous barrage on Grimm who was covering first base. In relation Grimm strode over to the rail waved his finger under the customer's nose and said: "Listen, right, just for that I won't buy any more of your beer." Ruth was quick to establish his heckler as a hokery by pitching apples to some of the fans around him.....After the game discovered that the man was one of the directors of the Boston club.

Around the Town.

Hockey fans are beginning to ponder just how long this Boston-Flyer series can really last, under prevailing conditions of the games .....Actually there's no rule for the matches, Ft. Breadon Thinks Baseball Deserves Praise for Effort

450 Players Have Gone Into Armed Services From Various Leagues

St. Louis, Feb. 16 (AP)—President Sam Breadon of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals thinks baseball deserves considerable credit for its contribution to the war effort.

Breadon said more than 450 men from the Cardinal organization have gone into the armed forces, some of them becoming casualties. He declared baseball "proved the value of no club official or ball player who has asked any favors from his draft board or exemption board.

"I think when thought is given to what baseball has done, instead of criticism we merit praise."

Speaking for the Cardinals, he said:

"We are one of the few businesses that has made no money, through the war, but we have co-operated with every request made by any government agency.

"The Cardinals have played three games in St. Louis and three games on the road each year for the past three years, total number of which went to Army and navy relief. These games netted over $90,000 for each game in St. Louis."

Breadon added that the total deducted from the Cardinals' share of the week's series receipts and donated to war relief and service funds amounted to more than $225,000 for the last three years.

"We played at least five games a year at a series each season giving the opportunity to play exhibition games. These would have netted a minimum of $2,000 per game," he said.

"Other major league clubs have done as well, or possibly better, with the exception of the world series donation. I am not saying baseball has done three all-star games, the total of which went to war relief, nor any money donated by the commissioner's office, league and other clubs in the world series. I only mention the Cardinals' share."

LESSON NO. 66
By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Three bids and four bids and five bids seem inevitable when you place them side by side, yet can tie them in your mind. Here they are.

An immediate game bid in a suit is intended to shut out all the bidding; opponents' and partner's. So, an opening of four in a major means the same as an opening of five in a minor.

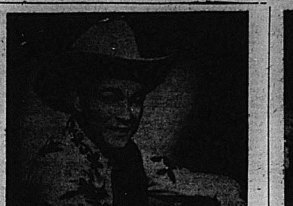
An immediate bid of one less than game in a suit shows a long suit or strength and an outside sure trick. So, an opening of three in a major means the same as an opening of four in a minor.

This leaves only an opening of three in a minor by some slip not in the above categories. Therefore, it is used as a convention signal to show a solid seven card suit and nothing else.

Opening of three in a minor and four in a major are the only bids that have some glaring faults in common. They lack something to a one opening; have no defensive strength; do not appear to make their bids; need much help to make a game; have no hope of making a slam.

Openings of three in a major and four in a minor have several glaring virtues in common. They have better than a one bid; some defensive strength; a trump suit that needs no support; make a game with the teamest bit of help from partner; can make a slam if partner has two sure tricks.

Take this to be your lawfully dealt hand:



♠A 7 3 2
♥K 6 2
♦9 4 3 2
♣6 4

Suppose your partner starts with an opening of three spades or three hearts or four diamonds or four clubs. With two sure tricks tell him to probe for a slam.

But suppose he starts with three or five in clubs or diamonds, or four in hearts or spades. Your hand takes on a different outlook. You must pass and hope he makes it. Speak what you are spoken of.

Workshop Outfit Red Hot Leaders In Army Hockey

Hamill, Drouin and Catlin Stars on Team Off to Big Start in Championship Competition Overseas

By ALLAN NICKLESON
(CP Staff Writer)

Somewhere in England, Feb. 16—(CP)—The team to watch in this red-hot overseas Army hockey championship of the Canadian Army in England would give any small League outfit back home a tough struggle.

It's a Base Workshop outfit, so don't understand any such former professionals as Red Horner, Opl. Polly Drouin and CPAC Joe Catlin as well as a host of fine amateurs.

Playing an exhibition match against an air force team that had Johnny Mowatt, formerly of Detroit Red Wings, in goal, the workshoppers won 3-0. Then they proceeded to massacre regular league opponents by such scores as 13-0, 16-2 and 8-0.

The schedule, of course, has many weeks to run and many of the weaker teams may be bolstered by players among reinforcements arriving in this country. The league isn't as strong as last season because Cpl. Dey took many players to the continent.

Workshop, coached by Maj. Dave Campbell, veteran of two years who once coached Montreal Victorias, included such players as Elmer Kreller, fisted for New York Rangers; Opl. Mel White of Montreal Viq and Kenny Campbell, fully recovered from wounds suffered at Caen and mentioned in dispatches for gallantry in that action.

Others are Goalies Rocky Munro of Edmonton and Biddie Wico of Toronto; Defencemen Nick Nichols of Portsmouth, Ont.; Jack Wilson, Madeline Hal, Alta., and Bill Moran, Ottawa; Forwards Roy Ward, Edmonton, Alta.; Reg Dodds, Timmins, Ont.; Fredie Glastbrecht, Pembroke, Ont., and Leo Hamilton, Ottawa, Lieut. Lawrence Milligan of Toronto is team manager.

A Tight Struggle:

Toughest match for the Workshop so far came when it just managed to beat a Canadian Infantry outfit 3-2 after trailing 2-1 in the last period.

Them, players from both teams as well as others were picked to make up an All-Star club that walloped a British team 5-2. Turk Broda, Toronto Maple Leaf property, guarded the nets for the All-Stars, and Hamill of Chicago Black Hawks and Bud Poile of the Leafs formed the first-line defence, Canadiens' Drouin, Catlin of New Haven Eagles and Fred Valenti of North Bay (Ont.) Trappers were the forward line.

Mainstay of the infantry outfit that gave Workshop its biggest scare is Husky Eddie Brown, red-haired defenceman who last played with Dome Porcupine juniors in Timmins, Ont. He is a good bet as a big-time professional.

Eddie, who joined up in 1940, served on the continent for a while after D-Day but returned to England because of stomach trouble. His army career added 60 pounds to his weight and, at 205 pounds, he's a fast breaker with a wide, sweeping style of puck carrying.

Another of the stronger teams is led by Lieut. Les Chisholm, former Toronto Leaf player from Oshawa, Ont., who has seen service in France and Belgium. He plays defence on a team managed by Cpl. J. B. Allan of Saint John, N.B.

London (CP)—There are now seven father-daughter combinations on bus routes in London. Six each case father drives and daughter takes tickets.

West Worthing, Sussex, England (CP)—The whole town was shaken when an aircraft heading for the continent crashed about 30 yards from a group of houses and its bombs exploded. The pilot is thought to have remained at the controls to clear the town after the remainder of the crew parachuted.

Statement Made by John Bracken 'Diabolical Untruth'--McNaughton

By JACK BRAYLEY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Feb. 15 — (CP)—Defence Minister McNaughton, in an interview today on politics and military affairs, said a statement by John Bracken, Progressive Conservative National leader, on the deportment of home defence troops dispatched overseas last month, was a "diabolical untruth."

He added now that the statement had proved to be wrong, Mr. Bracken had neither the manners nor the decency to withdraw it."

The Defence Minister was asked if he had any comment to make on Mr. Bracken's statement Tuesday night that Gen. McNaughton be replaced in the cabinet. Gen. McNaughton replied that this was an example of Mr. Bracken's "careless statement" and then he recalled that the Progressive Conservative leader had said in a Grey North campaign speech Feb. 1 that home defence troops proceeding overseas had thrown their rifles overboard.

Diabolical Untruth

He said that Mr. Bracken's name would be "associated with this canard for ever."

He added he thought that Mr. Bracken's "careless, irresponsible" statement on the matter following episode "was a measure of the attention which should be paid to him both within and without Canada."

Statement Proved Wrong

He said further that "Mr. Bracken, not having any military experience, probably did not appreciate the effect of the statement such volved."

Howard Wood Defeats Watson In Consols Finals

Winnipeg, Feb 16 (CP)—Howard Wood's Winnipeg Granite rink won its fourth Manitoba curling championship last night by defeating Ken Watson's Strathcona 13-6 in the British Consols finals.

Wood, skip of the Dominion championship quartet in 1930 and 34, clinched the classic of the 37th annual bonspiel by scoring four rocks on the 11th end.

Watson, skip of Dominion championship rinks in 1936 and '42, was the first grand aggregate of the year with 16 victories. His Strathcona sufferd two loses in eight days play.

Wood's son, Lionel, is the lead of the Granite rink, with Bert Hansford, second and Al Dervett, third.

Stirling Wins Over Trenton By 8-4 Score

The Stirling "Combines" evened their semi-final play-off series in the "Little Six" junior O.H.A. group finals by beating Trenton 8 to 4 at home Thursday night. The "Combines" win forces a third and deciding game to be played at Trenton on Saturday night.

Group officials today announced that the group finals would commence next Tuesday night with Belleville playing at either Trenton or Stirling, depending on the outcome of Saturday night's game. The winner of this match becomes entitled to the Group 2 championship. The second game of the series will be played at the Hume Arena next Friday night.

Pop was smoking to himself and ma said, Really, William, I mean really, in these days of unequal supply and demand it's really refreshing to meet a salesman who is all smiles and politeness and the spirit of service.

I haven't met him, I thought that chap must of died, pop said, and ma said, It was in Hoddenders shoe department of all places, where the salesmen are always being rushed out of their wits ends in a way to exhawst the patience of a proverbial saint. Yet even though there didn't seem to be a pair of shoes in the whole department of the proper color to fit me or of the proper size in the right color, this young man didn't show the slightest sign of impatience. Really, William, it made me wish I was a dispenser of meddles, so I could pin one on him, ma said.

Maybe he'd been doped, pop said, and ma said, Two or 3 other women were claiming his attention with angry glances, but he remained perfectly unfazed as he devoted himself to my exclusive intrists, pulling box after box off the shelves until the floor around him was a perfect little island of loose shoes. Yet through it all he never once lost his obliging smile. He was like a combination of Sir Walter Rawley and Clarey Cooper, ma said.

Are those the shoes? The ones you're wearing? pop said, and ma said, Goodness no, I've had these practically forever, for land sakes. The fact, is, just at the height of everything I suddenly remembered that I had exchanged my last shoe stamp with Maud Howe for some gas stamps in a spirit of mutual sacrifice. So I was unable to buy shoes after all, she said.

Yes gosh, do you mean you had the heart to walk out of there and leave that young man flat on his back on top of all those shoes? pop said, and ma said, What are you talking about?

Do you mean to say he didn't kneel over in a dead faint? pop said, and ma said, Stop talking rubbish, William. Which he did, in back of the sporting page.

CHAPTER 18

George, Vera's husband, came back then from Reno on his real trouble. The men for whom he worked on the race-tracks had used him as a front for certain race-track transactions. The police were interested in his present movements.

"We're going to Mexico", he told Vera.

"Wish!" she asked bravely.

"Within a week".

"Please, don't go", Livia begged. And unexpectedly she was the one feel so alone without you".

"But you'll have your husband", Vera reminded her gently.

"Yes, of course. I'll have Charles".

Livia's glow of excitement had subsided when Charles called at her apartment. He had a carnation in his lapel and looked young and jaunty.

"It's fun getting married," he laughed. "Let's get married once a year — but to each other. And now, Cinderella, step into the pumpkin—we're going places."

Charles was one of those men who actually enjoy shopping. He directed his chauffeur to a jewelry shop on Wilshire Boulevard.

"You must have an engagement ring," he said solemnly. "All my wives have had an engagement ring."

Livia smiled, but the "all my wives" was faintly jarring. She wondered whether all his wives had been the same shop, judging by the familiar greeting of the jewelry, they had.

"May I suggest this square-cut diamond?" the jeweler produced a magnificent gleaming stone balanced on a thin band of platinum.

"It's much too big," protested Livia, but she tried it on her finger. "Just to see what it looks like."

"Well?" Charles said finally. "It's wonderful," breathed Livia. "How much is it?"

The jeweler hesitated. "For you, Mr. Fordyce — I make a special price—for you, it is seven thousand dollars; but believe me, it cost me that. I make no profit on the ring at all." Charles grinned.

"Just for me you'll sell it for $6,000, eh?" They compromised at $5,500, Livia interrupted:

"But it's too big for me. I'd like a smaller ring, please." Nevertheless she was pleased that they ignored it. It was fun to be rich, even though it was a drama. But she had long ago given up wearing the ring. She insisted on a thin, plain gold band. She left the shop wearing the engagement ring, and her hand seemed heavy and conspicuous.

It was time for lunch, and they went to Perino's at the top of the Saks Building in Beverly Hills. Jack Tennant, the publicity man, was there lunching with a couple of cafe columnists. He waved to them as they came in and whispered to the reporter.

"Livia Charleson and Charles Fordyce—I brought them together.

"What's that on his third finger, left hand?" said the reporter.

"Maybe there's a story," Tennant brought them over to the table.

"How are you, Mr. Fordyce?" He genuflected before the director and Livia, and introduced the reporter.

"Can you keep a secret?" Charles asked Tennant, squinning.

"Yes, but I don't think my friend here can—he has seven hundred papers," warned the press agent.

"Shall we tell them, Livia?" Charles asked her.

"They seem to know." She flushed. No secret in Hollywood could be kept long.

"When and where?" the reporter demanded.

"But it's an elopement," Livia said, "If we tell them when and where, it isn't an elopement."

"It's still an elopement in HOLLYWOOD," Charles told her. So the reporter they were leaving on the Burbank field at ten that evening.

"Where are you going for the honeymoon?" he wanted to know.

"Where shall we go?" Charles asked Livia. Livia was getting thoroughly embarrassed. This was not a honeymoon, it was a business deal, with the newspaperman and press agent sitting in.

"I don't know," she said.

"We could go to New York. There are still some good shows there," it was the end of March.

"No, I want to come back to Hollywood." The reporter was busy his notebook.

"What's this about cutting you out of 'June Madness'?" he asked. "And by the way, how about your career, are you going on with it?"

Charles answered for her:

"Yes. And now for Pete's sake, good-bye."

"Okay, Mr. Fordyce." The man left them.

"It'll be in the late-afternoon editions", Charles said to Livia when her face fell. Her face was serious. "You don't mind, do you?"

"No, except—"

"Honey, this is Hollywood. It's better to have the press on your side. Especially when—"

Livia wanted to go home after lunch.

"I feel nervous, and I want to think".

"Thinking is bad for pretty girls", Charles said. "And if you think I'm letting you out of my sight until we're married, you're wrong". Then she wanted to have to talk to Bruce with Charles at her side. A telephone was brought to their table.

She was quite relieved when the Chinese boy said over the wire:

"Miss Nolan, he not in. He not in long time. He no sleep here. No, me not worried. Miss Nolan makes plenty good care of himself". She wondered where he was. Probably with that Saskia woman. She would read about her marriage in the paper.

Charles did not ask her why she was calling Bruce. But she told him.

"I felt I ought to tell him. But this is my last time. From now on it's just you and me".

Then she went to have warned, smiling, but his voice indicated he was serious. "And now we'll go some more shopping".

He insisted on buying her a little, sable jacket. Livia gasped at the price—$2,000. And a dress and a hat. He expanded her through the lingerie department, and she was embarrassed when he picked out six filmy, lace-trimmed nightgowns.

They went to a store which sold expensive bags and trunks, and left with a luxurious wardrobe case full of silver-capped bottles.

Then Livia called for a shopping truce.

"I have everything I can possibly need. Please, take me home."

Only then did Charles take Livia back to her apartment, but he stayed with her while she packed her belongings. She left most of them with the landlady.

"Until I return".

Then she dressed herself in the new dress, and sable jacket and put into the new suitcase and dressing case all the new clothes. They drove to Charles' house for a while that Livia could not eat. The story of the impending elopement was on the front pages of the afternoon papers.

The chauffeur drove them to the airport. There a chartered plane awaited them, its motors turning of and warming. A small group of cameramen and reporters asked questions and took photographs. They were getting into the plane, when they heard a sound of scuffling and angry voices at the gate. It was Bruce, trying to get through. He was very drunk.

"Let's go", Fordyce said quickly.

"Please", Livia begged him, "That is Bruce Nolan".

But Charles was impatient to be off. "We're ready", he told the pilot, who still hesitated.

Livia felt sorry for Bruce, but he broke away from them and waved toward the plane.

"I must talk to him", Livia said helplessly to Fordyce. He scanned her face.

"Okay, wait a minute", he told the pilot.

Charles leaned against the bright, aluminum cabin plane, and watched Livia walk to Bruce. He swore softly when Livia stumbled, and frowned when Bruce smiled apologetically at Livia.

"I tried to get you on the 'phone," Charles heard Livia say, "I wanted to tell you about this". She waved vaguely at the waiting planes.

"Sure you did", said Bruce breathing heavily.

"Don't make a fuss, please", Livia begged. He laughed loudly.

"You still don't understand, do you. Why should I make a fuss? I came to tell you joy and happiness, Co—" and now his attitude changed. He became less sure of a gun over there any objections.

He looked unsteadily and made a tentative move toward Charles; and then he turned back to Livia and stammered:

"So you're going to get married, eh? Well, well, Little Livia, the girl I raised from an orphan. He took down and spread his hand an arm from the hard ground". "Livia's getting married. That's a good joke on someone". Now he was angry, and Livia shrank from him. He left her suddenly and went to Charles. She followed apprehensively.

"Bruce!" she pleaded. But he stumbled on without heeding her.

"Hello, Nolan", Charles said.

"Just wanted to congratulate you, Bruce Nolan said chisky. "Take good care of Livia. She's a sweet kid".

"I will", Charles said solemnly. "Well, then, that's all I came to say", Bruce was equally solemn. "Good-bye and good luck".

He walked away unsteadily pushing through the curious throng. "Come on, Livia—it's getting late". Charles' voice cut through her distress. Her eyes were luminous with tears. She turned to him and without a word entered the plane.

They landed at Las Vegas at 1230 a.m. Despite the sable jacket, Livia shivered in the cold night air. It would soon be over and she would be Mrs. Charles Fordyce, number 5. As she said the name and the number to herself she knew it must not be.

There was a car waiting to drive them to the Justice of the Peace. Charles knew him. He had officiated at his last two weddings. He told this to Livia with an apologetic grin—and stopped suddenly at the distaste on her face.

"Charles—" Livia began after the short pause.

He knew what she wanted to say, but he was damned if he'd make it easy for her.

"Charles, are you sure you want to marry me?" she said timidly.

"Of course", he replied. She cleared her throat, and he waited coldly and cruelly. Damn her, he thought. Stop was going to marry him or regardless of her girlish scruples. Women did not leave Charles Fordyce standing at the church. It was her idea to be married. It had been her suggestion that formality.

They came back to Los Angeles; she told him, trying to keep her voice steady.

"Of course—after we're married", he said.

"I mean now".

They were driving swiftly toward a house on the outskirts of the town. He stopped the car.

"You mean later".

"I mean now", Livia sat up rigidly, "now", said Charles. She suddenly crumpled.

"I'm sorry. This is awful, I know, but I can't marry you. I'm sorry—please take me back to Los Angeles". She was hysterical. Charles shook his head.

"If you would act for the screen as well as you're doing now, I really could make a star of you", he said crustily.

"Okay, we'll get married", she said dully. "Why don't you?"

"You make it sound like a prison—for life", Charles laughed.

He turned the car and headed back for the airport. He laughed suddenly.

"Remember that first time when you pretended to faint? I certainly didn't think we'd finish this way. It's a new experience".

"I'm sorry", said Livia lamely.

"Think nothing of it", he said lightly. But at this moment he hated her.

They were at the airport now. Charles cut short the pilot's congratulations.

"Miss Clarkson changed her mind", he said briefly.

At the Los Angeles airport were some morning papers which referred to Livia as Mrs. Fordyce and printed pictures of their departure for Las Vegas. A columnist had a story that Charles and Livia were to be a new film team.

Now she had no claim on Fordyce and he could marry Ann Todd and on her own. Hollywood seemed more friendly and closed than any time before. Charles seemed to read her thoughts. He said:

"This does not necessarily interfere with out business agreement. You could still be under personal contract to me".

"Oh, impossible now".

"We'll talk of that later", he said with more kindness. They were both tired. "Where shall I drive you?"

"I'll go to my sister's", she said miserably.

Livia had wondered why she had not married Fordyce. And she was glad when they had reached sister's, asked no questions and made up a bed for her on the living-room sofa. She slept until noon.

Several people were annoyed that Livia had not married Fordyce. There was Countess Saskia, who believed that Bruce would finally establish to her charms when Livia married. And there was Theresa Davidson, who was waiting until the marriage was announced to make a bigger touch "on behalf of your father".

But two people were glad. Alice Delavern—although she now hated Fordyce only a little more than Livia. And Bruce, emerging from a fog of drunkenness, was so glad that he emptied in the kitchen sink the Scotch he was about to pour down his throat. Then he telephoned Countess Saskia.

"You need not release my picture to Fordyce as a producer.

"That's interesting", she cooed. "And what do you intend doing for money?"

"It's none of your business. But I'll tell you anyway—I'm going back to stunting which I find less dangerous than working for a woman of your type".

She was frightened. "Bruce I was joking about not releasing our picture. Of course, it's to be released. I've made all arrangements".

"Then send my share to a home for cats," he said and put the receiver down. He phoned Livia. The cold shower for ten minutes, then shave, bath — she was not at her apartment. He telephoned - Vera, and Livia answered.

"I'm seeing Charles for dinner", she said when he asked to see her.

"Then our marriage is only postponed?"

"Oh, no", she answered vehemently. "This has all been a joke. I'll see you".

"How about later?" Livia asked.

"All right—later then".

To see Bruce and perhaps get back to their old friendly status made her happy again.

Vera told her husband George, a race-track follower, whose record was being investigated by the police, were to leave the United States at the end of the week.

"What about the baby?" Livia asked Vera. "Let me keep her". Vera thought she was joking.

"How about your movie career?"

"My career doesn't seem very important now".

"Well, maybe, until we get settled", Vera promised.

Livia and Charles dined at Charen's, Magnificent Pictures Corporation had offered him the biggest film of the year "Honoria Lewis" had sold a million copies, and the sales were still mounting. Magnificent Pictures had paid $200,000 for the rights to film the story.

"I'll do it", Charles told the company executives, "on one condition".

"Yes?" said Chairman Ronald Dunn.

"That I choose my own cast". The chairman released Schneider.

"Oh, is that all?" He puffed on his long cigar. "Who d'ye want?"

Fordyn named the most popular male star in films. The executive nodded approvingly.

"And for the woman lead?" Charles paused, and they waited expectantly.

"Livia Clarkson". "It was as though he had dropped a bomb.

"We were thinking of Alice Delaware", said Dunne, looking very uncomfortable silence. "in fact, I more or less promised Schneider we would give her the lead. He's investing in the picture. Or didn't you know?" Charles picked up his hat and cane.

"Gentlemen—good day", he said. He knew the men he had to deal with. And he had for once, the director of "Honoria Lewis" was more important to success than any or all of the other combinations. This was a world crying aloud for his sensitive type of direction.

Opportunity for Vets to Rehabilitate Themselves Must be Provided

What is need in Canada is not a new political party or issue, but a reorganization of present institutions of church, school and home, and a rejuvenation of the old laws of honesty, toil and thrift.

Thus were the "musts" of a better Canada, and for the affording of opportunity for returned war veterans in the post-war period as presented by Mr. George S. Wyatt, M.P., for Hastings-Peterboro, as he spoke before members of the Belleville Life Underwriters' Association and their wives at their annual ladies' night held Thursday evening at the Quinte Hotel.

He referred to Hastings county boys overseas as forming one of the traditions of their ancestors, as boys who count not the sacrifice in their fight that freedom may survive. His boyhood days when they returned from overseas it may be difficult for them to appreciate the attitude of those who said they may be silent, cynical or bitter, but they will not be expected of charity. Rather they will seek an opportunity to readjust themselves to peacetime economy without being penalized for the time they were away. Demand is not for charity.

The responsibility of helping to rehabilitate these veterans back into civilian life rested with Canadians now at home, he said. Too many, however, would be content to leave others accept the responsibility. Peace would not be won by the installation of new telephones, by the expansion of domestic production, but only in making the right to be a citizen of Canada the greatest heritage that could be handed down.

Mr. White, who called for opportunity and responsibility to be given youth in peacetime as well as in time of war, said the opportunity and responsibility was the combined duty of the church, the school and the home, with the state to fill in the gaps where other services missed out.

Leadership Needed.

Many of today's youth had been born during a period of chaos; had "grown-up" during years of unemployment and other social problems and when existing services failed to supply the anchorage upon which Democracy depended. What is needed today is sound leadership and realistic action Only then will youth cease to be critical.

The speaker declared that chaos was invited by any state which neglected its youth and listed ten "musts" for a proper training of youth and to mould them in acceptance of responsibility. He said that every child born had the right to be well-born. Character training was necessary that the dignity of labor may be appreciated. Education was claimed to be the nation's wisest investment.

Youth must be taught to carry its own weight and a little more in the community, it must learn that there cannot be more wealth than that which is produced. The greatest task for Canada is to make youth conscious that it is welcome in society.

County Warden Guest.

President of the local Under-writers' Association, Mr. Arthur Burke, presided over the meeting and called upon Mr. George Reid to introduce the guest speaker. Association appreciation was expressed by Ben Ogilvie. Guests at the meeting included Mr. and Mrs. White and Warden J. P. Wilson and Mrs. Wilson of Hickory township.

Toast to the ladies was proposed by Mr. Ralph Morden who indicated that much of the success achieved during the year was rightfully be attributed to their wives. Response to the toast was made by Mrs. Gilbert Stackhouse.

TRENTON

Two Local Boys Prisoners of War

Trenton, Feb. 16 — Two local boys recently reported missing in action are now both reported to be prisoners-of-war.

Pte. John Davis, reported missing in Italy on December 16th, is now reported a prisoner-of-war according to official information received by his wife, the former Ellen Moon, who resides with their small son on Wrages St. here.

He was a member of the non-permanent army for several years previous to the outbreak of war and went overseas about a year ago. He was first attached to the 48th Highlanders but later transferred to the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. Just a few months ago he received a shrapnel wound in his foot but soon recovered and returned to active service.

He has two brothers in the service, one in Belgium and one in Holland.

Pte. Russell Allen Smith, son of Mr. M. Smith, 366 Front Street, also reported missing in Italy, is now reported to be a prisoner-of-war.

He enlisted in April 1942 and spent several months at Petawawa and upon arrival in England was transferred to the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. He served nearly a year in Italy before being reported missing.

The toast to the guests was proposed by Mr. Percy McGuire and the response by Warden Wilson.

Musical entertainment was afforded the fifty-odd persons present by the local collegiate quartette who were heard in two well-rendered numbers and by Miss Ethel Smith who delighted with several solos. Bill Navin acted as piano accompanist.

WILL YOU BE MY VALENTINE?

Mess Room Chatter Of Canada's Airmen

With the R.C.A.F. Overseas, Feb. 16 (CP) — One of the most exclusive clubs in the R.A.F. is the newly-formed 'Pathfinders' Club, in which a handful of top-flight Canadian fliers will be eligible for membership.

The president and founder is Australian-born Air Vice-Marshal D. C. T. Bennett, 33 year old chief of Bomber Command's Pathfinder, who has been described as "the finest navigator in the world."

Canada's most famous pathfinder and eligible for membership is Group Capt. Johnny Fauquier. Names of other Canadians in the specialized business are kept secret for security reasons but they all work in No. 8 Pathfinder Force Group—and that's the test of eligibility.

Some of the club's aims are: to maintain the spirit of fellowship of the Pathfinder force; to encourage the spirit of aviation and a high standard of flying; and to help prisoners of war on their return.

The first R.C.A.F. squadron to reach the Burma war theatre now is delivering an average of 100 tons of supplies daily to the fighting troops.

In his first four days on operations, this transport outfit carried almost 900,000 pounds of freight, either dropping their cargoes within reach of the ground lines or landing them at forward airfields in territory recently recaptured from the Japanese.

The squadron is commanded by Wing Cmdr. T. P. Harnett of Moncton, N.B.

PO. F. J. Kaufman of Odessa, Sask., saw many rockets smash below the waterline into a medium-sized enemy merchantman when R.A.F. Coastal Command Mosquitoes attacked two ships in Flekker Fjord on the Norwegian coast.

Both vessels were left in clouds of flame and smoke.

"The big fellow was billowing out bags of smoke even in the short time we were attacking," said Kaufman, piloting one of the Mosquitoes. "It was really a good beat-up."

From December 23 to the year-end, the R.C.A.F.'s Nighthawk and Cougar night-fighter squadrons shot down ten enemy planes. The Cougars claimed six to boost their score between the invasion and new year-end to 47 and the Nighthawks got four to give them a total of 45 in the same period.

Two teams scored doubles in the year-end session: PO. Don MacKenzie of 1295 King St.) London, Ont., and his navigator, FO. Gen Bedard of Edmonton, knocked off two Junkers 88s. PO. Ralph Britten of Arichat, N.S., and Flt. Lt. Leo Fowler, Baddeck, N.S., got another pair four days later.

Other two-man teams who got kills included: Flt. Lt. W. G. Dziadzia, Brandon, Man., and FO. J. E Dunne, Winnipeg; Flt. Lt. C. K. Stringer, D.F.C., Ferndale, Mich., and FO. C. Yeaman, D.F.C., Kindia, Sask.; Sqdn. Ldr. T. E. Mac-Tavish, Seaforth, Ont., and FO. A. M. Grant, Burnaby, B.C.; Flt. Lt. W. H. MacPhail, Cromarty, Ont., and FO. J. E. Donaghue, St. Vital, Man.; FO. J. A. Watt (5620 Arlington) Vancouver, and Flt. Lt. E. H. Collis, R.A.F.; and Sqdn. Ldr. Frank Hutton of (581 Queen's) London, Ont., and Flt. Lt. Russ Ritter of (185 Benton) Kitchener, Ont.

Wandering Wives Wartime Problem

Agency Checks Up On Missing United States Spouses

New York, Feb. 16 (CP) — War, says a man who should know, has made women look before they leap — and linger.

It also has made some of them less likely to stay married if they're unhappy, adds Daniel M. Eisenberg, president of the Skip Tracers Company, a private agency that looks for missing persons.

"Before the war," Eisenberg says "we spent most of our time hunting A.W.O.L. husbands. Now a large part of our business is checking up on the background of men who have proposed marriage."

"Women seem more cynical and less willing to believe what they want to believe," is the explanation of A. E. Linker, the firm's general manager. "If they're not satisfied with a suitor's account of himself, they hire us to check up.

"Usually they act on the basis of our report, but there was one redheaded widow who just smiled when we told her the man in the case had impersonated an officer, assumed a professional title, served a prison term and concealed a former marriage.

"'Oh, is that all?' she said. 'I was afraid he might have been involved in something really bad.'"

BANCROFT

J. Bremner, Founder Of Bancroft Times, Dies at Moose Jaw

Bancroft. —John Bremner passed away in Moose Jaw General Hospital January third, in his 81st year. Born February 22, 1864, near Orillia, township of Hewick, Huron Co. Later settled with his parents at Middleville, Lanark County then in Mayo township, Hastings Co., where he was first postmaster at Hartsmere and later at Cloyne post office near Havergal in Carlow township; also was Municipal Clerk of Carlow and Mayo. At Bancroft he managed the A. B. Ross store, then located on the site of the Lorne Reid Store.

The call of the West took him to Bolsevain, Manitoba, where he was partner with the late Dr. N. F. Colleu in a drug store.

With the passing of his wife, Elizabeth (nee Dick) he returned to Bancroft and founded the "Bancroft Times" which he edited until his health failed and had to farm to regain it, was for a number of years clerk of the township of Faraday.

Political urgency led to his founding the "North Hastings Reporter", which he ran for about three years.

Moving the "Reporter" plant to Minnidosa, Manitoba, he published the "Mercury" which he sold it, but failure of the buyer to succeed with it, he moved the plant to Rosthern, Saskatchewan, where for a number of years he published the "Prebyrow Herald", until he sold it.

Further newspaper ventures took him to Bridgeford, Saskatchewan, then to Stockglen, Saskatchewan where he published the "Stockglen Review" and the "Coronock Courier" and saw Stockglen grow from a few buildings to a thriving town, he serving also as municipal clerk and Justice of the Peace.

As an ordained elder of the Presbyterian Church, he assisted in Church life wherever he located; also was a member of the Masonic Order, Oddfellows, Orange and Knights of Pythias.

Surviving his first marriage is his son, J. O. S. Bremner, Toronto, a veteran of the last war, and of his second marriage, one son, Clifford R. Bremner with the R.C.A.F.; also five daughters in Stockglen, Saskatoon, Winnipeg and Detroit, Michigan and their mother, Jessie, (nee Siddons). Also one sister, Mrs. J. F. Dunlop, of Packenham, Ontario.

Major Norton J. Anderson, of Ottawa and Winnipeg, senior Public Relations Officer, Directorate of Public Relations, (Army), National Defence Headquarters, Ottawa, who is being retired from the Canadian Army to take an executive appointment with the Wartime Information Board, Ottawa. A Winnipeg newspaperman, Major Anderson enlisted with the Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders of Winnipeg, and went overseas in 1940.—(Canadian Army Photo).

Sgt. W. E. Morris Prisoner of War

Bancroft, (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. William Morris Sr., of Bancroft, received official word Tuesday from the International Red Cross Committee of Geneva, Switzerland, that their son, Sgt. William Edwin Morris, previously reported missing December 5th., 1944's is now a prisoner of war at Stalag No 7A, Germany.

Sgt. Morris is a member of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment and was in the Italian theatre of war enlisting in Bancroft in the Fall of 1939.

The Women's Auxiliary of St. John's Anglican Church of Bancroft held a Pancake Supper in the Community Hall on Shrove Tuesday. The tables were very daintily decorated with Valentine trimmings for the occasion. There were about one hundred and fifty people in attendance for the supper.

Messrs. Balfour and Merle Vader have completed their ice-cutting operations on the pond at the north end of the village for this year.

The local Red Cross Board are busily engaged making their canvases in their drive for the new Red Cross hospital to be erected at Bancroft and are also sponsoring a Tombola in the very near future by a means of raising added funds for the project.

Leister Services commenced Wednesday in Bancroft in the various churches and will continue throughout the Lenten season.

Mrs. M. J. McGhee of the village is spending a few days this week in Kingston visiting with her daughter, Miss Hilda McGhee, who is nurse-in-training at the Kingston General Hospital.

How long is 3 weeks, Ivan?

● Hitler boasted that he would smash Russia in three weeks... Ivan's courage, resourcefulness and fighting skill have already spun those three weeks into a third year.

What is three weeks . . . what is Time itself to Ivan but a succession of minutes, each one marked by the fall of a Nazi soldier.

We have helped Ivan destroy Hitler's timetable by sending planes, tanks, guns, shells, food. It is a proud thing to share even a little in Russia's triumph to this hour.

We who make the high-proof alcohol for the smokeless powder in Ivan's high explosives also have a special way of measuring Time. In our plants, wholly converted to war production, we mark the passing of each hour by the thousands of gallons of high-proof alcohol flowing from our giant stills. Three weeks, three months, three years . . . it will go on flowing until the last Axis soldier has laid down either his body or his arms . . . in unconditional surrender!

THE HOUSE OF SEAGRAM

ALCOHOL FOR WAR IS USED IN THE MANUFACTURE OF SYNTHETIC RUBBER, MEDICINES, NAVIGATION INSTRUMENTS, SHATTERPROOF GLASS AND MANY OTHER PRODUCTS. EVERY SEAGRAM PLANT IN CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES IS ENGAGED 100% IN THE PRODUCTION OF HIGH-PROOF ALCOHOL FOR WAR.

Two years ago, we of The House of Seagram published this advertisement in tribute to the heroic Russian soldier:

Today, we are repeating this message in renewed tribute to the millions of Ivans whose "courage, resourcefulness and fighting skill" have now freed Russian soil and beaten the enemy back to the very threshold of Berlin.

TOKYO REPORTS U.S. LANDINGS MADE ON IWO JIMA
TWO RUSSIAN ARMIES LINE UP BEFORE BERLIN

Shell-ripped Guben 50 Mi. From Berlin Under Artillery Fire

Soviet Planes Take Heavy Toll on Crowded Highways

By JAMES F. KING
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

London, Feb. 17 (AP) — Russian troops closed on shellripped Guben fifty miles southeast of Berlin today and hammered at Gottbus in a second gateway fortress city on the Spree River, 47 miles from the German capital.

A Moscow dispatch said armored units of Marshal Ivan Konev's army perhaps had ranged to within 35 miles of Berlin.

The Germans rushed heavy armor and huge infantry reinforcements into the spreading, intense battle southeast of Berlin, and the Soviet planes took a heavy toll of crowded highways.

Guben, on the Neisse River, was under artillery barrage, and Soviet troops pressed forward in from three sides.

The Berlin radio said the Russians were within 13 miles of Cottbus, southeast of Guben, in the area of Forst on the Upper Neisse River Stormed

A Berlin dispatch from Konev's front declared a river — perhaps the Neisse—had been stormed in this area and that another stream beyond also had been forced.

The Russians were reported within eight or nine miles of Cottbus last battle fortress "line" before Berlin. The Spree rolls by Cottbus, an important rail center.

The German high command acknowledged the fall of Sagan, Silesian city 35 miles southeast of Guben, and said Konev's men had scored "penetrations" around and surrounded Breslau, Silesian capital.

The Germans also indicated the fall of Poznan—great holdout stronghold in Poland—was near, saying street fighting raged in the heart of the city.

The Germans said also that the northern wing of Marshal Ivan S. Konev's 1st. Ukraine Army and the southern flank of Marshal Gregory Zhukov's 1st. White Russian army had linked up at Crossen, 69 miles southeast of Berlin and 30 miles northeast of Cottbus, but this was not confirmed in Moscow.

Rash Troops Into Breach

The Germans rushed veteran and unseasoned home army recruits into the line in an effort to stop the Russian threat to turn Berlin's eastern defenses.

Soviet siege guns meanwhile shelled Breslau from all directions. The Russians were officially declared to be only four miles from the center of Breslau, a population city of 630,000 straddling the Oder River. They were reported to be just adjoining Biechofwalde, a forest on the southeast side of the city.

An enemy broadcast late last night said the "decisive battle" for Breslau was on. Konev's forces have been closing a steel arc on the lower Silesian capital for many days.

Exploit Results

The Russians fought to exploit the results of the closely co-ordinated aerial lambasting dealt Germany yesterday in the Flensburg raid, and in other assaults on railyards in Austria and in Italy. Seven other Allied planes were lost in the day's operations from Britain bases, which totalled 1,400 sorties in all.

and civilians fleeing from the Russian advance."

The Russians captured 50 localities yesterday in cleaning out a big enemy pocket between the Bober and Oder rivers, forcing the enemy into a to a marshy stretch between Crossen and captured Schlenburg.

An additional 200 localities were taken in completing the ring around Breslau.

Marshal K. K. Rokossovsky's 2nd and Marshal Gregory Zhukov's 1st White Russian armies closing in on Berlin from the northeast through the Pomeranian corridor between Poznan and the Vistula river on a 30-mile front.

Jet-Propelled Plane Factory at Regensburg Hit by 1,700 Aircraft

London, Feb. 17 — (CP) — United States heavy bombers, carrying the mighty air offensive within 1 1/2 miles of Coch, and toppled Hohenmoor and Moll, five miles west of the stronghold and within 3 1/2 miles of Soch, and toppled Hohenmoor and Moll, five miles west of the stronghold and within 3 1/2 miles south of Kleve.

Canadian, British and infantry troops fought 1 1/2 miles from Calcar, seven miles southeast of Kleve and 17 miles from bomb-battered Wesel, southern gate to the industrial Ruhr.

Five Miles from Uedem

Gen. Eisenhower men were five miles or less from Uedem, third road gateway stronghold, 4 1/2 miles south of Coch.

More than 1,000 prisoners were taken in the drive which carried the line 24 hours, boosting the total in the Allied offensive of Dec. 16 to more than 20,000 dispatch said. Another described Allied air-assisted gains as probably the best since early in the Allied day old push.

British troops biting 4,000 yards deep and across the Goch-Calcar highway almost scored a clean sweep through, front reporters said, spearing deep into lines of the German 116th Panzer and 15th Panzer Grenadier divisions.

The front curled clear of the Siegfried Line's defence zone from Kleve to Goch, and cut just north of Hafenboden, three miles south and east of Goch.

Scottish troops on the western flank struck south along the Germans' last road to the north and east from a wood less than a mile northeast of the Maas river town of Afferden, 10 miles from Kleve and Gennep.

Enemy Germans — their strength is now consisting of elements of eight divisions — fought in small isolated counter-attacks throughout yesterday morning.

Mud hampered all the western front, mud halted most activities, but the Canadian First Army, striking behind a half-mile northeastward along the Eckhenerhaide road, winning heights dominating the Calcar-Cleve road.

The 84th Division of the American 3rd Army pushed to within a mile northeast into Schankewiller, six miles southwest of Geilenkirchen.

Southeast of Echternach, 3rd Army patrols entered Waszerbillig, at the junction of the Sure and Moselle rivers, but were forced to withdraw under heavy artillery shelling, and in the Sinz area southeast of Remich Germans counter-attacking with tanks re-took over several pillboxes.

Flood waters were reported ebbing along the lower Roer front of the United States 1st and 9th Armies and the British 2nd Army.

No changes were reported on the Italian front.

Allied planes flew 2,500 sorties against western frontline objectives and supply lines in the area and behind the Rhine Friday. In token of their effectiveness, 170 bombshaken Germans surrendered at Aldenborden after that town two miles from the Rhine was pummelled and as Allied troops fought into its outskirts.

Uedem and Wesel were reported hard hit by the RAF.

There were indications Gen. Crerar might soon be able to throw his full strength over the Rhine in battle at the northern hinge of the German line, for the ground was reported drying.

CANADIANS NEAR GERMAN BASTIONS OF GOCH, CALCAR

Sudden Resurgent Push Over Mired Battlefields Set Nazis Back on Heels

By HOWARD COWAN
(AP Staff Writer)

Paris, Feb. 17 — (AP) — Allied troops of the 1st Canadian Army battled today to within 1 1/2 miles of the last of the mighty Hitler German bastions of Goch and Calcar southeast of Kleve in a sudden, resurgent push over mired battlefields.

Britons, Scots and Canadians under Gen. Crerar's command hung and forward yesterday behind a wall of artillery fire and armor from the Allied planes, and British troops smashed to within 3 1/2 miles cutting the main Goch-Calcar highway at two points.

Fighting closing on Goch and Calcar gained 2,500 yards. They entered Asperden and Hommersum, within 1 1/2 miles of Goch, and toppled Hohenmoor and Moll, five miles west of the stronghold and within 3 1/2 miles south of Kleve.

In token of their effectiveness, 170 bomb-shaken Germans surrendered at Aldenborden after that town two miles from the Rhine was pummelled and as Allied troops fought into its outskirts.

Uedem and Wesel were reported hard hit by the RAF.

There were indications Gen. Crerar might soon be able to throw his full strength over the Rhine in battle at the northern hinge of the German line, for the ground was reported drying.

ON DANGER MISSION

It has just been disclosed that Pte. Kurt Shorpet of Long Island City, N.Y., was a member of a group of Yank officers and enlisted men who spent 20 minutes in a tunnel 300 feet under the great Schwammenauel dam of the Roer river in an effort to find out whether the Germans intended to blow up the dam.

ONTARIO MAY LET ALL VOTERS USE ADVANCE POLL

Former C.C.F. Members Tell Why They Bolted Their Party

Toronto, Feb. 17 (CP)—Bills revising the Active Service Election Act, the Voters List Act and the Election Act will be presented to the Ontario Legislature this session following tabling of a select committee report yesterday by Attorney-General Leslie Blackwell.

In a short but active sitting, section of the current session, Nelson Allies and Carl Ranoch, former C.C.F. members who recently bolted the party, told the House their action stemmed from the C.C.F.'s refusal to collaborate with other parties.

Mr. Allies, now Independent Labor member for Essex North, said his course had been guided by popular opinion in his riding which favored co-operation among political parties in meeting social and economic problems.

Man on Street Wants Team Work.

"The man on the street is neither a socialist nor a capitalist, but he does want team-work. He is sick across party lines in the interests of public welfare," Mr. Allies said.

People generally were becoming afraid that politicians were proponents of political philosophies rather than of the people's welfare second." He was prepared to operate with any party, Mr. Allies said, on the basis of the aims we are gathered here to achieve.

Mr. Ranoch said the major cause of his defection from the C.C.F. was "the party's technical policy—regardless of circumstances it would not co-operate with any other party."

He accepted the principle of coalition in a three-party House, but the C.C.F. maintained there was no difference between the two "old parties" and would work with neither.

Appointment of a select committee to study the entire field of labor relations with a view to drafting a new labor relations act in Ontario was asked in a resolution by J. B. Salsberg, Labor Progressive member for Toronto St. Andrew.

Proposed Voting Regulations.

Proposed Election Act changes would broaden voting regulations for transients. All eligible voters would be privileged to use an advance poll without an affidavit, if warmer, and commercial travellers have been given their right to vote.

The committee favored revising of sections of the act dealing with corrupt practices and recommended repeal of the section dealing with financial contributions to candidates illegal contributions made for the purpose of obtaining appointments, property, contracts, licences and similar contributions.

The report said the present system of preparing voters' lists was antiquated" and proposed changes including the appointment in every polling division of two enumerators, representing opposite political parties.

UNKNOWN NUMBER PERISH IN FIRE IN APT. HOUSE

Blaze Apparently Started With an Explosion in Candy Factory

Toronto, Wash., Feb. 17 (AP) — One person was known dead, and an unknown number were feared trapped in a blazing downtown apartment house here today.

Thirteen persons were in hospital with burns and other injuries. At least one person was known to be missing.

An unidentified young woman died in hospital of burns.

Firemen rescued many of the occupants with ladders and life nets. Still others jumped from windows or made their way down fire escapes.

The building was the four-storey Maefair, whose 41 apartments were crowded with war workers' families, and wives and children of service men.

The fire was under control four hours after its start.

There were between 75 and 85 tenants in the building, the owner, Mrs. Marguerite Miller, estimated. Started by Explosion

The blaze apparently started with an explosion in a candy factory in the basement of the masonry covered frame building about 3 a.m. and was still burning three hours later.

An assistant chief said that when fire apparatus first arrived all windows on the street side were filled with screaming men, women and children.

Firemen said the Maefair was a masonry building with a large number of frame porches on its side light well. There were few outside winds.

Some of the occupants were carried to safety down ladders, and others were caught in life nets. Many, however, leaped before the nets were rigged, and some missed the nets, police said.

FIRE FINALLY STARTS

Windsor, Feb. 17 — (CP) — Here is what happened when workmen attempted to remove a wooden canopy over the entrance to the fire station here: The canopy fell breaking the front door of the engine. A short circuit was caused in the pump motor, causing the electric circuit ignited leaking gasoline and the fire department had to be summoned to extinguish the ensuing blaze.

DIDN'T WANT FARM

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 17 — (AP) — Charles Ray, movie star, in public auction purely out of curiosity, bought the 160-acre farm of Mrs. Jennie County poor farm, for which his bid of $130 an acre was high.

LETTERS 'SALVAGED FROM AIR CRASH'

Kitchener, Feb. 17 — (CP)—Two charred letters from servicemen overseas labelled "salvaged from air crash", were received here recently. The letters, first of their type to arrive in this district, were almost unreadable.

HISTORIC BATAAN ENCIRCLED AFTER DARING LANDING

Tokyo Radio Reports Corregidor Island Has Been Invaded By U.S. Paratroopers

Manila, Feb. 17—(AP)—Eleventh Corps Americans swiftly formed a new trap enclosing several thousand Japanese on Bataan Peninsula as Manila Bay's historic Bataan-Corregidor defense system crumbled today after a daring warplane-supported landing on the south coast under the silenced guns of rock-fortified Corregidor.

While a stiff fight raged for Manila Bay's island bastion, which had "we have captured Bataan" and a broken force of Americans and Filipinos fought gallant but losing stands three years ago.

Tokyo radio, in a broadcast heard in London, reported that paratroopers had been landed by the United States 5th Fleet "might strike directly at the Japanese homeland and effect landings there." Reached by Shells

Manila's 5th Fleet, under Rear Admiral Arthur Struble, sailed within the mouth of Manila Bay side of the peninsula.

At Tokyo 1,500 refugees planes from the world's largest fleets of aircraft carriers hovering 200 miles off Japan's east coast emerged in the second straight day to rekindle fires in the capital.

Radio Issues Warning

The Tokyo domestic radio issued the warning to the Japanese people that the Americans "may attempt to come near the homeland by the occupation of the Izu Bono Peninsula," — the easternland arm of Tokyo Bay.

This suggestion was not amplified, however, the phraseology would indicate the paratroopers were not suggesting the possibility that big Japanese naval units, or shore defences on Honshu, main Japanese island.

Want Total Effort.

Tokyo radio issued frantic appeals for "total effort of the government and the people" urging them to "make all attacks more firm the air-tight defence of the waterfront city."

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced yesterday that 1,000 planes attacks in a brief communique today.

"Carrier aircraft of the 5th Fleet are carrying out attack the Tokyo area," he said simply.

Radio Tokyo in a belated, confirming broadcast said: "The defencest fighting is still going on," Tuesday three hours after the attacks appeared at 7 a.m.

Tokyo said the "enemy" cruisers, two destroyers and a warship of unidentified type were sunk and 15 American planes shot down. There was no American confirmation to support any of the enemy claims.

Seems of 3rd "Kills."

B-29 Superfortresses hovering over the Japanese capital yesterday reported inter-plane radio communications about scores of American fighters "on the kill" in the air battle raging the capital.

Admiral Nimitz announced no official word of today's or yesterday's attack on Tokyo, instead, the announced during Sunday breakfast. We would suggest you get breakfast from Belleville this Sunday.

U.S. Carrier Planes For Second Straight Day Bomb Tokyo

Radio Warns Americans May Attempt To Land on Honshu

Guam, Feb. 17 — (AP) — The powerful United States 5th Fleet continued its double-barrelled assaults on Tokyo and Nippon Jima today while enemy radio broadcasts reported American assault forces had begun storming their way ashore on Iwo.

The enemy's Domei agency reported landing attempts on two beaches but claimed the attacks "so far have been repulsed."

The Tokyo newspaper Asahi was quoted as editorializing that the heavy carrier-borne air raids around the capital, now in their second day, may be "preparatory to the enemy's landing scheme on the homeland."

Mainichi, another Japanese newspaper, was quoted as saying the Americans landed by the United States 5th Fleet "might strike directly at the Japanese homeland and effect landings there."

Second Section "The American" Badly Wrecked

Lancaster, Feb. 17 — (AP) — A passenger train was hauled into a derailed mail and express train at Holtwood, Pennsylvania, early today, but no one was injured seriously, Pennsylvania Railroad and Public Relations Officers reported.

The Office said first reports indicated the Enterprise suffered minor injuries, bruises and cuts when the second section of the southbound St. Louis-New York train "The American" ran into eight derailed cars of the mail and express.

Officials said a heavy snow was falling at the time but that derailment had not been determined.

BULL EXPRESS PASSENGER

Pueblo, Colo., Feb. 17 — (AP) — A Denver and Rio Grande Western Limited train stopped at Glenwood Springs, for 30 extra minutes. The reason, a prize-winning bull from the McClure ranch was hauled into the baggage car as an express passenger to San Mateo, Calif. His fare was $137; his keeper's $57.

BELLEVILLE ANGLERS NAMED ON EXECUTIVE

Fred Croft and J. E. Shorts of the Belleville Anglers' Club were named to the executive of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters when that organization met for their annual meeting in Toronto this week. Others named to the executive from this district included Major P. E. Ponton, Minister of Napanee and W. A. Peters of Kingston.

The association will seek the release of at least 100,000 pheasants b ythe Ontario Game and Fisheries Department. It was declared that the annual number of pheasants released was declining and that shooting was getting worse. Among other items of business the association passed resolutions asking that the sale of cotton fall rabbits be prohibited in the province and that netting of snares should be barred in Southern Ontario.

The meeting also asked that the government endorse and encourage the use of dogs by sportsmen while hunting ducks and game birds, claiming that many were lost as crippled or dead.

I.T. T. W. WILLIAMSON GRADUATES FROM O.T.C.

Former sergeant in the 34th Field Regiment Canadian Artillery, Lieutenant T. W. Williamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Williamson, Bleecker Avenue, graduated this week from the Brockville Officers' Training Centre.

Lieut. Williamson joined the army three years ago, and has since commissioned a lieutenant or artillery after graduating from a special course at Brandon, Manitoba. He has been stationed in various parts of Canada and was an instructor at Camp Shiloh, Manitoba.

At Brockville during the past twelve weeks he took a special course in infantry training and has now transferred from the gunners to the Canadian Infantry Corps. He expects to go overseas shortly.

DELEGATES ATTEND LEGISLATURE OPENING

Interested visitors at the opening of the Ontario Legislature this week to which they received invitations were Mrs. Ernest Mason, Elmer Sandercock, Joe Shiell, Arthur Hinchey and Fred Croft. The quartette were guests of local members at parliament and viewed the proceedings from a prominent position. They were in Toronto attending the convention of the Ontario Game and Fisheries' Association.

CHAMBER TO RECEIVE REPORT ON ROADS

Arrangements have been completed with the Canada Motor League by the Belleville Chamber of Commerce to receive road reports regarding conditions on all provincial highways throughout the province, it was this week announced today.

The reports are accurate and authoritative and will be received from motorists, from men in the engineers and inspectors in every section of Ontario.

These daily information reports regarding road conditions can obtain by telephone or by getting in touch with Chamber of Commerce officials here. The information is also being broadcast daily by district radio stations.

STOKER RONALD BROWN ABOARD THE "DUNVER"

When the doughty frigate "Dunver" with battle signals flashing bore down on a German submarine recently there was at least one Belleville heart that beat faster with the thrill of action: Stoker 1st class Ronald Browne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brown of 24 Belleville, is a member of the frigate's crew and took part in the affair which sent the undersea boat "Dunver" sinking to her doom. Assisting the "Dunver" was the corvette Kincardine, which was given equal credit for the "kill" with her sister ship.

The story of the action was released this week by Navy Minister Angus MacDonald.

KINSMEN TO OBSERVE 25TH ANNIVERSARY

It will be a gala night for Kinsmen clubs across Canada on Tuesday evening, when the 100 clubs in the Dominion will meet in their various centres to mark the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the service club. Programs at all places of meeting will be the same and with the slightly more elaborate than the customary meeting program. Toasts to the King, the Armed Services, to the Association of Kinsmen Clubs, and to the Founders of Kinsmen Clubs will be heard. Guest speaker of the meeting in Belleville will be Kin B. C. Slater, an honorary member of the local club, who is one of the few charter members of the group to form the Hamilton club, 25 years ago.

APPLICATION FORMS AT POST OFFICE

The postal department again this year has agreed to co-operate with the Oil Controller of Canada in effecting distribution of application forms for use by persons wishing to obtain gasoline supplies under rationing regulations.

The three different application forms, viz., category A-A, (blue print) special category (green print) and commercial motor vehicle (purple) are now available at the local post office the same as in previous years and may be received by persons wishing them. They will not be sent out in the mail.

Gasoline rationing regulations require that any persons making application for gasoline privilege registration, gasoline licence and ration book number, or any passenger type motor vehicle, must complete their A-2 application and obtain their category A-A book before completing a special category application.

Prices Hold Steady On Local Market

Prices for all lines of produce held steady on a rather featureless market Saturday morning with egg holding firm at 38 cents the dozen. Mediums brought 33 and pullets, 30 cents the dozen.

The fowl offering was not large although many birds of good quality were on hand. Prices ranged from 25 cents to 36 cents the pound. One vendor received 31 to 32 cents. Ducks ranging up to eight pounds at 35 cents per pound.

On the outside market potatoes held at 42 at the big white variety. Cabbages brought the usual prices. Sauerkraut was 15 cents the quart and large heads, unless a naked stock or 10 cents the peck.

Beet greens, Brussels and Delicious apples sold at $2.75 per bushel with Talman Sweets bringing $2 for the same quantity. Winter apples brought 75 cents the peck and cookers from $1 to $1.50 per bushel.

Onions and pork by the quarter was offered by one or two vendors with beef ranging from 22 cents for hinds and 13 1-3 for fronts. Veal brought 30 cents. Pork sold at 18 and 33 cents per pound for fronts and hinds respectively.

$400 Damage In House Fire

Damage estimated by firemen at approximately $400 was caused Friday evening at the home of Jack Whelan, 132 East Moira St., when fire of an undetermined origin broke out in the living room, chesterfield and chairs and burned down through the floor before being controlled by firemen.

Two other calls were answered by the fire department during the day, one to Schuster's coal dock where a chimney fire did no real damage and one for five hours. The coal pile was thoroughly wet by one of the company's buildings when firemen were forced to remain on the scene to keep the wood off the catch fire.

The other call was for a chimney fire in Leguerin's apartments on Bridge Street. Although no damage resulted this was a particularly stubborn one and required the use of the master hose and small pumps before being extinguished.

AB. Gerald Isard Sees Action On Frigate "Nene"

Able Seaman Gerald Isard, twenty-one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Isard, 9 Isabel Street, can now call himself a veteran of the deep seas for he has seen action on the broad wastes of the Atlantic and helped the convoy with his crew when tell-tale oil bubbles marked the resting place of another Nazi sub.

He is a member of the Canadian frigate "Nene" which co-operated with another ship and aircraft, sent the sub to the bottom. An aircraft sighted the submarine surfaced and immediately radioed the "Nene." The frigate and another ship raced to the scene but the sub had submerged. Depth charges were then brought her to the top and well-directed bursts did the rest.

The commander of the accompanying ship, in tribute to the frigate, stated later "Nene gets the credit for the biggest share of that kill."

Isard has been in the navy for the past two years, and went overseas late in 1943. In April, 1944, he was drafted to the "Nene" and has served with her since.

RSM Angus Duffy Arrives Home

Regimental Sergeant Major Angus Duffy, Trenton, of the famous Hastings Regiment, has arrived home this week from the war, after a long absence. He reached Kingston with a large contingent of troops and furlough men.

Overseas since December 1939, he was wounded in action in Sicily in July 1943. He was awarded the Canadian Efficiency Medal in 1942, Distinguished in Campaigns for his work in scaling the 2,300 foot precipice several times at Assoro to take supplies to his men. He was also on the line for a short time after being first wounded, after months he was returned to England and later, was attached to General Headquarters in England.

Other Hastings men returning on the same ship included Sgt. F. A. Grieve, Belleville, who was wounded at Ortona when the shell burst in the room in which he was eating was blown up by a shell.

Wounded twice in the back and head, Sergt. Grieve, of Belleville ford, who went overseas in 1941 received his first wound during the bravery during the storming of the Hitler Line.

Private B. E. Martin, of L'Amable, saw action up to Florence with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment and sustained shrapnel wounds.

Plainis had been received, that a soldier was fighting and had destroyed property in the cafe. Several cost hooks were broken off and general disorder committed. An estimated $15.00 resulted, police reported. Bartlett was held on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Board of Education All Schools in Belleville To Be Revalued by Board For Fire Insurance Purpose

Recommendations that all public schools and the Collegiate Institute and Vocational School in Belleville be revalued for the purpose of future fire insurance, formed the feature of the regular meeting of the board of education Friday night.

With Inspector Sills tabled by Administrator L. A. Hall regarding the status of present insurance values, H. B. Pellatly, chairman of the school properties committee, was named to form a committee to procure such new estimates as needed, the present insurance value of public schools and the Collegiate Institute was appraised at $840,000, with an annual insurance premium of approximately $1,200, Administrator Hall revealed.

The original cost of local public schools is set at $1,400,000 which includes additions to Queen Alexandra and Queen Victoria Schools, with the initial largest outlay being $377,264.84 for the erection of the B.C.I. & V.S. With continued maintaining and renovations present values are needed each year, it was presented by Mr. Pellatly at the meeting this week.

Pellatly Named Chairman.

Otherwise at the meeting E. Geen moved that Mr. Pellatly be appointed Chairman of the Advisory Vocational Committee, a motion that was unanimously passed with Pellatly also appointed chairman of chair as the Board met in committees. All reports were accepted and the monthly financial statements received for the usual approval.

Attendance figures for local public schools presented by Mr. Kells for the month of January in Public Schools in Belleville on January 31st month there was an attendance of 2,887 pupils or a percentage of 88.7 percent in January in 1945. In 1944 the attendance at public schools in years for the month of January was 2,887 or 88.7 percent. Attendance figures for local children in Belleville," commented Inspector Kells. In the matter of attendance statistics the attendance at the local public schools last month was as follows: Queen Alexandra 360 and Queen Victoria 464, King George 360 and Queen Mary 387.

Principal's Report.

In Principal W. S. Turner's report from the Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School, it was disclosed that in January there were 346 pupils enrolled at the Collegiate, including five new admissions. In the vocational section there were 240. Otherwise Mr. Turner presented a detailed and complete report of the activities of the Collegiate considering with the report that Mr. T. W. Beattie, Director of Vocational Guidance for the Province of Ontario, would make his initial visit to the Belleville Collegiate on March 26th.

The public school nurse's report given by Mrs. B. Watt, disclosed that during the month of January the school nurse had made 93 visits to the homes of pupils' health. Five cases had been received by the Children's Aid Society and the number of visits to the clinics held. In the matter of communicable diseases Mrs. Watt reported six cases of chicken pox, two of whooping cough, three of mumps, giving Belleville a low percentage of children's communicable diseases.

Provide Soup for Pupils.

The following request to the Board was a report from King George School Parent-Teacher Association that during the winter efforts in the provision of nourishing hot soup for the commuting pupils at the noon hour lunch hour. Principal O. A. Brown reported that during 1944 the program was being operated at a weekly cost of $10.00. Queen and School Club, the students were informed about a needed noon-hour nourishment. The matter of meeting the matter of any operating loss was discussed and it was finally assumed any such deficit for the Parent-Teacher Group. The Board generally commended the Queen and King George Home and School Club for its splendid work in the matter of providing hot nourishment. The Public School Report in grade eight were given special mention.

Members of the Board present included Chairman C. D. Crosby and well as Messrs. H. B. Pellatly, W. Harrison, E. J. Shortt, Wm. Finkle, H. J. Reid, E. A. Geen and Robt. McCulloch.

Belleville's Quinte Skating Club Show Delights 2,400 Carnival Lovers at the Arena

Pageant, Single Acts and Comedy Skaters Keep Show Moving at Lively Pace

Flashing blades of Canada's outstanding skaters, augmented by the artistry of Belleville's Quinte Skating Club, whirled about the ice in the hearts of 2,400 carnival lovers at the Hume Arena, Friday night in a clever display of skill, color and showmanship.

The "Winter Show," annual function of the Quinte Skating Club, thrilled up to advance notices and compared favorably with any of its colorful predecessors.

Individual artist, some of them Canadian champions, pair skating champions, in spectacular display gave easy evidence of championship calibre, while a pageant "Peter Pan Never, Never Land," unfolded in brilliant, panoramic sequences.

Despite the fact that the ice developed a sticky condition during the latter part of the program, the various artists gave talented exhibitions although their performance was retarded by the "heavy" condition of the surface.

A Good Show.

It was a good show and held the undivided attention of the large audience that filled the National Arena. It was played a few minutes before eleven o'clock. There was a slight delay at first due to mechanical trouble on the part of the public address system, which marred the appearance and performance of Belleville Collegiate Band which alluded to play during the show.

The scintillating rhythm, and grace of motion of the guest stars and the "Jungle's Aces while the synchronized movement of the "Bubbles" provided highlights that drew repeated bursts of applause.

Norris Bowden and Miss Susan Morrow, Canadian Junior pair skating Champions of the Toronto Skating Club, gave a brilliant performance, that marked their performance in the true sense of the word. Both artists gave a display that was masterpieces of easy flowing motion and rhythm.

An Accomplished Skater.

Dainty Miss Ve Vs Smith, also of the Toronto Skating Club, won hearts of her audience with her dashing style of skating. The dark-haired little Toronto miss is an accomplished skater of many pirouettes and whirls were a delight to watch.

Roberta Wilson, Manitoba's dark-haired junior and intermediate champion, now a member of the University Skating Club of Toronto, was another talented young skater, whose double calethenics caught the fancy of the audience. She appeared in singles and paired with Bill Davies in a dance interpretation that equalled any performance in their ill-studied program.

But while the guest artists held the limelight of the spotlight, members of the Quinte Skating Club upheld their share of the program in an outstanding manner. A lot of credit must go to Mr. Davies for an outstanding performance in all phases of skating.

In the several numbers and solo-ling filled the ice, Mr. Davies was who was unavoidably absent. An single and doubles, while he provided the a skater-comedian of more than passing ability. His double rounds of applause as did a duet number with his sister, Olivia Davies.

Plenty of Comedy.

There was comedy too. Jack Dickens in the part of a golf club, had plenty of trouble in the mechanical fairway. His tumbling was excellent, while "moving" green and hole provided lots of laughs.

Another mirth-provoking comedy act was in an exhibition of hockey with Bill Davies in a toreador role, Dickens provided a more than less ferocious animal well equipped with wig, horns and a whirling tail. Bill's ballet antics as he tried to give battle to his sword-equipped enemy provided plenty of ice surface humor.

The pageant was a colorful presentation of the famous Peter Pan story, the original journey of Wendy, Michael and John to the "Never, Never Land," where they are welcomed by the Fairy Queen and attacked by fierce pirates but are finally rescued by Peter Pan, in a climax came with the death of pirate chief at the hands of Peter.

60 Children Take Part.

About sixty children and others took part in this part of the program, which was beautifully staged and costumed. At one end of the ice was a miniature Belleville, typical of the "Jolly Roger" which flew the black flag of the pirate chief contain Hook. Pink sea shells adorned each side of the stadium while a pretty cottage stood at the opposite end. Then the "Jolly Roger." Indian wigwams furnished appropriate color for the friendly "tribe."

Fairy Queen Shirley Fox presided daintily while a galaxy of white-clad fairies danced with her. Twelve boys costumed as fairies paid their homages to the Fairy Queen. Outstanding fairy figures, Tinker Bell (Nancy Bowen) and Wendy (Barbara Bowe) charmingly costumed in green to Wendy's bed where he tells

Germans Infilter Into Positions At Monte Canala

Rome, Feb. 17 (AP)—Allied 5th Army troops in the Tyrrhenian coastal sector were disclosed by the allied command to have made further withdrawals following German infiltrations in positions at Monte Canala.

Headquarters said enemy pressure on Monte Canala, nine miles inland and the same distance southwest of Massa, had compelled troops to withdraw to the southern slopes of this feature.

"There are the positions held prior to the recent attack by our forces in the coastal sector," it was added.

This is the area in which the United States 92nd infantry division attacked last week; but subsequently was forced to retire.

Several enemy infiltration parties were engaged.

The Allied communique reported activity on the 8th Army front on the Adriatic side of Italy was confined to patrol clashes and artillery duels.

Allied artillery in the mountains south of Bologna teamed with bombers in a concentrated pounding of the northern Bologna area; several explosions and much smoke were seen among enemy installations.

TENDERS RESIGNATION

Toronto, Feb. 17 (CP)—Padre Fred Bedford, Church of England chaplain of Christie Street military hospital here, said he has tendered his resignation because he felt he "should make way for some of the chaplains who have had overseas service."

RESCUE 250 U.S. AIRMEN

Rome, Feb. 17 (CP)—Mystery radio messages from Yugoslavia which picked up and acted on by R.A.F. wireless operators in Italy have led to the rescue of 250 airmen, mostly Americans, who had bailed out over the Balkans during the German occupation.

Ready for all comers are these Canadians caught by the cameraman in their trench before enemy guns came through for the new offensive to open. They are typical of the men who will be in the van of the move into Germany.—(Canadian Army—WIB Radiophoto, Canadian National Picturegram Service).

Supplies Passed Thru Small Hole

Santo Tomas, Manila, Feb. 17—(AP)—There's a hole in the wall at Santo Tomas internment camp measuring three inches by 13 through which passed thousands of pounds of food and medicine and millions of pesos that kept hundreds of internees alive through three years of starvation.

The smuggling was so ingeniously operated it was never discovered by the Japanese despite frequent frantic searches and investigations.

The key man was Lois De Alcuaz, chemistry professor of the University of Santo Tomas. As a university official his office was along the west wall of the camp.

When the deliberate starvation program became serious and medicines were exhausted, Alcuaz brought supplies into his office and concealed them. Then he cut the hole in the wall.

Each night, Alcuaz signaled he was ready to pass supplies by slamming drawers. If safe to proceed, internee guards on the other side answered with three knocks.

Alcuaz was under suspicion but the Japanese never could put their finger on the operations. He was taken to Intern and questioned eight times but released.

Huns Lose 2 Subs And 3 Planes, Allied Convoy Safe

London, Feb. 17 (CP)—Two German submarines were destroyed and three enemy planes shot down recently during an attack on an important Allied convoy to Russia which was frustrated by combined air and sea action, the Admiralty announced.

Vessels of the Royal Canadian Navy participated in the operation.

One British aircraft was lost in the actions, carried out in extremely severe weather.

In its account of one of the several attacks, the communique stated:

"Towards nightfall and in weather conditions which reduced visibility to a few hundred yards, two waves of Junkers 88 torpedo carrying bombers attempted to approach the convoy simultaneously and from different directions.

"They were driven off twice, and none of the escorts was damaged," the communique added.

"Later the German planes reformed or were reinforced and attempted to approach the convoy from three different directions. Again they were driven off."

'Japanese on Run In Burma' Says Gen. Auchinleck

New Delhi, Feb. 17 (AP)—Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck, British Commander-in-Chief, said the Japanese were "on the run" in Burma and predicted the enemy's thrust into Imerfal "now appears to merely be storming but reversed."

"I don't want to make a too confident note," he told the Indian legislature.

"We all know a great deal of bitter fighting through heavy casualties lies ahead before Burma can be liberated and we drive into other Japanese-occupied territories farther east. Nevertheless, we can safely say we have got the Japanese on the run no less surely than the Americans have in the southwest Pacific."

Sir Claude said the situation in China "could and should be spared of grave deterioration but now is more healthy."

Instructions About Parcels to Canadian Prisoners of War

Ottawa, Feb. 17 (CP)—War Services Minister LaFleche said yesterday no more parcels should be sent Canadian prisoners-of-war who have been or are being moved from camps likely to be over-run by Canadian forces advancing into eastern Germany until further advice is received from official sources regarding new addresses of the prisoners involved.

Gen. LaFleche said this policy was in line with one adopted by the British postal authorities. Canadian postal authorities in Ottawa said personal parcels as have actually been received at the post office here.

The change from which transfers are known to have been made includes Stalag 344 (Lamsdorf), 383, 8C, 20A, 21D, and 344; Stalag Luft 3, Luft 4 and Luft 7; B A B 20 and 21; Offlag 79.

Next-of-kin of Canadian prisoners of war who were reported to have been in these camps will be advised individually that the distribution of official labels will be withheld until assurance is received from overseas that Red Cross Service Department that the parcels can be delivered.

London, Feb. 17 (CP Cable) — Several thousand Canadians are listed in Red Cross records of German prisoner of war camps which have been either overrun by the Russian advance or are in their direct path, the Red Cross in London of their whereabouts as the German have been moving many of their prison camps westward.

Some 13 camps recently listed by War Minister Sir James Grigg as being passed or neared by the Russians were the following six Canadian camp Stalag 2D where there were about 1,000 Canadians, a few hundred in Stalag 8C, another few hundred in Stalag 8B between 600 and 700 in Stalagluft 3, and about 500 in Stalagluft 4.

Marmora

Marmora — Although the attendance was somewhat limited through counter attractions, the monthly meeting of the Women's Institute at the home of Mrs. H. W. Sabine on Wednesday evening proved very interesting to all present in that it was Grandmothers' Night. The president, Mrs. L. Green, occupied the chair and the roll call was "Childhood Memories." During the business session $25 was voted to the Marmora Public Library. Plans were made for a bingo and bake table to be held at the Welbo Hall on Monday. Some quilt blocks were brought in. For the progress work was community singing by the grandmothers with Mrs. H. Sabine at the piano. Mrs. Wesley Grant then gave a humorous reading appropriate to the occasion, after the rest of the program bingo was played. The prize for the oldest grandmother present went to Mrs. W. Grant. Mrs. Grant and her sister, Mrs. Hyland of Toronto, and Mrs. Judd, Belleville, comprised the great grandmothers present. Next meeting to be featured with an address by L. Pair, agricultural representative, will be held at the home of Mrs. C. A. Lummiss.

Temperance Federation Assails Address Of O.L.C.B. Chairman

Hamilton, Feb. 17 —(CP)— Dr. John Cohoon of Toronto, in a resolution presented Thursday to the Temperance Federation convention, charged that a speech made to the convention Wednesday by Hon. G. W. Webster, chairman of the Ontario Liquor Control Board, "seems to cover the government in this province of gross inefficiency or deliberately conniving in error."

The resolution was approved unanimously.

"Some of his statements were so far from correct," the resolution said in reference to the minister's address, "and so liable to injure the temperance cause that we cannot allow them to pass unchallenged."

Mr. Webster told the convention Wednesday that as a result of the federal government's beverages control order of 1943, "the cause of temperance in English - speaking Canada faces a crisis comparable to the failure of prohibition 20 years ago."

"We regret," the resolution continued, "that instead of offering any constructive suggestion for the solution of the liquor problem, Mr. Webster used the occasion to make a partisan attack on the Liberal party and to launch unfair attack on the Prime Minister of Canada.

"The logical result of Mr. Webster's special pleading would be that to promote true temperance all restriction should be removed," the resolution said.

"As a positive and constructive suggestion to Mr. Webster and the government of which he is a member, we recommend the promotion by church and state alike of moral control, curtailment and education towards the goal . . . to stamp out liquor traffic."

Dr. Cohoon moved in presenting the brief by Rev. R. W. Bishop and Dr. C. W. Detillie.

Make London Become World's Centre Of Fashions and Textiles

London, Feb. 17 —(Reuters)— Britain's textile trade plans to make London the world's clothes centre of the future, with first place in post-war textile markets, superior fashion and the ability to complete and deliver orders well ahead of competitors.

The industry today visualized a centre near St. Paul's Cathedral with hundreds of shops and offices, restaurants, car parks and loading docks, incorporated in modern warehouse buildings.

This was the official of the Wholesale Textile Association commented: "It will make the city the world's centre for the textile trade.

War in Winter

This winter which it is hoped and expected will be the last of the war before Germany is defeated will live long in memory as one of the severest on record in North America as well as in Europe. Canadians and Americans know all too well by their experiences how cold it has been and how it has been complicated by fuel shortage.

Back in 1941-42 German armies experienced for the first time because it was the first winter in Russia the severity of the cold of the Russian steppes, their mechanism freezing up in spite of their efforts. The Russian authorities had found by means of protecting their troops against the winter weather while the Germans were caught unprepared for the cold so that Hitler claimed it was the worst on record, though this statement was soon denied in Europe and in America where it was said the weather was often colder than it was on that Russian front that year. But Hitler blamed the winter for the disasters which fell on German arms.

Now this winter the Russians have been benefiting by the cold which has made possible their epoch-making advances, especially in this past month which has brought the Muscovite forces deep into Germany opposite Berlin, the immediate battle for which will begin soon, it is expected. Germans have the same weather to contend with but have not been able to take advantage of it as have the expertly-led Russian armies.

The conditions of war of course intensify the hardships of winter today. Europe is pretty well out of fuel through the long years of war. To add to Germany's woes there is the loss of the coal districts in Silesia.

At the same time the forces of retribution are gathering about and are marching to-the gates of Berlin as the immediate chief objective. German armies, their leaders particularly, know that they have lost or are losing the war, which in itself lends a an atmosphere of fatalism, futility and frustration to what the Huns do. The Allies have victory not far ahead with the close of the titanic struggle inspiring them as they enter upon the soil of Germany and penetrate deeply into the Reich even if it is winter.

What hardships the people in North America undergo in the use of fuel and substitutes are as nothing compared with what is endured in Europe which is the actual scene of the greatest conflict of all time and what the Western World does is for the aid of the Allied cause and for the comfort of their soldiery, seamen and air service and for the speeding up of the war to its close.

Parcels and Letters for Overseas

Though the war is moving more and more to the end in Europe, soldiers overseas and in the fighting fronts will need a continual flow of parcels and mail whatever they have always welcomed from home in Canada. This is not a time when there should be any let-up in the procession of these tokens of home interest and affection for the men are in the fighting and these letters and parcels will be "even more welcome with their tasty snacks for perhaps a midnight lunch in the midst of the fighting" as the Owen Sound Sun Times remarks. "News also takes on a greatly added interest as the men allow themselves to contemplate their return home." The Sun Times also remarks that "those who have no actual members of the family in the fighting forces might well take on a larger share of this work if they have not already done so. In many cases where there are several of a family overseas, the financing of parcels is, in itself, a very heavy burden."

Parcels from home will be welcomed for their value in food or wearing apparel and they and letters bring too the real home and fireside to the heroic young men wherever they are fighting, daring all in the cause of their country and the world's freedom.

Scott'sh Foresight

Plans now being made for post-war building area of the famous shipbuilding area of Teeside, Scotland, one of the most diversified industrial centres in the world.

This district which, through too great dependence on shipbuilding, suffered heavily in the depression period between the two wars has today become the centre of a huge, varied complex of industries.

While shipyards are working to full capacity, one firm alone employing 3,400 workers including 10 per cent women has turned out half a million tons of tankers and other vessels—new industries include armored cars, special steel and waterproofing for tanks, Bailey bridges, petrol storage tanks, hangars, grain silos, radar-huts, hydrogen plants and aircraft components.

One engineering firm in this area is building the equipment for Britain's biggest penicillin plant.

Teeside factories have also produced a huge fleet of landing craft and a large part of the vast pre-fabricated port through which Allied supplies passed for the Battle of Normandy—a Teeside man, Mr. J. Gibson, was in charge of the work on the port.

The Teeside area has thus become a model for the diverse industrial developments of the future. A special delegation from China and a group of Indian scientists came especially to study the advanced technology practices in the Teeside industrial plants.

The Teeside Development Board is now planning the further development of sites, communications and dock facilities in order to preserve and extend the industrial efficiency and diversity of the area for post-war production.

Release From the Japs

(Detroit Free Press)

The dramatic Luzon rescue of more than 500 Allied veterans of Bataan, Corregidor and Singapore, most of them Americans, is a story to inspire thanksgiving wherever it is read in the 48 States.

Not only does it release from the bondage of dread the families of the rescued. It brings a flowering of new hope to the hearts of others with sons, brothers and husbands who are captives of the Jap, and for whom the long, torturous months have passed with little or no word. The story is precursor of the day when all captives of the enemy, east and west, shall return to the home hearth.

The nation will understand, too, the concluding words of General MacArthur's special communique announcing the event: "No incident of the campaign has given me such personal satisfaction."

Scare Away Sharks

(New York Times)

Live sharks avoid water where dead, decomposed sharks are found. Armed with this peculiar naval researchers found that dead sharks give off an odor which caused hungry sharks to turn tail and swim away. Chemists proceeded to smell up the countryside as they experimented with some 7,000 species of rotting shark meat. Finally they isolated the essential element and proceeded to duplicate it chemically. The American Cyanamid's Calco Division then prepared the shark-repellent for military use and manufactured thousands of small units which are taking the five-ounce chemical briquets fastened to life jackets. The chemicals are released in the water by a ripcord attachment. One dose from the potent briquet scares off any shark.

From London comes the word that more than a quarter of a million glider launchings have now been made at A.T.C. gliding schools, according to a report on the development of gliding in the Air Training Corps during 1943 and 1944. The number of gliding schools for the A.T.C. is now over 80 and during 1945 the total is expected to rise to 100.

CHOICE

'Tis well we do not all agree
On what is best through life to be,
Or prompted by the same desire
There would be none to tend the fire,
To sweep the floor, the lawn to rake
Or sell the goods that others make.
Were but one skill considered best,
Who'd do the jobs that most detest?

Despite the evils that we find,
This world is rather well designed,
And all its people wisely made
For art and song and craft and trade.
Within the space that's called 'the head'
The varied seeds of choice are spread,
So some can be what others won't,
And some can do what others don't.

Lest certain foods should go to waste,
Behold the difference of taste!
What some of us refuse to eat
Is thought by others quite a treat.
All that is common in the main
Is birth and death and grief and pain.
And thus we manage, sun to sun,
Somehow to get the day's work done;
And thus, in spite of all that's wrong,
We, rather nicely, get along.

Pyle Had Grand Time at Home During His Four Months Furlough

Editor's note—Ernie Pyle is with the Navy in the Pacific. Reading reports of his dispatches from that way thanks to us for publishing a few articles he wrote before he left from Camp Shelby, Mississippi, one of which the following is one.

By ERNIE PYLE

San Francisco — These first half dozen columns or so are being written in San Francisco before taking off for the Pacific. I want to write a sketchy report on my doings on the home front.

If you can bear a little reminiscing I'd like to go back more than past four months of furlough, and bring you up to date on the Professional Son's recent activities.

Well, since leaving France and returning to America I have—

Crossed the continent three times. Had eight lush weeks in Albuquerque. First Christmas with "That Girl" that she started. Moved the town once.

I've been photographed 1000 times and was the president of the Ernie Pyle Grande Steamship & Navigation Co. (Rubber Division). I've been kissed by Paulette Goddard, Olivia deHavilland and Hazel Flannery all in one afternoon—Hallelujah!

My people sent me oil paintings they'd done from photographs. I've set up all night three nights on trains, and three nights on airplanes. I've said "no" to at least 500 requests to speak, and have managed to keep well supplied with cigarettes.

Kind people have flooded me with gifts. Mayor Clyde Tingley of Albuquerque opened it with a $500 check. Mayor Fiorello La Guardia sent me that I left in a safety deposit box. Other people gave me shirts, wear a $500 wrist watch!

I've had luscious apples from Washington State, peanuts from Williamsburg, half a dozen homemade hunting coats, two college degrees, a Texas cowboy belt, two foxhole shovels, one jeep, an overseas cap for the Pacific, and one noble friend who brought with 10 pounds of bacon.

We've had so much company at our house in Albuquerque that one night I slept on a canvas cot in the kitchen, and one night I slept on the living room floor in my new bathrobe. (I didn't sleep very well either.)

Despite all the frenzy, I've felt almost pathetic in my happiness at being home. I've had a wonderful time. Only I've got the feeling that I like being alive. I wish it could go on forever.

People are always asking what I think of the "home front" experience, and of course to raise hell about it.

Well, I don't know. In the first place I'm no authority. I've had only that. I find myself reluctant to generalize or even talk any flame in the home front.

It is true that a great many people don't know there's a war on, or don't seem to care. And yet I realize that I myself very easily let myself sit down and take it easy and never think of the war, except in an academic way.

I've had no bad incidents during these few months at home. But I

Capital Closeups

Ottawa, Feb. 17 —(CP)—One of the capital's busiest men these days is Col. Colin Gibson, directing his time between the air and revenue ministries.

Col. Gibson, one of the best-dressed men in the cabinet, spends his forenoons as acting air minister at air force headquarters on Laurier Street, 20 minutes' walk from his office to him on a tray and then walks a half dozen blocks to the big, grim old building which is the revenue department's home.

His job becomes complicated at times, like this instance, the occasion when as air minister he supports the application of an airline for more flights, and then as revenue minister has to turn it down.

Before Col. Gibson was appointed to act in the place of C. G. (Chubby) Power, who resigned to accept a Senate appointment for active service, Navy Minister Angus L. Macdonald was the cabinet's busy man.

Mr. Macdonald was Prime Minister Mackenzie King's right-hand man during the war years, carrying the heavy responsibility for all the armed services under Mr. Macdonald. With the three ministries now combined, and routine inter-service problems coming up, Angus L. often found himself writing himself letters, dictating and replying to himself just as stiffly.

Anniversary: Gen. McNaughton this week followed the progress of Gen. Montgomery's Rhine campaign by a war map in his office. He marked "D-Day" on the map, and said he should read "all the school children down to the kindergarten" of the thyroid," for the past tense amount of iodine in one form or another — and as Chairman of Commerce letter says, most of the

PERSONAL HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

THE IODINE SHORTAGE IN MICHIGAN CORRECTED BY IODIZED SALT

In the pamphlet "Instructions in Taking an Iodin Ration" (copy mailed on request if you provide stamped envelope bearing your address—a clipping will not suffice) I say:

In young persons a shortage of iodin is sometimes responsible for simple goitre. In various cities in Ohio, Michigan and other states as many as thirteen per cent of all the school children show some enlargement of the thyroid gland. In the Grand Rapids high school half of the pupils had goitre, and out of 12,421 school boys examined in Grand Rapids, 2,826 had goitre, and out of 14,648 girls 5,236 had goitre, many of these boys and girls less than ten years old.

The Grand Rapids Chamber of Commerce in a recent secretary writes me that "one of our members has had considerable to this matter with our City Health Officer. He informs us that as the result of the addition of iodin to the salt supplied in your pamphlet we have found that for seven years past the incidence of goitre in Grand Rapids is insignificant. I am enclosing a blurb of the credit for this given to the Chamber of Commerce secretary. Therefore we believe it is not fair for you to give the reader of your pamphlet the impression that the condition exists today . . . we are not proud of that record."

There is an error in the passage quoted from the pamphlet, an obvious error. It reads: "all the school children down to the kindergarten of the thyroid," for the past tense amount of iodine in one form or another — and as Chairman of Commerce letter says, most of the credit for this is given to the widespread use of iodized salt.

If I had my way there would be no iodin in table salt! Said in this country, that is, for use as a condiment, for iodized salt would be sold. The infinitesimal amount of iodin (in the form of potassium iodide) in iodized salt may possibly suffice for some persons who use the latter, the ordinary amount of salt daily, but is probably less than would get in a helping of soup, canned salmon or dried codfish (or canned sea food), grain, dried, salt or canned sea fish or shell fish you (like), for there is only about 1½ grains of potassium iodide in a whole pound of iodized salt."

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

No Address

I never fail to read your articles, the fact I use them to instruct mothers of children in my class whenever the subject seems opportune. There's hardly a better outlet to teach us the same fatuable lesson for many years to come.

(M. J. D.)

Answer — Thank you. If you will give me your title and address I'll send you a lot of little lessons in child health, to help you in your teaching.

Hay Fever

Since I received your pamphlet on "The Calcium Shortage" about two years ago I have had two separate attacks of complete freedom from hay fever. I inclose 36 cents, with stamped envelope bearing my address, for a copy of "The Calcium Deficiency" (10 cts.) and "Hay Fever" (26 cts.). You have become an enthusiast and "many lives" have been reading your fine column for years.

(C. R. H.)

Answer — Calcium is the element most lacking in the deficient in the American dietary. A lot of people would enjoy better health and live longer if they assimilated and ingested more calcium.

Brides' Train Is Delayed

Cataraqui, Ont., Feb. 17 (CP)—Decalled attack on Canadian National Railways freight train two miles west of this eastern Ontario community early yesterday blocked traffic on the railway's main line and held up a train bringing war brides to Toronto.

The 20 cars of the westbound freight left the rails and also damaged the tracks used for east bound traffic, thus preventing any immediate re-routing of the brides train over the eastern tracks. It was expected that the line would be cleared in time for the brides train to arrive in Toronto early Friday afternoon.

COLUMNIST SUED

New York, Feb. 17 —(AP)— Drew Pearson, Washington columnist and news broadcaster, sued columnist Westbrook Pegler for $250,000 for a libel action filed in New York County district court.

The Bell Syndicate, Inc., distributor of Pearson's "Washington Merry-Go-Round" also asked $25,000, alleging that Mr. Pegler "maligned" Pearson's character and credits as a news reporter" in a syndicated column Jan. 30.

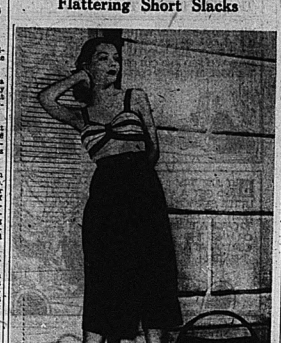
Miss Mildred Coleman, 47 Geddes Street, is a patient in the Belleville General Hospital.

Mr. J. B. Scott, 21 Victoria Avenue, recently received birthday greetings from his son, Warrant Officer Maxwell Scott, now in England with the armed forces.



Mrs. James H. Dunley, or Point Anne, who is a patient in Belleville General Hospital, following an operation on Saturday, or last week, is progressing very favorably.

At a special convocation held in Convocation Hall, Toronto, on Feb. 16, Kenneth P. Clute, son of Arthur R. Clute, K.C., and grandson of the late Justice R. C. Clute, formerly of Belleville, received the degree of doctor of medicine, winning the Cody Gold Medal, the Chappell Prize in Clinical Medicine, and graduating with honors.

The condition of Mr. Fred Hewlett, of Ivanhoe, who recently underwent two serious operations in the Belleville General Hospital, is generally fair; it is stated by attending physicians today. Since his operations he has been under the care of special nurses and is expected to remain in hospital for three weeks. He entered the hospital on Monday.

On St. Valentine's evening, Mr. Carman Hittles of Millbrook, donated his sleigh to take the young people of Shannonville and Millbrook on a sleighride. After the long ride through the country the young people enjoyed a social time at the home of Mrs. Lorne Ueni. During the course of the evening Bingo and Progressive Euchre were played the winners being, Jack Bennett, Alfred Ueni, Ruth Reid, Evelyn Cook, Carmel Ueni. The consolation prize going to George Marlon.

THIS below the knee length of these slacks offers a line which is just coming into acceptance although it has been kicking around for years. One wonders why the delay; for it's a line which flatters legs less than perfect; is cooler for beach wear; is one which won't stub the toe as long pants have been known to do.

WEDDINGS

CORNETT—SILLS

A pretty wedding of calla lilies, Easter lilies, iris and fern formed the setting in St. Andrew's Church, Brockston, Thursday, Feb. 15, at five p.m., for the marriage of Isobel Laura Sills of Kingston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Sills, Tweed, and Dr. John William Dan Cornett, R.C.A.M.C., Kingston, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Cornett, Oshawa. The ceremony was performed by the groom's father.

The wedding music throughout the ceremony was played by Miss Jean Kenney with Miss Phyllis Smith, as soloist, singing "O Promise Me", during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a gown in her gown of ivory slipper satin made with a long torso and a deep manchette yoke, and on her head a shirred calot from which fell a fingertip veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of Bettertime roses and freesia.

Miss Jean Sills, of Belleville, was her sister's maid of honor, dressed in chartreuse sheer fashioned with sweetheart neckline and long torso and wore a matching calot over shoulder veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of Talisman roses and freesia.

Mr. John Houck, M.A. Kingston, was groomsman for the occasion. The ushers were Dr. Barry Woods, R.C.A.M.C., and Dr. Ormond Murphy, R.C.A.M.C.

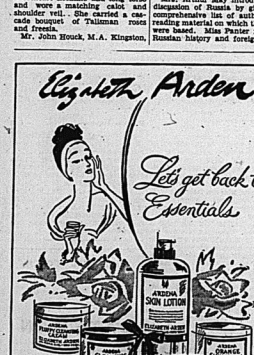
A reception was held at the La Salle hotel, where the bride's mother received in a gown of chocolate brown crepe, olive green accessories and wearing a corsage of Talisman roses. She was assisted by Mrs. Cornett, mother of the groom, wearing a navy blue sheer gown matching accessories and a corsage of Britaniffe roses.

For travelling the bride chose a stunning lime green wool dress, brown accessories and an American Opossum fur coat.

The bride and groom will take up residence in Hamilton.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN'S CLUB

The February meeting of the University Women's Club was held on Feb. 15, at the home of Mrs. J. G. Sparling, 44 Sherrell Street. Mrs. Arthur May introduced the discussion of Russia by giving a comprehensive list of authors and reading material on which the topics were based. Miss Panter reviewed Russian history and foreign policy for the year.



PRIZE CREATION

This ensemble, consisting of dinner shorts in black cordafaille, worn with a white crepe blouse, featuring a hand-painted Greek chariot rider print outlined in sequins, was awarded the second prize at the third annual American fashion critics' show at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York. The creation is by Tina Lesser, who received a silver plaque and $750 in war bonds.

In a very interesting manner, Miss Muriel Gibson sketched the Russian constitution, the Stalin-Trotsky controversy, the opposition and the attitude of the State towards the Church. Miss J. Tickell gave a very instructive account of Russia's domestic policy and described the socialization of agriculture in Russia. The timely subject matter was of great interest to the audience as was shown by the questions asked by the audience during the evening.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Announcing the Engagement

Dear Mrs. Beeckman,

Next month I am going to announce my engagement, and I would be so grateful if you could answer some questions that are troubling me.

1. My fiance's family lives about a thousand miles from my home town, and since my parents have never met his parents, would it be correct for me to write and tell them about our engagement?

Also I am not sure several of my fiance's brothers and sisters. Should I write them about our engagement or should I leave this up to my fiance?

2. I am going to write informal announcements of our engagement. Would you please give me some idea as to how these notes should read?

3. Is it proper to present my fiance with a gift on this occasion?

S. A. N.

1. It is your fiance's delightful prerogative to tell his parents, his brothers and sisters, his relatives, and his friends the news of his engagement....and it would not be proper or fitting for me to take this privilege from him. As a matter of fact, your young man should inform his family and relatives long after you and he have talked over the engagement with your parents. For you, and not he, to tell them would certainly, I should think, make them "wonder" why their son hasn't confided in them this so-important news.

2. Your announcement notes might read something like this:

Dear Aunt Janet,

Of course I want you to be one of the first to know of my engagement to Tom Brooks! I remember when you met him when you were here, and I remember with pride that you liked him, so I know you'll approve of him. Naturally I think he's a "specimen" man, and I know we'll be extremely happy. I'll write you later when we've made plans for our wedding.

Mother and Dad are announcing our engagement on March seventh but I wanted to tell you news before then.

Dearest love if you from all of us ....including Tom.

Lovingly,

3. Yes indeed it is proper for you to give your fiance an engagement present. Although this may seem strange, an engaged girl may do this.

Dr. Nel Has the Word "Friend"

My cousin told me the other day that it is not proper to call one of persons you are introducing "my friend" is this true and if so, why?

Clara.

Your cousin is right. In an introduction it is proper to say "my fiance" or "my cousin", because this is a relationship. But to mention to one person you are introducing that the other person is your "friend" is to suggest either (1) that he or she is only a friend, and (2) that you imply that the relationship is not. If you want to speak of this friendship in the introduction, a gracious form is "Miss Foster, this is Miss Mary Wright. I am so glad to be able to bring two of my good friends of mine together at last."

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Hair Dyeing and Bleaching

Hair dyeing and bleaching increases with every year. And every year there is less evidence of these preteckange treatments, because the work is done skillfully by those specialists who follow no other branch of the beauty industry. As if by magic the hair is transformed from brunette to blonde, from white to chestnut, from blonde to titian.

In an interview with an expert who has given the subject his undivided attention for nearly forty years, we gathered some interesting information to pass on to bobbyfrids again.

He says that few women realize that, when the hair turns grey, the complexion also undergoes changes. The cash customer usually insists that her white hair should be dyed the same shade it was when she was younger, which is far too at the roots. This idea is misleading, he claims, and so he proceeds to talk her out of it. The correct tint is found about six inches from the scalp, or midway the length of a fully grown hair shaft. Were he to follow her wishes, the result would be a thatch much too dark for her complexion.

He deplores the practice of women who trot into a drug store, select a dye from a color card that bears samples of dyed hair. It isn't that easy to make a selection. After all, we must realize by this time that it is best to seek professional help when we have decided we have used hair dye without expert advice have ruined troubles on their heads. These mistakes can sometimes be corrected, though many times they can't be. The victim of misguided judgment must grin and bear it, while the period of transition in which her hair is growing out, plays no natter introduced it.

Her information dwelt upon the troubles of the blonde whose golden hair has tarnished, become drab, or has taken on a brassy appearance too much ammonia perhaps, or overdone the bleaching actions, or the ends of her tresses—which become dry, take on a lighter shade than the growth close to the scalp. The result is a piebald head.

He mentioned the spiced henna pack which, he says, is a trade secret. Nevertheless, applied to snow white hair is likely to bring it carrot-red, chestnut, or even brown hair to auburn. By adding certain ingredients, the result is not darker, more of a mahogany color. What these spices are, he did not disclose. Whether or not this pre-treatment is more or less, is an experiment we leave.

The woman who has dabbled with the henna pack, made a help of her head, need not despair. In many cases, professional treatment can correct the condition.

Fashionable Conservation

Two-color Spring Coat. By VERA HOUSTON

NOT ONLY are two colors' better than one, according to many designers, but the same holds true of fabrics. Which is a nice idea, since it gives a new and interesting look to a coat, and helps to conserve precious woollens. So here is definite smartness. This coat uses orangey red woollen for back and sleeves, and back bengaline for the front. There is decorative frog trimming at the slit pockets and the belt, placed in front only, ties in a nice bow.

FRONT ROAD WAR WORKERS

The Front Road War Workers met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Bell on February 14, with a large crowd in attendance. Euchre parties were, won as follows: Men's Clifford Reid; consolation, Jack Gordon; Ladies, Pearle Hoge; consolation, Verna Ackey; lone hand prize, Jack Gordon; door prize, Noble Brown. Collection amounted to $11.80. Tickets were sold amounting to $3.30 on a centrepiece donated by Lecia Bell which was won by Bill Baines.

Partners were taken for refreshments and Mrs. Harry Murphy having the 'lucky plate' had to tell a joke for which she received a Valentine prize.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brown invited everyone to their home the following evening.

A social half hour was spent by all.

It is styled from rows and rows of baby lace, built up high on top of the head and set off with a large bouquet of flowers in gay colors. Pfc. Hat was modeling the show rooms on the Rue Faubourg St. Honore.

BRITISH GALS SEEK TO OUST WAR DRABNESS

Glamor, Not Austerity, Is Sought for 1945 Wardrobes but Labor Situation Creates Difficulties. . . .

By BARBARA WACE
(Associated Press Writer)

London, Feb. 16 (AP) — Glamor, not austerity. Color, not khaki. Frills and frou-frou, not plain practicality!

That is what the British woman wants for her 1945 wardrobe if she can get it. Often she can't. But like the lights of London, there's at least a dim-out instead of a black-out of femininity in England this year.

It had been hoped that the first model export collections could have been ready for this month. But July is the earliest expected, and that entirely dependent on circumstances. The labor situation, with the new call-up for the forces, created a labor situation. In the clothing trade more than ever before.

"And to tell you the truth," said Miss Lillian Hyder, secretary to the Incorporated Society of London Fashion Designers, "I have a hard time getting most of them to concentrate on fashion at all at the moment. Hardy Amies, Digby Morton and Victor Stiebel are all so tied up with their army work. Really fascinated by fashion—they won't pay attention to anything much else. And people like Hartnell and Molyneux are busy advising manufacturers on utility (government-controlled) clothing."

Most there's the first home-leave from the Western Front. Little Miss Jennifer Digby, grand child from Mayfair are "wearing" their coupons and searching for something that really looks like a party frock.

Smart Party Dresses.

"For the first time since the war I went to a Lord Londen party and all the women were in long dresses. Everything very smart too," Mrs. Reginald Fellowes, Paris-born, and often called "the best dressed woman in London" told me. "There was one lovely black model and several lame ones and the imported clothes worn by foreign diplomats' wives or women just back from the United States did not make the others look dowdy."

Girls with light purses are searching through the "utility" (utility spectator sports clothes for example) which won't pay all or most all their money out on something fluffy in tulle. "I'm doing nothing much to show them, only scrubbing at the tile," said a middle-aged assistant in a medium-priced store, pointing to a red afternoon dress in the window at about (1950) a time.

The local evening dresses which the shops are selling against their will are, on the whole, very seven coupons, like an afternoon dress, but use double the material, are full and feminine.

Though Britain will probably always like her self-natural tweeds, the swing to color will probably be felt a few months after the war' at any rate.

Anything will be popular with the dandelion yellow, which is the color she's been wearing for her uniform, and the Royal blue or navy. The only military color that seems to be the rage is the "Yankee pink" of American officers' dress pants, which is being made into spring suits and coats.

Beauty Begins With the Baby

Little Marjorie Ann Meichle keeps her beauty routine on the movie set.

By HELEN FOLLETT

MOTHERS should point out the beauty road to little daughters. Pride in appearance can't start too early; it should be cultivated in the little girl who doesn't like to wash her hands, doesn't care if her frock is soiled, won't comb her hair. Black nails and finger nails are a menace to the health; germs lurk beneath the nail eaves.

Early Training

Early training has much to do with charm in adult years. Character is in the building in early childhood. The self-conscious little woman who sits forlornly at the edges of the party, never of it nor in it, may be the victim of a mother who didn't realize the need of teaching the child to be companionable, to adjust herself to her infantile social set. She kept little daughter too close to her.

Good appearance gives a child confidence, builds self respect. At the age of six or seven, a little girl should be able to bathe herself, keep hands and face clean, arrange her glorious hair, have the orange wood stick under her finger nails. She may, even at that age, rebel. She may even set that age, shampooed. The wise mother will make a play time of this necessary beauty rite.

How to Play.

Mothers who get along most happily with their young children are those who have not forgotten how to play; they sidestep unpleasant issues that sometimes arise between parent and child.

Little daughter must have regard for law and order in the house. If she doesn't hang up her outdoor clothes or her nightie, she may develop into an untidy young lady. What sort of a housekeeper she may be when she is married is anybody's guess. A slovenly woman has no charm, no matter how lovely she may appear to the eye.

No need of telling a mother that regular medical examinations are in order. That the child should eat a variety of food, drink plenty of milk for its calcium content that is necessary for the well-being of the teeth.

HOW TO COMBAT Rheumatic Pains

Rheumatic pains are often caused by uric acid in the blood. This should be attacked by helping the kidneys. If kidneys fail, and excess uric acid remains, it may cause backache, rheumatic pains, nervousness, loss of energy and pep. Treat rheumatic pains by helping the kidneys. Use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Take regularly Dodd's Kidney Pills—for half a century a world-famous kidney remedy.

CURLERS GATHER FOR ONT. SPIEL TO OPEN MONDAY

101 Out-of-Town Rinks Will Compete for Six Trophies Offered

Toronto, Feb. 17 — (CP) — First members of a contingent of more than 100 curlers expected flew over the weekend for the opening Monday of the 18th annual Ontario Bonspiel arrived today.

They represent 101 out-of-town rinks entered in the bonspiel, sponsored by the Ontario Curling Association.

This year's entry list is said to be the most representative in the history of the spiel, including 75 rinks from the United States, 12 from the Northern Ontario Curling Association, three from the Manitoba Curling Association and one from Quebec City.

There will be a total of 128 rinks participating in the bonspiel, including 27 from Toronto.

Detroit and London lead the out-of-towners in the number of entries with five rinks each. Chatham, Oshawa and Sarnia each have four, eight cities are represented each by three rinks and 31 have single entries.

Rinks will vie for six trophies, each of which carries 16 prizes. The chief trophies are the Royal York and the Birks-Ellis-Ryrie for which all rinks compete. The others — the Seagram, the North American Life, the Waterloo and The Association — are consolation trophies for which rinks eliminated in the opening rounds of the major trophy events are eligible. All rinks are assured a minimum of six games.

Play on Monday and Tuesday will be confined to the Royal York trophy and the two secondary events which go with it — the Seagram and Waterloo trophies. Competition for the Birks-Ellis-Ryrie trophy and its consolation events — the North American Life and the Association trophies — will get under way Wednesday.

FEDERAL-STATE GAME REFUGEES PROPOSED

Public Shooting Grounds Would Also Help to Save Game and Assist Farmers

Sacramento Calif., Feb. 17—(AP)—A pioneering experiment in federal - state joint refuges and public shooting grounds which may solve the conflict between hunters seeking ever scarcer game and farmers fighting to save their crops is awaiting only the go signal from the state legislature.

Prospects are good that the plan will be carried out, observers say, after Federal, Fish and Wildlife Service officials and state fish and game heads agreed that co-operation by both hunters and agriculturists will help solve the problem of both.

The federal service will govern the game refuges and the state the adjacent shooting sites under the plan.

The California plan is primarily for the benefit of duck hunters and the protection of grain farmers, mostly in the rice growing regions, but observers believe it can be applied to many kinds of game management.

Albert Day, assistant director of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, estimated ducks and other birds destroyed 100,000 bags of rice in Southern California alone. Crop damage in the Imperial Valley of Southern California was estimated at $1,000,000.

The plan devised in California, and which embodies only the action of the legislature in appropriating funds, is to acquire at least four sites with a minimum of 10,000 acres each in areas strategically located for farm protection.

DR. SCHACHT AFTER PEACE

New York, Feb. 17 — (CP) — The recurring rumor that Dr. Hjalmar Schacht was going to seek peace feelers in Germany's behalf was denied yesterday in a French press agency report which said he "is believed to be trying to establish contact with Soviet and Allied personages in an attempt to negotiate a German surrender."

PLENTY OF ORDNANCE LOST

Allied Supreme Headquarters, Feb. 17 —(Reuters)— More than $600,000,000 worth of ordnance equipment has been lost by United States troops in the Western Front campaign, but soldier technicians have reclaimed equipment worth twice times that amount, Maj.-Gen. H. B. Gaylor, chief of the Service of Operations Chief of Ordnance Officer, estimated.

Generally Speaking,

With the report from Ottawa that Lt.-Gen. P. J. Montague, chief of staff at Canadian military headquarters in London, has been mentioned for the N.H.L. presidency, Mike (Kingston Whig Standard) Rodden will be given to play a few general hours.

To succeed the late Kenasaw Mountain Landis as baseball commissioner, Mike plays for either Generals Eisenhower or MacArthur. One of them might even take over the N.H.L. job if Montague is not interested. Not to be outdone, of course, Winston Churchill would immediately have to install Field Marshal Montgomery as soccer's major domo—not only in England but for all the occupied countries.

Recognition of France as a major power leaves an opening to be found for Gen. Charles De Gaulle. Russia, too, will have to honor its military mastermind. Even the labor leaders with the epitome of elevation. However, we feel Russia had best make her own choice. And seem to have done well enough in outclassing their Germanic opponents.

Toronto, Feb. 17 (CP)—From Vancouver comes warning of a threat to the Memorial Cup hopes of Toronto St. Michael's Majors. Johnny Clark has been coaching an all-star aggregation from Vancouver, New Westminster and Nanaimo, that threatens even the strong Edmonton Canadians. And, adds Clark, the coasters are thinking seriously of entering the Dominion Junior series.

With three strong forward lines culled from Vancouver Arrows, New Westminster Cubs and Nanaimo Clippers—all in a blue-line section as a coach can ask for—and with Rollins in the nets, the B.C. hockey stars are feeling purty perky about their aces. Rollins performed with New York Rovers last year, while most of the other lads in the lineup are on N.H.L. team lists.

Edmonton Canadians' impressive victory string hasn't dampened the Aces' ardor either.

MAPLE LEAFS BEAT CANADIENS FOUR TIMES THIS YEAR

Nevertheless Habitants Are Away Out in Front in League Race

By The Canadian Press

As far as Toronto Maple Leafs are concerned, the stumbled power of Montreal Canadiens, runaway leaders of the National Hockey League, is just a bit of ballyhoo.

The records show that of five defeats suffered by the Canadiens this season, four have been at the hands of Toronto.

The Leafs will have an opportunity to prove their point tonight when the teams clash at Toronto. But victory or defeat for Montreal won't change the fact that Canadiens are miles in front of the league while Toronto is a distant, struggling third.

The game presents a host of other possibilities. Canadiens will be stirred for that record 19th win in succession this year. Probably the greatest intrigue will be centred on Montreal's starry Maurice (Rocket) Richard as the possibility he will notch his 44th goal of the season to set a modern N.H.L. record.

What Macphail has in mind, we're told, to mention is that the minor leagues already have undergone the appointment of a full-time promoter and director, such as he demanded, although they haven't named the man. He says that they'd probably prefer to do their own organizing than to have a deputy commissioner do it for them . . . Also that a major-minor committee has been working on a plan to see what appears to be a delicate problem of baseball management — high school baseball without giving the impression that the pros are staging a player-snatching campaign.

DOG KILLS BABY

WOOF

BABY DREDENGER

Woof, a five-year-old female pit bull terrier, shown here, is awaiting disposal by the police at Los Angeles, Calif., after killing her small mistress, 21-month-old Marjorie Dredenger. The dog, above, also shown. The dog slashed the child about the face and head and killed her almost instantly when one of the latter's large pierced the baby's skull. The baby, daughter of Staff Sergt. Charles Dredenger, attached to a medical unit at Camp Barclay, had tried to rub the dog's back after feeding her grandmother, who was paying "six bits" for a single seat. Without much ado the Air Force management sent Woof off to a hundred line-ups on the old Gresteiner and Pavlov circuits, giving public with programs indicating individual players' strengths and weaknesses by numbers. It would be an added service and now the teams are "in the big money series" such as Hens Kenyon and Doc Little and make a host of friends.

Then, there's another suggestion—this one by the Fire Marshals to refrain from smoking during games at the Hume Arena. After all it's only a 20-minute stretch between periods, and that shouldn't be too long to refrain from inhaling the weed.

Junior Round-Up.

That old saying — "stop Barney Lesperance and you stop Trenton" again rose from cause true in Stirling Thursday night when the Combines trounced 9-0. Stan Jackson's Trenton kids 4 to 4. Barney bagged but one goal, as he was being watched carefully by the stirling defence, they say. Incidentally, word from the Combines' camp indicate goalie McInroy was the star of the 9-4 and the pick of the corn with his sensational puck stopping at home Thursday night. However Trenton has a match edge in the third and final tussle at Trenton tonight. Starting Trenton on their home ice is quite a chore, especially when Stirling turned the trick one this season. Toots Holway announced today that in the event the Combines win over Trenton, Belleville will have the first and third home games here. The Belleville Junior O.H.A. playdowns, however, if Trenton wins tonight, the series will open in Trenton on Tuesday and Saturday instead of Friday night. We see by the Trenton press the series is on that town are sweet on referees Doc Little and Stan Holway who are handling the Stirling-Trenton clash.

Remember When . . .

Joe Louis knocked out Nate Brown in the fourth round of a return bout at Kansas City eight years ago tonight. In the first fight Nate stayed 10 rounds with the future champion before taking the decision. Louis became the second Negro heavyweight champion than six months after by knocking Jimmy Braddock out after eight rounds.

Did You Know . . .

Every one of the 61 runs scored off Corbett Ted Wilkes of the Cardinals last year was earned runs. They say one of the chief faults of Bobby Ruffin, who beat Canada Pete Greco in New York recently, is that he is inclined to get to his feet too fast after he has been knocked down just to prove that he is tough and hasn't been hurt . . . Plenty of fighters have the same failing these days, Joe Louis was one of them.

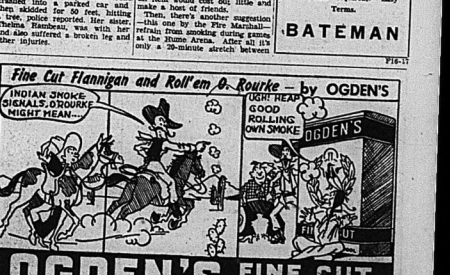
Splendid Show.



There was plenty of color and glamor at the Hume Arena last night when the Quinte Stars (Belleville) scored another hit in winter entertainment. Despite the fact that the ice achieved a slightly sticky stage, 2,500 appreciative fans saw a show that was a distinct credit to the local group. Highlights of the show were a spectacular pageant and a galaxy of youthful Canadian champions of the ice lanes whose flashing blades whirled in a synchronization and rhythm that was a delight to watch. Suzanne Mercier and Norris Bowden Canadian Junior champs; Roberta Winkler and petite Vi Vi Smith gave sterling performances and easily proved to be of top notch calibre. But, the local boys and girls did a right smart job of skating, too, and it was a good show and the congrats are in order to officials and members of the club.

Suggestion Box.

With increased crowds (and at increased prices in mind you) interest in the Quinte Stars and their local finals has reached a fever pitch and there's the call for the S.R.O. sign at the Hume Arena when the boys and girls take the ice for their second game of the home and home series against Monday night. However, the management of the teams should entertain some consideration for the patrons, who are fattening their coffers. Practically every fan checks their numbers, which makes it confusing for the referees and those who are paying "six bits" for a single seat. Without much ado the Air Force management sent Woof off to a hundred line-ups on the old Gresteiner and Pavlov circuits, giving public with programs indicating individual players' strengths and weaknesses by numbers. In Manhattan

By MICHAEL O'MARA
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York Feb. 17 (CP)—A series of second-class stowaways is acting any great display or originality or play-writing skill, but apart from immediate oolivion by occasional publicity acting—have popped up along Broadway in recent nights.

Most reminiscent of these, perhaps in "The Stranger" a melodrama based on the hackneyed story of Jack the Ripper, an unpleasant character who wandered about London last week in the 1890's dismembering and disembowelling women.

The play has little to recommend it, beyond an amusing and sometimes ill-natured performance by Edward Franz in the role of the suspected killer.

Another bedraggled theme comes in for none-too-sound rehashing in "One-Man Show," starring Constance Cummings. The theme is that of an irregular parent-child relationship—in this case between a daughter (Miss Cummings) and her father (Frank Conroy).

Miss Cummings is good enough as the cocktail girl, and Mr. Conroy excellent as a factotum in between almost-subconscious desires to have the strings bond and to maintain it.

None of this is particularly convincing, however. The play drags along with a great deal of tiresome talk, never achieving tension or sympathy for its characters. Only a mild notoriety which it has already has gained will keep it open long.

Pratchett Tone has made a return to the New York stage from Hollywood, to costar with Jane Wyatt in "Kiss Me For the Last."

Hammers away at the theme that democracy must start at home and that no apathy to public affairs is the part of any private citizen is excusable.

Marmora Soldier Acting as Sniper Bags Two Jerries

(By Staff Writer, The Maple Leaf) Somewhere in Italy — There are a couple of Jerries on the other side of the Sente who are either dead or wounded because someone forgot to tell them that the Canadians, too, have snipers.

But it's Pte. R. Nobes' private contention, that the Jerries were fresh troops. "I guess they won't be getting fresh now are," he added.

Nobes, who comes from Marmora, Ont., and is known as "Rambler" around the Hastings area, Prince Edward Regiment where he's one of their snipers, said he got a tip on what was going on in front of his regiment's position along the Sente while out on patrol one night.

"I just heard the Jerries digging slit trenches and driving in stakes as though they were putting in wire," he added. "So the next day, along with Pte. J. E. Brown, Picton, Ont., I crept up to within 100 yards of the dyke and took up our positions outside a shed."

Nobes pauses over and there, "as though they were on a tourist trip," were two Germans mooching around quite unconcernedly.

"Zhat vas a good shot," one of them said.

"Yes, they just wore steel helmets."

It was miserably wet out at this time and, though it was poor shooting weather, Brown brought his rifle to his shoulder, took aim and fired.

"He caught one of them right between the zippers," said Nobes expressively.

The two Canadians then "took the belt out of the Jerries" according to Nobes, and went back down to a nearby house, after waiting for about two and a half hours, they saw, to their amazement, another Jerry appear in exactly the same place where the other two had been.

"I took quick aim," said Nobes, "and caught him somewhere around the body. He dropped like a log, though we waited around for a while no more appeared." He laughed, "I guess they finally got the idea."

"FILM-STRUCK"

By SHEILAH GRAHAM

CHAPTER 29

Dunne pulled him back into the chair. He argued with him for two hours. But the sole concession made by Fordyce was to turn over the contract with Livia to the studio. She was to receive $50 a week. He asked for more, but Dunne said "No."

"For heaven's sake, Fordyce. She is worth more than that. She's a big chance on her."

In telling Livia most of what had happened, Charles said, "I must have softening of the brain."

"It just isn't true," Livia repeated, "why should you do this for me—after last night?"

He smiled. "If the picture's a success, will you marry me then?"

"Is that a condition?"

"Lord, no. Look—I'm not a bad sort of guy."

"I know—but in Hollywood everything has its price tag!"

"Forget what I said. I was joking."

"Was he joking? Livia didn't know, but was content to leave it at that.

She left him early and went to Bruce's bungalow with a wonderful news. He, too, had some news.

"I'm to be sitting business again." Bruce said quietly when Livia had removed her hat and coat.

"I'm glad."

Ivarinet, tit!

"You're glad! Say, I can put in a word for you with my new boss-ett. Look, I've had yet told him about the future, "Honoria Lewis".

A smiled parted her lips.

"You're prettier than ever", he touched her flaming hair softly and pulled her down on the settee. She lifted the hair away from her face and lay back in his arms. It was good to be with Bruce again.

"What does Sashie—say—about your stunt job?" she asked mischievously.

"Let's make a pact", he said, "I won't mention the name of Charles Fordyce—if you won't speak about Sashie." She shifted uneasily.

"Is 'Honoria Lewis' sad, he's directing it", Bruce released her and stood up.

"That's interesting," he said finally, "I'm doubling for your leading man—my new job as director, then tell you".

"I'm sure, wonderful!" she rose and flung her arms around his neck. He kissed eager at one and then put her from him.

"Be sure. But from now on—be grinned—It's every man for himself".

"And every woman", said Livia coming close to him.

He kissed her again. This was what she wanted—this was what any woman wanted—a man for all eternity.

"I wish we were married", she said pensively.

"If it weren't for the picture!"

"Yes."

He wanted to say, "If the picture fails will you marry me?" But that was not how he wanted she. She had to come to him, without any conditions. She still had a lot to learn. She still had to find the key to what was good and what was false. The picture would prove the stuff of which she was made. It would be interesting to see how she came through—if she came through.

"Come on—I'll take you home", Bruce perched her hat atop her locks. She did not want to go.

"Still all or nothing, Bruce? I'm not guess at it".

"You're the most difficult man to break down—" He grinned, "Come on Cinderella, it's 12 o'clock." Only the night before Charles hailed her Cinderella. The word troubled her. Was she a Cinderella? Was everything to vanish at 12? She clung to Bruce.

He kissed her gently and took her outside to his car.

Yera and her husband, George, left for Marion, leaving their baby with Livia, that complicated matters somewhat, according to the portly head of Metropolitan Pictures. Being a star had several complications.

"The baby looks like you", he grumbled when Livia showed him a picture of the smiling youngster. "And you can't live alone", he informed her firmly.

Charles was shooting exterior scenes in the Florida Keys. Bruce and the technical staff were with him. They would be gone three weeks. And with Yera and George away, Livia was lonely. But there was much to do before she started the film, and publicity boss Samuels planned to use the interval relentlessly.

"You can't live alone," Samuels repeated, "I've know of an older woman to live with you?"

"I'd sooner live alone," said Livia obstinately. He sighed impatiently.

"No". Until an actress made a hit in pictures, she could be kicked around by the publicity department, Livia knew this. She thought of complaining to Fordyce when he next called. But no—she must follow the rules of the game. Later, you could say, "I will live alone", and dress in slacks and wear no make-up in public. But while you were on the down end of the ilm you had to be careful to jump with the machine.

"Honestly only one woman I know". Livia said hesitantly, "Mrs. Sayles—she runs the Hollywood Settlement House".

"Swell", he said, "From now on you're her niece".

"Perhaps she won't want to come?"

"We'll take care of that".

Samuels rented a small house in Beverly Hills for Livia and her new guardian. The rent was $350 a month.

"I can't afford it", Livia told him. She revealed the financial disaster when she had tried to buy her way to Hollywood stardom.

"The studio pays for it—until your option is renewed", Samuels said in a bored voice.

The house was on two floors. It had a large white living-room with white and green covered furniture. There was a large fireplace at one end and a big white piano at the other. A small dining-room adjoined the large kitchen. Upstairs were three bedrooms and two bathrooms. The garden had been made into a swimming pool by the last occupant. But there was room for a thin border of flowers. The large patio had white garden chairs and comfortable green and yellow padded chairs.

"Okay?" Samuels asked Livia perfunctorily. They were standing in her bedroom. Lemon and green drapes, a thick green carpet, and a wide low bed with a deep yellow cover.

"Okay", she laughed. And Mrs. Sayles echoed the laugh, "Just try to get me to the studio".

Producer Dunne and his satellites decided that Livia's red-gold hair must be touched up for the Technicolor film.

"No", protested Livia sharply.

"Yes", said Mr. Dunne. She wept, when her hair was dyed a carrotlike color.

Livia had always considered her figure good. It was round and soft without being heavy. But the sharp eyes of Fordyce saw ten pounds in her weight of 118 pounds. And he had to remove the ten pounds for "Honoria Lewis." Mrs. Sayles had strict instructions about what Livia could and could not eat. It was liked candy and ice cream. They were taboo. She liked butter on her bread and sugar and cream in her coffee. They were all forbidden.

"I'll diet with you," giggled Mrs. Sayles. "I could stand losing a few pounds and it'll make it easier for you."

Livia lost five pounds at the end of the first week. And she began to feel irritable and tired. All day long she fitted for the exotic 1860 wardrobe she would wear in the picture. The dresses were heavy and hour after hour a corps of dressmakers snipped and pinned and basted material. A sculptor was hired to model her figure. A well-known painter sat on canvas.

"But not a word about her in the papers until I give the signal," Fordyce told Samuels before leaving for location.

"It's hard enough having an unknown girl on our hands—but if we don't give her any publicity, how are we to sell the picture?"

"There'll be plenty all right," Fordyce promised, "the day before the picture starts." Nothing could go wrong, but he wanted to make sure he was there when the ballyhoo began.

Her name, Clarkson, was to be changed. And when Livia protested, she was told: "Mr. Fordyce's orders."

Six possibilities were submitted to her. She emerged as Livia Moore.

Regularly she sent $50 a week to Henry Davidson for transmission to Earl Dixon, who wondered what Dixon would say when he heard of the good luck. Would he be glad, or would he want more money from Livia?

In a few days Charisti would receive it, and the picture began. This was her big chance and she must make opportunity excited and depressed her by turns. Mr. Fay called this time, it was the end. It you succeeded, you were a star of first magnitude. If you failed, you were finished.

Samuels looked as Livia critically one morning, seeing the dark circles beneath her eyes.

"Night-clubbing?" he asked.

"Oh, no!"

"You look tired—what's up?"

"I'm worrying about the picture," Livia said apologetically. Samuels cancelled her wardrobe and "still" gallery appointments for the day.

"Go to the beach with Mrs. Sayles and don't worry about anything."

He gave them a studio car and a hamper of food from the studio commissary and a huge umbrella.

"For the freckles," he warned her, "the picture is costing us two million dollars."Big promised to sit under the umbrella.

"There is a lady," said Mrs. Sayles suddenly. They had halted at a stop signal, and Eve leaned out of the window and pointed to a dark green car that was third in the row behind them. Livia glanced through the back window. "Anything wrong?" she asked Mrs. Sayles.

"No—but it's followed us ever since we left the house."

"A lot of people are going to the beach," Livia said carelessly, "it's a nice day."

"I suppose so." But Mrs. Sayles continued to look back at the car until they arrived at the beach. And always it was two or three cars behind them.

"Look, it's stopped, too," she said excitedly when they had exited from their car. Livia glanced casually in the direction of Mrs. Sayles' finger. There were three men in the car. Their faces were faintly familiar. Where had she seen them? There were so many families faces in Hollywood. Once Livia had walked up to a famous star and said "Hello!" before realizing that she did not know her except on the screen.

Then it came early in Southern California, at 5 o'clock they folded the cloth over the top of the picnic basket, and returned to Beverly Hills. The green car followed. Livia caught a last glimpse of the three men inside, and suddenly remembered where she had seen one of them. He had the cranium of an ape. He was the man who had terrified her in the mysterious Beverly Hills house. And now she remembered he was among the men who had stopped Terry that day outside the studio. But why was he following her? She was paying the bills—it was all arranged with Terry. What did they want now?

Livia walked briskly to the green car, but it backed into a side street and was gone before she could get there.

She returned slowly to her house and called Terry at the switchboard operator said:

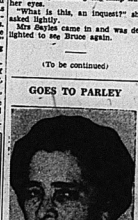
"He left town three weeks ago, and if you know where he is, we'd like his address. He skipped without pay the last week."

Livia put the receiver down and shrugged her shoulders. There was no point in worrying about Terry those months ago. But, if Terry was gone, she must find out who Earl Dixon was and send him the money direct.

Bruce Nolan, who was a stuntman again, came from location on a day sooner than expected.

"What have they done to your hair?" he demanded when he saw her.

"Sacrificed to my art," she said. "A lot of things have to be sacrificed."



"You're telling me. But it's too bad about your hair. And you look pale and worried." Bruce stood her back to lamp and searched her face. She covered it swiftly with her hands and pretending the lamp hurt her eyes.

"What is this, an inquest?" she asked lightly.

Mrs. Sayles came in and was delighted to see Bruce again.

Mobile Laundries Great Boon To Airmen in Field

A forward R.C.A.F. Airfield in Holland — No longer need members of mobile Canadian units in the Tactical Air Force barge their clothes, soap and cigarette rations for laundry work, or scrub their shirts and socks in their steel helmets.

Instead they are the eager customers of four new laundries, located at four airfields in Holland and France, now operating field service de luxe for 8,000 temporary residents. Each unit, packed weighing 20 tons and encompassed within a box-car trailer, are operated by civilian crews of 12 specially-trained N.C.O.'s acting as shift-bosses.

Supervising their installation and operation is Flying Officer R. J. Kenaga, Ottawa, a textile and laundry research worker with the National Research council, on loan to the R.C.A.F. For the past 10 years Mr. Kenaga has been engaged in studying chemical and industrial problems allied to clothing.

"Although these units were designed primarily to provide adequate, clean linen for soldiers in the field — no consideration was given to pressing — airforce field units have been equipped with a full range of pressing irons, which operate from the generator. This permits the pressing of shirt-collars and cuffs," he observed.

Washes and Dries

Each imposing, but remarkably compact machine has not only washers, but dries everything from blankets to sparkle-wipers — an important consideration in Holland where a damp cloth stays that way for days. "If there's no sunshine we have plenty of heat — more steam," said the grinning airmen operating the dryer. It consisted of two cylindrical tubes, with a steam coil providing heat at the top, and a fan drawing it to the bottom—drying 60 pounds of clothing in a quarter of an hour.

The entire laundry unit opened at the sides, like the caravan of the old-time fairground showman. Inside was a complete electrical power generator to supply nearly a dozen motors operating washers, and lights. A big tent could be set up, occupied one-end of the van. It too, is a workshop, for it represents what is probably the most economical way to heat water ever put on wheels.

Economize on Heat.

A self-contained, oil-fed boiler heats water for use in the washers and pressing irons. Not only does the boiler, but the exhaust gases from the engine motor of the generator are piped through the water tank to preheat the water. As if this did not represent economy, even the heat from the dirty water is reclaimed, by circulating used water in pipes past the fresh water as it is being drained.

Accessories to the unit include hoses and connections to permit filtering and using water of doubtful purity, and attaching marquees to provide work-rooms in which bundles are tagged, sorted and numbered. If the dog-tag system appears the wish, local women can be provided with tables to mend, darn and replace buttons.

As may be imagined the problem of handling more than 200 bundles of laundry each day as well as quantities of blankets could develop into a confusion of unidentified shirts and mismated socks, but for the tagging department. The method is ingenious, and almost foolproof. Numbered sets of safety-pins are used, tieing away with markers, numbering machines and inks are used, extracting from the mobility of a service which must be ready to pull up airfield rolling along right behind the front-liner.

Proud of Work.

The airmen operating the mobile laundries joined the units in Canada, probably for no other reason than to get overseas, but now they are immensely proud of their work. "They've all got something in the morning and last thing at night fitting this unit and that and putting lights and lines up," observed the supervisor.

He added: "These men feel they are maintaining a high standard of cleanliness and nothing gives a man a lift as much as being able to put on a clean shirt and clean underwear. Yes, they feel that in a measure they are helping by keep these Typhoons flying by helping the men who fly them."

Township School Areas Increased From 15 to 248

Toronto, Feb. 17 (CP) — Since 1936 the number of township school areas in Ontario has been raised from 15 to 248, Dr. Duncan Sinclair, organization of 1,423 school sections, Dr. A. D. Kitchener, chief director of education for the province, said.

Almost a quarter of the province's 5,747 school sections have now been established on this basis and "the accelerated swing to this system shows its advantages are becoming apparent to municipalities," Dr. Kitchener added.

Sixty-one of the larger units were organized in Ontario last year, largest increase in any single year. Under the system, any portion of a township may be set aside for high school area and is administered by a board of trustees.

Benefits claimed are equalization of school opportunities for rural pupils, more equitable distribution of school costs, saving in the purchase of school sites, improved administration and supervision.

At Saskatoon, James A. Cuddy told the annual convention of the Saskatchewan School Trustees' Association that in establishing larger school units, Saskatchewan is benefiting the type of school administration which is the pride of the whole of Canada. The President of the Saskatchewan Trustees' Association said that adoption or rejection of the large unit plan in Manitoba would depend largely on its success in Saskatchewan.

Britain Moves To Ban Billboards

By JOHN DAUPHINEE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

London, Feb. 17 (CP)—Ugly billboard advertising may be banished from Britain in a government move to conserve that a countryside improved by post-war replanning and reconstruction is not marred by unsightly commercialism.

Lord Woolton, Reconstruction Minister, urged in the House of Lords that advertisers get together and themselves agree on action or should be taken.

"If their proposals are insufficient I should be a party to resorting to further legislation which might could not promise legislation in this parliament (a general election is expected this year) but he said legislate was not being made of existing regulations for restricting outdoor advertising.

Two measures have been on the statute books for some years. In 1925 the advertisement regulations act was passed to protect landscapes and urban sites of special importance.

In 1932 the town and country planning act empowered municipalities to exclude advertisements from any scheduled area.

Neither of these measures has been thoroughly enforced. In building up areas particularly huge advertising signs are plastered on walls of buildings or beside the highways. Even rural districts have not escaped since the peacetime here is heavy motor traffic between nearby towns.

"Local authorities ... failed to make effective use of their powers, and highly objectionable signs are indifferent," said the Times. "It is far less apathetic now ..."

Archbishop Lord Lang and Viscount Samuel told the Lords they have their own way of getting even with advertisers who put up unsightly billboards—they refuse to buy goods when advertisements for them disfigure the countryside.

A Puzzled Spy Dies

(By RHONA CHURCHILL IN THE LONDON DAILY MAIL)

Advanced Supply, H. Q., Belgium. —Imagine for a moment that you are Hans Schmidt, whose uncle ran a London restaurant and lived at Wimbledon.

You travel with your uncle for three years and went to school in England.

You speak excellent English and, more important, you know the ways and customs of the English.

Three months ago, after you had fought in Normandy, they dragged you out of the front line, sent you back to Dobbins for a rest, and then took you off into the heart of Germany for a secret course of training in sabotage.

Not until three days before your "D-Day" did they tell you what they really had in mind for you.

Then you were told you were a British uniform, put you in a small tank, push you off into No Man's Land, from where you were to find your way to a bridge 30 miles behind the lines and blow it skyhigh.

Seems Easy.

The idea scared you, yet thrilled you. What a chance to serve Germany! What a way to die, if you must die young!

You are in your tank now with three other boys, who learned English in England.

You are well-briefed, your papers are in order, and you wear a British uniform, including that odd-shaped Tommy helmet.

You are even smoking a Woodbine.

You are to say you come from Wimbledon, which you know well. If you are stopped.

And you are stopped—by a friendly looking fellow in a red-topped cap. He walks over, looking simple enough. You take comfort. But you are a man of the Master Race? Anyway, you've got to say or do something. The redcap is waiting.

You don't. Your tank commander and your gunner are cool enough, but you made one slip—a slip which I can't reveal to you. Then a revolver was cocked. You were ordered out of your tank. Tommy sat down you will die. Hans Schmidt.

That is typical of what Hans Schmidt and all other Germans infiltrating into our lines have had to face.

Strange Stories.

The miracle is that any have got through the ordeal. Many who did succeed have now sought shelter in the woods, and are too scared to come out to do their sabotage work.

Strange but accurate stories are being told here of the behavior of the Germans. All American troops who meet them agree they are the finest soldiers they have yet encountered, have plenty of courage and will try to bluff it out to the last.

Once cornered, they now they are as good as dead, but they show no sign of fear. Some throw up a hand in the Hitler salute, when sentenced to death. Others ask for time to say their prayers. Next complain of the way their lives have been thrown away.

They did not volunteer for the job. They were "selected." No one has yet taken the chance of giving himself up.

Their ages vary. Mostly they are in the twenties. But one was well on in middle-age. Most of them wear American uniforms and speak with a New York accent.

Positions Are Static On Italian Front Weather Springlike

By WILLIAM BOSS
(CP War Correspondent.)

With the Canadian Corps on the Adriatic Front, Feb. 17 —(CP Cable)—A slight flurry of activity sparkled along the Senio river front Thursday but the static position of the Canadians and Germans remained unchanged in warm, springlike weather.

Following artillery and mortar curtain-raisers, a German patrol of 10 men infiltrated positions of Western Infantrymen and a British Columbia regiment the evening of Feb. 14. In the ensuing fight six of them were killed. Five bodies were found on a river dyke and one in the mined approaches.

Canadian positions in the Valle di Comacchio, another part of the static front the Canadians have been holding for weeks, were counter-attacked at the same time by tanks, approaching along the thin spit of land running Lake Comacchio from the Adriatic.

German artillery today advanced under cover of fire from tanks, automatics and heavier guns but both were soon beaten off.

The Germans, holding one bank of the Senio with Canadians holding the other, seem to be experimenting with new missiles. Canadian Highlanders report the enemy has been firing explosive bullets resembling fragmentation type.

End of Cycle Thwarted In City of Vienna

Today, as the Russians advance across the Hungarian plains toward the Austro-Hungarian border, the once gay city of Vienna and the 1½ million people who warmed into Austria following its entry into World War II in 1938, John R. Freeman writes in The Kansas City Star, is "clad out while the going is good," is the order of the day. Many Viennese ways are reported jammed as thousands stream out of the city in the direction of the west, attempting a getaway despite the acute shortage of transportation facilities.

That at once gay Vienna, capital city of Austria and jewel of the Blue Danube, the cycle of war returns to its beginning. For it was Hitler's bloodless conquest of Austria seven years ago, realizing the German dream of anschluss, which upset the equilibrium of Europe and touched off the fateful train of events leading to World War II. Treaty of Versailles.

To understand the present plight of Vienna, one has to go back to the Treaty of Versailles. With peculiar, rather than with economic and strategic considerations, a new Central Europe was created by statesmen after military power assembled there to write the peace and make a world "safe for democracy."

From it emerged the republic of Austria, a state with only six million people within its borders, succeeding the former empire of 50 million. This new state, too weak to live and too large to die, contained its giant's head. Vienna, the capital, where one-third of the total population was concentrated. Political changes, of necessity took place in Vienna and the other large cities of Austria, and reforms were instituted there long before they were felt in the sparsely settled rural areas. Naturally, the intellectuals of the flat lands, mostly poverty-stricken peasants, resented the leadership of the cities. A schism developed between the Social Democrats, dominant liberal political group in urban Austria, and the peasants. This schism persisted until Austria's "little man", Chancellor Dollfuss, tried to "save Austria by uniting it."

Chance For Hitler.

Hitler was quick to take advantage of the cleavage.

In his effort to resist German pressure and propaganda, Dollfuss began looking for outside help and Austria became a pivotal point of European diplomacy. In the bloody revolution of 1934, Dollfuss with the assistance of Mussolini, smothered the Social Democratic party. One of the tragedies and highlights of this bitter struggle was the ruthless bombardment of the Karl Marx apartment house, largest of the housing projects completed by the Social-Democratic party. It symbolized the great humanitarian and economic achievements of Vienna in the inter-World War.

Hitler organized labor crushed and disarmed, the Dollfuss government found itself vulnerable to Nazi attack. For despite political differences, the labor parties always backed the government on national questions. The victory of Dollfuss cost him his life. He was assassinated soon after by Nazi henchmen who tried, unsuccessfully to seize the government.

Successor Supported.

The government of his successor, Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg, was actively supported by Italy and, passively, by England and France, with the hope it would keep Germany from falling under Nazi domination. But Schuschnigg's efforts failed. Announced by Berchtesgaden-by Hitler, Schuschnigg was warned that failure to meet Nazi demands meant imprisonment and perhaps death by himself and his family. Bowing to the inevitable, he abandoned his plebiscite and resigned, determined the people's will on union with Germany. Austria's hour had struck.

Hitler's triumphal return to Austria on March 13, 1938, marked the beginning of the death struggle in Europe between Democracy and Fascism.

The lovely city which for centuries withstood the onslaught of the Huns and Mongols and saved Europe's civilization, faces invasion by another army, the Russian. Vienna, dominant liberal political group in urban Austria, and the peasants. This schism persisted until Austria's "little man", Chancellor Dollfuss, tried to "save Austria by uniting it."

Chance For Hitler.

Hitler was quick to take advantage of the cleavage.

In his effort to resist German pressure and propaganda, Dollfuss began looking for outside help and Austria became a pivotal point of these contacts, together with the city's nearness to the linguistic frontier between Germany, Slavic and Magyar, gave Vienna cosmopolitanism and cultural leadership which early placed it in the forefront of European civilization.

Vienna is richly endowed in museum, picture galleries and other cultural institutions of world-wide fame. These museums are, or were before the war, crammed to capacity with masterpieces representative of various types, masters and periods of art. Every form of intellectual development, artistic, musical and scientific, has its representative collections, supplemented by large private collections in the field, city or private societies. In Basil, Vienna is a museum of architecture, a city of impressive open spaces and beautiful parks. Its great circular boulevard, the Ringstrasse, is bordered by some of the world's most magnificent buildings.

Character of Viennese.

The typical Viennese of tradition —say, witty, pleasure-loving re-flects the cosmopolitan character of the city. Vienna is, above all else, the city of music, counting among its immortals Mozart, Beethoven, Haydn, Gluck, Brahms, and Bach. Beethoven conducted his symphonies here, and here Johann Strauss found the inspiration for his unforgettable waltzes. Vienna's hopes for a free Vienna since Austria was "co-ordinated" by Hitler. Already a trifle shabby, worn down at the heel, a grande dame living on a glittering past, the beauty and wit and charm perhaps have long since been crushed under Nazism and the Gestapo. Vienna faces a new peril. In this war, the Nazis have not hesitated to subject satellite cities to destructive bombardment if by so doing they could win temporary military respite or advantage. Is Vienna to suffer the same fate as Budapest where today Germans and Russians battle savagely from block to block? The world watches and waits as the Russian tide rolls inexorably closer.

Medical Science Brings New Hope To War Injured

Portage La Prairie Centre Refits Fighting Men for Return to Military and Civilian Life

By ENID NEMY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Portage La Prairie, Man., Feb. 16 (CP) — The only establishment of its kind on the prairies, No. 3 Conditioning Centre here is a medical man's dream.

Canadian casualties of the battlefronts of Europe as well as members of the Army, Navy and Air Force injured in training, are fitted for return to military or civilian life.

Occupational therapy, education-al programs, entertainment, work to mend the mind, remedial exercises and physiotherapy are used to build up muscles. The most modern scientific equipment is available for treatments.

"One of our chief problems is adjusting the 'battle happy' men back into a normal civilian life," said Major C. N. Ramsay of Montreal, acting officer commanding. "There are more than 300 casualties at this centre 60 miles southeast of Winnipeg. On a beautifully-landscaped 320-acre site overlooking the Assiniboine River, the men work and play. Days are ordered as regular army life but there the similarity ends.

Occupational and physio-therapy have a high place on the program of rehabilitation. Games, such as ping-pong, horseshoes and blow hockey are played under the direction of Lieut. Mary Campbell, of Toronto, and Lieut. M. Mackay of Lindsay, Ont. Treatments using ultra short wave infra red lamps and wax baths are given by Lieut. Phyllis Irvine of Sparta, Sask., and Lieut. Grace Reynolds of Regina and Winnipeg.

Remedial exercises, under Capt. A. Gregor of Winnipeg, have been devised so that men suffering from certain types of injuries concentrate on special exercises and have no need to bother with others. Capt. T. E. Sweet of Keewatin, Ont., is in charge of a massage-tory educational program.

For entertainment four movies are shown weekly and a concert party journeys out from Winnipeg every fortnight. The boys even have their own newspaper, appropriately named "The Casual Pass."

Also here to be "conditioned" are a group of 78 boys, who as yet have had no taste of army life. Known as the 4K group, these lads would have been rejected for service because they were underweight. Now, after an intensive "course in eating" and a strenuous physical development program ranging from three weeks to three months, they are brought up to army weight standards and sent out to their training.

Officers on the staff are from all parts of the Dominion. Capt. A. W. Gerow, army examiner, and Capt. G. E. Lock, adjutant are both Calgary men. NS. Bernice Chamberland is from Redditt, Ont. A university of Alberta graduate, Lieut. G. Robinson of Vermillion, Alta., is dietitian for the centre. Two young officers who were sent here for treatment but hope to be released shortly are Lieut. O. H. Williams of The Pas, Man., and Lieut. F. A. Murtagh, Ottawa.

American's Impressions Of Britain

I may be leaving England, perhaps never to return. Before I go I want to tell you some of the things I shall never forget—the things that have impressed me during my two years as an American Red Cross girl in Britain. Robert Arbib writes in The London Daily Express.

I remember that first night in England, standing in a wheat field in East Anglia and watching cascades of green incendiaries drifting down. . . This is it, we told ourselves. We are in it at last.

But it was hard to convince ourselves, for here were these crazy people standing in their gardens watching the raid as if it were a fourth of July spectacle. It was hard to boast about our own experiences when all around us were five-year-olds who have lived thru more than we have ever known.

The blackout was so black. It gave us a feeling that the houses had lost their staring windows were abandoned.

The atmosphere of rural Britain the workers in the fields, the stillness, the emptiness of the roads, the quiet of the villages and their things made us feel that we had left months to wave as we drove past. We never once spoke to them, but we were friends.

Funeral on River.

I shall remember a Sunday in June punting on the river at Cambridge and standing in the dew-bedly needed a shave, haircut and dress, but who had (we later learned) just been knighted.

Biking to Lavenham with Vivian for a look at that quaint Tudor village and a drink at the Swan . . . standing across the meadows with Joan to listen to the skylarks . . . most irresponsible of run-struck birds.

I shall not forget the friendly evening at the Unicorn, where we would buy each other rounds of ale and argue through the blue haze and settle all the problems that baffled the world.

Derby Day at Newmarket, where 8,000 came to see a race that was run behind a hill, and the same 8,000 tried to get back to London on one train.

CANADA'S VETERANS

Their Post-War Opportunities

The second of three advertisements explaining the re-establishment credit.

Homes, Businesses, Tools, etc.—

USES OF THE RE-ESTABLISHMENT CREDIT

In the first advertisement in this series it was explained that the re-establishment credit is a grant to which veterans are eligible in an amount equal to the basic War Service Gratuity —that is $7.50 for each thirty days' service in the Western Hemisphere and $15.00 for each thirty days' service overseas. It was pointed out that it is an alternative to training and educational grants and to land settlement benefits under the Veterans' Land Act, and that it may be used at any time within ten years of discharge for certain purposes. This advertisement is to explain these purposes.

TO PURCHASE A HOUSE

Re-service men and women may use their re-establishment credit to assist in the purchase or building of a home. In these cases it is necessary for the veteran to have an equity in his home. Reduction of a mortgage on a home already owned is included under this heading. In making application to use the credit to purchase or build a house it is necessary to supply full information as to purchase price, appraisal value, mortgages or any other encumbrance.

TO REPAIR OR MODERNIZE HOMES

If the veteran already owns a home and repairs or modernization are necessary, the re-establishment credit may be used. In making application for use of the credit in this way, proof of ownership and details of the expenditure should accompany the application.

TO BUY FURNITURE

When the re-establishment credit is used for the purchase of furniture or other necessary household equipment for the veteran's home, the veteran must put up one dollar of his own money for each two dollars used from the re-establishment credit. Furniture must be clear of encumbrances or liens on delivery to the veteran.

TO BUY TOOLS, INSTRUMENTS, ETC.

Veterans returning to civilian life may find they need certain tools of their trade, instruments or equipment for the practice of their profession or equipment for their business. The re-establishment credit may be used to purchase these things.

FOR WORKING CAPITAL

If working capital is needed for a business or professional practice already owned, the re-establishment credit may be used. The purchase of property or other physical assets necessary for the business is regarded as providing working capital.

TO BUY A BUSINESS

When the veteran makes application to use his re-establishment credit for the purchase or establishment of a business, the Department of Veterans Affairs will secure the advice of qualified persons in the community as to whether the proposed business offers sound possibilities of re-establishment. This step is not taken to hinder the veteran, but to avoid advancing his credit for a purpose prejudicial to his re-establishment. When the credit is used for the purchase of a business, the veteran must put up one dollar for every two drawn from the re-establishment credit on the down payment necessary to take over possession.

FOR LIFE INSURANCE

The re-establishment credit may be used to pay premiums on insurance issued by the Dominion of Canada. This insurance includes Soldiers' Insurance, Veterans' Insurance, Civil Service Insurance and Civil Service Superannuation and R.C.M.P. and Militia Pensions.

FOR SPECIAL TRAINING

Veterans taking vocational training or educational courses may need special equipment and this may be purchased from the Re-establishment Credit. Similarly employed veterans wishing to take part time or night classes may apply to have the cost of these classes paid for them from their Re-establishment Credit.

In addition to the above, provision has been made to extend the uses if experience indicates this is necessary.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

BENEFITS

How much is my insurance benefit? Workers frequently ask this question. The answer depends on how much you have been contributing. This table shows the approximate amount of weekly benefit.

Class	Employee Contribution	Amount of Benefit if all contributions made in some class for five years. Single	With Dependent
1	12c.	$ 4.08	$ 4.80
2	15c.	5.10	6.00
3	18c.	6.12	7.20
4	21c.	7.14	8.40
5	24c.	8.16	9.60
6	30c.	10.20	12.00
7	36c.	12.24	14.40

(Your employer and the Dominion Government also contribute to the fund.)

The actual amount of your weekly benefit is based on THE AVERAGE of the contributions which YOU made within the previous two years multiplied by 34 if you are single, and by 40 if you have a family dependent. For more information, ask your local office.

TOKYO'S 'LOOKOUT' ISLAND OF IWO INVADED
CANADIANS DRIVE WITHIN 25 MILES OF DUISBURG

Scottish Troops Fight Into Centre Of Fortified Goch

Important Frontline Road Centre of Calcar Menaced

Paris, Feb. 19 (AP)—Scottish troops fought into the centre of the heavily fortified road hub of Goch today as the 1st Canadian army advanced within 25 miles of Duisburg, world's largest inland port and western portal of the rich Ruhr valley.

British and Canadian troops fought within a mile of Calcar, like Goch an important frontline road centre, and pushed the stoutly resistance Germans to the southern edges of the Moyland woods. Canadians were heavy on both sides. The forest extends almost to the edge of Calcar.

Field Marshal Montgomery was said by the Germans to have committed his British 2nd army to the intensifying battle between the Meuse and flooded Rhine, a front on which the northern end of the original Siegfried Line has been run through. The Field Marshal himself said the last round of the battle for Germany was in the making, the enemy "is going to receive the knockout blow—a somewhat unusual one, delivered from more than one direction."

Widen Front.

The U.S. 3rd army widened its front in Western Germany to 22 miles and captured numerous towns in the drive mounting some within seven miles of the important road centre of Bitburg.

Farther south, the 7th army fought back two miles into the German Saar basin, capturing 1,000 prisoners and Auersmacker, six miles southeast of Saarbrucken. Supreme headquarters said the 7th objective was nearly.

The American 1st and 9th armies, and perhaps other formations, still were inactive along the Roer river facing Cologne Bonn and Duesseldorf, as was the 1st army east of Aachen that the Germans have been predicting renewed activities.

Centre of Eight Roads.

Goch, a city of 13,500 and the centre of eight military highways, had been outflanked and virtually surrounded. Scottish troops poured into its ruins, created a terrific artillery and ground bombardment. The town is divided by the Reitz River eight miles south of Kleve and has been a fortress since 1291.

Enemy opposition, though heavy, was lighter than expected with the Germans concentrating on the flanks of the Canadian Army front. Front dispatches called the Battle of Goch the heaviest of the 24-day campaign. The Scots drove in from the northeast and pushed through massive outer bulwarks. They battled through a deadly hail of machine-gun and sniper fire and fought bitterly, house by house.

Strong Opposition.

On the southern end of the 17-mile attack from the 1st Canadian Army dealt with strong German resistance along a 2,000-yard anti-tank ditch from the south outskirts of Blijenbeek, 30 miles north of Venlo, to the swollen Meuse River. The ditch was flooded, and the attacks encountered mines and road blocks.

On the northern and eastern flanks, English, Canadian, Welsh and Scottish troops were within 16 miles of the ruined Ruhr Valley city of Wesel, wrecked under the 300 tons of R.A.F. bombs Sunday.

Switching and a drizzle again plagued the troops and blocked tactical air support early in the day.

Elements of eight or nine German divisions have been identified on the northern front, and the bulk of them have been attached to the Goch sector. Beyond Goch lies a small open plain suitable for tank battles, and no elaborate defences are expected in the area immediately past the ancient town, Ne Canalbarg.

The German radio, which has been predicting for some time that an all-out offensive on the Western Front is near, asserted that Field Marshal Montgomery has thrown the British 2nd Army into the fighting alongside the 1st Canadian. There was no Allied confirmation.

U. S. 3rd Army advances in the centre of the Western Front ranged up to a half mile along the entire 26-mile front.

JUSTICE RIDDELL DIES AT AGE 92

Was Member of Supreme Court of Ontario for 39 Years

Toronto, Feb. 19 (CP)—Mr. Justice William Renwick Riddell, member of the Supreme Court of Ontario for 39 years, holder of 11 honorary doctorates and senior member of the American Bar Association, died yesterday at his home here. He was 92.

Predeceased by his wife last Monday, Mr. Justice Riddell was born in Hamilton Township, Northumberland County, Ont., and received his education at Cobourg Collegiate Institute and Victoria University, Toronto. He graduated in 1873 as gold medallist at Osgoode Hall and for a time was mathematics teacher at Ottawa Normal School.

He was appointed a Justice of the Supreme Court of Ontario in 1906 and 36 years later became a Justice of the Appellate Division. He served on several royal commissions, including one appointed in 1920 by the Drury Government to investigate timber limit operations and one appointed in 1932 to investigate the affairs of the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission.

At the time of his death he was working on an abridgement of Canadian law decisions, of volumes of which have already been published.

Literary Background.

His literary background was the envy of many Canadian writers and among his published works are "Le Professeur" and "Upper Canada."

"The Constitution of Canada," William Kirby, F.R.S.C." "La Rochefoucault's Travels in Canada and the United States" in Canada." He also contributed many articles to literary, legal and scientific journals.

Interviewed on his 92nd. birthday last April 6, he told reporters he had no intention of retiring from the bench, adding "I figure about another 24 years should be about right."

Last November he was elected president of the Health League of Canada for the year and officials of the league last night expressed their "deepest gratitude" for his long years of service.

His ability and scholarship were recognized in many directions by which honored him with degrees and he was honored by 13 state bar associations.

YANKS SWARM OVER CORREGIDOR, 7,000 LIBERATED

Manila Bay All But Back in U.S. Hands Though Japs Still Cling to City

Manila, Feb. 19 — (AP)—Manila Bay was all but back in American hands today but in the city itself, where 7,000 civilians were released in a new dramatic rescue, the Japanese still clung grimly to the walled intramuros section.

Mopping up continued on Corregidor.

The 7,000 civilians were liberated under guards as American troops stormed into the ruins of the Santo Tipolte general hospital, a few blocks from the intramuros walls.

MAJ.-Gen. Oscar W. Griswold, commander of the 14th corps, who delayed a showdown battle for the intramuros district in the hope other civilians could be voluntarily released by the Japanese.

Troops of the same regiment which liberated the hospital came upon its first of 40 Catholic nuns, priests and women and children to whom they had given shelter in the ruins of a De La Salle college and the nearby Malate district.

The 60 were shot and bayoneted to death a week ago today by a Japanese officer and 20 soldiers.

Rev. Francis J. Cosgrave of Sydney, Australia, one of 10 survivors, said the Japanese broke in upon the helpless group during noon lunch and, at a prearranged signal from the officer, started shooting and slashing.

Bombard Defenders

Warships steamed to the entrance of Manila Bay to bombard positions on the Cavite Shore, it was disclosed in a communique also reporting mopping up progress on Corregidor.

American troops, who landed on the fortress at the key entrance Feb. 16 day, cleared important Manila Hill.

The communique said the east entrance of Corregidor tunnel, which the Japanese may follow their usual underground defense in death practice, was closed by a landslide dynamited by the Japanese.

Some enemy pockets also remained on Bataan Peninsula, enclosing Manila Bay on the west.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur recalled the stand of Americans and Filipino pine troops on Bataan and Corregidor in 1942, declared they knew they would record the stand "as one of the most glorious epics of the world," in that it delayed Japan's push south and saved Australia.

Bombs Rain

"Our triumphs today," he declared, "rank equally to that dead army."

The Philippines hospital liberation, disclosed in a communique, was accomplished Saturday afternoon. Only a skirmish with enemy remnants was reported.

Bombs rained on Manila and Corregidor as Allied planes last week the Germans had been able to rush reinforcements to the front.

The German communique said Marshal Ivan Konev's 1st Ukrainian Army was forging ahead, however and compelling the Germans to engage in "violent defensive fighting" all the way from the Czech border to the Oder bend southeast of Berlin.

Marshal Konev's tanks have reached the area southeast of Leuban on the Queis River, 62 miles from Dresden, the communique said.

Leuban is eight miles southeast of Naumburg, captured by the Russians yesterday, and 13 miles east of Grossen on Neisse which Moscow dispatches last week had been reached by advanced spearheads.

New Bridgehead.

The town is only nine miles from the border of Czechoslovakia.

On Marshal Konev's right wing, a German war reporter said, Marshal Gregory Zhukov's 1st, White Russian Army has hammered out a bridgehead over the Oder near Crossen, 64 miles southeast of Berlin.

Konev and Zhukov were linking up for a smash toward the German stronghold of Guben, on the Neisse 43 miles from Berlin and at the apex of a vital defence triangle guarding the southeastern approach to the capital.

Crossen is 16 miles northeast of Guben.

D.N.B. said the Russians had broken into Guben.

Guben, however, is 15 miles east of the north-south line running between Gottbus and Beeskow which Russian armored spearheads were

Marines Push 600 Yds. Up Beachhead In Stiff Battle

500 Jap Aircraft Wiped Out, 14 Ships Sunk in Tokyo Raid

By ELMONT WAITE
(A.P. War Correspondent)

Guam, Feb. 19 — (AP) — United States Marines invaded Tokyo's "lookout" island of Iwo today and pushed 600 yards up rugged slopes from their beachhead to penetrate the important bomber air strip.

First eyewitness accounts from the flagship of Vice Adm. Richmond Kelly Turner, commanding the amphibious operation, said casualties among the Marines were "considerable."

The tiny, pork chop-shaped island, invaded at 9 a.m. Monday (Guam time) was a prize the Japanese defended with all their fanatical fury. Invading Marines of the 5th Corps, the United States' oldest amphibious outfit, advanced from the south and east beaches.

They reached the bomber strip, most important of Iwo's three airfields (one still under construction) in the first day of the struggle.

Raked with Artillery Fire

Japanese artillery, mortar, machine-gun and rifle fire raked the flanks of the veteran 4th Marine Division and the new 5th Division making up the invading force, throughout the day.

Lt.-Gen. Holland M. Smith, commanding the Marines, said from his command post above Admiral Turner's flagship: "Our men are landed all over the place out there. And they're going after those hidden Jap guns, which are mighty hard to locate."

Admiral Turner said the "over-all progress is satisfactory." He added that the pre-invasion bombardment by Admiral Mitscher's fast carrier task force and warships and the subsequent softening-up by the Seventh Army Air Force "accomplished its mission."

Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz' communiques announcing the invasion said the operation is "proceeding satisfactorily." He said casualties were "moderate," by early reports.

The beachhead extends for nearly 2½ miles northward from the volcano at the southern tip of the six-mile island.

Admiral Nimitz credited 3296 and subsequent tonnage piled up en route to pave way for this morning's invasion of the island's airfields will step up the air offensive against Japan, where carrier planes destroyed or damaged 35 ships and 132 planes in two days before withdrawing.

Fire from rockets launched from the southern two beaches climaxing the Navy's aerial bombardment which included the batteries of such veteran battleships as the Nevada, sunk at Pearl Harbor and raised to help pave the way for the invasion of Normandy and now a stepping stone island to Tokyo.

"Casualties are moderate," Admiral Nimitz said.

Two "light units" of the heavy supporting fleet of more than 800 ships which prepared the way for the 9 a.m. invasion today were damaged.

Resistance originally was light but Japanese counter-fire, in small sporadic, steadily intensified as the Marines scrambled against the enemy entrenched in ridges and burned-out caves of pill-boxes with flame-throwers.

Warships, which Tokyo said controlled the island, furnished artillery support while swarms of carrier planes dived on the Japanese in front of the marines' path.

There was no report on the initial landing at 9 a.m. (two time) Wednesday Edwards, representing the command, U.S. radio correspondent, hit the beaches and reported "there's a hale of a scrap still going on."

Airfields Objective.

The immediate objective was Iwo's main airfield from which land-based American fighters and medium bombers will be able to strike the Japanese homeland for the first time.

Battleships, including new 46,000-tonners, and cruisers have poured murderous shellfire into the eight-square-mile island since Friday to soften the coastal defences.

Iwo had undergone the most intensive bombardment in the history of the Pacific war. Daily since Dec. 7, Tokyo has been subjected to explosives on the air strip—bothersome to the B29 base, as mentioned on several guns. On 10 different missions U.S. warships shelled the island.

Remain in Reserve.

But the Japanese remained in bomb-proof shelters and emerged to mount fighters and send up an anti-aircraft fire.

The Japanese Domei Agency version of the landing said the Americans invaded beaches on the south and east coasts and that fighting was of "great violence. Domei termed it a "ghastly interception."

Japanese broadcasters earlier reported the Americans' armada of invade two had been "frustrated." The U.S. Navy, with marine divisions, of the 5th Marine Division under Maj.-Gen. 'Mary' Schmidt, invaded Iwo, pear-shaped island which is so close to Tokyo it is administered by Tokyo prefecture.

In distances, in comparison to their naval bombardment of Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto would be to enemy landing at the mouth of Iwo Jima Bay.

Highly Successful.

A communique from U. S. Pacific Fleet headquarters came only an hour after a spectacular report carrier plane raids on Japan's Nanpo-Shokan industrial area Friday and Saturday in which 1,300 American aircraft hit in continuing waves, had been highly successful.

The communique said the attacks achieved complete surprise and wiped out 500 enemy aircraft in the air and on the ground, sank four warships and 10 cargo vessels and damaged a number of vital war plants.

A total of 333 Japanese aircraft were destroyed in the air and 167 on the ground. At least 135 more were probably destroyed. The escort carrier task force was commanded by Rear Admiral Thomas L. Sprague and two escort destroyers were sunk.

Halsey Predicts Jap Fleet Will Not Fight in Present Pacific Operations

Washington, Feb. 19.— (AP)—Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr., paying a surprise visit to Washington, predicted today that the remnants of the Japanese fleet will not come out and fight in the current Pacific operations.

"We are going to have to dig them out," the commander of the U.S. Fleet told a new conference. "They are very little left to fight with and what they have is in static bar accounts."

Admiral Halsey said he has not yet received all the facts of the Tokyo air raids by carrier planes but that all indications are that it was "another magnificent show against the deteriorated Japanese navy and air Japanese navy."

Asked what is his opinion would be necessary to force the Japanese Navy to a showdown, Admiral Halsey, in typical fashion replied:

"I can't get myself in a relaxed frame of mind. I don't know what it would take."

Asked about his presence in Washington, Admiral Halsey said with a laugh: "I am here under orders of Admiral King," Chief of Naval Operations.

BRITISH BRIDGE IRRAWADDY R. BELOW MANDALAY

Crossing Made Under Withering Artillery and Mortar Fire by Japanese

By FRANK L. MARTIN
(AP Staff Writer)

Calcutta, Feb. 19 — (AP)—British Imperial troops who bridged the swift Irrawaddy River in Burma apparently at an important point Saturday were reported today to have "a very tight hold in their hands" after days of fierce fighting with bitterly resisting Japanese.

The British and Gurkha troops of the 14th Army made the hazardous crossing in the early morning of Feb. 13 under a hail of enemy artillery, mortar and small arms fire. The Japanese reacted violently to their jungle hideouts.

The new bridgehead, first to be established below Mandalay, would keep the enemy from using the river for escape when the city itself finally is assaulted.

British assault troops crossed the stream in hundreds of light river craft. Many were caught in the current and swept downstream out of control.

MASSIVE ALLIED AERIAL ASSAULT INTO SIXTH DAY

In Night Sweep Berlin Plastered With 4,000-Pound Blockbusters

London, Feb. 19 — (CP)—United States bombers struck Germany from the west today, and Berlin declared fleets from the south were over the Danube.

A brief announcement did not name today's targets.

It was the sixth straight day of assaults from the west—and seventh from Italian bases—and was announced in by R.A.F. Mosquito night attacks on Berlin with blockbuster bombs.

Mosquitos also attacked Mannheim, Ludwigshafen and communications centre, and the port of Kiel.

While American heavy bombers based in Britain were grounded yesterday, the Americans, about 250 British Lancasters took off just before dusk and pounded the communications hub of Wesel with 1,200 tons of bombs. Wesel's bridges — a prime target for the raiders—form an important Rhine crossing for the Germans now under heavy pressure from advancing 1st Canadian Army troops.

2 New Aviation Pacts With U.S., Canada Given 6 New Air Entries

Ottawa, Feb. 19 (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King today announced the conclusion of two new aviation agreements with the United States, one providing for an extended network of trans-border aerial air services and the other a wartime agreement governing operations of military air transport routes in each country over the territory of the other.

Canada is granted six new air entries into the United States in addition to the Toronto-New York route now operated under the Civil Aviation Agreement which was reciprocal in character, meeting between parties of the two countries in New York.

The new lines authorized for Canadian operations are Halifax to Boston; Montreal-Ottawa-Toronto to Chicago; Port Arthur to Duluth; Victoria to Seattle and White Horse to Fairbanks.

In addition the agreement provides for mutually reciprocal use of Detroit and Windsor as stopping places for air lines of the two countries.

This, in effect, adds an additional route to those otherwise authorized for each country. The provision is that aircraft operating on services authorized by the United States into Detroit may stop at Windsor and aircraft on services authorized by Canada for Windsor may stop at Detroit.

The new routes authorized for United States operation are New York or Boston to Quebec; New York to Ottawa; Washington to Montreal and Ottawa, and Seattle to White Horse.

(Discussions on the agreement in a wartime air transport agreement with the Canadian Club at Toronto today and Ottawa tomorrow. Howe said:

"The New York agreement gives Canada entry into the United States on eight routes and gives the United States entry into Canada on 15 routes. In general, a very large proportion of the routes assigned to each country have great traffic possibilities. All the routes which the New York conference expressed the desire to operate on are included. It is equitable under present circumstances."

When all the routes authorized in the agreement are in operation five Canadian cities — Quebec, Halifax, Ottawa and Port Arthur — will be given direct air connection with the United States for the first time and four United States cities — Washington, Chicago, Cleveland and Duluth — will get direct connection with Canada for the first time.

GAS RATION BOOKS ARE NOW AVAILABLE

Gasoline ration books for the 1942-43 period year went on sale in Belleville this morning according to Mr. E. S. Vermilyea, local motor vehicle license inspector. He said that any car is again to be followed with the exception that they are required to secure his motor vehicle permit before he is eligible for his AA category booklet. If motorist is entitled to additional gasoline for business purposes special forms are available for application for special privileges.

DANGEROUS PRACTICE TO SLEIGH RIDE DOWN CAMPBELL STREET

Complaints that children were sleigh riding down Campbell Street hill directly into the path of Pinnacle Street traffic were investigated by police here over the weekend. Traffic police officials warned that such practices are not only needlessly dangerous as the sudden appearance of children riding hand sleighs into Pinnacle Street gives motorists little or no opportunity to protect the children or avoid an accident. Although the children making this practice on Saturday had left the hill before police could warn them, traffic officials have made a special appeal to parents to warn their children to refrain from sleigh riding down open street hills in the vicinity of cross section motor traffic. Yesterday a serious accident was reported in a near by city when a child was fatally injured when it darted out into Pinnacle Street directly in front of a moving motor vehicle. "I had not a chance to stop and I was only going at the fortune there wasn't a serious accident," reported the motorist.

Many Residents Ill With Varied Types of Flu

Although a number of people have been confined to their homes and some to hospital with true-blue influenza during the past few weeks, the disease has in no way reached the proportions of an epidemic, Dr. C. S. Cronk, Medical Officer of Health, stated today.

Because to the effect that it has reached an epidemic stage are caused, no doubt, by the fact that a larger number of people than usual have fallen victim to the disease. However, Dr. Cronk added there is no cause for alarm insofar as an epidemic is concerned.

The "flu" has had varying effects on different persons, some have been subject to immediate prostration when the "germ" struck, but their illness was of brief duration. Others have had attacks following varying symptoms that have resulted in prolonged sessions in bed.

Medical dictionaries define "influenza" as a contagious epidemic catarrhal fever with great prostration and varying symptoms of bronchiaequals; or "grip". The intestinal variety is not the pleasantest experience in the world either, according to victims, and all precautions are urged at first symptoms.

Sugar Ration Cut Two Pounds By Prices Board

Ottawa, Feb. 10 —(CP)— The Prices Board announced today the canning sugar allowances for Canada like when will be the same as in 1944—10 pounds per person, but that, because of the world sugar situation, the regular sugar ration for each person will be reduced two pounds a year.

This will be done by making two sugar coupons good on the first Thursday of each month, instead of one coupon good, formerly, for one present ration is half a pound per person per week. Extra sugar quota for industrial users, hotels and restaurants was cut at the first of the year from 80 to 70 per cent of 1940 usage.

The board said the purchase of canning sugar will be simplified by the issuance of special coupons instead of the separate canning sugar coupons used last year. Under this arrangement there will be only two types of coupons for the purchase of canning sugar, namely the coupon, good for one pound of sugar, and the coupon, good for half a pound of sugar or the alternative of 25 pounds in preserves.

Twenty extra preserve coupons will be issued to enable the housewife to purchase her canning sugar allowance of 10 pounds. Two of these extra coupons will be made valid March 15 to provide for early preserving, eight more will be valid May 17, and the other 10 will be valid for the purchase of canning sugar on and after July 19.

The coupons can be used to buy preserves instead of canning sugar if the consumer wishes. For such an alternative purchase he will use the "P" canning sugar coupons to be exchanged for preserves coupons at a local ration office.

RAWDON

Sgt. Harry Brooks Home on Leave

Rawdon, Feb. 19 — Sergeant Harry Brooks of Carmel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brooks, and a member of Mrs. Harry Brooks (former. Miss Helen Hastings) arrived at home from England on February 10.

Harry sailed for England in December, 1939 and has spent six Christmas Days on the ocean. His daughter, Margaret Brooks, is four years of age and this is the first time she has seen her daddy. Mrs. Brooks and Margaret also reside at Carmel.

During this past summer Harry saw service in Belgium and Holland and he now has a month's vacation. He is relative in the Stirling district.

Neighbors and friends rejoice that he has been allowed a holiday at home.

Winner Must Be Declared Wednesday Night

Previously arranged plans to play a best two-in-three series to determine the championship local soccer hockey league went by the board today with orders from Military Command in Belleville that a winner must be declared in the Bay of Quinte Area by Wednesday night.

Thus according to orders received today, Trenton and Napanee Rangers will now play a two-game series on Wednesday night, earlier in the week. The games will be played Monday and Wednesday nights with the winner to play a similar two-game series with Camp Borden on Friday night, Saturday and Sunday nights.

With two tie games already played, officials of the Trenton and Napanee clubs have decided that in future games of their current series a winner must be declared in regular time, however, the series will be of two games with total goals to count.

Veterans Thanked For Cigarettes Sent

"Thanks to the Vets or another way we can make Canadian cigarettes obtainable," reads the front on the stores of our Canadian homes. No doubt many Canadians and Canadians realize full well the value of the splendid smoking privileges and the Belleville members of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada are not forgetting expressing us with fags. "Keep up the good work" is the message that is being received by President James Lemoby and Secretary Harry Wills, from John H. Sills of Belleville stationed at sea serving in the Navy. Thanking them sincerely for their kindness Pte. Sills writes: "I am one of the many who are receiving your cigarettes and I want to thank you for them. I know that you are doing a good work and I am sure that it is appreciated by all the boys. I am sure that you will be glad to hear that I am getting along fine and I am enjoying myself. Now I must close as I have to write a few more letters. Thanking you again and wishing you all the best of luck."

Besides the regular shipment of 6,000 cigarettes to the crew of the ship, Veterans' Club No. 68 sent individual shipments of 300 cigarettes each to Pte. Sills and to Belleville and district lads serving overseas in the Army and Navy. War Veterans' fag fund is a worthy one but included: M. L. Pope, C. T. Pope, C. Pope, C. T. Pope, Alyea, E. P. Winter Lull Used To Make Preparations

(CP War Correspondent)

With the 1st Canadian Army in Germany, Feb. 10 (CP)—Cable)— The 1st Canadian Army's winter lull in Holland was marked today in its true light — a period of planning and preparation for battles to come and training of new units that have materialized.

Infantry soldiers patrolled night and day from the Nijmegen salient westwards to the mouth of the Maas River last November. Since then, activities was behind-the-lines activity far beyond the ken of an army committed only to a holding role.

Field Marshal Von Rundstedt's Ardennes offensive in December set back by a month the Canadian Army's preparations for offensive operations and confronted the army command with the task of thinning out troops in the Nijmegen salient to provide reinforcements for the Ardennes battle.

Killed in Action

L/C. Gerald D. Forbes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Forbes, Glen Allen, and a brother of Mrs. William McKay, Cox Hill, has been killed in action, his parents have been officially notified.

Enlisting in 1940, he served two years in Newfoundland, going overseas with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. He was killed while serving in Italy with the Westminster Regiment.

L/C. Gerald F. Forbes

Remaining members of his family include besides his parents and Mrs. McKay, six sisters, Mrs. Winter and Mrs. Clive Hoard, and Misses Dorothy, Edna, Howard and Douglas, all of Chandos.

Following is a letter written to his parents by his platoon commander in the Westminster Regiment.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Forbes:

Now you will have had official notification of your son's death.

I was Gerald's platoon commander, and was responsible for all the men. You would not like me to go into a detail of talking, and frankly I wouldn't if I could, though not as great as yours, is enough to make one very unhappy. Not to mention my army life, you would not know how much an officer depends on his N.C.O.'s and I say without exaggeration, that he was one of the finest men I have had and it will be practically impossible to replace him. He was one of the few who stood firm in the face of terrific shelling and dug even more than I do to make that short an outstanding success. A few things you would like to know are that he suffered not whatsoever for his death was instantaneous; he is resting in a Canadian cemetery just out of Vinsmora, not far from Ravenna, and this is from the home of one of the finest men I have ever known or had the honor to. Tell him I say, Salute, Gerald, and God is with you.

The thoughts and love of the whole of your son's platoon and you, Mother of a Noble Canadian.

I remain,
Yours, Capt. Lipp, Lieut.
No. 9 Platoon.

BRITISH BRIDGE

(RCA wins counting)

Troops who gained the left bank of the river in the first wave were forced to lie in the open all night after returning Japanese fire from boats in nearby half-hour. Under constant pressure for five days, the 14th Army front expanded the beachhead yard by yard until they gained a 10-mile-wide foothold near the village of Akyab.

Field dispatches described Japanese casualties heavy from British assaults as having "not been light."

The crossing posed a powerful threat to the Japanese position in Burma and elsewhere as one of the greatest obstacles faced by the Allies in the Burma campaign.

American and British army and medium bombers of the Eastern Air Command also joined the surrounding troop concentrations and supply dumps on the enemy's land routes south of Mandalay.

Units of the 30th Division of the 15th Indian Corps, with full air and air support, have made a successful landing at Donu, on the west coast of Burma, 66 miles southeast of Akyab, and occupied the village, a spokesman for the Command communique said today.

MASSIVE ALLIED

Two bombers and a fighter were lost in the attack on Wesel and the overnight forays, the Air Ministry said.

The aerial offensive in Italy also continued yesterday with Italian-based U. S. bombers smashing hard at German communications in Austria.

Since Tuesday night nearly 7,500 R.A.F. and American bombers have hammered at targets in Germany and oil centres between the Rhine and the Russian front, with 62 planes lost in the operations.

Wesel has been a target three times during these attacks.

BOMBARD DUNKIRK

Folkestone, England, Feb. 19 (Reuters) — A heavy bombardment in the Dunkirk area was heard at this east coast town today. Nearly all morning the roll of gunfire echoed across the Straits of Dover and was still going on after midday. German troops are still holding out in the French port.

100 Divisions Attacking

Berlin said 100 Soviet Divisions were attacking in an attempt to wipe out the trapped Germans in that sector.

Overlooking the Germans launched 20 counter attacks in an effort to break the encirclement which has been tightening for weeks. They were beaten off and the Soviet troops drove into the city's outskirts.

By official Moscow account 7,-640 Germans were killed, captured or killed in fighting along the 800-mile front during the week to Sat., 150 the total of Germans and Hungarians reported killed or captured in the last week, including the casualties in the city and the siege of Budapest.

The Paris radio said this morning the Russians were opening up huge offensive in the Ukraine, and asserted that Marshal Gregory Zhukov, Soviet commander-in-chief was massing all his reserves of men and material for this final assault on Berlin.

IN MEMORIAM

LUCAS — In loving memory of a dear father, Charles Leslie Lucas, who passed away four years ago today, February 19, 1941.

As daytime turns to evening,
And the sun sinks out of view,
There is one that shines more brightly,
It's that loving dad of mine,
Sweet memories are dear but they don't grieve for me.
When you are all down on your knees
Go down when God thinks best, dear,
He will call you home.
—Ever remembered by his daughter, Dorothy.

CHOUINARD — In loving memory of Georgina Chouinard, who died on February 17th, 1942.
No one can tell but my own heart
May be,
How deep the wound that never healed.
We may seem happy and gay,
But the sorrow in our hearts is there to stay.
We have missed you so, dear mother,
For there's no one who can ever take your place.
Sadly missed by daughter, Mrs. E. Woodacre and family.

ROWLAND — In loving memory of my beloved mother, Mrs. E. Rowland, who passed away in Brighton, England, on February 19, 1941.
Two dear bright eyes, a tender heart
A loving heart that knew no guile,
God called her home, it was His will
But in my heart she liveth still.
—Sadly missed by her daughter, Mrs. Leonard Fry.

RUSSIANS

reported attacking last week-end in the Kursk area.

Soviet correspondents last Friday said the Russians were within sight of the city's suburbs, with Besakow and Cotibus are located, and indicated that Orlean might have been by-passed at that time. Orlean was captured today and Cuben was under artillery fire and the German communique said a violent battle was raging in the streets of the place.

Marshal Zhukov remained quiet in his sector along the Oder where the Russians are within from 30 to 40 miles from Berlin, but the Germans' communiques said this was the "lull before the storm."

Sagan, a air-way railway centre 90 miles southeast of Berlin, was captured by the Russians over the week-end after a bloody two-day fight in the virtually encircled city.

Overrun Nazmberg

A Soviet communique said the Southern wing of Marshal Ivan S. Konev's 1st Ukraine Army had overrun Nazmberg in Poland on the threshold of Saxony. Nazmberg lies 100 miles from Berlin.

Marshal Konev's northern wing battled 20 miles west of Sprottau, Silesia, in the face of several German counter-attacks.

Moscow said the 3rd. White Russian Army had scored new gains in the Vitebsk area, where the Germans were tempted by announcement of the death of that army's territorial commander, Gen. Ivan. D. Chernikhovsky.

Youngest of the Russian front leaders, this 37-year-old Jewish tank expert died of wounds suffered on the battlefield where his 3-on yesterday killed 2,000 enemy troops and tightened their stranglehold on the Imphal plain. A force of 200,000 Japanese are fighting.

100 Divisions Attacking

Berlin said 100 Soviet Divisions were attacking in an attempt to wipe out the trapped Germans in that sector.

ELDORADO WINS FROM MARMORA

A very exciting game of hockey again took place on Madoc Ice, Friday night, Eldorado took Marmora for a score of 7-1. Eldorado had the best combination this with Madoc and if Eldorado is successful in these they will take the trophy.

The goals scored for Eldorado were by Hubbs 4, Hubbs 2, and Thompson, 1. For Marmora, Mellrod did the scoring of the goal.

This game was still better than Wednesday's game as there were only two or three penalties called and it was a very great game for Marmora while on the ice, Referee Stewart held Marmora at centre.

The referee for last night's game were Runner and Cummings. It was thought for some time that it would be a shut out for Eldorado but in the last quarter of second period Marmora got a break away and got the only goal of the evening. Mrs. P. Reeves was the timekeeper and the goal judges were Jack Ingle's game for the sum of $10.00.

From You So Little, For Them So Much

Oh, excuse me, buddy, I slipped accidentally. Not used to these crutches, y'know.

What's that? Yeah, just got back from over there. I'm Bobby Jones, one of Gordon's guys. What's the name like that.

Yeah, it was pretty tough over there. There was muck, and blood and hell. Days, and nights of a world turned inside out. Guts and gore, mud for your mattress, snow for a blanket, and all through it all the hellish din of war.

No, we didn't yield. Yes we were doing it for a purpose. We had ideas of what would happen if we didn't do our bit.

There were times when we dreamed too, of the old days. We saw the little red schoolhouse; kids fishin' in the old crick and playin' hookey to go swimmin'. Then there was the little corner store where we used to sit Saturday nights, or go down to the rink and show our play shinny. We used to see sunlight dancing over wheat fields, or making red harvest moons.

Then there was "Mom" who smiled when she left. We used to see her standing in the kitchen door, pullin' the kids in every night and get our dinner. There was Pop too, and Sis, the red beaux, and the old mare which we used to ride back the lane.

Sure, we dreamed all about those things, for after all they were what we were fightin' for.

Where did I get it? Oh, we were crunchin' the Jerries river at Italy and my buddy and I were part of a mortar detachment. We had just got set to fire off several rounds when Jerry got our range. He dropped a heavy shell square in our position. I got my leg badly mangled but my buddy got it in the stomach.

Sure, the stretchers caught up with us and did a swell job too. But there were a lot of casualties that day. I got fixed up—but my buddy—well he won't come back. It's too bad, Bill was a regular guy.

How bad was he hit? Well, he was seriously wounded, but he might have come back.

How? Well, mister if you don't mind, I'm lazy talkin'. It was like this. Those stretcher fellows had attended to a lot of guys who were hit before they reached our foxhole. By this time they fixed me up well they were out of one of the most precious things a wounded man gets in battle—morphine. Yeah, you guessed it. Bill would be here today if the medicine had had four or five more plasmas to give him. But they hadn't.

Just a minute mister, don't go. There's somethin' else I would like to say. The folks back home here and especially in Bellville have done and are doing a swell job in standing behind us over there, but what's wrong with 'em as far as giving blood is concerned? I went to the Blood Clinic at the other day and there were a lot of service boys and folks from the country there, but very few from Bellville. I was showed up. That just don't look good after the fine job they have done in other phases of the war effort.

You five here, mister? Well, tell your city buddies that we're dependin' on 'em to help us out in the Blood Clinic. It don't hurt, and what's a few drops of blood to folks who never heard the roar of a rocket, the whine of a screaming shell, or the rattle of heavy machine guns. The only roar of a plane they've heard is from trainers.

No, don't get sore, mister. Jim Bellville talks rough but he's a regular guy. I'll help all right myself or even a hurt puppy. It's the same thing; only it's their own flesh and blood they might be saving. Hell ves, chum, that the boy over there is one of them, and needs a lot more to need a helluva lot more, before asking them for a little help. Well, Tell 'em to go down on Thursday night to the Clinic here.

Seventeen Belleville and District Veterans Arrived in Kingston, Fri.

Seventeen Belleville and Bellville district veterans of the many fighting fronts overseas were included in the list of Canadian army personnel who arrived in Kingston from overseas on Friday. The group included Lieut. Ross Irvine, who was in the second quota of rotation leave from the European theatre and the United Kingdom, "muddy, walking" ones, trimwood personnel and soldiers returning for medical disposal.

Returning for duty in Canada were Sgt. F. E. Delyea of Bancroft; Sgt. J. A. Smith of Frankford (Grwsund); Pte. A. W. Sharpe of Brighton, and Pte. R. A. Wickett of Foxboro.

Pte. Wickett is still only 16 years of age, having enlisted when only 14 with the Royal Canadian Artillery. After training at Petawawa and Hamilton he saw service in England and had been in France for one month before being wounded and was layered by army officers.

Arriving home on rotation leave were L/Sgt. H. W. Brookes, R. R. 3, Stirling; Gnr. W. G. Cook, 21 St. Paul; Sgt. R. M. Dafoe, R.S.M. 32 Duffy, Victoria Ave., Belleville; Sgt. A. Hess, Brimley, Bloomfield; Rfmn. M. W. Johnston, 13 South Front Street, Belleville; Cpl. C. Latta, 8 Brasser Street, Belleville; Pte. R. E. Martin, 10 Amable; and L/Sgt. J. W. Laird, Dundas Street, Belleville.

Medical walking cases returning were Pte. F. W. Bird, Trenton; Cpl. Ross Irvine, 32 Bridge Street East, Belleville; Rfmn. A. J. Carrol, St. Ola, and Pte. R. Chouinard, Trenton.

Fuel Dealers Have Plenty Of Troubles

While there is no serious shortage of fuel in the city, local deliveries are providing a problem to local coal dealers.

Delays in getting cars and trucks and consistent demande for fuel from all parts of the city have resulted in many head-scratching sessions on the part of local supply men here.

Deliveries from supply sources are trickling into the city with some difficulty, retailers said, and dealers and others another week. Some small cars arrived at intermittent periods.

However, there is a plentiful supply of soft coal here and there isn't much danger of any one suffering unduly dealers state.

Orders have been pouring in to dealers' offices where these gentlemen and their staffs are being kept busy, keeping customers satisfied.

Conditions of city streets since the mild thaw and subsequent cold weather, plus the fact that some of the heavy have been sick, and with vehicular breakdowns thrown in for good measure have provided a number of headaches for worried dealers.

Memorial Service For Cpl. G. A. Soule

"If we hope to see the sort of world that will be safe for our children we must not forget those of those who have died in this ghastly war," the Rev. Canon Bedford-Jones stated Rev. H. C. Eastman during the memorial service held in Trinity Anglican Ave. Baptist Church Sunday morning in honor of Opl. Garnet A. Soule, who was killed in action on action January 30th.

Opl. Soule, who was only one of our debts is to render all our Christian Virtues, love and tenderness to the bereaved, who have lost husband, father and friend. He further stated Rev. H. C. Eastman during the service held in Trinity Anglican Ave. Baptist Church Sunday morning in honor of Opl. Garnet A. Soule, who was killed in action on action January 30th.

Police Blotter

Kingston police reported the theft of a 1935 Ford sedan over the weekend. The theft occurred between 11 p.m. Saturday (1943) when taken. The car is the property of Kenneth Kennedy of that city.

While patrolling the downtown area of Belleville at 10:30 o'clock this evening P.C. Doherty observed a car parked on Front Street, in a strange manner. Closer scrutiny revealed that Gordon Lewis was in possession of a quantity of what police say is "home made whiskey." Three young men, James Holmes, Wallace Malloy and Donald Markham, were also found in the car and charged under the Liquor Control Act, appeared before Magistrate Ponton this morning.

Several other interlaces ran into the children's line and a number were arrested on drunk charges Saturday night. All were released to appear in police magistrate's court on Tuesday.

The War Today— U.S. Landing on Midget Island Of Iwo is Big Scale Operation

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

Americans Marines finally have given us the denouement of the 70-odd day bombardment of Iwo Jima by fighting chiefly on the ground this little island, which lies only 700 miles from Tokyo and supplying no fierce combat with a strong garrison of Japanese who think may total 10,000 men or more.

Two Jima—Jima means island—is tiny spot in the Pacific but strategically it's a mighty stem, as it is a peak-for for an air force on the Midako's front door. Its capture will represent a major step toward the invasion of the Japanese mainland. Thus, the battle for this mutton-leg island, which is about eight square miles of volcanic formation, is one of the highly important operations of the whole Pacific war.

The amphibious invasion is a big scale operation, despite the midget size of the island, and is on the great strength of the Japanese garrison and the defenses there.

The capture of Iwo Jima will serve a double purpose both of festive and defensive. The threat posed by Iwo-based planes will be eliminated and American forces will be so close to the Japanese mainland that they not only can use superfortresses but for the first time will be able to employ land-based light bombers and fighters.

In short, this operation and the reclamation of Luzon in the Philippines are the two big steps in the air and naval blockade that it will be a gavrol around Tokyo's neck.

Gilbert Loveless, Garth Sharpe Held for Robbery

Charged with robbery with violence, Gilbert Loveless and Garth Sharpe, both of Belleville, are being held in custody by local police authorities today. Loveless and Sharpe will face the above charges as a sequel to an alleged attack on Ivan Scott, also of Belleville, who reported to police he had been struck and relieved of approximately $80 last Friday night.

Following extensive investigations on Saturday P. C. Doherty arrested Loveless on Front Street, while on Sunday Inspector J. C. Hayes arrested Sharpe as an alleged accomplice. Both are being held in custody on robbery with violence charges, bail having been refused. They will appear in police court Tuesday, Chief Probert announced at noon.

The bicycle arrived at the police station late Friday night complaining that the bike and two men in a local downtown restaurant following which he was unable to remember exactly what had occurred. Examinations revealed that Scott had a large bruise on his head and he was immediately taken to the hospital for medical treatment. Later he informed police he had received about two hundred dollars denomination and was relieved of approximately $80 when he reported the matter to police.

Fourteen Meet Violent Deaths During Weekend

Seven Die In Fires That Caused Damage Estimated at $1,250,000

(By The Canadian Press)

Fourteen persons met violent deaths, seven in fires that caused damage estimated at more than $1,250,000, and three others were reported missing throughout the Dominion during the weekend. Five of the lives claimed by the fires were children.

Two persons were drowned, three are missing and six others were injured yesterday after the 27-foot Indian dugout in which they were traveling from Squamish, B.C., to Capilano, six miles north, overturned in Howe Sound. Names of the occupants of the boat were not learned immediately, although all were rescued save one woman.

A $1,000,000 fire gutted an entire block on the main thoroughfare at Chatham, Ont., destroying five stores and two apartments and depriving about 75 persons of property. No casualties were reported.

At Windsor, Ont., four small Negro children died last night in a fire which destroyed the family home. Parents were kept at a distance by flames raging through the building. They were Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Jones, 37, and their children, Clayton Basil, Banks, 16 months, daughters Ann Marie, 4 years, and Mary Ellen Ann Banks, daughter of Evelyn Banks.

Burned in Home.

Nine-year-old Jack Graham died in a fire which destroyed the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. George Graham, five miles from Hornby, Sask. Nine other children, alone in the house when the blaze started, escaped. Trapped into the 30-below zero weather, three of them under 10 years old were injured, two burned to death and another severely burned. Mrs. Jarrett Ont., was removed to hospital in serious condition following a blaze which destroyed her home at Bay Lake, Kay House hotel block at North Bay was destroyed.

Besides the hotel, six business establishments were destroyed.

At St. Catharines, Ont., Ernest Peters, about 45, died last night en route to hospital of burns suffered in a fire at his home when an oil stove exploded.

At Toronto, five children and six adults were forced from their home when flames caused an estimated $7,500 damage in a two-storey brick building. Laura Vinnicombe, 34, was credited with rescuing two 5-year-old children from the burning residents.

Fire early this yesterday destroyed a large section of the "Commercial Centre" at Lac La Ronge, Sask., according to a message from Lac La Ronge Indian Agency. No one was injured.

At Lachenaill, Que., firemen from Longueuil, Montreal, and Montreal-Nord were called to fight a blaze that destroyed the administration offices of the Canadian Car camp there.

Rescue Five Children.

Firemen at London, Ont., rescued five small children and five other persons escaped when fire destroyed their home at 1438 Waterloo Street. Damage was estimated at $5,000.

At Hull, Que., damage estimated at $100,000 was caused and 12 persons were left homeless when a two-alarm fire swept a main street business section Saturday night.

In Toronto, William Howlett, 51-year-old war worker was killed by an automobile Saturday while crossing the road, and John Higgins, 64, died in hospital early yesterday a few hours after accidentally swallowing a quantity of poison.

Mrs. Alfred Giroux of Quebec City, died en route to hospital early today night after neighbors investigated a disturbance in her house found her covered with blood on the floor of her kitchen. Remi Giroux, her husband, is being held by police as a material witness for the Deputy Coroner's inquest.

LAC. Noah Anthony Timmins, 20 year old son of Hon. Jack Timmins, Jr., Montreal mining financier, was killed Saturday when his training plane crashed at Mountain View, west of Ottawa.

At Sydney River, N.S., Mrs. Murray Ball, 65, of nearby Westmount, was killed and her son was seriously injured when a Canadian National Railways work train collided with their car late Saturday night. The injured included Abie Cassidy, 17, Sydney River, French Canadian amateur boxing champion. His condition was described as critical.

Living Accommodation Urgently Needed by Air Force Young Couples

A most urgent appeal from the North Vennie Rooms Registry for Belleville householders to rent vacant rooms in their homes to Air Force personnel and their wives was issued this morning as registry officials were at loss to know where to provide accommodation for the many Air Force officers recently stationed either in Trenton or Picton Ontario View.

According to officials of the local Rooms Registry the demand for housing accommodation in Belleville was never so great as is is at the present time. Air Force officers, many of them returned from overseas after completing their tour of operations, are being posted to the local stations and are bringing their wives and expecting to live in Belleville.

The urgency accommodation was provided for many wives of service personnel arriving in the city over the weekend, but officials in the Rooms Registry indicated permanent accommodation could not be immediately provided. Where to find the accommodation was the pressing problem.

Canadians Eat Well on German Chickens, Geese

By NED NORDNESS

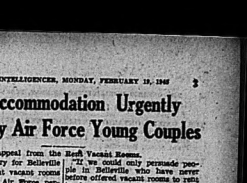
With canadian and British Troops in Germany, Feb. 19 (AP)—Allied troops advancing in this country-side in Field Marshal Montgomery's northern offensive between the Rhine and Maas Rivers are living off the fat of the land—German fat.

There is a chicken or a goose in nearly every pot that sets over the little front-door charcoal burners at night, and those who don't have a plump fowl probably are broiling steaks or roasts.

The German farmers lived well, as contrasted to the Dutch on the other side of the border. There was a wealth of foodstuffs on both sides and an absolute lack of it on the other.

The Germans were pushed back so fiercely they had no time to take the livestock with them. Most of make off with canned goods.

"Cripes," said Sgt. Paul Goyer of Montreal, "you ought to see the size some of these backwoods guys when they get fattened up through the fall days of this battle.



"No help me, you'd see guys plus a German, reach for a chicken, twist the head and knock off another Heinie all in one motion."

Huge stores of liquor have been captured, too, but much of it was looted by the Germans from Holland, Belgium and France. Booze, too, are well furnished.

"That's loot," said Tpr. George Bisset, Verdun, Que. "See that bottle-shaped thing over there? Well, it had a plano, two cases of liquor and some bread, cups, razor-cover furniture. They are litter of covers delivered from the homes of occupants.

It is true that excellent furniture, and that is doubtless why so many every home. There are leather chairs for the poorest family, and the rest of Europe clogs along in wooden shoes.

The civilians smile and protest they are innocent of nazism. All Germans, they say, they have been waiting for "liberation." But both Canadian and British troops and Hitler's pictures hastily tucked away.

Warning to Japan

A few days ago it was the landing on Luson, then it was Manila, from which Japan heard bad news and now it is Corregidor, the rocky island in Manila Bay, which is in American hands.

The Allied advance against the Japanese has been steady step by step and it is now speeding up. Strategic centres of the Japanese homeland have been visited by Flying Fortresses with increasing tempo and all the news of the American attacks have brought good tidings to Washington and the United States and the other Allied capitals and peoples and grim warnings to the Japanese aggressors.

With the great war in Europe requiring so great attention what has been achieved against Japan is one of the marvels of the fine patience, tact and productiveness of the United Nations, the fine sense of understanding and co-operation which keeps the two wars moving towards their end, that in Germany on a very fast rate and Japan's to follow shortly after the main criminal government falls.

60,000 Tons on Berlin

The Air Ministry announced the past week 60,000 tons of bombs had been dropped on Berlin since the war began. Of this total the U.S.A.A.F. has dropped 15,000 tons. The 45,000 tons which is the share of the R.A.F. and Dominion Air Forces is much more than generally realized, and reveals the importance of the almost nightly Mosquito raids and the occasional attacks by small forces of Lancasters.

The great R.A.F. raids on Berlin began in November, 1943. There were twenty-two of them, and when they ended in March, 1944, Berlin had been at the receiving end of 33,000 tons. Since then there have been no major raids on the German capital by Bomber Command. The city was turned over to the Mosquitos and small night raid forces. On no one night since March last year has Berlin had more than 500 tons dropped on it. On most nights it has been under a hundred tons. These small raids, however, have been so regular and persistent that in eleven months they have added 12,000 tons to the 33,000. The Nazis like to call them "Nuisance Raids." The total tonnage dropped on Berlin during eleven months of the 1939-40 blitz was only 7,500 tons, and no one who was there brushed that off as a nuisance.

One word of warning about these figures. It would be a mistake to attempt a comparison between the American and the British totals. Except for the recent great raid on Berlin, communications this month, most American attacks on the capital have been aimed at special key targets in the suburbs, bail bearing factories and aircraft plants. These were not targets that demanded great tonnage, but their destruction fitted in with the joint Anglo-American air strategy just as closely as the great mass raids of the R.A.F.

In Lent

A large part of the Christian world is now observing the season of Lent, that period of the year which prepares it for the great Christian festival of Easter. Fittingly it is in the winter season when there is more inclination to meditation and study and also more time for meditation than there is in any other part of the year.

In the modern world of speed and industry there is felt the need for this time of quiet moments and meditation, the taking of time to pause which is productive of strength as, so many have discovered to their happiness in directing their minds on the great issues of life.

The world in which we live is one of restless movement with its myriads of thrills and it is also a world in which noise is prominent and for these the season of Lent can offer a soothing and a staying influence.

The season is more and more occupying the minds of many people.

New Synthetic Building Material

A new synthetic building material which combines the properties of concrete and wood has been evolved in Britain.

It is made by mixing sawdust with concrete. Hitherto no way of "marrying" sawdust to concrete has been found—but British scientists have discovered a chemical process which successfully blends them.

The new wood-concrete can be produced in bricks or panels of any shape or size. It is especially suitable for interior partitioning, since it can be sawn, drilled or nailed, exactly like wood.

Unlike wood it does not warp, takes a high glass and can be stained any color.

The Good Wife

(New York Herald Tribune)

There are various desirable virtues in wives, and those cherished in one country do not always find favor in another. In America a girl who wanted to marry an army officer would not think of learning to make shoes as a preparation for wedded bliss, while in China she would be well advised to do so.

Leather shoes are scarce in China and priced beyond the incomes of all but the highest army officers. A colonel or a one-star general, however, can afford cloth shoes, especially if they are made by his wife. A good pair of cloth shoes will last a week or two, which gives the wife plenty of time to make a replacement.

Because of their many incomes, it is difficult for Chinese army officers, which makes the shoe problem more troublesome. Another type of dashing an officer is the fathers of eligible girls are not likely to encourage him. One father in Yunnan province, for instance, publicly that no one could marry his daughter who could not show a check for a half-million dollars, equivalent in purchasing power to approximately $1,000 United States.

As a result, the girl became known at the headquarters of the Chinese Expeditionary Force as "Miss Five Hundred Thousand." There are not many Chinese officers who could produce that sum, even to marry the liveliest girl — and the best shoemaker — in the world.

One Lump, Or One Half?

(Christian Science Monitor)

The restaurant that wishes to display a sign requesting customers to use less sugar and stir harder — "we don't mind the stir" — probably will hang out two signs now. Or as Spenser might have put it, more or less elegantly:

Sweet is the rose, but grows upon a briar;
Sweet is the juniper, but sharp his bough;
Sweet is the eglantine, but pricketh near;
Sweet is the freshbloom, but his branches rough
And sweet is prayer, but there ain't enough.

At such a time it is a comfort to reflect that sugar is one of the things that other people can do quite well without. Even you yourself are getting along with no more than at present. And as Milton reminded us, you can have too much of a sugary thing. He once wrote gloomily of "a wilderness of sweets." But that was in "Paradise Lost." In "Paradise Regained" there is no mention of an OPA.

Planes vs. Battleship?

(Newsweek Magazine)

The Navy has officially chalked up another trophy for air power. It has credited to planes alone the sinking of the modern Jap battleship Mussashi, comparable to the U.S.S. Iowa in size, armor and equipment, including anti-aircraft defences. The Prince of Wales, sunk off Malaya in 1941, lacked modern anti-aircraft defence, and the Tirpitz was caught where it could not manoeuvre. Thus ends another round in the long argument over planes vs. ships.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

(Copyright, 1944, Edgar A. Guest)

TIME

When I was young and healthy
I thought I'd time enough,
For who has youth is wealthy,
But time is slippery stuff.
Life sand, it slips the fingers,
And hold it as one can;
No second of it lingers
To suit the whims of man.

From joy to joy I hasted
Nor stopped to count the cost,
But oh, the hours I wasted,
And oh, the days I lost!
Now this unto my sorrow
I've learned as all will learn,
Time's stuff no man can borrow
And by and by return.
The days to hoard were not meant;
From east to west the sun
Is every man's allotment:
No more to any one!
And none may snatch or steal it
Or seize his brother's share,
Like money, to conceal it
And boast the fortune, fair.

In spite of prayer or pleading
The hour hand moves along,
No slowing down or speeding
For what seems right or wrong.
Though youth may think these's plenty
And that for sport Time was meant,
He'll learn, when three times twenty,
How soon the days are spent.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BY-GONE YEARS.

20 YEARS AGO

FEBRUARY 19, 1925

Inspector T. D. Ruston was in Toronto today attending an executive meeting of the Children's Aid Society of Canada.

At the Turnbull Street skating rink National Castings 4 defeated the Boosters three to zero and the Wolves of the North defeated the Tigers four to zero. "Good-looking" was the verdict of everyone, says the sports writer of that day, adding: "Ken Codling, who handled the bell last night was very satisfactory to the players of the four teams."

J. Marmora resident, Sanford Lawrence, has bagged five wolves, two foxes and a fisher in a week. Four of the wolves were shot as they were pursued on the ice across a lake. They were close up on the deer yarding, when they brought down. The fifth wolf was caught in a trap.

Mayor W. J. Nicholls has received acknowledgments from the mayors of the towns of Belleville, Kansas, and Belleville, Pennsylvania, of his message of sympathy on behalf of the city on the one hundred years of peace between Canada and the United States.

At Kingston an impressive ceremony took place when "Fred Six" Battery, C.F.A., of that place was presented with the King's Colors by the Veterans' Battery in town. This was of interest to Belleville and district as Major W. R. Riordon, formerly of the 34th. Battery, C.F.A., was the O.C. of the 32nd. The ceremony of presentation was taken by Major Sig Bidwell with whom was associated Dean Reid and Capt. Kidd. Major Riordon replied to the address. The flag is to be taken to England by the 34th. Battery as it goes overseas and will be deposited with the regiment in West-minister Abbey there to remain until the return of the battery to Canada when it will be brought back.

Rinks of Belleville curlers, who were skipped by Dr. C. J. Wallbridge, J. W. Davison and R. A. Backus were defeated here on Wednesday afternoon at Cobourg. In the evening Skips Backus and Davison tied the Cobourg rinks.

Belleville jolly curlers carried off the Ontario Tankard competition by Victorias of Toronto at Peterborough resulting 41 to 37. They had previously beaten the Orientals of Belleville by 31 to 14. In 1914, Belleville women curlers won the Mackendrick Tankard in competition here.

Reverends E. N. Baker of Bridge Street Methodist Church and J. A. McClure of Bridge Street Church, exchanged pulpits on Sunday.

Thomas Walters, merchant tailor, has returned from Florida where he has been visiting his son. He has gone on an orange plantation. He is pleased that the late severe weather had caused so little damage to the peach trees and strawberry plants which are badly frozen. Citrus crops too, were affected. The cold was the severest in fifty years.

Roads are now blocked with sand and so bad that a cutter in which were a man and his wife upset in a pitch hole, said to be five feet or more deep near the University Church. Neither was hurt. A stage and several other vehicles upset in the same hole a few days ago.

Belleville has completed the revision of the Dominion Voters' List for East Hastings. The number of voters were 321 fewer than in 1891 when the last federal revision was held. By-election and the registration of voters in the two years was:

Belleville may expect soon to see the conclusion of negotiations for establishing a large wire manufacturing plant here. One of the principals interested was in town today.

Pupils of Loretto Convent in their annual drive to Trenton were about to return home and had left the depot. The driver had climbed into the van when the horses took away and his wife hailed only after they had got beyond the town limits. Two children scrambled out without injury and were all unhurt. They continued on their way to Belleville.

Pyle—
Columnist Worked Harder During His Vacation Than at the Front

EDITOR'S NOTE: Ernie Pyle day, he had the one magnificent privilege of being away from the war, but aside from that I've had more fun. I've worked hard. Being at home on "vacation" than most of the time I've been overseas.

Normal life for me has disappeared. The bulk of my time is now given to other people. It's almost impossible to count on a single uninterrupted hour. To get half a day uninterrupted with my own family I have to plan it days ahead and then bar the gates.

If the intruders were bores or publicity-seekers, then I could be tough. But the pressure upon me is not from bores or publicity-seekers, but from the curious.

Ninety per cent of the people who phone, write, visit or stop me in public places have legitimate reasons. Nothing do. They are people who have done kind things for me, or they are people who just want to call me, in complete sincerity, their friend. I've done a good job—and a fellow never gets tired of hearing that.

They are people who have always been overseas; they are people who write to tell me their sons are dead; they are people who want help in getting home from the end of the war; people who have a grudge to air; people who are war that has grown up around me.

Yet, by per sent or the destruction of my time, I'm getting a sweetness and sincerity in people, and from the sweetness flows that have become as much a part of my life as the war itself.

I have never aspired to be famous. If I had, then I could say to myself "All right, you've made your own bed, so now lie in it."

But the thing that happened to me in the early days of my reputation. I guess it comes in the category of "Act of God, the a blessed or slipping of the pearl."

You have to adjust yourself to this new condition, or else you're lost. You can't, that is, have it ignore it, you can't run away from it. You can't escape it. I do accept it as gracefully as I can, but I feel mad about it.

I feel sad because it has given me the joy of living, and it has torn me away from precious little things. I feel guilty, too, because, yet, dread to hear the telephone ring. It has brought me a measure of renown, yet when I'm in a hotel or in a restaurant because people whisper and point I feel terribly self-conscious.

It has put my book at the top of the best-seller list, but robbed me of the time to read other people's books.

It has put me on easy terms with the great, but robbed me of the privilege of sitting alone with my old friends.

It has made my homely face familiar throughout the land, but taken away that saving gift of serenity and the right to say, "My life now, day and night, is my own." There is no mental leisure in it; never the feeling that I can let down my mind go blank.

I like people. I always have and I still do. And so it hurts me to have to shut my phone calls in a hotel. It hurts me to refuse to see a visitor. It hurts to tell old friends that I can't see them day—maybe tomorrow. It hurts to have to hide and be a little criminal to get just an hour or two to myself.

But that's the way it is. I don't resent it, and I don't blame anybody. I read, and I think, the symptoms of such a great portion of America. I try to take the bad with the things with the good, and get along the best I can.

Sometimes I feel like sitting down and crying because my old life is gone. I feel as if I can't go back to it, that I'm finished. But I'm not finished. I'm still a writer, and I'm still determined to get just an hour or two to myself.

But that's the way it is. I don't resent it, and I don't blame anybody. I read, and I think, the symptoms of such a great portion of America. I try to take the bad with the things with the good, and get along the best I can.

Some of you sublime readers who've hung on faithfully to this column for years, might like to know how some of the characters in its fairs are getting along, since I've been away from the front. Here's a line on my sleeve.

Jack Mills, dear boy for instance —"Cheetah." When I got home and was in the midst, of a romantic whirl with the Hollywood glamour gals whom I'd never met hanging around outside the hotel, Jack's wife phoned.

But the romantic bubbles have passed, and our friendship as quiet and lazy as an old woman. The nerve barks, never makes any trouble, but it's there. Jack is the most gracious of all dog gifts—affection that is never demanding. Everybody is earning her way into Dog Heaven by proper deeds and conduct.

PERSONAL HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

NOTABLE ADVANCE IN SANITATION

Amendments of the New York State sanitary code became effective Jan. 1, 45, making the "quarantine", or isolation restrictions in scarlet fever the same as in septic sore throat, as it has been recognized for the past 20 years that scarlet fever and septic sore throat are caused by the same germ or by strains of the Streptococcus hemolyticus—Immediate benefits to public means disliveing or breaking up of destroying red blood corpuscles.

This Streptococcus hemolyticus is a wicked, versatile germ, groups or strains of which may cause septic sore throat or scarlet fever; other groups may cause erysipelas; and complications such as acute inflammation or abscess in the middle ear, acute mastoiditis, endocarditis (inflammation of heart lining), arthritis, peritonitis, pneumonia.

The New York sanitary regulation stipulates that streptococcic sore throats are to be isolated "until the abnormal membranes of throat and throat appear normal and all abnormal discharges from nose, throat, ears or suppurating wounds (lymph nodes) have ceased" and isolation in case of septic sore throat not less than seven days and not more than ninety days. Release from isolation depends on a negative throat culture and clinical recovery.

Provided that nothing is said about the rash. Too much information has been given the rash of scarlet fever and measles. The rash of scarlet fever is of no significance whether there is a rash or whether there is none in a day or two or whether peeling of skin follows or not. There is little if any evidence that scarlet fever or that matter measles is or can be spread through contact with the rash or the skin desquamation (peeling) that follows such rashes. Both scarlet fever and measles are spread through the discharges or secretions from nose and throat, or from suppurating lymph node or middle ear or other surgical or complication of the acute illness.

Either scarlet fever or septic sore throat may be spread through contact contaminated by a person who has the disease or is coming down with it or has not yet made a complete recovery from the disease or from the septic or scarlet fever.

Scarlet fever or septic sore throat may be spread from person to person via the invisible fine droplets of spray emitted from nose and mouth when a person coughs, sneezes or talks—In quiet conversation this spray carries about 2 1-2 feet, seldom over their five feet. Of course in any circumstances a sufficiently close proximity such infection. Finally, some outbreaks of scarlet fever and septic sore throat have been traced to cows in a dairy herd, cows having disease of the udder caused by Streptococcic hemolyticus. Pasturization of the milk prety certainly prevents infection from such a source. Pasturization is a partboiling, heating the milk to 145 or 160 degrees F. and holding at that temperature for thirty minutes, then letting it cool again. If pasturization is not possible, then bringing the milk to a boil for one minute makes it perfectly safe for infant or adult.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Spanking of Boners

If a Gentile girl and Jewish boy unite in marriage will their children have the appearance of some composite of the two sides? This boy does not seem to have the characteristics of either side.—Miss R.

Answer—Irrespective of religious beliefs of the parents, children are likely to resemble one or both.

Spanking of Boners

Your comment on bacon along with my breakfast coffee, as your sense of humor starts the day perfectly. Congratulations, Doctor—it takes a real mental intelligence to appreciate he has "pulled a boner". Most of us do every day.—Mrs. J. Mrs. F.

Answer—Thank you. Acknowledging the more flagrant boners from time to time is a great face and helps cover up a good many smaller ones.

Potatoes Not Fattening

Are potatoes fattening? Necessary to maintain good health? Husband has gained since potatoes once a year at least. I say they are starchy and fattening and do not supply anything essential to a well balanced diet.—(Mrs. F. R. H.)

Answer—Your husband is more nearly correct about potatoes. You should have a well balanced diet—everybody needs, must have, a liberal amount of starch daily to maintain good nutrition.

YOU'D BE SURPRISED

By GEORGE W. STIMPSON

I'M FROM MISSOURI

For the first time the Show Me State has furnished a Vice President of the United States in Harry S. Truman.

The familiar saying, "I'm from Missouri, you've got to show me" is generally ascribed to Willard D. Vandiver, a Missouri Congressman from 1897 to 1905.

Soon after Vandiver entered Congress the naval affairs committee of which he was a member went to Philadelphia on a junketing trip to the navy yard there.

A Mr. Hill, Penny governor of Iowa, was also a member of the naval committee. At a dinner given in his honor by the Governor of Pennsylvania at the Union League club of Philadelphia Governor Hull, who was a prohibitionist praised the Quaker City very highly. Vandiver, a teetotaler himself and not in formal dress, humorously said all the news things he could think of about Philadelphia.

In his speech he made something to this effect: "This story from Missouri you've got to show me."

Whether the expression was original with Vandiver is a matter in question. He himself was inclined to believe that it was. However that may be, he was the means by which the saying became nationwide and even worldwide currency. It was first heard in this country in the campaign of 1912 when Speaker Champ Clark of Missouri was an aspirant for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Soon after, Woodrow Wilson, then governor of New Jersey, was the successful candidate.

Champ Clark, a member of the naval committee, was a frequent visitor to the White House during the stirring days of 1914-17. Sometimes he would be there in 1897. He was of the opinion that a war was coming. He was also sick about the way the United States was drifting.

So what did Aunt Mary do? She took bundled up and walked three-quarters of a mile to the Fosterlis, worked all day and then walked back in the evening through the snow. She sure doesn't take after her nephew.

FILIPINO FIGHTING MEN AT WORK

He has no shoes, no uniform, not very much of anything except his fighting heart and a burning desire to help drive the Japs out. He is doing a mighty job of helping the American Doughboy kick the Japs out of Manila. This Filipino guerilla has no trigger finger, but he has roped it to a fire hydrant. This serves the double purpose of holding the gun steady and providing him with some hazardous cover.

WEDDINGS

LUCAS—GRAY

Marmora.—A quiet wedding took place at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Gray, on Wednesday afternoon, February 14, when their only daughter, Lily, was united in marriage to Fred Lucas, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Lucas. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. M. Cadigan, Miss Elda Gray was bridesmaid and Mr. Everett Gray was groomsman.

GREEN—MURDOCH

A lovely wedding took place last Friday afternoon at four o'clock, at Seymour Street United Church, Oshawa, Ontario, when Miss Jane Allison Murdoch, Reg.N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew R. Murdoch, was united in marriage to Corporal Deane (Bud) Bittner Green, Trenton, Ont., son of Mrs. Estelle Green and the late Cpl. Green, of 2039 Landy's Line, Niagara Falls.

The pale gold graceful ferns and mixed bouquets of stocks, snapdragons and carnations flanked the altar. Rev. D. D. Cornett and Rev. J. S. R. Wilson officiated at the impressive ceremony.

The charming bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin and chantilly made with a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves tapering over her wrists. The bodice was of satin and the long sheer skirt which fell into a slight train, had a deep band of white satin around the bottom. A satin headdress in the Mary Queen of Scots mode held her fingertip veil in place. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls the gift of the groom, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red rosebuds and white sweetpeas.

Miss Helen Murdoch attended her sister as maid of honor. She was gowned in white sheer with which she wore a shoulder-length veil, held in place by a headdress of deep red and fuchsia flowers. She carried cascade bouquet of pastel shaded sweetpeas and pink carnations.

Wearing a frock of white broadcloth sheer, Miss Dorothy Noble of Oshawa, was the bridesmaid. Her gown had red inserts at the sweetheart neckline and her headdress of fuchsia and blue flowers was held in place by a shoulder-length fuchsia veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of pastel shaded sweetpeas and white carnations.

Corporal Jack Carlton, Niagara Falls, was the best man and the ushers were Corporal Orville Neill of Oakville, and Lance Corporal Bruce Murdoch, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Percy Dunbar sang "All Joy Be Thine" and "Thrill". Reginald Geen played the wedding music.

A reception for fifty guests was held at the home of the bride's parents, 27 Warren Avenue, Oshawa. Sweetpeas, carnations, stocks and snapdragons were attractively arranged throughout the reception rooms.

The bride's mother wore a gray ensemble with matching accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds and sweetpeas, and the groom's mother wore a navy blue ensemble with matching accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

A tiered wedding cake centred the bride's table and was flanked by white tapers in silver candelabra and exquisite arrangements of pastel shaded sweetpeas.

A most green dressmaker suit with matching pillbox hat and brown accessories and a mink-toned muskrat coat was worn by the bride for travelling. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

After a week's wedding trip to Boston, Mass., U.S., Mrs. Green will reside in Oshawa and the groom will return to his station at Trenton.

Golf Club Members Enjoy Social Evening

Members of the Belleville Golf Club held an enjoyable social evening on Friday when approximately fifty couple gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard, Bridge Street, East, where an evening of bridge was enjoyed. Mrs. Cleo Colling was the ladies' high prize, while the men's counterpart went to Mr. Clive Ryan. Hidden score prizes were won by Mrs. J. Marsh and Mr. H. Croll. Mrs. C. Ryan won the draw for the lucky score. Prizes were donated by Pauley's Drug Store, Lattimer's, Shaw's Men's Wear, McPee's and Christian Electric.

President Fred Fisher welcomed the guests and prophesied a very successful season for the club during 1941. He indicated that plans were underway for improved playing facilities and with increased membership a successful season would be assured.

Self-Analysis, a Beauty Aid

Irene Dunne is both chic and beautiful.

By HELEN FOLLETT

In the study of pulchritude, it is often the bad example that leads to good results. Contrasts get higher marks. If she sees a woman with face painted to high heaven, eyebrows crayoned to the limit, she is seized with a frenzy to dash home, lickity-split, pell-mell, wash her face and chuck the makeup box out of the window.

It isn't just what a girl does to her face to improve it that counts, but what she should not do to make herself conspicuous.

Eyes and Looks.

One factor toward the cultivation of chic and good looks is the power of observation. Look 'em over, woman, look 'em over! Take note of the lady of fashion. Size up the frump. Observe how your sisters carry themselves, how they walk, how they talk.

By passing judgment on others, a woman develops the gift of self-analysis, learns to size up her good and bad points, finds out if there's anything wrong in the composition that is herself. She must make appraisals, cultivate a sense of values.

Position of Feet.

It is interesting to notice what women do with their feet while sitting in public conversances. Some lose it. Some rest their feet on their sides, making themselves look like yokels. Other feet are spread apart, a habit that is anything but graceful. Then there is the girl in the short skirt who crosses her knees, reveals bare skin above the stocking tops. A black mark for her!

What about the woman with the shrill, rasping voice that puts goosle pimples on your skin? She should be a lesson to any girl who doesn't mind her vocal manners. Shouting and shrilling are just not done by well-bred individuals. A pleasing voice is worth more than the family jewels.

What a joy it is to see a coiffure that is to the queen's taste, soft and fluffy like a crown of down. The scrambled hair-do will throw the prettiest sister out or form.

The Half And Half Frock

World Day of Prayer Observed in Tabernacle Church by Large Group

The World Day of Prayer was observed in the city on Friday in Tabernacle United Church. There were representatives from many of the local churches with an attendance of about two hundred at the service. The program suggested was prepared by a group of four British women who write, "We British Christian women, feel strongly that our Christian living needs overhauling—that something in the nature of spiritual education is essential if we are to take up the task ahead to which are called as a part of the World Church."

The topic for meditation was "The Church Universal," the theme being "That ye should show forth the 'praises of Him who hath called you out of darkness into His marvellous light." Mrs. M. P. Duff of Tabernacle Church presided at the organ.

The program was divided into five parts with the congregation responding throughout the service. The call to prayer under the leadership of Mrs. A. J. William Myers of Tabernacle Church.

Worship—Mrs. H. Mollison of the Salvation Army.

Thanksgiving—Mrs. A. Wallbridge of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church. A solo throughout this portion of the meditation "Gloria Patri" was rendered by Mrs. A. Wynne of Tabernacle Church.

Confession—Mrs. G. Savage of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Intercession for the Church—Mrs. C. V. Freeman, of Alliance Tabernacle; Mrs. J. Grant Sparling of Christ Church and Mrs. S. E. Morton of St. Thomas' Church.

Prayers were offered by Mrs. E. A. J. Wicks, of Grace Chapel, Mrs. E. Hooper, of Bridge Street United Church; Mrs. T. S. Russell; or Emmanuel Reformed Episcopal Church, Mrs. S. A. Spearman, of Wesleyan Methodist Church.

The dedication verses were read by Mrs. L. Reid, of Holloway Street United Church.

A solo was rendered by Mrs. F. Hoard, of Holloway Street United Church, "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer."

The choir was made up of members from the various churches. Mrs. Arthur Wright was pianist. The offering amounted to $25.86. The money shall be sent to the Mission Board and distributed for Missionary work.

The ushers were Mrs. A. E. Berry of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, Miss Ella Worrell, of Emmanuel Reformed Episcopal Church, Miss Margaret Sullivan, of Grace Chapel, and Miss Agnes Wright of Christ Church. Mrs. H. W. Frazis, the key woman for the year from Tabernacle Church, and Mrs. J. Grant of Holloway Street Church, distributed the programs. Mrs. A. J. William Myers of Tabernacle Church, pronounced the benediction.

Holloway Street W.A. Holds Tea

A very pleasant and successful afternoon tea was held at the home of Mrs. A. Lennox on Tuesday afternoon by the ladies of Holloway Street United Church W.A.

The spacious rooms were very inviting with an open fire burning and the tea table looked very well red carnations and snap-dragons and the soft glow of candlelight, with the living room looked gay with bots of daffodils. Mrs. E. Lennox and Mrs. E. Shortis received the ladies and Mrs. M. Denton and Mrs. R. MacMurray invited them into the dining room.

The home made goodies and Mrs. A. Sills poured tea, being relieved later by Mrs. Wicksted and Mrs. W. J. Slavin. The serviteurs were Mrs. Quinsey, Mrs. P. Wilson, Mrs. Bowden, Mrs. V. A. MacMurray, Mrs. Ferguson, Mrs. L. Rock, Mrs. A. C. Farwell, while Mrs. T. Anderson, Mrs. A. E. Downey, Mrs. G. Dobbs, Mrs. Johns and Mrs. J. Corder replenished the tea table.

The home made candy table was supervised by Mrs. A. Hitchon, Mrs. L. Reid, Miss McQuaddon, Mrs. C. Ostrum, Mrs. A. Oliphant and Mrs. F. Scott were treasurers for the afternoon.

PLAINFIELD W.M.S.

World Day of Prayer was held on February 14, at the home of Mrs. N. Wilder, Plainfield, with an attendance of eleven. President Mrs. Fred Hall opened the meeting with prayer and printed programs were used.

Those assisting were Mrs. Clarence Hall, Mrs. Fred Prindle and Rev. G. T. McKenzie.

Mrs. Ralph Wilder led in singing and also favored with a solo, which was much enjoyed.

Mrs. Fred Hall read the leaflet.

The World Day of Prayer was read by Mrs. C. R. Donaldson. Collection amounted to $1.60.

Hospital Auxiliary Plans Fashion Show

Plans for their annual Fashion Show to be held in the Capitol Theatre here on March 8 have been completed, the Hospital Auxiliary was told at the regular monthly meeting. Clothes to be exhibited are by Arbaney's; millinery by Aaron's hats by Miss Campbell; costumes jewelry by McPee and Helena Rubinstein cosmetics by McKeowna.

The decoration of the nurses' reception room is nearing completion and the result is very pleasing, the meeting was informed.

Mr. Gordon Barclay, hospital administrator, spoke briefly on the progress of the tray morgue which the auxiliary is purchasing. Two new members were welcomed.

The meeting was held at the nurses' residence with President, Mrs. H. Wray, in the chair.

16¢ a Quart IN BUFFALO . . .

IF YOU LIVED in Buffalo or Rochester, you'd pay 16c a quart for milk . . . in New York City, 17c . . . in Albany, Syracuse or Utica, 15c . . . and, of course, it would be the American quart of just 32 ounces. But here in Ontario—for the big, Imperial quart of full 40 ounces—you pay considerably less, due to three important reasons:

1. The general control over prices maintained so efficiently by Canada's Wartime Prices and Trade Board;

BUY WAR SAVINGS STAMPS REGULARLY

2. Careful management of the dairies to keep costs as low as they can be kept at all times.

3. The consumer subsidy of 2c per quart paid by the W.P.T.B. to keep down the cost of living index. The legal price of milk in Ontario today is 2c a quart more than you actually pay.

Even if you were paying the legal price for a quart of milk, it would still be considerably less than is being paid by the consumers across the border.

Frisl top on monotone skirt

By VERA WINSTON

IT LOOKS like success for the dress with print-top and monotone skirt this Spring. Such a frock strikes a nice note for those women who like a touch of print but not too much and who like the figure flattery provided by a dark contrasting skirt. A black tear-drop neck with a pale green ground is used for the pretty top of this frock, with skirt of black crepe. Pleated inserts on shoulders form cap sleeves to further accent the fan-shaped, pleated peplum.

Maurice 'Rocket' Richard Sets N.H.L. Scoring Record By His 44th Tally in Toronto

Canadiens Defeat Toronto 6-4 on Saturday and Tie With Hawks Sunday

By EDDIE LEE
(CP Staff Writer)

Maurice (Rocket) Richard, speedy right winger of Montreal Canadiens, today is the brightest star in the National Hockey League and did not yet quite used to the position.

"It was just another goal," he said of the goal he scored Saturday, helping Montreal Canadiens defeat Toronto Maple Leafs 6-4 at Toronto, "I just wanted to see to win."

But the Habitant Hurricane was not slightly. It wasn't just another goal. It was the 44th goal he scored in 46 games this season and set a modern NHL scoring mark. It also was the first goal he scored on Leafs this season and won Montreal's first victory at Toronto this year.

Richard said he feels it is "a great honor for Montreal" for a French Canadian to hold the record.

"It was the first time I had been able to skate at Toronto," he said. "I had trouble trying to warm up and win the game."

For 56 minutes of the game, while Elmer Lach, Fernand Gauthier and Glen Harmon scored for Montreal and Nick Metz, Mel Hill and Gus Jackson counted for Toronto, Richard like like just another hockey player. He said he was having trouble "getting away from" Bob Davidson and Metz, his checkers, but time he got near the puck he was smothered by a bevy of Leafs.

Then he accepted a pass from Lach in the entire zone and in the time the usual flock of Leafs converged where he should have been, Richard was watching the puck intricate past Leaf goalie Frank McCool.

Net Goal at Change

The 24-year-old forward was unable to untrack himself Sunday night when the lowly Chicago Black Hawks held the league leaders to a scoreless tie.

Leafs were no more fortunate Sunday than they had been Saturday, dropping their seventh game of the season to Detroit Red Wings, a 6-1 setback that virtually assured second place in the standings for the Wings.

Carl Liscombe and Joe Carveth registered for Detroit in the opening inning and Murray Armstrong made it 3-0 early in the second.

Carveth added another early in the third and Ted Lindsay and Sid Brimsek got the others. Pete Blake scored the lone Toronto tally.

Boston Bruins and New York Rangers also won and lost in a weekend twin bill with Rangers losing at Boston Saturday 6-1 and edging Bruins Sunday at New York 3-1.

Dit Clapper collected three goals sending Boston Bruins into first place Saturday night, Frank Mario, Bill Cowley and Herb Cain contributing the others. Bill Moe scored for Rangers.

Ranger hopes of catching Boston in the league race were given a boost by the Sunday victory. Young Jack Mann and Ken Watson scored the goals, both of which came in the second period. Chief Rookie saved Bruins from a shut-out by a goal mid-way through the final session.

Sports Roundup

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—Probably nothing in sport is more easily understood than a punch in the nose and few things are much harder to understand than the various ways in which boxing is governed....This observation is prompted by a letter from a Florida scribe who is interested in having a state boxing law passed there. "Just something setting up a commission and I'm sure we'll get the bums"....It seems that Florida law prohibits "prize fights and pugilistic exhibitions" but is amended to permit "boxing exhibitions" under the auspices of the American Legion and certain other organizations.

Variety Show.

Although state commissions rule boxing in most states and their rules are fairly uniform there are some notable exceptions....Ohio, one of the more important boxing states, puts control in the hands of city boxing commissions....Kentucky is one of several states that prohibits prize fighting, "call it what you shall," but has a commission to exercise control over boxing exhibitions.

Toronto, Feb. 19 — (CP)—Wednesday night's Ice League basketball hockey game at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens should develop into something out of the ordinary if some of the plans suggested are carried out by Lieut. (Padre) Theological — combinations. To be refereed in part (for the benefit of the Queen City's hockey fans — and the Navy League — is the old Montreal Maroon-Toronto-Maple Leaf rivalry.

Tommy Gorman and Lionel Conacher will be directing the old Red Panthers from the bench, while Happy Day will direct the veteran Leafs. Maroons will boast Mervin (Red) Dutton, Hooley Smith, bespectacled Russ Blinco, Marvig Wentworth and the green line, Gracie, Mackier and Gain. Bas (Montreal Star) O'Meara passes along an inside tip that the Leafs will also try and for their old line-up of Bob Cook, Gaul Voss and Paul Runge.

A couple of New York Rangers are entering the battle of the old-timers in the persons of Bryan Hextall and Frank Boucher. Then line up with their old mate Davie Kerr.

Tooting the whistle will be a pair of former NHL referees—mike Rodden (Winston Whip Standard) Rodden and Bobby (Toronto Evening Telegram) Hewitson. Added attraction: the game will be played under the rare rules without the much-debated benefit of the centre-ice red line.

What's Doing in Sport

By The Canadian Press

On the basis of information he had received from David A. Buckley, a New York breeder and owner, Rep. William R. Barry, member of the U. S. Congress from Queens County, New York, Saturday asked for a review of the ban on horse racing by the Stimson Director James Byrnes, Buckley said more than 5,000 war employees could be secured from turf jobs and expressed concern over the future of breeding in the States, adding that small breeders were the ones to suffer.

Buckley had suggested the operation of one track for New York City, another for Chicago and single tracks in each of various states including Florida and California, but added if all winter racing was abolished it would not be badly missed.

For the second successive time, a winter golf tourney resulted in a deadlock when Byron Nelson of Toledo and Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va., yesterday wound up with 279's in the Gulfport, Miss., $5,000 Open. The pair will engage in an 18-hole playoff today. One year ago Nelson won a playoff from Harold (Jug) McSpaden after they had tied in the New Orleans Open.

The Eastern United States Hockey League yesterday announced with hockey minus the blue lines in a scheduled game at Madison Square Garden when New York Rovers trounced Philadelphia Falcons 13-4 before a crowd of 11,340 enthused fans.

A former track star of Duke University, Don Kimble of the R.C.A.F. Saturday night was the winner of the 50-yard high hurdles in 7.7 seconds at the annual games of the New York A. C. at Madison Square Garden.

HAMILTONMAJORS DEFEAT SAINTS BY 4-3 SCORE

Bryan Hextall, Playing for St. Catharines, Unable to Turn Tide

(By The Canadian Press)

Reinforced by Bryan Hextall, former New York Ranger St. Catharines Saints tied to turn Cahadian Soldiers tied to turn home game of the Senior O.H.A. series Saturday night and bowed to the league-leading Hamilton Majors 6-4. The game was tied 1-all early in the third period when the Saints collected on a row by Bellinger and Fritz but the visitors came back quickly with the winning marker on a goal by Robertson. Conick Mason and Shillington scored for Saturday's losers.

The record now shows Hamilton with 34 points on 11 victories and two defeats, one point double the total of the second-place Saints.

In one game of the Junior doubleheader at Toronto Saturday afternoon, Galt Red Wings extinguished Marlboro Aces 6-3. Although the cellar-dwellers gave their opponents an argument, Galt's high scoring once in the first canto. Scoring for Galt were Hall, Pavelich, Mayer, Fogolin and Mosdell, while Aces' Toner got goals were by Cameron and Michaels.

The other half of the twin bill saw Oshawa Generals down a 3-1 defeat to Toronto Young Rangers, the last champions holding a 3-0 lead going into the final session. Syd Smith, Bob Lowe and Metcalf collected counters for Generals while Andy Anderson found the net for Young Rangers.

Corbyville Bows Out of Hockey League Picture

West Huntingdon-Zion Hill "Combines" Win Title In Stirling

Stirling — (Special) — Corbyville bowed out of the Central Hastings Junior hockey league picture Friday night at Stirling when the locals put hard-fought game they dropped a second game of their series with the Zion Hill - West Hunting-don "Combines" by a 4-3 score. The "Combines" are now again declared league champions having won the final series in two straight.

A two-goal advantage gained by Corbyville during the first few minutes of play failed to provide the margin needed for victory and they faded as the game proceeded to fall by the wayside.

Lorne Jarrell counted the first goal of the game on a nice passout from Gray in the Corbyville first lads in the lead and Gray came back with a pass from Thompson to put them two ahead.

The "Combines" fought back hard and before the period had ended Dr. Wright and L. Sills combined to reduce the lead to one. In the second period R. Sills counted for the locals to tie the final contest, R. Sills again bulged the twine in the final stanza that proved to be the final goal of the game and also the winning counter.

Close checking featured the contest and although there were quite few penalties were handed out, Corbyville drew the first in the first period but the "Combines" recovered the odd trip to the cooler in the second, while in the third period L. Sills got his for the winners and Jarrell for Corbyville were benched.

But it Helps!

No, a smile won't fill your stomach, a smile won't keep you warm. A smile won't drive disease away, nor shield you from the storm; a smile won't cure your rheumatic flesh, a smile won't quench your thirst, but a smile will keep rebellion out when things are at their worst.

So, a smile won't win a job for you, a smile won't pay your bills; a smile won't feed your hungry child, a smile won't heal world ills; a smile won't bring the sun or rain, a smile won't start shop wheels — but a smile, when you're down, makes one big change in the way a fellow feels.

Trenton Eliminated.

After losing the first game of their series to Trenton, the Stirling-Marmora "Combines" roared back to win the next two games, and Saturday night forced Stan Jackson's crowd to put their uniforms on in the Hume Arena dressing rooms. The Combines stepped right into Trenton and won 6 to 2 after losing the first game 9 to 1 and taking the second home stand 4 to 4. Now it will be the Combines and the Belleville kids in the "Little Six" finals that open at the Trenton Memorial Tuesday night.

At the beginning of the current hockey season this corner suggested that the junior hockey clubs in Quinte district might be well advised to get off to an early start, but not until Trenton and Stirling were tied and a Saturday date had to be played was the matter attempted. Last Saturday night at Trenton the largest crowd of the season was on hand to see the Stirling-Marmora crew take home. Maybe another season we'll have a crowd like that for junior O.H.A. games in this district.

Parade Belleville.

Reports from the Stirling-Marmora area indicate there'll be a large delegation of Combine supporters at Hume Arena Tuesday night for that important first game of the "Little Six" finals. President Hermiston of the Combines phoned to Walt Gerow today and ordered a complete section of the Belleville Arena to be reserved for the Combine supporters.

Coach Tools Hickey announced today he might use Harry Cook of Albert College, now that Ranee Rush is out for the season following his operation. Boyd has been on the local roster, but was unable to play earlier in the season owing to illness. A former minority star, Boyd has only played two or three games with the Albert College senior Interscholastic squad. Otherwise both teams will be at full strength and with the old-Belleville-Combine rivalry prevalent it looks like a great series of good junior hockey. Bernie Bowen of Trenton and Dutch Cain of Mountain View have been named officials for the first two games.

As for tonight at the Market St. Igloo it will be the Bombers and Fliers in a third meeting which must produce a winner. "There'll be no more tie games. The teams thus be prepared to play through to a decision in all future matches," Fl... Jimmie McCha announced. This series has been productive of some great hockey and contains the largest following of fans in hockey in Belleville since the days of the Petes-Flyers' ice battles of years past.

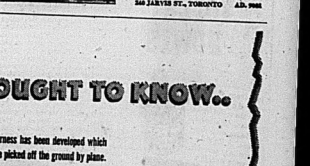
Salmon Sore?

In his New York Times column recently Arthur Daly had an interesting article. In part it went: "There was one welcome John F. Sullivan detected, it was "Jack," ane anyone who addressed the Boston Strong Boy by that name was as likely to get a punch in the jaw as not. Historian Pat Fletcher tells of the time John L. was in a Western town and was met with Jack McAuliffe, the lightweight champion, and Jack (Nonpareil) Dempsey.

At the bar was a drummer, Jim Morgan, a jovial giant with a reputation as a gun-fighter. He slapped John L. on the back and shouted, "Jack, you sure can lick any hombre on earth."

Sullivan glared and moved toward him. The alert stepped between them and in an undertone said, "Listen, big boy, John. He's a good fellow and doesn't mean any harm."

The Boston Strong Boy pushed the lightweight king aside and spoke to Morgan. "Maybe you don't know my name, sir," he bellowed. "So I'll wise you up. I'd as soon have you swing at my jaw as call me Jack. Now, do it again I'll call you Morgue and change your face to mincemeat."



A deathly silence settled over the room and the air was electric with tension. Those were days when men used to shoot for lesser insults than that. But there was something about Sullivan's cold, unswerving eyes that made this gun-fighter hesitate.

Then the silence was broken by John L.'s booming laugh. "Pfil 'em up again," he told the bartender. "Name your poison, gents."

However, it was noted that for the remainder of the evening no one dared address John L. as "Jack."

Remember When.

Toronto's Varsity Grads romped through to the Olympic hockey title at St. Moritz 17 years ago today with a lopsided 16-2 triumph over Switzerland in the final. Hugh J. Plaxton, former member of Parliament and now commanding officer of the Royal Canadian Navy Centre at Kingston, Ont., and Dave Trottier, onetime Montreal Maroons winger, led Canadian mittmen in the tournament.

LESSON NO. 618
By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Every so often bobs up a simple play that is handled in an unusual manner. Take the play that came up in this deal:

NORTH
♠K 3
♥8 5 2
♦A Q 8 4 3
♣7 8 4

WEST	EAST
♠A J 10 9 7 6 2	♠ 8 5
♥K 7	♥Q 10 9 8
♦9 7	♦K J 6 5
♣10 5 2	♣9 7 6 3

SOUTH
♠Q 5 4
♥A J 4 3
♦2 10 2
♣A K Q

South was declarer at a three no-trump contract. West started out with an opening lead of the spade nine. East won the second spade put in that suit.

Stopping to count his chances, south was sure of three top clubs and the heart ace. Four more tricks could be taken by the diamond suit after the king was gone. The ninth trick is in spades.

However, before the diamonds are set up, opponents are likely to take enough spades to kill the contract. To frustrate that, some safety measure must be used in the spade suit.

To set up the diamonds, a finesse is necessary. The opponent who may take a trick in that suit is east. So, east must be prevented from leading spades by that time.

Since west started the spades, more than likely west has the most cards in that suit. Could be that east has only two spades. If so, east will be out of spades after two rounds.

Ordinarily, the dummy king of spades should be played to that first trick. If that wins, declarer will try not to let east get in for a spade lead through the south queen.

But the danger is that east will get in when diamonds are led. So, this declarer refused to take the first spade trick, either with dummy king or the south queen. A daring holdup.

Seeing the lone king in dummy by this time, west led the spade ace and picked it up. He then led another spade and forced south to use up the queen. West hoped to get in again with his heart king.

But when the diamond finesse lost to east, no spades were left in that hand. And any other lead from east was pounced on by south, who was then able to run the tricks he needed.

Although this looks like a simple play, it is indeed unusual. At least, it is seldom handled the way it was here. Or is it.

Petawawa's Camp Entry Wins Trophy

Petawawa, Military Camp, Ont., Feb. 19—(CP)—Sparked by Cadet P. T. Hutchison of Montreal, Petawawa camp's entry in the inter-inter-service winter carnival here rolled up a total of 610 points to win the inter-service challenge trophy.

In second place was the R.C.A.F. unit, 570 points, followed by the Army of Kingston, Ont., with 558 and Royal Canadian Navy of Otawa, with 550.

Trophy and individual prizes were presented to the contestants at a banquet last night with presentations made by Brig. W. C. Thackray, commander of Petawawa camp.

Feature of the weekend of winter sports was the inter-service hockey game played in nearby Pembroke last night in which an R.C.A.F. all-star team from Ottawa defeated Petawawa all-stars 7-6.

Valleyfield Braves Swamp Cornwall

Valleyfield, Que., Feb. 19 — (CP) "The case of the missing gloves almost broke up an Interprovincial League hockey game here yesterday when Valleyfield Braves whipped Cornwall Flyers 18-8.

The gloves were those of Joe Desrochers of Cornwall. When they went to nobody knows, but before they reappeared as mysteriously as they went, the Flyers were ready to call off the fun and $25 had been offered to pay the bans.

It all started mid-way through the third period when Bobby Carcher of Flyers and Roland Boyer of the Braves tangled in a battle which eventually drew them major and misconduct penalties. Desrochers picked up his gloves as the fight started, and when it was over they were no longer on the ice.

The Flyers threatened to walk out if they were not returned. Then Delpha Sarre, Union Canada member of the Quebec Legislature for Beauharnois and Honorary President of the Braves, offered $15 as replacement for the gloves.

Then the gloves came sailing back onto the ice from somewhere in the crowd and Flyers finished out the game.

Windsor, England (CP) — Expenditure of $3,000 on the restorations of Windsor's ancient Guildhall since part of the ceiling of the Corn Exchange below fell in 1939 on. The hall was built in 1702 and it is believed heavy traffic passing on the High street outside has shaken its base.

MAKE CLEAN SWEEP

Montreal, Feb. 19 — (CP)—Shawinigan Falls Cataracts made a clean sweep of their Interprovincial Hockey League weekend home-and-home series with Lachine Rapids yesterday when they pinned a 6-3 setback on the Rapids at suburban Lachine.

The last-place Cataracts won 11-6 at home Saturday night, and came up half a dozen points on the two games, as each was a three-point affair.

CAST ASIDE WEDGE CAPS

Ottawa, Feb. 17 (CP)—R.C.A.F. service police are casting aside their wedge caps and, following the style set by the army provost, will now wear the pre-war round flat hats, an air-force release disclosed yesterday.

Wants Congressional Investigation Into Japanese Activities

Washington, Feb. 19 — (AP) — Senator George A. Wilson (Republican) drafted legislation today calling for a Congressional investigation into Japanese atrocities against war prisoners.

The proposal would set up a three-member Senate military sub-committee empowered to hold hearings on the west coast to get first-hand testimony from liberated prisoners.

Senator Wilson told reporters:

"Congress should have a permanent, continuous record of Japanese behavior toward prisoners-of-war and American civilians the Japs have interned.

"Now, while the memory of the atrocities is fresh in the minds of these people, their stories should be recorded so that no opportunity be raised in the future as to what has occurred.

"We hope the war will end soon. When it is over, Congress will want to have such information in its consideration of the kind of treaty it will demand with Japan — what sort of terms we should grant."

He said similar inquiries might be made later into Germany's treatment of prisoners, but that in view of the fact that so many prisoners from the Japanese recently, "it is imperative that their testimony be taken at once."

Leaders Lengthen Margins in A.H.L.

By The Canadian Press

Divisional leaders lengthened their margins atop the eastern and western sections of the American Hockey League in weekend games, while Indianapolis Capitals finally snapped a losing streak that had almost dumped them out of second place in the western division.

The Caps dropped a 4-2 decision to Cleveland Barons Saturday night to leave them only a point ahead of Pittsburgh Hornets after a week-end of the western section. The Hornets played one game during the weekend, but consolidated their hold on first place in the eastern division nevertheless because the second-place Hershey Bears dropped a 3-0 verdict to St. Louis Flyers Saturday.

The Bears complete a 3-2 tie with Providence Reds Sunday, and the draw added to their win over the latter on Saturday to move them within two games of Hershey.

Victory in Sight, War's Last Round Monty Declares

At 21st Army Group Headquarters, Feb. 18 — (CP) — Field Marshal Montgomery on Sunday told his men of the Canadian and British 2nd Armies "we now have come to the last and final round, and we want and will go in for the knockout blow."

Following is the text of his message:

"The operations of the Allies on all fronts have now brought the German war to its final stage. POSED AS BLIND AIRMAN

London, Feb. 17, (Reuters)—Clive Grunspan, 36, described as a distinguished artist whose pictures had been bought by London's famous Tate Gallery, was sentenced yesterday to six months' hard labor for defrauding the fashionable Savoy and Berkeley hotels of more than $440.

Grunspan posed as a blind R.A.F. group captain.

STIRLING BEATS TRENTON 6-2 IN FINAL GAME

Three Goals in Middle Period Without Reply Helped Winners

Roaring back to win two straight, after losing the initial game of their semi-final "Little Six" hockey series, the Stirling "Combines" won the third and deciding game over Trenton by a 6 to 3 score at Trenton Saturday night, thus eliminating Trenton. Now the "Combines" meet the Belleville Juniors in the "Little Six" Junior O.H.A. group finals with the series opening at the Hume Arena Tuesday night, and the second game at Stirling next Friday.

Boasting of two strong lines the Combines rallied to beat Trenton on Saturday night after Barney Lesperance opened the scoring for the homesters in the first minute of play. From then in the Combines carried the brunt of the play although Trenton stood strong to lead 1-0 at the end of the initial frame. The Combines were rewarded early in the middle stanza, when they rammed home three successive goals without retaliation. Following a penalty Trenton scored the second and final goal in the period, as the Combines added three more in the third while Trenton was held scoreless in the last period. Lesperance headed the homesters followed by Scott and Lashore, while for the Combines McInroy was sensational in goal and was given strong protection by Usman and Lavender. On the forward the Cousins-Trumble-Goodchild line proved little scoring threats while the Stirling-Whitehead line of Stapley, Whitehead and Bastedo was also in on several goals.

Already boasting of two wins over Belleville the Combines will meet the local juniors in the first game of the group finals confident they can continue to dominate the latter over Toots Holway's Belleville Juniors. Cals Carr of Moncrain View and Bennie Bowen of Trenton, have been named the officials for the series.

Out in Central Hastings the supporters point to the fact their "Combines" have already beaten Belleville on two occasions and they are confident they can continue to dominate Toots Holway's specials. Goalie Lorne Sand Shipper Holway alleges the Combines were lucky on both occasions. CHAPTER 80

"It's the easiest job I ever had being Livia's 'Auntie'," she protested. "Oh, and by the way, have you told him about the green car—"

"I haven't shown you the house," Livia interrupted. "We won't be long," said to Mrs. Sayles and she shook her head warningly.

"Yuh," said Bruce, trying an arm around her bedroom, "it's what you want, isn't it?" She nodded.

"Yes. It's what I want. I like comfortable beds and soft sheets." She sat on the yellow coverlet. He sat next to her.

"Or," he said, "Am I spoiling the cover?"

"Sarcasm doesn't suit you," Livia smiled. "I feel so embarrassed about my hair," she said, "Let's go out quickly so I can wear a hat."

"Soon." He kissed her.

"You still love me, don't you?" she said triumphantly. He grinned.

"Come on, let's go before I break down and tell you."

Livia looked up the street just in case the green car was about. But it was not there.

They drove to the drive-in on Sunset Boulevard where Bruce had found the other lovers being separated. Not one of the whitewalls with whom Livia had worked was still there. It was typical of the here-today-gone-tomorrow atmosphere of Hollywood. The manager who had replaced Ted Curtiss was still there. But he did not recognize Livia.

Afterward they went to the movie, and in the dark watching a famous star. It was hard for Livia to realize that soon other men and women would be holding hands in the dark and watching her.

Pordyce returned the next day. He saw Livia's hair and yelled.

"The boss' orders," she told him. Pordyce took her to Dunne's office.

"They've ruined her," he said dramatically. Dunne looked startled. "Her hair was beautiful—"

"Oh, is that all," replied Dunne. "The picture will be postponed until it's back to normal," said Pordyce in a voice dispensing of all arguments.

"But her hair didn't look good with the backgrounds we have," protested Dunne.

"Then change the backgrounds," said Pordyce. "Come on, Livia." He led her to the studio hair stylist.

"Bring it back to normal," he told the man dismally and to Livia, "And stay her until he does."

The hairdresser told her to bend backward into the sink. "The sorrowful color was his favorite hair tint," the orders were orders, and he spent the better part of three hours trying to remove it.

It was better, Livia decided, looking at her hair, than any of the lifesaviness had departed. But it still wasn't the same.

She came back again in the afternoon, and the next day, and the day following, before Pordyce grudgingly agreed that her hair was now golden and not a murky beige.

"Being tough with me, aren't you?" Livia said trying to win him down with a coquettish smile.

"I'll be reviled bluntly, without an answering smile.

She was crossed on every subject under the sun from the Coopers of Iva China to what she thought of Mickey Mouse. Every room of her house was photographed. Every dress that was rich and beautiful and every fur coat owned by the studio appeared on Livia's back, and were returned after the photographs were taken.

She was beginning to feel very important when Pordyce brought a chilly down to earth, At the beginning he had been easy with her. He allowed her to talk to the reporters between "takes," to be most correct her harshly when she spoke the wrong lines, and when at the end of the first day she said she was tired, he merely looked at his watch, exclaimed:

"Seven o'clock already. Let's break."

It was hard work. Every morning the alarm clock screamed at her at 5:30. She downed a cup of coffee and drove her new roadster to the studio, arriving there at 6:15.

There was an hour and a half with the hairdresser. Her skin had to be right and drawn after the session under the lights.

The make-up man was the same Smithy who had made her up for her screen test now nearly two years ago. But how he had changed he was! His job depended on making Livia as nature and art could contrive.

Which lovely high cheek bones," Smithy's assistant was detailed to stand by all day and repowder her nose and re-furbish her lipstick.

There was another girl whose odd job was to follow Livia with a brush and comb and keep every strand of her hair in place. Oh, yes, it was nice to be the star. Still Pordyce let go at the beginning of the second week.

Livia had to be rescued by Bruce from a burning house. This job was too dangerous for the leading lady. Livia's double had to be seen and only the back of the leading man. Bruce doubled for him.

He winked at Livia as he fought through the fire raging behind him, and Livia winked.

"Cut," roared Pordyce. Livia was still smiling at Bruce as Pordyce came up. "Where the hell do you think you are?" he shouted harshly. "Or have you forgotten that we're making a picture?"

"I'm sorry, Mr. Pordyce," she said softly.

"Charles, aren't you taking this too seriously?" Livia said.

"My name is Mr. Pordyce," the director said stonily. Livia's face reddened.

"All right, Mr. Pordyce." She was so angry she could hardly speak.

"Don't give me that tone," said the director. "You may not know it, but I'm taking a hell of a chance on you, and you're not going into this scene with that voice and that look on your face." She bit her lips and flung her head back to hide the tears. "Are you ready?" Pordyce demanded. She nodded. "Then don't look so tragic. You're supposed to be frightened," he said in a milder tone. "All right! Camera! Action!"

The bell rang and the firemen started the fire again.

"We'll print that," said Charles Livia tried to say she was sorry, but he brushed her away, turning quickly to avoid the pleading look in her eyes. He had not meant to be harsh. He looked at Bruce and had annoyed him.

Another week passed, and now it was the beginning of the third week in "Honoria Lewis." His harsh direction of Livia was justified in the projection room.

"Wonderful," agreed the top executives of the company as they left after viewing the first of the small private projection rooms at Metro.

"Yeah, but don't tell her," Pordyce commanded them. "I'm having a tough enough time as it is without her getting a swelled head."

Livia wanted to see the "rushes." But Pordyce refused permission.

"Time enough to know how bad are when the picture is released."

"Why are you so mean to me?" Livia asked, tearfully. He grinned, said, "I'm going to get a good performance out of you if you hate me for the rest of your life." She suddenly realized why he was so cruel, and she laughed.

"I'm an awful fool; I thought you didn't like me." Almost she broke down then—but checked the impulse. Friendship and love could wait until the end of the picture—and that would not be for another nine weeks.

Four weeks passed. . . . The picture was going so well that Pordyce felt it safe to soften his tactics. For two days he was the kind gentle person she had known before her accident, and then Livia's work suddenly deteriorated.

"What's the matter?" asked Dunne angrily in the projection room.

"What's the matter?" Pordyce asked Livia the next day. He refused to let his bullying methods be stronger than before. But it made it worse. "What's the matter?" he yelled at her. She struggled for control. But it was no use. The tears of her weeping startled him.

Terry Davidson was in trouble. He owed money to nearly everyone in town. He always had owed money, but in the last few months much until now. His more optimistic friends never very great, was doing one of the unpredictable Hollywood nosedives. Even his optimistic agent had disappeared.

"It may be some time before I can get you a job," said the agent.

Terry's one source of income now was the Livia picture which he sold in his small and his machinations spread over the Angeles like the fine veins on a leaf. Gambling was the staple diet of his financial well-being.

He won—too small or too big for Al Jonas. The circumspect Jonas studios and their bosses did track business with Al. Some of business was honest. But much of it was not.

Terry Davidson had been a client of Al's ever since the Santa Anita track opened on Christmas Day, 1935. He obeyed the command to come to Al's office on the third floor of the building.

Al was a friendly enough. But the small, bulging eyes were like ice.

"You haven't paid us anything for three months. How come?" he asked. Terry shifted uneasily on the carpet.

"Things haven't been so good with me Al lately, you know that," Terry pleaded. Terry's voice a one higher.

"Things is bad for everybody," said Al pleasantly. And then like the firing of a gun, he ordered: "Empty your pockets!"

"What?"

"Is your hearing bad, too?" Terry looked at the door longingly. But he knew there was no escape. He slowly brought out his wallet and surrendered it.

Al emptied the contents on his desk, and separated a dollar and a half from the few papers and private cards. He looked at the wallet and at the signature—

"Livia Clarkson."

"What goes on here?" he asked Terry.

"Oh, I did something for her, and she paid me—"

"What for instance?"

"None of your business," Terry tried to sound injured. "I don't ask questions about your business, so lay off mine, Al laughed.

"She's Earl Dixon's kid, isn't she?" If there was that, they probably knew the rest, Terry thought, but he bluffed a little longer.

"Who's Earl Dixon?" he asked. Al opened a door.

"Hey, Earl!" he shouted. Into the room staggered Livia's father. From the condition of his face and clothes he had neither been to bed nor undressed for quite some time. He peered hazily at Terry.

"D'ye mind if I sit down?" he said elaborately, and without waiting, bent stiffly into a chair. "I'm not wanna drink," he announced.

"Al took a bottle of scotch from a cupboard, poured the Dixon a small glass. Dixon swallowed it and wiped his mouth.

"Ah, s'better. Who's this?" he pointed to Terry.

"D'ye know him?" Al asked Terry.

"Never say him before in my life," he answered truthfully, Al grinned at Terry.

"So you were giving him 50 bucks a week from his loving daughter and for why? Because he was in dutch with me, and his soft-hearted little daughter didn't want me to be nasty to her papa—me that wouldn't hurt a fly—unless it was trying to put something over on me. I'm surprised at you, Terry."

"Now I had a wife and family but no more, no more," said Dixon dramatically. He lurched up. "D'ye know who I am?" he asked Jonas, and without waiting for a reply, "I'm the best known man in the business."

"Sure you are." Al patted his shoulder. Dixon moved away haughtily.

"Keep your hands off me." He sat down again, and his face was full of bitter hopeless. "Two little baby daughters, but no more. Got some more of dat kind, huh?"

"Sure." Al poured him another drink. "How'd you like to see your daughters?"

"Two little baby daughters," said Dixon. He peered craftily at Jonas. "Why?"

Steven walked unsteadily to the desk and poured himself another drink.

"Good stuff, this," he smacked his lips. "My daughter's a movie star," he announced. "I see her picture in the paper."

"Yes, I know," Al said. Was there anything he didn't know, Terry wondered.

"I made the best pictures in Hollywood," said Dixon belligerently. "Who made more pictures than it?" he demanded.

"You had not the way you mean," Al laughed. "Look," he said to Terry, "I'm putting my friend Earl in your charge. See that he's happy."

Late Justice Riddell Once Law Student Here

The death on Sunday of the Honorable Mr. Justice Riddell of the Appellate Branch of the Supreme Court of Ontario recalls to mind that Judge Riddell was at one time a law student in Belleville with the late Dougall and Faulkner. The above firm's offices were on the second floor in a section known as Chancery Lane.

Chancery Lane was the section of Campbell Street between Front and Pinnacle Streets and was so-named because of the number of lawyers whose offices were situated therein. Dr. Chas. Wallbridge; Anderson and Bell; Bell and Anderson; Morgan, Bell; Stewart Masson; Henderson and Henderson; Mills and Wright; Samuel Wallbridge; Flint and Sherry and Dougall and Faulkner. The late Judge Riddell received honorary degrees from universities in Canada, United States and England and was an historian of wide knowledge. He penned and made favorable comments on the manuscript of "Belleville History" compiled by W. C. Mikel, B.C.L., K.C.

STORE GAS RATION BOOKS WITH POLICE

With 1945 gasoline ration books now available to the motoring public, the bulk of the books of coupons will be stored at the police station for security reasons, Chief Robert A. Probert announced today.

"Checking-in ration books must be procured at Mr. Vermilyea's store, Front St., and the surplus on hand will be secured at the police station until the safe duty of sale" Chief Probert explained.

During the past two years efforts to break-in the Vermilyea's store, doubtless for the purpose of stealing gasoline ration books, have been investigated during the late hours of the night of gasoline thefts in Belleville. It is to discourage the practices that the surplus gasoline books will be stored at the police station nightly, Chief Probert explained.

TOTAL OF THREE YEARS FOR THREE THIEVES

Windsor, Feb. 19 —(CP)— Louis Laviolette, 26, of Montreal, whose activities here as a burglar were bared when he was arrested on a street fighting charge, was sentenced to three years in magistrate's court to a total of three years in penitentiary on conviction on 10 charges.

Laviolette's tools were found on Laviolette when he was arrested following a street fighting with Arthur Spitzmeyer, a returned soldier. The latter today was dismissed on a charge of assault occasioning bodily harm.

AUSSIES ENCIRCLE JAPANESE

Melbourne, Feb. 19 (Reuters)— The Australian forces under control of the southwest corner of Bougainville island in the Solomons was considerably developed by encirclement of a Japanese force along the Hupai river track, an army statement reported today.

In north New Guinea, Australian forces were pushing steadily east along Dundi river bank while in New Britain, forward Australian troops had crossed the Navelo river the report added.

Looking Ahead in Ottawa

(By The Ottawa Staff of The Canadian Press)

Ottawa, Feb. 19. (CP)—Any session of the Dominion, called between now and the expiration of Parliament April 9 would be confined entirely to voting supply necessary for the conduct of the war and other government expenditures, M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said today.

It would be impossible to put through any other legislation because of the lack of time, he added.

There has been speculation that legislation might be introduced to provide for single - transferable votes. It is understood, however, that appeals have been made to the government and Progressive Conservative headquarters that such legislation be passed in time to be effective in the coming general election.

A Progressive Conservative spokesman said no canvass had been made of the members of the official opposition on this matter but he was inclined to think they would be ready to co-operate with the government in such a move.

However, in view of Mr. Coldwell's statement it is not thought any such attempt would be made.

Members of the C.C.F. group stated that while their party was strongly in favor of proportional representation that insured minorities having representation in the Commons it had never supported the transferable vote designed to insure that the member of parliament elected had the support of a majority of the electors in his constituency.

The party would oppose rushing through transferable vote legislation in such a short session. "Transferable vote proponents have no show at all", one member said.

Party meeting: Special interest is manifested in political circles over the third annual meeting of the Progressive Conservative association, the Party's National Organization, which meets here March 2 and 3.

It will likely be the last meeting of the association before a general election and the last opportunity for Hon. Bracken, Manitoba Premier, to get the feeling of the party all across Canada. P. D. MacArthur, Howick, Que., will preside. He was chosen president a year ago.

Plans of the party for the coming election are expected to receive detailed study and take final shape at the meeting which will bring together representatives from all provinces who will report on the state of public opinion and party organizations in their areas.

More intensive efforts will be made by the party to win Canada than in any recent elections. A number of prairie seats where there had been no party organization will now be contested.

It is understood the party's national headquarters is particularly pleased with the calibre of the candidates so far nominated in the west as well as the cast on the scores of youth, war service, reputation in their communities and general ability.

Allied Conference: The Canadian delegation to the United Nations World Security Conference (at San Francisco in April) will be a large one, headed by at least two ministers and probably including Prime Minister Mackenzie King, who is also Secretary of State for External Affairs.

Some private Members of Parliament may also be included as observers on the Canadian delegation of the United Nations monetary conference in Atlantic City, next year.

Whatever the political delegation may be, it is certain to be backed by a strong team of experts from the External Affairs Department, including either Norman Robertson, now Secretary of State, or Hume Wrong, Associated Undersecretary, or both, perhaps some officials drawn from the staffs of the Canadian Legation at Washington and the High Commissioner's office in London.

Dishonored Vets: Dishonorably discharged war veterans, previously barred from registering out bene-

CANADIAN ARTILLERYMEN BLAST HUNS ON WESTERN FRONT

While the Russian armies close in on Berlin from the east, Canadian troops are driving through Holland . . . to the German capital. Canadian artillery fire continues day and night, driving the Huns back. In the apparent peaceful quiet in the top picture, (it could be in training in England or Canada) these Canadian gunners, methodically pad their 25-pounder . . . but a second later, as in the lower picture . . . a death dealing missile goes hurtling toward the German lines and a Canadian gunner gets ready to hand the loader another shell. The men in this gun crew on the Netherland front are, left to right: Sgt. Jack Brown, Coalcook, Que.; Bdr. Joe Wilson, 1159 Dovercourt Road, Toronto; Gnr. Lyle Ludwig, 11 Beresford Avenue, Toronto; Gnr. Bill Bignell, North Battleford, Sask.; Gnr. Geotge Sirocos, Melita, Man., and Gnr. To My Scout and Guide

"I rose upon a picture of a smiling soldier boy
Although I greatly miss him, yet my heart is filled with joy.
To know that he was willing to help his country out,
He said it was his duty, for he is a Boy Scout.

Then I see his sister in uniform so smart,
And in this dreadful conflict, she too will do her part.
Her emblem is the Red Cross, and great is her pride,
She too is doing her duty, for she is a Girl Guide."

Mother.

The above is a sincere tribute to her son and daughter now on active service overseas, from devoted mum of their time and efforts in their earlier lives to the Boy Scout and Girl Guide movements, written by Mrs. Mabel Beasley, 38 Octavia St.

Her son Sergeant Major Frank Beasley, who has been overseas since 1939, carried on his scout activities while in the Mother Country, and was recently promoted over there with a Scout Leader's Warrant.

His sister, Lieut. (Nursing Sister) May Beasley, now on duty in a Canadian convalescent hospital in England, became associated with the Girl Guides at an early age. She belonged to one company for 17 years earning the rank of captain. She relinquished this when temporarily feeling she could do more for the war effort by joining the armed services in a nursing capacity.

Boy Scouts of Canada this week are celebrating Founder's Day throughout the Dominion.

Gardiner Claims Pearkes 'Acting For the Tories'

VANCOUVER, B.C., Feb. 17 (CP) — Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., who resigned as Pacific military district commander Thursday night, termed as "perfectly scandalous" a charge by Agriculture Minister Gardiner at Ottawa that Maj.-Gen. A.G.L. McNaughton had been advised not to volunteer for general service.

Mr. Gardiner said at Ottawa last night that Gen. Pearkes "has been acting for the Tories ever since he came back from overseas" and declared that statements of Gen. Pearkes and some of his officers have done more hurt than anything else I know of to cause the high feeling of discontent in the army."

Gen. Pearkes said that Mr. Gardiner's statement was "perfectly scandalous," adding, "if the men were advised that way I haven't the faintest idea who could have given that advice. It would have been directly opposite to the policy we were following."

Gen. Pearkes said yesterday he had resigned because "under existing conditions I was unable to render a loyal and conscientious service." He stated recommendations made by him to defence headquarters concerned his ideas on the use of draftees and the overseas force to be replied "that would be close to the battle line."

Issued Message.

When his resignation was announced Thursday he issued a message to his officers and men saying he regretted that "circumstances now make it necessary for me to cease to be so intimately associated with the troops . . . but I hope opportunities will arise in which I can still render some service to you and the men who are returning from the overseas areas and to the country as a whole."

This was followed by reports that he would contest the Progressive Conservative candidature in Nanaimo in the next Federal election, opposing the liberal member, J.L. Cliff. A Chamberlain, now overseas, Party officials at Vancouver would not comment.

At Ottawa, Mr. Gardiner said Gen. Pearkes "has been acting for the Tories ever since he came back from overseas. There is no reason why he shouldn't run for them."

Mr. Gardiner said further: "The story has been continuously coming out of British Columbia that the troops in the camps had been advised not to volunteer; that the act of volunteering would only be playing into the hands of the government compel them to go overseas."

'Name the Camp' Contest Conducted By Kiwanis Club

Here is a chance for Belleville school child and Collegiate and St. Michael's students to make themselves some Easter money.

The Belleville Kiwanis Club has completed plans for the construction of a summer camp for children at Roblin's Mills, Prince Edward County.

But it appears they cannot decide themselves on a suitable name for the new summer centre and are leaving it to the ingenuity and creative abilities of city school attendants.

Members of Kiwanians' families are not eligible.

The prizes are $15, $10 and $5 respectively for the most original three names submitted. In case of equal merit, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

Major aspects of the camp which can be used in selecting the name are its location, the location of the site and buildings by Kiwanian George Wallbridge, Belleville, and the Kiwanis Club, sponsors, of the project.

Entry blanks may be obtained at any school office and entries will not be accepted after midnight March 31st. No one individual will be allowed more than one entry. Decision of the judges will be final.

Entries, when completed, are to be returned to the school addressed to Mr. T. E. Schwab, 261 Front Street.

The contest has been named "Name the Camp" and will start immediately.

Training Helps In Any Emergency

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
(CP Staff Writer)

OTTAWA, Feb. 17 — (CP)—Members of Canada's Civil Defence Committee were trained to help civilians in case of enemy attack upon the Dominion but the training they received can be put to good use during any emergency, a director, a committee official said today in an interview.

Some 283,000 Canadians were trained as civil defence workers during the five years of the committee's existence and received much the same training as Britain's Air Raids Precaution Corps.

They were trained as auxiliary firemen, air raid wardens, casualty workers, rescue technicians, clearance crews, public utility repair gangs and demolition squads. More than 30,000 of them were given courses in first aid.

Although never called to duty as a result of enemy action, members of the committee have voluntarily pitched in and helped during fires, train wrecks and other national tragedies.

"We have evidence enough to fill a couple of books to show that our civil defence workers have done some mighty fine work," said the official.

Netherlands Officer Held on Charge Of Telling Huns of Arnhem Attack

LONDON Feb. 19 (CP)—The Tower of London confines a Netherlands officer accused by the British government, on the basis of carefully gathered evidence, of tipping off the Germans to the Arnhem airborne attack which collapsed after an eight-day battle last September.

He is awaiting trial for treason on charges of betraying Allied military secrets to the enemy.

His arrest was announced on Friday night.

On the officer, whose name was withheld, Britain may seek to place the principal blame for the failure of the gallant assault, made by the British "Red Devil" 1st. Parachute Division at a cost of more than 6,000 of its 8,000 men, to attain its full objective.

From a London informant came this story of how the officer was discovered and captured:

Early in August there reported to Netherlands' intelligence officers a man they knew and trusted on the basis of three years of effective underground work. He offered to bear important verbal assurance representatives within Holland by speaking through German lines. He was known to be an excellent marksman.

To check on his reliability they asked him whether he would be willing to kill several Germans. He readily named several stationed in Holland and promised to get them.

Subsequently Brussels officers checked his list. They found he had killed the Germans he named on Thereafter they saw no reasons to distrust him.

It appears that among the secret messages from London was one advising the Netherlands underground of the pending Arnhem invasion, with the view of mobilizing underground support.

When the parachutist remnants had to fight their way out of the Arnhem salient after a relief column was unable to cross the Neder Rhine nobody suspected this man. He had crossed to Allied lines when underground forces struck in cooperation with the British attack.

He came under scrutiny of intelligence men, however, and soon sufficient evidence piled up to warrant his arrest. But he was such a superior shot it was considered inadvisable to try to disarm him by force.

So a ruse was hit upon. The officer was invited to a cocktail party. He thoroughly enjoyed the party. But when he tried to depart he was arrested.

The informant said he believed the Germans shot by the officer as proof of his loyalty to the resistance movement probably were from a list furnished by the Germans in Holland and would have been killed by the Gestapo anyway.

COMMISSIONER LYNCHED

PARIS, Feb. 17 (AP)—Jacques Mirsac, former commissioner of police at Dijon, was lynched by a mob in that city, Agence Francaise De Presse reported yesterday. The mob acted, the agency said, after a court had postponed his trial for collaborationist charges until end of hostilities.

Army Casualties Eager To Return to Jobs, Homes

By ENID NEMY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Pringle La Prairie, Man., Feb. 19 (CP)—There's a story behind almost every man at No. 3 Combined Services Unit here. Many of them have been through the thrills and horror of Dieppe, Italy and Normandy. Others have lived through adventures here in Canada. But perhaps the most colorful personalities are the chaplain, a sergeant-major and a German refugee.

Capt. D. E. Flint of Montreal is a newcomer to the centre but he has earned himself a reputation for finding wherever things happen. As a chaplain he covers more territory in a day than some of his fellow officers do in a week and knows hundreds of the boys by their first names.

Returning from Italy several months ago on compassionate grounds, Capt. Flint immediately delved into the personal and domestic problems of the casualties here. He visits the sick to do "whatever I can," and as the only chaplain in the camp looks after men of all religious denominations. If anyone ask a man his religion: "If his profession fortifies his faith, I send for a senior chaplain."

"We've got a good bunch of boys here," he says. "They aren't bitter about their wounds or what happened to them. They just want a chance for a job, home and security—they want to be ordinary Joes again."

Courageous Non-Com.

Sgt.-Maj. Preston Cheetham of Neepawa, Man., isn't one of those tough sergeants you read about. He is pleasant and calm and has more courage than an army. Wounded at Dieppe with the Canadians he returned to hospital in England and later joined his unit.

He was one of the select group of men chosen to join the North Lancashire Regiment in Africa for battle experience. Then came D-Day. He was wounded on the first day—by Orne on July 22nd, 1944, and returned to Canada in October. Books could be written about his experiences but to Cheetham they are just "things that happened."

A twisted ligament suffered on an assault course brought Alfred Stenger to Pringle. A graduate of the University of Berlin and an expert in political science he was sentenced for high treason in Germany by the first party.

Pte. Stenger came to Canada in 1938 with a group of English refugees. After unsuccessful attempts to join the Canadian army, he was finally given permission by the former minister of national defence, J. L. Ralston. Now between treatments he lectures to his fellow casualties on Canada and other political subjects. He has designs of the greater part of his life to just one thing—Canada.

Mr. M. D. Warner, president of The Borden Company Limited, announces the appointment of J. W. Lawrence as director of advertising and sales co-ordination. Mr. Lawrence is a member of the board of directors of The Borden Company Limited.

300,000 PRISONERS

London, Feb. 17 (CP)—A total of 300,000 French women are among prisoners of war and deportees in Germany, the Paris radio estimated today in announcing that a special reception camp had been set up to receive women repatriated after Germany's defeat.

Cash Prizes Offered To School Children Selling Most Stamps

School children in the four local public schools in St. Michael's Separate School and at Belleville Collegiate are doing a fine job selling war saving stamps in connection with the current campaign being sponsored by the local post office authorities. To date pupils and students have sold 6,960 stamps, it was announced by Mr. Everett Liddle, chairman of the local campaign.

Aslt a great many of the stores have also been doing a fine job in interesting customers in the purchase of war saving stamps, while others were indicated to be remiss in their weight in the drive. National objective in the campaign is the sale of 12,000,000 stamps.

Although school pupils have already done a swell job in selling stamps that has been noted, it was decided to increase prizes at the schools to encourage children to even greater efforts. Right prizes in all will be offered in each of the six schools, the first boy or girl selling pupil to receive a cash award of $15, the second prize will be $10, while there will be six prizes of $2 each.

Again the local committee wish to point out that "Friday is Stamp Day" at all local stores, and that local allied industries, and they urge customers to buy at least one extra quarter or so with which to purchase stamps.

Holes on 65-Mile Front Within 50 to 60 Miles of Berlin

Indicates Konev Resumes Push Toward Dresden, Berlin

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
(AP Staff Writer)

London, Feb. 20 —(AP)— Russian troops have punched several deep breaches in German lines on a 65-mile front stretching within 50 to 60 miles of Berlin and Dresden, the German high command declared today.

It indicated Marshal Ivan Konev had resumed his push toward those two cities after withstanding German counter-attacks which for only last night said had swept back into four towns.

The German communique declared Konev breached German lines in the area of Guben, 81 miles southeast of Berlin, at Sorau, 38 miles farther southeast, and at Lauban, 61 miles east of Dresden.

A brief broadcast said Konev was attacking Lauban and thrusting for Goerlitz 15 miles beyond on the Neisse river 40 miles from Dresden. This said Konev had cut the Sorau-Goerlitz railway for a 25-kilometer stretch at an undisclosed point, and had "temporarily" captured Rothwasser, 10 miles northeast of Goerlitz. Rothwasser is 5 miles from the Saxon border, was later retaken by the Germans, Transocean added.

Fighting of "the bitterest type" is raging in the sector between the Bober and Neisse rivers, a Transocean broadcast said.

Transocean made no mention of German counter-attacks, which the Germans last night said had hit from Guben and Somerfield, Sorau, and Sarau, on a 26-mile line to the southeast of Guben. Moscow never has claimed Sarau or Guben, but announced capture of the other three last week.

Sagan Again Lost.

An earlier Transocean broadcast indicated Sagan had again been lost by defining a battleline placed "west of the Bober River."

Moscow dispatches said the Red Army destroyed enemy counter-attacks was clinging to its positions in front of the Oder-Spree line southeast of Berlin, "while preparing out what may be some of the most important demolitions in this phase of the war."

Field dispatches to Moscow said Marshals Kopev and Gregory Zhukov were breaking German blows "in strategic moves which promise shortly to pay dividends when the drive to the capital is resumed."

A Russian push farther north had carried within 67 miles of Danzig, capturing the Polish corridor town of Nowe (Neuenburg).

The German command said the Russian offensive had opened north of Rastenburg on the upper Oder 85 miles southeast of Stettin, and that German defensive successes of the past two days.

As for Breslau, Transocean said all Soviet forces in its encircling attempt to take the Silesian capital had been beaten off.

Battle Pictured.

Battles are fluctuating in the Pyrtiz area 25 miles northeast of Stettin where Marshal Zhukov is fighting toward the Baltic, the German communique said, while in East Prussia Gen. Ivan Chernyakhovsky is attacking violently on the Samland Peninsula west of Koenigsberg despite a bombardment by the German Baltic fleet.

The Berlin radio said the German situation was critical in the Schneidemuehl area of the Polish corridor and west of the Vistula where the Soviets are pointed toward Danzig.

The Moscow communique declared 1,500 German were slain when they tried to break out of encirclement during 10 miles south of Nowe.

Marshals Konev and Zhukov were attempting to weld their tanks spearheads in area of Cross, 16 miles northeast of Guben, in readiness for an offensive upon Berlin. Cross lies south of the Oder.

William Schmidt Loses Appeal

Ottawa, Feb. 20 —(CP)— The Supreme Court of Canada today dismissed the appeal of William Schmidt of Port Frances, Ont., from a conviction of capital murder.

Schmidt, two other men, George and Anthony Skrypnyk, Schmidt is under sentence of death for the "hot stove" killing of Mrs. Viola Jamieson of Flanders, Ont., on June 10, 1944. A fourth man, Peter Chilkun, was convicted of murder but his sentence was later cut to life imprisonment.

In dismissing the appeal the Supreme Court upheld a decision of the Court of Appeal in Ontario which also dismissed the appeal based on the ground that the trial judge did not instruct the jury that a confession by one of the accused could not be considered evidence against the others.

2 Canuck Prisoners Among Liberated

Ottawa, Feb. 20 (CP) — Two Canadian army prisoner-of-war, freed by advancing Allied forces, have made their way to Moscow, a Canadian army spokesman said today. He said the names would be released as soon as confirmations had been received from next-of-kin, now being notified.

"So few with the Canadians have been reported, but it is possible that more will show up," he added.

He explained that the reasons for the precaution was that taken over communications busy from the next-of-kin before the names were made public, was that this method of ensured against any possibility of false good news reaching the wrong family.

Segregate Ardent Nasis From Other Germans In War Prisoner Camp

London, Feb 20 (Reuters)—War Minister Sir James Grigg told the House of Commons today that there had been segregation of the Nazis and other Germans in a British London prisoner of war camp. He said "much progress was made in the hospital and freeing the ardent Nasis from the rest."

He was replying to allegations that there had been "concentration camps and secret hangings of non-Nazis in Britain." Grigg declared he had said all such cases were dealt with under strict supervision. At some of other camp there had been violence, and one prisoner was killed and at four other camps there had been isolated instances of violence against non-Nazis.

Pincers Threat to Mandalay Develops From British Crossings of Irrawaddy

Kandy, Ceylon, Feb. 20 — (CP) — British 14th Army troops have expanded their bridgeheads across the Irrawaddy River 35 miles below Mandalay in Burma despite Japanese counter-attacks and artillery fire, Allied headquarters announced today.

Other units of this army made progress in the Singu bridgehead 40 miles north of Mandalay. These two British crossings to the left bank of the Irrawaddy rapidly were developing into a pincers threat to Mandalay.

Another 1st Army troops in northern Burma were approaching Henzi, on the old Burma road 25 miles from the rail terminal at Lashio, the war bulletin said.

In western Burma British and Indian troops have linked up with West African units which moved down the Kaladan Valley, Japanese troops have been cleared from the Kangaw area east of Akyab, the communique said.

HEAVY HOWITZERS TEAR HUGE HOLES IN WALLED CITY

MacArthur Reports Japs Being Mopped Up on Bataan And Corregidor

Manila, Feb. 20 — (AP) — American heavy howitzers tore holes in the thick outer walls of Manila's fortresses (walled city) today to clear the way for tanks and infantrymen determined to wipe out the last nest for Japanese strongpoint in the capital and free 7,000 civilian hostages.

It was possible some of the civilians already had reached freedom by risking enemy fire to slip into the waterfront area and escape in small boats.

Under semblance of death for the "hot stove" killing of Mrs. Viola Jamieson of Flanders, Ont., on June 10, 1944. A fourth man, Peter Chilkun, was convicted of murder but his sentence was later cut to life imprisonment.

Canadians Repel Five Counter-Attacks On Outskirts of Calcar

Paris, Feb. 20 (AP) — The 1st Canadian Army virtually cleared the ruins of Goch, fortified Siegfried line road centre today and repelled at least five vicious counter-attacks within checked gains on the northern wing of the western front.

Canadian and British troops had reached the outskirts of Calcar but ran into savage opposition from the German entrenched in the thick woods southeast of Kleve.

However, an all-night fighting the Canadians threw back repeated counter attacks and cut across the Goch-Calcar road about two miles west of Calcar. Some troops were within a mile of Calcar (population 2,053) and wading in icy cold waters of the Rhine which had spread two miles over flatlands to the very edge of the town. Firmly Astride Road

Supported by tanks, German infantry charged again and again but when dawn broke, the Canadians were firmly astride the road.

Enemy counter attacks also boiled out of the woods 1,000 yards south of Moyland but failed to shake the Canadians who were throwing an arc around the town.

Doon Campbell, Reuters war correspondent at Field Marshal Montgomery's headquarters reported German tanks penetrated the Canadian forward lines at one point, but were unable to maintain their position.

The Germans were using a sunken road from Moyland into the woods for reinforcements.

Tanks Take Five Towns.

At the opposite end of the U.S. 7th Army widened its resurgent front inside the Industrial Saarland and captured five towns in a move to within 31 miles and sight of the blackened steel city of Saarbrucken.

The 7th Army, at least 11 divisions and 150,000 men strong, was applying increasing pressure in its limited offensive at the fringe of the arsenal region.

In between, the U.S. 3rd Army pressed into Germany at a new point, capturing Winchertingen, a mile across the border east of Lutzelbourg and five miles from the fortified road hub of Saarburg. The 94th Division seized four towns along a four-mile front between Saarbrucken and Trier, Germany's oldest city and birthplace of Karl Marx.

The Kyll River, like the Rhine and the Meuse, is flooding. When its flood waters return to banks in the 26 miles from the Canadian gates to Roermond, the American 1st and 9th Armies and the British 2nd, will be able to launch their drive to the Rhine-land and the Ruhr. Indeed the Germans said the 9th had assembled a crossing at Linnich, where the Roer still was wide and deep.

RAILROAD YARDS, REPAIR SHOP AT NUERNBERG HIT

900 U. S. Heavy Bombers Escorted by 700 Fighters in Relays

London, Feb. 20 (CP)—The vast railroad yards and locomotive repair shops at Nuermberg 90 miles south of Munich, were blasted by 900 United States heavy bombers today in the eighth straight day of tactical offensive against Germany.

The bombers were escorted on the long haul across the dangerous enemy fighter belt by about 700 fighters which flew in relays from British and French bases.

It was the 8th air force's fourth successive strike at vital railroads in an effort to snarl German transportation facilities for the final lines.

Other bombers from Italy and were reported attacking from the south.

Counting today's operations, the Allies have hit Germany with more than 1,200 heavy bombers every 24 hours since last Tuesday.

AFFAIRS ABROAD RATHER SMOOTHER SAYS CHURCHILL

Prime Minister Will Deliver Report on Conference Later in Week

By ALEX H. SINGLETON
(AP Staff Writer)

London, Feb. 20 — (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill informed the House of Commons today that affairs abroad are rather smoother" in his first public reference to the Big Three meeting at Yalta.

The Labor leader however that it must wait until next week for a full report on the Crimea Conference, and meanwhile he would say British and Dominion delegations had "a most satisfactory" discussion.

In order, those subjects were placed before the Prime Minister in a matching of wits and quips:

1. The goal. Would he tell the House "in view of the shortage of milk . . . whether part of German reparation in kind will include 100,000 milch goats for Scotland and 1,000,000 for England, North Ireland and Wales?" The Prime Minister passed that one until tomorrow.

Churchill, F.D.R. Held Conference At Alexandria

Washington, Feb. 20 (AP) — President Roosevelt conferred with Prime Minister Churchill at Alexandria, Egypt, after the Big Three meeting and received another pledge of full support in the war against Japan after Germany's defeat.

In a formal statement on the president's activities since he left the White House on the 42nd of Jan. Sunday, February 11. White House said Mr. Roosevelt invited Gen. De Gaulle, president of the Provisional French government, to meet him in Algiers, French Morocco.

Gen. De Gaulle, the statement said, replied that official business prevented him from going to Algiers.

"Questions of mutual interest and importance to France and the United States are pending," the president said.

Ambassador-Egyptian relations were discussed.

Haile Selassie I, Emperor of Ethiopia, and King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia also were received.

Algiers was the President's last stopping place abroad before leaving for Washington.

The White House announcement said Secretary of State Stettinius, en route from Moscow to make official calls in Liberia, Southwest Africa, Brazil and Natal, to the inter-American conference in Mexico City, was waiting to see the President in Alexandria. He also reported on meetings with Foreign Minister Eden in London.

The conferences were described as "altogether satisfactory."

English Parents Hardly Recognize Their Children Arriving From Canada

By FRED BACKHOUSE

London, Feb. 20 — (CP) — In a grimy, war-scarred London railway station today came a group of young men and women, almost unrecognizable Canadian clothes who stared wonderingly at the observed look of newly-arrived tourists.

A party of middle-aged people gathered at the barrier, started too and hesitated a moment, then there was a wild rush of greeting as parents and children embraced and kissed in one of the war's most touching scenes.

For all the appraising looks were exchanged, Canadians and Britons were one. Evacuated to Canada during the Battle of Britain five years ago as small children they returned healthy, confident citizens with well-developed ideas on most things. The parents were astonished.

Thirty of them, the sons and daughters of (Ford) factory workers had received the hospitality of homes with workers for the Ford branch of the same company in Windsor, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones, of Hornchurch, Essex, hardly recognized their children. Graham, 12, when they left was a six-footer, 17 year-old. He wore a "porkpie hat with a wide brim, cowboy-fashion, and one British newspaperman said: "The other children were Colin, 16, Patricia, 12, and Audrey, 10. Elaine went away a 10-year-old in an English school uniform and sailor hat. She came back wearing smart tailored slacks, shoes on her lips and powder on her nose.

"Dear me, dear baby," said Mrs. Jones admiringly.

Bill Graham and Colin brought back ideas of their own on modern British industry after the war. Patricia and Elaine, a determined team of close co-operation between the workers and the administrative side for British factories.

Elaine came out flatly for the Canadian education system. "All our schools should be like the ones in Canada," she said. "Boys and girls go to the same school and do not wear uniforms. We are encouraged to make up your mind early on a future career. I want to be an airliner hostess."

Mow Path Clear Across the Island 2½ Miles Long

Suribachi, Jap Volcano Fortress, Bitterly Defended

Guam, Feb. 20 — (AP) — United States Marines seized the southern airfield on southern Iwo Jima today after smashing through Japanese defenses so fanatically defended as any in the Pacific." Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced.

The Marines mowed a path clear across the island extending in an irregular wedge shape from 2 1/2 miles long on the east coast to 1,000 yards on the west.

Newly-captured territory reaches from the north slopes of Suribachi, Japanese volcano fortress on the southern tip of the island now cut off from enemy defenders, to the northern edge of pitted Motoyama airfield No. 2.

Last night a battalion of Japanese attacked in full strength down the runway in the northern section of the air strip, but the 27th Marine Regiment beat it back.

Sporadic artillery and mortar fire fell on American positions on both sides of the island throughout the night but United States forces continued to unload more supplies, reinforcements and artillery.

American night fighters broke up several Japanese air attempts to counter-attack, while Pacific fleet units maintained a continuous bombardment of the highly prized airdrome island. 700 miles south of Tokyo.

Territory captured by the veteran 5th Marine Corps in two days of fighting represents about one quarter of the entire island, Nimitz said.

Communique Somber-Toned

The communique was the second somber-toned release issued by admiral Pacific fleet headquarters tonight on the toughest battle in the Marines' history.

In his first report today Admiral Nimitz said American losses in smashing across the southern end of the island were relatively light but that the Japs on the northern flank of the Regimental battalion of the Americans battered up Japanese counter-attacks with airdrome.

"The fight is the toughest we've run across in 168 years," Lt.-Gen. Holland M. Smith, commander of Marine Corps forces in the area, told an Associated Press correspondent, Gene Lansberg, aboard one forces standing off the island.

Landberg reported thousands more Marines were pouring ashore to smash down the Japanese entrenched in the network of caves on the rugged, volcanic island from which they could be shelled by the light bombers and fighter planes.

Motoyama airfield No. 2 lies just north of the American line of advance today, won in the fiercest fighting of all on the island.

Fiercest fighting was near the northern end of the airstrip where Japanese were firing down from the mountains and Marines crawling up the exposed slopes of the airfield, which is within fighter range of Tokyo.

Two Jima, little volcanic island, 676 miles south of Japan which has been invaded by American Marines.

Tokyo, Thousands of Marine reinforcements and strong artillery support American soldiers from the great fleet of American ships still circling Iwo and laying down a continuous bombardment on the enemy-held northern end.

Tank Battle Reported

Headquarters made no mention of tanks which eye-witnesses said had been thrown into the battle. Tokyo radio reported a tank battle under way on the plateau in the center of the island occupied by the prized airdrome.

Advance elements of the Marines expanded their hold on the airfield, headquarters said, against fierce and increasing opposition.

Heavy fighting was underway on the northern end of the field.

Earlier communique said unequivocally that the Japs were "attacking Iwo Island," 750 miles south of Tokyo.

The Tokyo radio, reporting from a bomb-fired city where American raiding planes have knocked out 738 enemy aircraft since Friday, conceded that Japanese and American aircraft had been landed "by this morning."

From the 600 ships committed to the operation, the invaders are "bringing up reinforcement and landing them," Tokyo acknowledged, and reported 50 American tanks "in one sector."

Japanese Warning

Japanese imperial headquarters said "fierce battles are now going on."

Earlier domestic broadcasts over Tokyo radio said the battle continued and warned "with the landing on Iwo Jima, the homeland has become a battleground."

The influential newspaper Mainichi was more cautious in an editorial: "We must now realize that it is not impossible for the enemy to attempt a landing on the homeland. The enemy attack has gradually narrowed down from the gigantic and elastic defence structure that was won at the outset of the war until now the homeland has indeed become a fighting front."

ANN STREET HOME DAMAGED BY FIRE

Fire of an undetermined origin caused small damage, Friday night to the basement of the home of Mr. Gordon Miller, 306 Ann Street, with the local fire department being called to extinguish the blaze. The fire started under the basement stairway and resulted in damage to the wooden structure before being brought under control by firemen. Estimate of damage was not made by firemen or by the insurance adjuster.

GERMAN AUTOMATIC GUN ON VIEW HERE

Residents of the city can get a first hand view of the famous German Schmeisser automatic gun used effectively against the Allies by looking in the Victoria Avenue window of Buckley's Food Store. This deadly weapon, claimed to be one of the most effective of its kind carries 32 nine-millimetre shells in its magazine.

It was brought back to Canada by H. M. Warty of the Merchant Marine. With the Schmeisser is a heavy British machine gun used successfully at the Rock of Gibraltar, the harbor at famed Casablanca, and a whaling station in Labrador.

Quinte Skating Club Expresses Appreciation

Despite last-minute disappointments that added to the worries of members and officials, the Winter Show of the Quinte Skating Club held at the Hume Arena last Friday was an unqualified success, President Doug Deviel said today.

He expressed the sincere appreciation of himself and his executive to the efforts of committee chairman, the other members who took part, Arena officials and the general public for its generous support. age of the show. He paid a special tribute to parents of the younger members of the club for their efforts in assisting the youthful skaters to make the show the success it was.

He also thanked advertisers who supported the show program and the Red Triangle Club here for their last minute effort in coming to the rescue with its public address system.

Local 'Y' Has Share In World Service Work

Toronto, Feb. 20 — Canada's contribution to the World Service work of the world Y.M.C.A. last year totalled $1,466,000, an increase of $7,466 over the previous year, Hargrave Jennings, world service secretary of the Canadian association announced here today. Over 40,000 of this amount was subscribed by members and friends of the Y.M.C.A. in Belleville, it is learned by the "Y" dummey Camp or canvass by Gur committee selling Christmas cards, a portion of the profit, of which was devoted to work with needy boy, in war-torn countries of the world.

Every Y.M.C.A. in Canada had a part in raising this amount Mr. Jennings said. The funds will be administered, he explained, by the International Committee of the World "Y," whose budget last year was increased by $96,000, largely to provide for war emergency work in the Far East.

Vital Statistics For January

Barton A. Reddick Dies at His Home On Trent Road

Barton Allan Reddick died at his home on the Trent Road, Sidney Township, early this morning after an illness of several weeks duration.

The late Mr. Reddick was widely known in this district and in other parts of Ontario and Canada, the announcement of his death will bring sincere feelings of regret to many friends by whom he was held in high esteem for the fine traits of character which he possessed. In religion he was a member of Bridge Street United Church.

Born at Wallbridge in Sidney Township, the late Barton Allan Reddick was in his 62nd. year and was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Benaford Reddick. For many years he was engaged as a watchmaker and made cheese at Wooler for the past years and later was in charge of the Dominion Dairy School at Finch, Ontario. Eventually he entered the service of the Raynor Construction Company, Toronto, and for seven years was in charge as superintendent with this company. During the past ten years he was in the employ of the McFarland Construction Company of Picton.

Surviving him are his wife the former Minnie Way; one daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Bird, at home; two sisters, Mrs. Gertie Cornell, Belleville, and Mrs. Fanny Morey, Detroit, Mich.; two brothers, Benaford C. S. Reddick, Toronto; and Mr. Lorne Reddick of Kemptville, Ontario.

Belleville Seaman Now Home on Furlough

One of the toughest jobs that a seaman must do is that of boat-pulling in a seaboat or whaler and this fact is verified by Able Seaman Wilfred Fitzgibbon of this city, crew member of the Canadian corvette H.M.C.S. "Long Branch," who has been home on leave for the past few days.

The Belleville boy resting on his oars in his ship's whaler. He is the son of Mrs. Annie Fitzgibbon, 53 North Front Street.

Member of the R.C.N.V.R. for the past two and one half years, AB. Fitzgibbon is one of four brothers in the service. He is an "Old" original crew member of the "Long Branch." He was commissioned at her when she was commissioned at Glasgow in February, 1944. The "Long Branch" is the Wanderer boy's first ship.

He is now on a well-deserved furlough AB. Fitzgibbon in typical fashion maintains the high standard of tight-lipped secrecy of action seen. He admits having a few exciting months of convoy duty on the North Atlantic but like it go at that.

Brothers in the services are Pte. "Charlie" Fitzgibbon, wounded in the action following D-Day and now returned to Canada awaiting discharge from the army; AB. Jack Fitzgibbon, crew member of the "Cape Breton" and Pte. Bill Fitzgibbon with an anti-tank corps in Holland.

Smaller Business Employees Urged To Attend Clinic

Sequel to the recent completion of the examinations of employees of all Belleville industries, the Ontario Department of Health, under the direction of Dr. H. E. Cronk, city medical health officer, has urged owners of small business houses, stores and hotels to avail themselves of the opportunity of this service.

The examinations form part of the department's program for the control of tuberculosis among industrial and city workers in the province.

This information was imparted to the Rotary club here on Monday by Provincial C. Pilkinton who read communications from Dr. Cronk and the Department of Health in connection to the matter.

The purpose of the survey, it was declared, is primarily to discover unknown cases of tuberculosis, but in addition, other conditions such as tuberculosis conditions may be brought to light, namely abnormal heart conditions.

"Over 300,000 persons in Ontario suffering from the disease through this service, and as medical officer of health, I strongly advise you and your staff to take advantage of this opportunity. The policy of the department is to make as little as make a charge to the employer of 30 cents per examination," Dr. Cronk stated in his letter.

The survey will be in operation in the Standard Bank Building, February 22 and 23.

A Department of Health communication from the Division of T. B. Prevention points out that out of every 1,000 persons X-rayed in 1944, ten showed active cases of pulmonary tuberculosis, and an additional 21 showed non-tuberculous abnormalities namely enlargement of the heart.

Will Squeeze Enemy in Vise

When the massed might of the Prime Allied armies on the Roer is applied, the Germans before Cologne, Duesseldorf and Duisburg will be squeezed in a vise west of the Rhine, with the 1st Canadian Army on the northern jaw.

Scottish troops of the 1st Canadian Army went with bayonets after the last Germans resisting in Goch.

A thousand Germans surrendered yesterday, boosting the total for the northern campaign above 9,000. British forces which drove into Goch from opposite directions joined in the heart of the city.

On the western flank of the Canadian front German batteries laid down a terrific barrage against a Scottish troops south of Afferden on the road to Venlo, 18 miles away. Infantry did not follow the enemy shells, however, and the situation there was unchanged. Between Afferden and Goch, Gen. Crerar's troops edged forward slowly south of Hassum. The road between the towns was cut.

Front dispatches said the apparent reason for the resolute German stand before Calcar was to keep the 1st Canadian Army the use of the railroad running south of Deven.

9,000 Prisoners So Far

Since the start of their offensive 18 days ago Gen. Crerar's troops have pushed 17 miles beyond their starting line and have taken more than 9,000 prisoners.

All front line reports today agreed with Prime Minister Churchill's of the Pacific War is in progress.

Prime Minister Richmond Kelly Turner, commanding the amphibious operation, said of two:

"It is a well a defended fixed position as exists in the world today. It is usual but hard fighting against a fixed operation for defence than any island with which I am acquainted."

Vice Admiral Turner commanded the Fifth Amphibious Force.

Chinese fighting

The fighting was not without its losses to the attacking force, Tokyo radio made the completely unconfirmed claim that 1,500 American Marines have been "wiped out" and 2,000 injured.

The Japanese, as usual, are resorting to extensive use of mortars. Many land mines were encountered.

The Japanese defenders of Iwo's chief defence is their scores of camouflaged pillboxes, which the Marines were landing on. Two, tobacco and great fires in the wharf and oil storage area of the island are rising or damaging 68 enemy planes.

Tokyo radio claimed the Japanese to have been destroyed or damaged by Friday and Saturday by carrier planes.

Today a message of praise to that task force for having "dealt the enemy a crushing blow" that Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific Fleet commander, said today the same courage, skill and teamwork were being displayed "by forces which are taking Iwo Island."

He said the combination "will bring success when our troops land in Japan itself."

2. The shatzk. What is Britain doing about following up the American development of a "shark chasing" device for protection of seamen? Answer: "We're watching it," replied Mr. Churchill, adding: "You may rest assured the British experiments are entirely opposed to sharks."

3. The British double summertime. Would he assure the House it would not be imposed? "I certainly would not," the Prime Minister. Asked if he were aware that double summer time limited food production, Mr. Churchill sidestepped: "—We have had this question and I remember 40 years ago being sidetracked with that argument," he said.

4. Civil defence. What is London yesterday after stoppers at Athens and Cairo and immediately conferred with the war cabinet. He was greeted with a rousing cheer when he walked into the House of Commons.

Nursing Sister Receives Thanks For Parcels Sent

Lieut. Dorothy Osborne, nursing sister with the Canadian army overseas, has written Belleville Red Cross Society expressing appreciation for her interest in the school movement, despite the fact she is only a short distance from the life lines on the Western Front. In a letter to Mrs. Twila Langman of Belleville she relates how gratefully as intermediary in the presentation of parcels of candy and gum from the Wolf Cub and Cubs Pack and Cub Pack to groups of the Wolf Cubs and Cubs Company. I cannot express in mere words the pleasure it gave me to look at these dear little faces when I gave each Cub his parcel from the Cubs so far away. I felt a selfish delight accepting their thanks and cheers, and the wish that you could have shared the fun and feeling of leam with me. I appreciated. I kept thinking of the third Scout law and felt its reality true, 'A Scout is a friend to all and a brother to every other Scout.'

"As I looked at all the little Cubs as they formed a circle and gave

POLICE COURT

Soldier Convicted On Morals Charge

Two soldiers of the Canadian Army were convicted of clothing articles from parked automobiles by the downtown area of Belleville when they appeared before Magistrate C. L. Lloyd here today. They are Cpl. Ray Shaw and Pte. Orval Spencer.

On charges of stealing flash lights, a camera, women's hose, and other articles from parked cars Shaw was given a year suspended sentence and ordered returned to his military unit at Kingston.

However, Spencer was given one year indefinite in the Ontario Reformatory after pleading guilty to an additional charge of carnal knowledge of a girl not his wife. On the theft charges Spencer was given an additional six months indeterminate sentence.

"Who's going to look after my wife?" asked Spencer.

"You should have thought of that before you got involved in this trouble, especially the more serious part," replied Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan.

"Apparently you did not learn from past experience that crime doesn't pay," stated Magistrate Lloyd in handing down the record read by Inspector Hayes, who prepared the case.

Insanoral Cases Heard.

Mrs. Mary Hodge and Mrs. Mildred Wood, both residing at 91 South Front Street, were convicted of abnormality and sentenced to not more than two years in the Mercer Reformatory, Thomas Dorable, also of Belleville, and a convicted wrongdoer in the matter, was sentenced to three months Belleville said a further indeterminate term of six months after being convicted on a similar charge.

Inspector Hayes informed the court Mrs. Hodge was not living nor dependent upon her husband. Children's Aid Society officials also informed the court Mrs. Wood's children were at present under the care of the society.

18 L.C.A. Charges.

Joseph Rushnell, Trenton, paid a fine of $100 and costs after convicted of being found in possession of liquor not obtained on his individual permit. Eleven other minor L.C.A. charges were disposed of from a docket of 18 cases initiated by Deputy Chief Arthur Harman, clerk of the court.

MALTA'S FORTITUDE

Toronto, Feb. 20 — (CP) — Gen. Sir William Dobbie, former Governor of Malta, told an audience at Convocation Hall last night that "the war would not be in its present state had Malta fallen."

Education Needed To Reduce Incidence Of V.D. in Community Rotarians Told

Treatment of people suffering with venereal disease sent to the Belleville General Hospital in 1944 cost the taxpayers of this city $1,000. This amount is added to the indigent patients only and does not include those who paid for treatment out of their own pockets.

The above statement was made by Dr. Jack Marshall, chairman of the city Board of Health, when introducing Dr. S. B. McKay, Belleville General Hospital pathologist, guest speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon on Monday.

Dr. McKay, with the aid of a highly informative motion picture illustrated the dangers, the increasing inroads and the methods for prevention and cure of gonorrhea and syphilis, the most prevalent diseases in the nation today.

Despite the unpleasant fact that V. D. is on the increase today, it can be controlled and reduced to a minimum in all communities, "Control", Dr. McKay said, "is a problem not only for groups but for each individual as well."

Must Know Problem.

Rotarians, as business men, he pointed out, were in a position to work worthwhile reforms on small or er groups of people as well as industrial groups. "The problem must be known, if solution is to be made.

Microscopic groups of germs shown on the film pointed out the danger done to the human body. It had been found suffering crippling, blindness, and childless couples. Gonorrhea causes the elder afflictin of man and was earlier confused with syphilis. In 1870 the gonococcus germ was discovered, and since that time science and research have made remarkable steps.

Treatment of gonorrhea was formerly expensive and lengthy but the newest weapon is a group of chemicals called sulfa drugs, and a modern treatment has cured eight out of each 10 cases.

Medical and scientific research has gone wonders, the film explained, but warned that the new drugs were not "miracle" cures. Mixed and sometimes death can be caused when they are used without the advice of a physician. It further warned against quacks, and fortune-tellers and self-treatment. When people learn to consider gonorrhea as dangerous as any other infection, then will science be effective against this serious ailment.

How Contracted

Resuming his talk at this point, Dr. McKay placed strong emphasis on the fact that gonorrhea is contracted by sexual intimate contact only, despite some weird explanations as to how innocent victims acquired it. Syphilis, on the other hand can be contracted through the kiss of an infected person, but this is very rare.

"It is the duty of every patient to reveal the identity of his or her consort so that they may be brought in for treatment. It is his or her duty to themselves, their families and to the community at large," the speaker declared.

"The most tragic manifestation of syphilis," he said, "was its effect on children. If a prospective mother has the disease, it can be controlled during pregnancy and not transferred to the child. In cases where children are born with the disease, some can be successfully treated, but more die at birth and others later.

Then there are the cases where the disease is not apparent until five or six years after birth. This often results in blindness.

Pre-Marital Testing Advised

Dr. McKay stressed the need of the country to wake up to the desirability of pre-marital studies. It would be a great preventative of of later tragedy, result in a better nation, and be a great saving economically.

"These diseases are curable," he said, "but there is a great need for absolute co-operation on the part of the patient with his or her physician. Religious observance of treatment is an important factor."

With the advent of sulfa and penicillin drugs, time-consuming treatment has been done away with, insofar as gonorrhea is concerned, Drugs are rapidly replacing the revolutionized treatments of the diseases, but of late there has been a group that has resisted the efforts of the drugs.

Attending Main Pastor.

Raising the question of control, Dr. McKay told the chairman that education is one of the main factors. Parents must learn to impart the facts of life to children as they really are instead of allowing them to pick them up outside. "Make them realize that the disease is not leprosy and can be cured. Try to adopt a sympathetic attitude toward victims and not point the finger of scorn at them."

The clergy, the press, and the theatre can do fine work in educational efforts along these lines.

"Suppression of professional prostitution was another step toward control," he said, "but in no way had been made, but the question had arisen, what is to be done with the girls?" He urged segregation and the useful occupation of those styled it a "more humane way than that adopted in some institutions at present."

Most Genired Alcohol.

Control of alcohol in mixed parties especially those which young people attend, was another important control factor. This has been a contributing item to the spread of the disease, he charged, and "something should be done about it." Promiscuity, resulting from lowering of moral standards and loosening of home influence, was also to be reckoned with.

In closing, Dr. McKay urged all to give this problem their serious consideration. Everyone must be instrumental in assisting to cut down the inroads of V.D. in the community.

He was introduced by Dr. Marshall, while club appreciation was expressed by Rotarian Meade Robertson, President "Pink" Pirie was in the chair with Howard Clarke collecting the fines. The next picture projector was available through the courtesy of Rotarian Stan Hagerman.

Tree-Girdling 'Jacks' Cause Much Damage

Long-eared, grey-furred invaders, little Gargantuas of the rabbit clan, weighing up to one ten pounds, are causing no little concern to farmers along the Bay shore road in Prince Edward County.

The hare-weight jacks, driven by hunger caused by deep snow are raiding orchards and destroying young trees by the simple process of "girdling" the trunks with sharp gnawing teeth.

Several farmers have suffered orchard losses, while the young trees on the farm of Stanley Hagerman have been more or less a concentration point for the log-eared marauders.

Several have been shot in the vicinity and have tipped the scales between 11 and 16 pounds.

The situation is becoming serious and farmers in that neighborhood are seriously considering organizing hunting parties in an attempt to thin the ranks of the rabbits.

Other parts of the county have been invaded by the tree-hungry jacks, eleven of which were shot within an hour near Wellington.

Jack Rabbits of this size have been a more or less rarity in these parts. It was learned, and no immediate reason for their numbers can be discovered. It is believed that the heavy fall of snow this winter has driven them to orchards where the satisfaction of their appetites is resulting in serious losses to the farmers.

Capt. Max Porritt Prisoner of War

Captain Max Porritt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Porritt, of Lingham Street, has now been officially reported a prisoner of war. A National Defence cablegram has informed his parents. He was reported missing in June last year.

A former officer of the Argyll Light Infantry here, Captain Porritt enlisted with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment at the beginning of the war, going overseas with that unit in December 1939 with the rank of lieutenant.

He was returned to Canada for special training with the Brockville Rifles. Returning to England he went to the Italian front where he saw considerable service with the Hasty Pees prior to his being taken prisoner.

Battlefield drama was enacted when Captain Porritt was taken prisoner. A victim of the Nazi thoroughness he disregard of International law, the Canadian officer was shot down, unarmed, carrying with a Nazi officer following a sharp battle on the Italian front.

Porritt's company had withdrawn from an untenable position. Noticing a man in difficulty, he was seriously wounded, he told him "I will come back for you."

Reaching his company lines, he discarded his weapons, and accompanied by a stretcher bearer party returned to where the wounded man lay. A German officer came from a ditch and beckoned to him. Mistaking the gesture, Porritt was unmolested. Apparently Captain Porritt started to claim his rights under international law as an unarmed officer in charge of stretcher bearers.

The bearers returned with the wounded man, and saw their captain in discussion with the German. The German, it is now known, won the argument, probably backed up by threats of and an armed guard for Captain Porritt was not seen again.

Women's Institutes Founded 48 Years Ago

By ERIC SANDERSON
(CP Staff Writer)

Vision of a Hamilton, Ont., woman — Mrs. Adelaide Hoodless — were recalled this week on the 48th anniversary of the founding of Women's Institutes in Canada.

Mrs. Hoodless, wife of the chairman of the Hamilton School Board, conceived the idea that if rural women were to find an improved living and social conditions they must unite. Her plans were put into force by the untimely death of her infant son, who died as a result of impurities in unsterilized milk.

Determined that other Canadian babies should not experience a similar fate, she started a crusade in 1897 which has spread all over the world. In Canada alone, more than 70,000 rural women belong to the 3,000-odd Women's Institutes operating from coast to coast.

When the First Great War broke out, Mrs. Alfred Watt, president of the Associated Country Women of the World, now visiting in Victoria, introduced the idea in Great Britain.

Queen Mary was attracted by the new organization and she invited Mrs. Watt to explain the idea. The Queen approved of the plan and Sandringham Institute was organized. To the present, the Queen Mother has retained her interest in Sandringham Institute.

Pair Sentenced For Robbery With Violence

Garth Sharpe, Belleville, was sentenced to serve two years in the Portsmouth Penitentiary, while his companion in a robbery case, Gilbert Loveless, also of Belleville, was sentenced to one year definite and a further indeterminate term of three months in the Ontario Reformatory.

Sharpe and Loveless appeared before Magistrate J. L. Lloyd in city police court here today and pleaded guilty to charges of unlawfully by violence robbing Ivan Scott of $51. The pair elected summary trial and pleaded guilty.

Mr. Ivan Scott, Belleville, identified them as the two men he had met in a downtown restaurant last Friday night. The witness then stated the next thing he recalled was being struck from behind in a small room, Dr. O. S. Cronk told the court in examining Mr. Scott at the Belleville General Hospital early Saturday and fouhd him to be suffering from a swelling on the forehead, bump on the back of the head and a slight concussion. "How could he have received such injuries?" asked Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan.

"They could have come from a blunt instrument," replied the doctor.

Inspector J. C. Hayes, who investigated the attack on Scott, introduced statements taken from the accused men. In the written statements Sharpe admitted hitting Mr. Scott, while Loveless took the money. Loveless admitted giving Sharpe $25 of the $51 stolen. Both men said they were drunk at the time.

Mr. Donnan pointed out to the court that Loveless is a returned soldier.

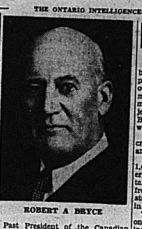
CHARGED BEFORE COURT MARTIAL

Rome, Feb. 20 —(CP)— Pte. Harold Joseph Pringle of Clinton, Ont., member of an Ontario infantry battalion, yesterday was charged before a Canadian army court martial with the murder of Pte. Lucky McGillivray, another Canadian, after a brawl in a Rome house.

Parents Await Return of Sailor Sons on Leave

Parents of two Belleville sailors aboard the Canadian "fleet" class destroyer Algonquin are awaiting anxiously the home coming of their sea faring sons, who have been more than their share of action on the northern Atlantic convoy routes and during D-Day operations.

As crew member of the Algonquin the local boys, Jack Hickey and W. McKay Elliott are expected home shortly on 28 days' furlough following the recent docking of their ship in Halifax. Parents of the two Belleville sailors, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hickey, George Street, and Mrs. Maude Elliott, Pren Street, have received no definite word of their sons' home coming but they are expected any day.



A member of the Algonquin's crew since her commissioning with the R.C.N. last summer, McKay Elliott has been in the navy four years and was home last two years ago. Jack Hickey has also been with the destroyer since she was commissioned.

On Constant Duty.

Indicative of the constant duty with the Algonquin has performed in the past year is the fact that during that time she has plowed through the sea lanes for a total of 94,000 miles and was tied up to a jetty only 15 days of the year.

The Algonquin was with the British home fleet in the spearhead of the attack during D-Day operations and aided in blazing open a path for the third Canadian division in the area around St. Aubin. She was with another flotilla which attacked and damaged the Tirpitz. Nursing a navy that was of a force of four destroyers and two cruisers which wiped out an 11-ship German convoy endeavoring to sneak past the entrance to the Skagerrak on its way home to Germany.

In the surprise attack on the convoy off the Skagerrak, three minesweepers escorting the Nazi merchantmen fought as long as their guns remained above the water although they were ablaze from bow to stern. Ten of the 11 ships were sunk and the other driven ashore.

bombers attacked a synthetic oil plant at Bohlen, near Leipzig, while other formations hit the chemical manufacturing town of Bturt, 63 miles southwest of Leipzig and objectives in Hannover, Bremen and Brunswick. Two heavy bombers were missing.

R.A.F. fighters and intruder aircraft supported the night operations and attacked German airfields.

During the day yesterday nearly 1,400 U.S. and R.A.F. heavy bombers, 1,132 rail and industrial targets in western Germany. Others from the U.S. air force in Italy struck at enemy communications in Austria.

The U.S. 8th air force announced one bomber and seven of 500 escorting fighters were missing.

Two R.A.F. planes failed to return and the U.S. 15th air force lost 12 heavy bombers. While most of the Italy-based bombers hit targets in the Vienna area, some attacked harbor installations at Pola and Fiume, in Italy. Only a few enemy fighters were encountered in Austria.

Over the western front yesterday German fighters appeared in some strength. In one engagement near Limberg where the eGrmans outnumbered an American group 21 to 16, six of the enemy planes, shot from the sky without a single American loss.

Boy Scout—Girl Guide Week

Boy Scout—Girl Guide Week is now attracting the attention particularly of boys and girls of Canada of whom no fewer than 180,000 members of the two organizations are taking part. Within the seven days the two great movements will attempt to bring before the Canadian public the activities of the societies so that everyone may know something of the work which activate the boys and girls who are so organized. Their parents and friends will learn therefore how these organizations are making a definite contribution to the wellbeing and the building-up of the youth of this land. Canadian boys and girls have the noblest heritage any young generation could possess and therefore will be able to make more and more definite contributions to the young life of Canada.

Scouting has been instrumental in Canada in assisting in the preparation for life of as many as three quarters of a million boys and more than 120,000 former Boy Scouts have enlisted in the Canadian armed forces during the present conflict.

During the special week observance there will be marked the anniversary of the birth of Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy Scouts, by a re-affirmation of the Scout and Guide promises.

Another object of the week devoted to Scout and Guide is the extension of the benefits of Scouting and Guiding to a far greater number of the young boys and girls. The Scout and the Guide also desire the active cooperation of the public in the movements and to impress upon their memberships the great importance of the work which they have adopted and to bring to Scout and Guide the "pride of belonging" among Scouts, Cubs, Guides and Brownies.

The democratic world is proud of Scouting and Guiding which are in direct contrast to the pernicious Nazi Youth Movement of Germany. The Scout, Guide aim to foster respect for and fellowship with, all creeds, colors and peoples, it is the essence of goodwill and advocates spirit of benefits. But the Nazi Youth Movement of Germany had a different philosophy, that of hate and enmity and the teachings of Hitlerism have borne the evil fruit that is now part of the German people, leading led to destruction by the evil objects which it set before young and old of the German state.

The Scout and Girl Guide, led by high ideals, have been able to make a magnificent appeal to humanity as the friend of others. They believe in human brotherhood that will in time they hope cover the earth.

Among the youngest of world organizations, Scouting and Guiding are listed with the greatest, for they have set their goals as nothing lower than the best for humanity.

Those who are providing leadership to these organizations are conferring a lasting benefit upon the world which all the mad teachings of Hitler youth cannot efface or offset. Nazi Youth Movement will die of the terrible disease of selfishness and callousness from which it spread and is suffering, but Scouting and Guiding are tuned to the highest things and will endure.

After Yalta

Three men of destiny are taking up their national tasks, which are also the United Nations' tasks and the world's, after attending the great conference at Yalta where the final touches were given to the great picture of coming victory and lasting peace that has grown now most before the eyes and minds of men.

This present century in its fifth decade was favored in that upon the scene were the great men ready to defend humanity with everything that love of freedom could give against barbarism. Churchill, Roosevelt and Stalin, proven in their national spheres, have been proven in the international sphere. "There is no doubt that in all history there never was a gathering that meant so much for the future of the whole world. These men were great enough to bear this task which devolved upon them in the stress and turmoil of the times caused by the evil of Hitlerism.

Their decisions have found harmonious reception at home and in the wide world outside, of course, Germany, the crumbling Nazi state, built on aggression, and Japan.

On these Allied leaders and others, their staffs and on the military leaders and armed forces of the nations the world of free and freed men and the world of those who will be freed will owe a debt that can never be repaid. But to Mr. Stalin, Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt they will accord reward if the world they represented makes the most of what all the great Allied leaders have been doing for the sake of humanity against a revival of barbarism.

Hauling Out the Wood

(New York Times)

When winter has turned the corner into February and, piles of gray birch, maples and oak are dotted around the woodlot comes the time to haul out the wood. During the gray days of December and January a farmer likes to get the chopping done. After the midwinter thaw and before the big crew of ground-hog time there is usually a period of good sledding.

Many a farm lad who sees little glamor in splitting wood and less in stacking it by the woodshed enjoys a Saturday's work hauling it from the woodlot. A one-horse bob with its four-tall, sturdy oak stakes is a good vehicle to handle. The Morgan mare settles down to trotting across the rolling field up the grade of the side-hill pasture and along the road that winds through the maple-sugar grove and into the woodlot.

Loading the wood onto the sled is satisfying work. There's no particular sense of urgency, as in haying or in digging potatoes. If a chap wants to follow a rabbit's track a spell, that is part of the day's routine. Partridges are likely lurking in the thickets. Tracks show where a red fox trotted slowly by early in the morning. The blue jays flash among the trees shouting disapproval as the sun is climbing higher and spring's around the corner. The bobsled, piled high, slides smoothly down the slope. On a snappy, still day the steel runners squeak on the snow, and the bark of Master and Mr. J. V. Doyle as the iron bites into the packed-down sled tracks. Hauling out the wood for the next season's supply is good work.

The Dog Is a Good Citizen

(Victoria Colonist)

Day by day, the dog probably radiates more active good fellowship toward the human family than it is always given credit for. A dog likes company. It loves to be talked to, just for the sake of hearing a familiar voice. It takes some pride in sharing the day with its master, be it a gray day or a fine one. The dog knows absences and feels them keenly. It welcomes the returning wayfarer with an excess of zeal that speaks more eloquently than any words that could be found. The dog is a good citizen for never does it run riot; to little, perhaps, on the extrovert side with its heart boldly displayed in public.

Pipe Shortage

(Dr. Alfred Cox in London Times)

It is time something was done to remedy the injustice inflicted on the addicted on the pipe smoker. It is almost impossible to buy a pipe, except occasionally at a fantastic price. Meanwhile the cigarette smoker is ostentatiously well supplied. In my search for a pipe I have been told over and over again at tobacconists that they continually have urgent requests for pipes from men at the front, or their friends here, which they are quite unable to supply.

Training the Navy

(London Daily Mail)

Every man and woman in the British Navy whatever their rank and wherever they may be serving—officers, ratings, Wrens—is to be given an opportunity to prepare for the return to "Civvystreet."

Under a new training scheme announced by the Admiralty, they will receive teaching in current affairs.

In addition, they will be given vocational training and general education at "schools" and centres in ships, shore establishments, and fleet bases.

SEED CATALOGUE

Of all the books that mortal reads
I choose the catalogue of seeds
Because against war's fearful tide
It proves man has a gentler side.

Not all that humans do is bad
Or books of seeds we'd never had,
And there'd be no stch varied stocks
Of zinnias and hollyhocks.

The cynics and the scoffers scorn
The thought that man for good was born.

On war they see him waste his powers,
But overlook his love for flowers.

Still rages war! But not in vain.
There comes the catalogue again
Of lovely things and flower and fruit
To prove man is not wholly brute!

Pyle Had Little Chance To Get Caught Up on Reading He Wanted

By ERNIE PYLE

San Francisco — Instead of reading 50 books while I was home, and getting caught up on those lost years of literature, I've actually read only five books in these past four months.

They were — (1) "A Walk in the Sun," a wonderful little story about the emotions of a man in half a day's fighting in Italy; (2) "Lost Island," James Norman Hall's story of what war will mean in future years to them can do to the people of a little island in the Pacific; (3) "Can Do," the story of the Seabees, about whom I wrote a lot, and a lot before this trip is over; (4) "Cannery Row" and (5) "Dubious Sneak for Our Carrier." I thought all of them were excellent.

I tried to reread "All Quiet on the Western Front" when I first came home, because I've always considered it one of the greatest books ever written. But after having been in war, it was too real, too poignant. It depressed me so terribly I had to lay it aside. But it's still a great book.

"Cannery Row" is John Steinbeck's new book. It has nothing whatever to do with war, and for that reason was a wonderful relief to read. John says he wrote it "just because I'd wanted to for a long time."

In San Francisco I ran onto John and Gwyn Steinbeck, up from Monterey for a few days' visit. John told about an amusing experience.

When they bought a house in Monterey recently, they decided to rent an office downtown to write in, so he wouldn't be bothered at home. The office-building manager showed him a suitable office, and then asked John if he had a business license.

John said no, they didn't have business licenses in his business. The manager looked him over, weighed the idea pro and con, and then made up his mind.

"No," he said, "we don't want people like you. Writers don't make enough to pay their bills." And he wouldn't let John Steinbeck rent the office.

John thinks it's wonderful. That's the reason I love Monterey," he says.

"Daybreak for Our Carrier" is the story of a book about life aboard an aircraft carrier in the Pacific. It is beautifully written, and I hope that when my time comes to describe the life aboard a carrier, I shall do as well as Fielding.

Max Miller is a gentle writer and a gentle person. He has written 17 books in the last 13 years, and it hurts him a little that nobody ever mentions any of them but his one-or-"I Cover the Waterfront."

Max is a Navy Lieutenant Commander in the Navy, and he and I are going to make the trip across the Pacific together. You couldn't find a better traveling companion than Max. Once on the other side we will go our separate ways. All the writing I might do now is for the Navy. Doubtless another book will come out of this present trip.

Out in California we've teamed along with my boss and best friend from Washington, Lee Miller, of the Scripps-Howard newspapers.

All these years that I've been away I've been hearing about Washington and translated my places as they left. I've written hundreds of stories about what a great man I am, handled all my personal business through them, been a slave, and kept my own spirits up by sending me bundles cables of appreciation and good cheer.

Now they're taking a respite and going to the wars himself for a little while. He left for the Pacific to cover the whole vast chunk of our army supply services.

I'm glad he's going, but I'm lying awake nights worrying what I'm going to do without him back at home base to cheer and bebp me along the thousands of miles away from.

Lee and I are both decked out in brand new uniforms, furnished us by the Quartermaster Corps in Washington. I am so handsome in my khaki bush-jacket I think I should just stay in America and show it off. And Lee looks so impeccably military that when he goes around army bases, officers introduce him conclentiously as "Colonel Miller."

Speaking of uniforms, I've got one odd piece of equipment. There is a man in America named Capt. Fred Gallagher, from Tucson, Ariz. He was captured by the Japs in the Philippines about 2½ years after Pearl Harbor, and spent two and a half years in Japanese prison camps.

He was on that prison ship that we torpedoed off the Philippines last fall, and one of the 83 survivors. Finally picked up by a guerrilla unit in the Philippines by submarine, was hospitalized and transported to Australia and arrived back home in America a few weeks ago.

Well, he stopped off to see me in Albuquerque between planes the other day. He turned out to be a swell guy, and we didn't talk much about his Jap experiences, but just went around visiting people and having a wonderful time.

We had such a good time that when plane time arrived that night, we couldn't find his cap. So he flew off to the east coast bareheaded. He had brought the cap in Sydney, Australia. Later I found it in my hotel room in Albuquerque. I'll send it to him.

So I just decided to keep it and wear it myself. Now it's going back to its own side of the world on a different plane. The original sweatband cap is gone but I had an extra helmet liner in Captain Gallagher will be, if he happens to read this.

Every once in a while you see or read or feel something that you go head over heels for, and then you quit talking about.

That has happened to me recently about two things. One is a movie, the other is a book. The movie was called "Fighting Lady," and was produced by the Navy. The show is a musical comedy, without the skates, called "Skating Vanities."

PERSONAL HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

IODINE IN FOOD

Ideally one should get the necessary amount of iodine from a good drinking water. Perhaps some people do. But iodine as it occurs in nature (iodides or compounds of iodine) is so very soluble that it is constantly dissolved out of the soil and carried from elevated regions to the streams and rivers to the sea. Sea water and all fish and shell-fish from the sea are rich in iodine, whether consumed raw cooked, canned, dried, smoked or salted. Dried kelp and Irish moss (otherwise known as chondrus and carragaen) contain some iodine.

In the Great Lakes basin (in Canada and in the United States) the soil is poor in iodine, likewise the drinking water and the food (vegetables, cereals, fruits, milk, eggs, meat) grown on the soil. Hence endemic goitre prevails in that region of the country and people living there, as well as livestock, require some regular iodine supply to supplement the natural iodine in food and water.

Since the use of iodised salt instead of ordinary salt has become popular in the entire Great Lakes region, the prevalence of endemic goitre among school children and others has shown a striking decrease. Moreover, the number of operations for all forms of goitre in the large hospitals has correspondingly decreased. Iodised salt looks, tastes and in every way is like ordinary household salt, and it costs the same. It contains 1 part in 5,000 more iodine than one gets in, say, canned salmon—probably a pound of canned salmon contains as much iodine as a pound of iodised salt. So it is absurd to imagine any one can get enough iodine salt by its taste or that any one can possibly get too much iodine from iodised salt or that any one can get enough from iodised salt that ordinary salt would not also. Wherever you live it is advisable to buy iodised salt in preference to ordinary salt for all domestic purposes. I think this is advisable whether one takes an iodin tablet or not.

I am an obstinate cuss when it comes to taking medicine—I'll take anything a doctor orders me to take so long as I am under the doctor's care, but don't bring me it you don't mind, I'll worry along without it—except in the regular ration of vitamins, somersaults, belly breathing and iodine.

The many correspondents tell me how much iodine they take and ask me to approve of it. I cannot approve of the practice of taking any more iodine or iodine compound than the amount mentioned in the Instruction for Taking' as Directed. In fact I advise you not to take iodine or any compound of it in medicine form except upon your physician's direction. The amount of iodine in foods, as I said, I recommended for practically everybody is not medicinal, but only the nutritive quantity required for maintaining good metabolism and good health.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Young Folk and Old Folk

Regarding the calcium, vitamine and so forth, you recommended for "old timers," would they be of any benefit for a woman now ninety years of age?

(Mrs. H. M. S.)

Answer — What's thirty years more or less between friends. Of course, I would say that old, old—though friends made all sorts of very nice congratulations about a woman of my age having her first baby thanks to that wonderful booklet, "Prenatal Care," which I treated through the whole thing with no other sense than I've love and cuddle him now and then, though I suppose we shouldn't.

(Mrs. R. C.)

Answer — No objection to cuddling the baby occasionally, provided he is not paid for and provided you spelled it correctly. Cuddle is correct, I think.

Don't Take Life Seriously

I will be forty next month, but I drag around feeling like sixty or eighty. Bless you for the chuckles you so often serve us. I want to know more about the "Seven Veils" or whatever it is that you referred readers who are feeling a bit ancient.

(Mrs. F. S. P.)

Answer — Send twenty-five cents and stamped envelope bearing your address to "Seven Veils" Keys to Vile."

BEAUTY By HELEN JAMESON

OIL MANICURE FOR BRITTLE FINGERNAILS

Time is a war scarcity. You have to do this, you hustle to do that. You chase around from one attending to one errand or another. Your nails suffer. Here's what to do at the beauty shop, when you pillage there for a bottle of polish. Ask for sweet memories. Now you can do it yourself, too, to do it up on metal curlers, dreamy-eyed, in front of your door—whom you don't like—is hardly important at this stage. As for your fingernails, let me draw a bit sharply for you.

But you must take care of them. Neglected, they are a pitiful sight; they will never look like some. Exactly the same, when the dishes are washed, the kids are in bed and the old man is listening to a rasping program that you consider did not suit for down at the sides or you'll your nails on old mandolins. This treatment will keep them from breaking; it will serve as an insurance against hangnails.

Before washing your hands, remove all the polish from the nails. Use a long, fine-grain emery file, covering the entire side to centre, then nipping off point so you form a V. Next, you must cut far down at the sides or you'll snarl

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By FRED KENNEY

(Toronto Globe and Mail Sports Writer)

Toronto, Feb. 20 — (CP) — Hockey stood out the news in the sports world this week, when the top-spot editorial in the Toronto Globe and Mail sports section read that Chic's hockey hockey's path with the Nugget's edi-tor's name heading the list. Sport-ing and hockey followers will be pleased to hear of Chic's hockey future and wish him success in his new undertaking and support the Nugget's editorial.

Currently enjoying one of the most successful seasons in the 126 North-ern Ontario city has ever had, the last 15 years in respect to hockey has been a successful one, especially in the senior, junior and promoted whole-heartedly by the Nugget's editor-in-chief, Norman Smith, who has given his wholehearted support to the sport in North Bay, all in all a fine story.

In his column "Short Stuff," Britt Brown suggests that in future the North Bay and District Hockey Association appoint some coach to last goal judge. It seems that in a game played at nearby Powassin last week, a 16-year-old goal judge proved to be a "homer," and jammed with the time clock. When it was discovered the 16-year-old was replaced, with a 14-year-old.

The game is between Parma Hawks and Scotland Hall of North Bay ended in a tie, but the Associ-ation refused to allow the game to stand the final standing. the game will be replayed — in North Bay.

Twenty Trades

Bill (Legs) Fraser, lanky goalie group of a couple of years ago, has been traded by the Montreal Maroons to the former Maritimer has seen service with the Montreal Royals for the season in Bobby Shore of R. Juniors Ready To Meet Stirling In the Playoffs

Although the Stirling-Marmora "Combines" eked out wins over the Belleville Juniors in the regular Junior O.H.A. schedule, Coach "Toots" Holway's locals have varsity opinion that they can defeat the "Combines." As a matter of fact it is rumored that the Belleville "Combines" beat Belleville at the Memorial Arena. Since that date the Belleville Juniors have not lost a single game in the "little rink."

Belleville Memorial Arena is the scene of the Belleville Juniors open the district O.H.A. finals versus the "Combines" with the second game slated for Stirling on Friday. In the group, but this year Belleville hopes to advance far into the provincial playdowns. The winner meets Kingston Victoria in the first round of Junior O.H.A. playdowns. A large gallery of Belleville fans will be at the Hume Arena tonight, so follow the crowds to the local igloo where hockey reigns supreme this week.

PLAYOFFS START IN ONE MONTH

(By The Canadian Press)

A month, from today and the Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto, will turn to the business of the Stanley Cup play-offs and if we can believe the experts, Toronto Maple Leafs will start one series against Canadiens of Montreal, while Detroit Red Wings will face off against Red Wings at Detroit.

These predictions are based on the supposition that Montreal, pro-tell, Toronto and Boston will finish in that order.

The Leafs club whose position seems at all shaky is the fourth-place Boston Bruins who have a four-point lead over the New York Rangers.

The Chicago Black Hawks also hand a chance of squeezing into the play-offs, being only three points behind Rangers. How-ever, with 10 games on hand, and the fine showing Sunday night when they held the pace-setting Canadiens to a scoreless draw, the Hawks' prospects are not too dim.

ACCEPTED FOR SERVICE

Houston, Tex., Feb. 20 — (AP) — Harry Gumbert, 31, veteran National League righthander, has been accepted for service in the Army and is awaiting call. Last year he hurler for St. Louis and Cincinnati of the National League and had a good season, winning 15 games for the light-hitting Reds.

PHIL TERRANOVA DEFEATS PEP

New York, Feb. 20 — (AP) — Willie Pep had too much pep for Phil Terranova at Madison Square Garden last night. At the end of 15 rounds Pep had retained his featherweight title by decisively outpointing the New York challenger over the 15-round route.

In hanging up his 86th triumph in 97 fights and his 34th in a row since losing to Chalky Wright in 1940 ago, Pep demonstrated to the crowd of 18,000 fans that he is still the boy he was too good for the game but not quite ready to quit.

A 1 to 6 favorite, Pep jabbed away almost at will, cutting Terranova's features to ribbons and piling up a lead on all cards.

Pep weighed 134 3/4 pounds, Terranova, 126.

Son of Riverman To Duplicate Feat

Niagara Falls, Ont., Feb. 20 — (CP) — William (Red) Hill, Jr., 21-year-old son of the famous river man who shot the Niagara River in a barrel 14 years ago, said today he plans to duplicate his father's feat next May 14, third anniversary of his death.

"I'm not doing this for myself," he said, explaining he hopes to erect a monument to his father with proceeds from his proposed feat.

He said he would make his trip in a steel barrel which was designed by his father.

What's Doing in Sport

Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va., finally won the Gulfport, Miss., $5,000 Open Golf Tourney yester-day from Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., with whom he had been tied at the end of regulation play Sunday after a 4-game playoff when they were deadlocked 71-71 after playing the 18th hole. Snead took the extra hole by one stroke.

Paul Courteau of Providence Reds retained the scoring lead of the American Hockey League by only one point in the statistics issued last night by President Maurice Podoloff at New Haven, Courteau has 52 points against 51 by Bob Crackle, with Bob Nelson of the Pirates in third place with 70 points.

The Schenectady, N.Y., Old Time Baseball Players Association last night launched a movement, by means of a petition, to get Babe Ruth back into the sport "either as a manager or a general manager of a Major League Club. The petition would be presented to the next baseball commissioner.

Danny Webb, Montreal feather-weight, continued his successful ring campaign in England last night by knocking out Bert Jackson of Fleetwood, holder of the North England title, in the fourth round of a scheduled eight-rounder at Royal Albert Hall, London.

After a lapse since 1941, the Lake Yacht Racing Association will re-sume competition on Lake Ontario this summer, it was announced last night. Richard C. Nicholson, jr., the new president, William P. Barrow of the Rochester Yacht Club who succeeds Robert Barr of Toronto, a regatta, to be held Aug. 1-3 at Burlington Bay, Hamilton, while a 100-mile cup race is also scheduled.

After Jack Robichon, Stratford defenseman, had been found to be over-age, Vics President Tiny Mc-Fadyen of Galt last night ordered a sudden death game at Galt to-morrow night between Kitchener and Stratford to decide the group junior semi-finals. The first Galt at the Classic City was award-ed to Kitchener, thus tieing up the round. The winner will meet Brantford Lions.

Jamie Statistics,

When the Stirling-Marmora "Combines" take to the ice in the little rink" O.H.A. finals versus the Belleville Juniors to-night, Coach "Toots" Holway's locals enjoy a much better season's scoring average than the Combines de-spite the fact the locals haven't beaten the Combines in two starts. In 13 junior O.H.A. games this season the Combines have scored 70 goals as their opponents have whipped 8 behind McIvor. On the other hand Belleville has played only 12 games during which the locals have scored a total of 81 goals while the local light has flashed only 31 times behind the locals' nine. This figure stamps Dick Fitzpatrick as the best goalie in the loop, having a little more than two and one-half goals average per game. On top of this Dick register-ed three shut outs and three other games when the opposition scored but one goal.

However, all of the credit can't be given to Fitzpatrick, as in front of him Billie Holway and Doug Green have proven themselves strong defensively and to them must go a goodly amount of the glory, along with Ranse Bush, who is at present in hospital. Against the Combines however, Green and Holway will have to bear the brunt of part of the Belleville defensive work. On the other hand the Combines boast of a strong pair of rear-guardsmen in Lavender and Uzman and it goes without saying district puck fans will see the fastest and greatest series between these two good junior clubs. Belle-ville sport fans should be equally as proud of the locals as the pat-rons in the Central Hastings area are of their favored Combines. However, on this score the Junior O.H.A. will be decided when these two teams pay off the group finals at the Hume Arena tonight. Already Stirling-Marmora fans have bought up a complete block of seats and will be down en mass to cheer their idols on. (Belleville fans please note.)

Flyers Draw Bleed.

After three ties in the R.C.A.F. finals the Trenton "Flyers" finally did pay-off, defeating Little Sheehers 7-4 to give the latter a three-goal margin to take into their fourth and final meeting Wednesday night. No matter what happens tomorrow night there must be a winner de-clared in order to be prepared for the No. 1 Training Command R.C.A.F. playdowns here Friday night versus the Camp Borden "Flyers."

As for the Bomber-Flyer series these two fast-skating sextettes have played exactly 300 minutes of hock-ey versus each other this season. Up until last night Trenton Bombers led in the scoring column by one goal, now after 300 minutes of com-petition the Flyers can claim a two goal margin, which proves how evenly matched these teams are. However, after last night's game the Trenton team do enjoy a three-goal margin to take into the next tussle.

Last night Trenton checked back stronger and were clearing much better around their net and de-served to win on the night's play. The Bombers kept Paul Raymond down to one goal and an assist, but forged such players as Frigon, Dutchak, Rambusky and Reinhardt along the way. However, there has been a marked absence of body-checking all through the series, and that goes for both teams.

Ed's Gift Tongue.

That Ed "Strangler" Lewis, wrest-ler and promoter, still owns a glib tongue was proven last night when the old champion was on a USO-O.A.C. wisecracker in the audience kept ribbing him. The Strangler let him rip for a few minutes, then announced he wanted to tell a story.

"I can't help but think of my dad tonight," he said. "One time we had a pet Jackass, and it was my job to feed him, bed him down and see that he didn't get out of the corral at night. But one night he did wander off and was killed by a freight train. My dad was very angry over my carelessness.

"Son," said my dad, 'that jackass will haunt you all your life.'

"And by Christopher, there he is right up there," shouted Lewis, pointing at the wisecracker.

FRANK E. LENNARD RE-ELECTED PRES.

Toronto, Feb. 20 — (CP) — Frank E. Lennard of Dundas, Ont., was re-elected president of the Ontario Rugby Football Union at its annual meeting following Harold Bailey of Toronto was re-elected secretary.

Other officers are: 1st vice-presi-dent, J. E. McLean, Hamilton; 2nd vice president, Dr. Alex Hammond, Kitchener; 3rd vice president, Ab Pye, Toronto. W. A. Pye and Percy Robinson of Toronto were named to the executive. Each club affiliat-ing with the union also will name a member to the executive.

The Union decided to recommend to the Canadian Rugby Union, which holds its annual meeting Saturday, that the single point for a kick to the deadline be abolished. However, the single point for a rouge would be retained. A similar recommendation is being made by the Quebec Rugby Football Union. However, the Ontario Union is sug-gesting that the ball be brought out to the 40-yard-line after a kick to the deadline, while the Quebec union proposed it be brought out to the 35-yard line.

First Belleville Wolf Cubs Win

The 1st Belleville Wolf Cubs bowled for revenge after their two successive defeats by the 4th Belle-ville and revenge they got with a final score of 2-4. Bruce Eryine in goal (with, a bit of help from de-fenceman Bernard Harvey) kept the score down with true skill. Skimming past him Don Barclay came in for three scores and John Thompson provided another.

The goals scored by the 1st Belle-ville Cubs were: Bill Spencer 2, Ron-ald Eaton 3, Gerald Starling 2, Bernard Harvey 1, bringing their total to nine.

With the 4th Belleville still one up in's best-out-of-seven series, the competition is becoming faster and more interesting. "Akela" Goodier refereed.

Horse Sense Bridge

LESSON NO. 611
By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Golly, Wally, Here we are at a fork in the road of bridge. Shall we go straight ahead to the next subject? Or first review some of the things we have passed? Which would you prefer?

So far in this series, we have come through all the opening bids and their responses. The next subjects are defensive bids, leads and discards, plays, and so on. Which would you like to start?

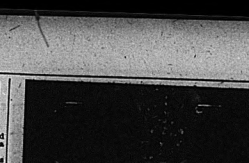
My mail tells me I have acquired a new reader or two. Also a couple of early skeptics seem to have taken a new lease on their bridge life. They need some help in certain subjects.

So while waiting for you to help me decide which new subject to start next, I'll get in a few more licks about past items. They may help you, too. And it could go on for months.

In these reviews, if I happen to rehash a subject you already know, don't be impatient. Congratulate yourself on how easily you learned it. Consider Poor Prune Palooka who may not have.

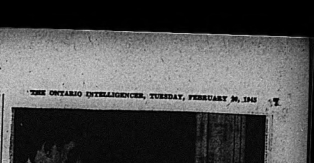
The thing to do about bridge is to first know what you are trying to do. What is it? You are trying to win the most number of points that you and your partner possibly can.

To do that, you and partner must reach the best contract for your combined hands. That calls for telling the truth to each other.



But no matter how good your intentions, you are unable to tell the truth unless you know what is the truth. Take a hand like this:

♠A 7 3
♥K 9 7 2
♦A Q 4
♣A J 3



There are players who would bid hearts, with a hand like that. Their intention would be to tell partner they have a biddable heart suit. But they believe they are honest about it.

A suit is biddable only if it has better than average in number of cards and in number of faces. This hearts suit is shy in both.

See what I mean?

Physical Fitness Branch To Serve as Link Between Sports Organizations, Govt.

Maj. Ian Eisenhardt Believes Department Has Specific Duty to Perform

By DARCY O'DONNELL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Feb. 20 — (CP) — The National Physical Fitness Branch of the Federal Health Department will in future serve as a link between Canadian sports organizations and the government, Maj. Ian Eisenhardt, director of Physical Fitness said today in an interview.

We will serve as the mouthpiece of sports to the government," said Maj. Eisenhardt. "We are asking sports organizations to outline how they can help our physical fitness program and how we can help them extend their organizations."

Previously, sports organizations had no direct link with the government, but with competitive games forming an integral part of the physical fitness program it was felt that such a link should be established.

Maj. Eisenhardt said he wished to thank all Canadian sports organizations to whom him within the next few weeks and suggest how the government could further their respective sports and get more people interested in them.

He asked that the letters be addressed to:

Maj. Ian Eisenhardt,
National Director of Physical Fitness,
Room 421,
Daily Building,
Ottawa.

He said he planned to take the letters with him to a meeting of the National Physical Fitness Council at Victoria, April 5 to 8, where they would be placed before the representatives from the nine provinces.

The council undoubtedly would draw up legislation based on the suggestions in the letters and would then present the proposed act at least on some of the proposals.

Maj. Eisenhardt said some sports organizations had already written him and most of them felt that Canada's sports pictures in the newspapers would stimulate interest. Few asked for financial assistance.

He hoped to see the day when all sports in Canada would be well organized as hockey. The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association had done splendid work in organizing hockey across Canada. There were thousands of hockey players in the Dominion and the words "hockey" and "Canada" were synonymous in the outside world.

One aim would be to get more people interested in lacrosse, soccer, football, sailing, skating, snowshoeing, figure skating, tennis, baseball and other competitive games.

The department planned to draw up record books on all Canadian sporting events. The books would contain Dominion, provincial, college and high school records and would give Canadian sports organizations something to shoot at when holding meets.

O.H.A. Committee Suspends Player, Orders New Series

Toronto, Feb. 20 —(CP)— Automatic suspension of player Kenneth M. Robitchin of the Stratford Jr. Junior "B" club for playing on an O.H.A. Intermediate "B" team here today by the Ontario Hockey Association committee, after a meeting here during the weekend.

All games in which Robitchin took part for the Stratford club were chalked off the records and a new play-off series between Stratford and Kitchener Junior B clubs been ordered, the sub-committee gave the Kitchener club the choice of playing a sudden-death game in Kitchener to forfeit their current series, having awarded the first play-off game, Stratford won 4 to 1, as Kitchener's game due to the fact that Robitchin had played. The player didn't play in Saturday night's game which was won by Stratford, 3 to 2. Kitchener elects to play a new series, they will have the choice of first and third game, if needed.

The case of goalie Bruce Philby, formerly of the Galt Juniors was reviewed and his indefinite suspension sustained.

Ontario Hockey Association declines to ask for the reinstatement of Hockey Association for a transfer for player Gordon Howe on behalf of the Galt Juniors. Howe, a juvenile, has been given release by the Saskatchewan branch.

Players in the senior series will be arranged in groups of six among Toronto Staffords are playing in Hamilton this evening and St. Catharines Saints have another scheduled game with the Hamilton club in Hamilton.

Captain James Sutherland of Kingston, past president of O.H.A. life member, reported that W. R. McKenzie of Toronto won the O.H.A. scholarship at Queen's University.

Trenton 'Flyers' Gain Three-Goal Lead in First Game Of Playoffs With 'Bombers'

Rap Home 5 Goals Without Reply After Losers Had Scored Two Goals

Showing a distinct edge going both ways the Trenton "Flyers" gained a three-goal lead to take into the final game of the Quinte R.C.A.F. service league playdowns on Wednesday night by downing the Mountain View "Bombers" 7 to 4 before over 2,400 hockey fans at the Hume arena Monday night. The two previously in this final series the teams had battled to a 3-3 draw, but last night was Trenton's night practically all the way.

Given after the Bombers had gained a two-goal margin by scoring twice in the first nine minutes of play, the Flyers drove back strong to gain the home five successive goals and lead 5-2 at the end of the initial frame. At the end of the middle session it was 5-3 as the Bombers scored the only goal of a hectic, fast-skating period, but the ultimate winners whipped home two early in the final period to clinch the piece and count in 7-4 winners. The final game of the series will be played tonight, eight at the Hume Arena with the Flyers enjoying a three-goal margin, a figure which hasn't proven a great obstacle in previous games. The ultimate winner of this series, which will be concluded tomorrow night, will meet the Camp Borden RCAF champions in a No. 1 Training Command district play-off here on Friday night.

Switched Lineups

Coach F/L Jimmie McCaa of the Bombers, made a switch in his starting front line combination between Dan Cowley and "Mac" MacMillan, which got results although the change would prove most disastrous in the end. The opening goal on a corner pass-out from Bob Chisholm, Back came the Bombers with another quick counter, when Frank Aube made sure of Duquette's pass to put the Bombers two up in less than four minutes of initial play. However, suddenly the Flyers began to roll with their pay-maker, Paul Raymond leading the way. Raymond set up a smart play for Frijon and the latter made no mistake as the Flyers got on the rapid succession the Trenton squad rapped home four more without retaliation as Williams, in the Bombers' net was given little protection. Perhaps the fact that all but the Bombers' defence aside and set up a perfect target for Danny Dutchek, who made the going ring.

Picked up Loose Puck

Sammy Rasminsky picked up a loose puck after Raymond had been stopped and Sammy flashed the red light. In vain the Bombers tried to score, but Rodger was easily as big as the Trenton nets and besides his teammates were doing splendid work. In a Trenton ganging attack, Frijon skated nonchalantly around the Bombers' defence and finding no teammate to pass to rifled the puck home quite as easily as he had brought it out of a corner.

In the second session Don Willson scored the only goal of the period on a pass from MacMullen as the Bombers picked up the only counter registered. However, the period was the property of Jack Pockey with play ranging toe-to-length as little scoring was seen back of the respective blue lines with the forwards taking over to give both goalies a busy session. Early in the end of this period Dutchek's been a penalty meted out, but due to the absence of any degree of body-checking by Jimmie Dinnie of the Bombers being the penalty ignored.

Goal Clinches Matters

To open the final session Trenton moved again to the offensive and were carrying the play, when Raymond was rewarded when he picked up Rasminsky's pass inside the Bombers' defence. Rasminsky's second goal clinched matters for the Flyers by passing home Reinhardt's pass, as the latter carried into position. Dan Cowley scored his second goal for the Bombers, taking MacMillen's mid-ertz pass and going around right defence to give the losers their fourth goal.

The Trenton team cleared well around their own net and cleared much more effectively than did the losing Bombers. Cowley with two, Aube and Wilbur Moore (ex Bombers' marksmen as MacMullen picked up two well-earned assists, Frijon and Dutchek each scored a brace for the Trenton Flyers, with Maclean, Raymond and Rasminsky getting one each, the latter also adding an assist, as did Sammy Rasminsky. The Bombers tried in vain to halt the Flyers' chief play-maker, Paul Raymond, and succeeded only partly to a minor degree, forgot there were other Trenton players like Dutchek, Rasminsky, Peck and principally Frijon on the loose.

Three goals means little between three two speedy clubs, which means all-out hockey in their next and final meeting Wednesday night.

The line-ups: Mountain View "Bombers" — Goal, Williams; defence, Dinnie and Brock; centre, Willson; wings, Cowley and MacMullen; subs, Duquette, Aube, Bourdeau, Beresford, Young, Chisholm and Cameron. Trenton "Flyers" — goal, Richardson; defence, Currie and Reinhardt; centre, Raymond; wings, Frijon and Rasminsky; subs, Hargrea, Peck, Thompson, Perras, Ray, Marshall, Merpaw and Dutchek.

Referees: St. Louis and Holway.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
(AP Sport Writer)

New York, Feb. 20 (AP)—At least two college basketball teams that played in the Boston Garden this winter hinted that they'd like to return for a March tournament, but no dates were available. . . . Even with two schoolboy tourneys coming up . . . Chances are they'll be starting one in another year or so —and maybe it's just as well that no plans were made for it now, as there seems to be a shortage of tournament-qualified teams . . . Utah, N.C.A.A. winner last spring, has the real pounds in the cage tourney setup . . . The Utes expect to qualify for the national playoffs again and feel they owe something to the N.C.A.A. for picking them as pitchhitters last year. But they feel they also may get a bid to the New York invitation event, which is more lucrative.

OSHAWA GENS. LOSE TO GALT, FALCONS BEATEN

Results of Games Leave St. Catharines and Galt Tied for Second

By the Canadian Press

For the second time this season the O.H.A. Junior "A" series, Toronto Young Rangers took a fall out of St. Catharines Falcons of Toronto ice last night when Eli Wilson's youthful band administered a 4-2 defeat to the Garden City outfit at Oshawa, the Jim Wires from Galt managed to stave off a double reverse late in the third period when they scored the only deadlock with less than two minutes to go after the Gemmils had been swarming all over the Galt net, his surprise counter enabling the visitors to carry off a 4-3 win.

The net result of the two decisions is that St. Catharines and Galt are tied for second place in the league standing with 32 points 14 points below the leading St. Michaels. Oshawa Generals are alone in fourth spot followed by Toronto King Rangers and Marlboros.

Dawson collected a brace for Young Rangers against Falcons, the other two going to Anderson and Pidlerny, while Seymour and Delmonte were the Falcon snipers.

At Oshawa, Curtis flashed two for a row to put Red Wings in front 2-0 in the first chukker and Kazarian made it 3-0 early in the second span. Shewchuck broke the ice for Oshawa at 11.10 in the second stanza and Taggart tied it up in the third with two in succession. Then, in the closing stages, Mousseau came through with the one that really counted.

RICHARD, LACH IN TIE FOR LEAD

Montreal, Feb. 20 (CP)—Maurice Richard and Elmer Lach of Canadiens are locked for leadership of the National Hockey League point race in official weekly figures released today. Canadiens are sure they will remain just about that way until the end of the year.

The pair are nine points up on line-mate Toe Blake, 11 up on their brother Hec Richard and 16 points ahead of fifth-place Syd Howe of Detroit.

Richard has 65 points on 44 goals and 21 assists, while Lach has a total from 20 goals and 45 assists so it seems likely also that Richard will be the first man in N.H.L. history to get 45 goals before Lach can reach the 20 mark he needs to set an assist record.

Cowley slipped into third place in the race during the week when he passed Blake. They held fifth spot comfortably, adding another point in his drive to hit the 50-mark for the season and thus Bill Nels Stewart's mark of 514 points in 15 N.H.L. seasons. Howe is four points off the mark.

Inter-Provincial Loop May Give Q.H.L. Trouble

Montreal, Feb. 20 (CP) — The Quebec senior hockey league, long dominators of the provincial senior picture, may run into some tough opposition when they tackle the young Inter-Provincial League in Quebec finals this spring. At least they'll be up against high-scoring aggregations.

The inter-prov circuit which started out on a player and a one-month schedule last fall, has been playing stronger right along until its supporters are ready now to predict that its representatives will give the Quebec league teams a tough time in the finals.

Fort Pitch, president of the National League, now in Washington, until last summer was "about" long enough men to play baseball and not to study," a highly authoritative baseball source said in New York.

President Will Harridge of the American League and Frick were named by the big league owners to confer with governmental officials on baseball's wartime problems.

Harridge travelled here today. Frick arrived last night.

PTE. JERRY SHEARS GAINS DECISION OVER H. MATHE

Joey Ferrier Scores Technical K.O. Over Charlie Basile of Buffalo

Toronto, Feb. 20 — (CP) — Pte. Jerry Shears of Toronto gained a decision over Harvey Mathe of Sudbury, Ont., in the five-round main bout of last night's boxing card at Massey Hall here. The hard-rock miner from Northern Ontario fought capably in the first and third rounds but was knocked down for the count of eight in the fourth by a jooping overarm right.

One of Canada's best amateur lightweights, Joey Ferrier of Turonto, a technical knockout over Charley Basile, of Buffalo, in the fourth round.

Ferrier had Basile down for an eight count in the second and then started him in the fourth in pursuit for the knockout blows. Referee Jackie Silvers stopped the fight

Big Leaues Are Seeking Showdown With War Mobilizer

Washington, Feb. 20 — (AP) — The big leagues are seeking a showdown with War Mobilizer James Byrnes on baseball's status.

CHAPTER 21

"Where shall I put him?" Terry shrank from Dixon.

"Here," said Al, giving Terry back the $60 check. He added fifty ten dollar bills. "Take him to your apartment and keep him well supplied," he touched the bottle of Scotch.

"How about Livia Clarkson?" Terry asked at the door.

"Leave me thinking to me," Al replied gently.

That evening Livia was having her dinner in bed as usual.

"Who was that?" she asked Mrs. Sayles. She had heard the doorbell ring. Livia pushed the tray aside and went to the window.

"The spe man!" she exclaimed. "He asked to see you, I said you had gone to bed, and he said to wake you up. I slammed the door shut in his face."

"Quiet, get him and tell him to wait in the living-room."

Livia put on slacks and a sweater, and entered the living-room. Jonas was picking his front teeth with his thumbnail and scrutinizing a photograph of her mother.

"Handsome woman," he said as Livia advanced and held out her hand. "I'll introduce myself. I'm Al Jonas."

"I'm," she said briefly, "the bookmaker's?"

"I didn't know I was so famous," he grinned and sprawled on the sofa.

"My hairdresser loses $10 a week to you regularly," Livia said crisply.

He spread his hands. "But think of the fun she has. Nothing like a good race for excitement."

"How much money does Dixon Dillon owe you?" Livia said sharply.

"This place you have down here —and in a good— neighborhood."

"I've told you about Dixon Dillon," Livia continued. "Terry Davidson said he owed you $3,000 or so—"

"Terry's hard for figures is bad. Your dad owes me $10,000, and $50-a-week payments is taking too long."

"But I can't afford any more," Livia said helplessly.

"That's no way for the daughter of a fine upstanding man to talk," said Al reproachfully. He brought out a check and paper from his pockets. "Let's see." He wrote some figures. "Say, pet you get me, and it will be all cleared up in three months."

"You think I'm as crazy as my father?"

"Oh, no. That's why I'll expect your check for $200 next Thursday. You get paid Wednesday, don't you? And," he added at the door, "Make it payable to me. We don't need Mr. Davidson now."

"I didn't get a cent."

He came back into the room.

"And," Livia continued angrily, "if you bother me again, I'll turn the whole thing over to the police."

"I have a friend on a downtown paper," Al grinned. "It would make a good story. Woman in Livia, the daughter of Earl Dixon, famous bookie, ex-jail bird—"

"But this is blackmail!"

"We don't say that word, lady." His grey eyes looked conspiratorially beyond her, "I'll expect the check on Thursday?"

"Wait a minute," Livia begged. Her thoughts whirled helplessly. She wondered how to think. "I'd like to see my father."

One Best Home Way To

BUILD UP RED BLOOD

To Get More Strength If You Lack Blood Iron!

Men girls who suffer from simple anemia or who lose much strength during monthly periods that you can safely feel tired, weak, "dragged out" due to lack of blood-iron—try Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound TABLETS.

Pinkham's Tablets are one of the most effective blood-iron tonics you can buy to help build up red blood to give more strength and energy—this in spite of their low price!

Just try them for 30 days—then see if you don't feel much better! Follow label directions. Well worth trying!

Lydia Pinkham's TABLETS

It was all right with Al. She could see him in his office any time she liked.

"Tomorrow evening?" she said. That was okay, too.

Somehow the day passed, and in the absorption of her role Livia tried to forget the coming ordeal. But it was hard to keep her mind on the pictures.

When she left the studio, she drove to Jonas' office. A few men were sitting at the bar of the club and they looked at her curiously.

"Where is Mr. Jonas?" she asked the barkeeper.

"Who wants him?" he asked. She hesitated.

"That's all right," said the voice of Jonas suddenly. He was framed in the doorway to the left of the bar. She had not heard the door open, and the fear made her startled.

"Come right in," he invited, and Livia had the feeling that if she once went into the room she would never come out again.

The room was sprawled on a worn, brown leather couch. She thought he was asleep, but his eyes suddenly opened with difficulty and compassed her form. He smiled and struggled to his feet.

"Livia! My daughter," he said to Jonas. "I'm afraid," he continued as Livia stared without speaking. "I'm afraid she does not approve of my habits and right." She gave a noble gesture, "I'll never touch the stuff again."

He staggered to the table, took a long swallow from the bottle, slipped against the table and banged his head. Jonas caught him as he slid to the floor. One of the men at the bar came in.

"Get some of the boys and take him home," Jonas commanded.

"All right, I'll pay," Livia told Jonas.

"Sign here." He gave her a pen. She glanced over the typewritten document.

"How will I know you won't want more money?" she asked him.

"I give you my word."

"As a gentleman?" she asked sarcastically.

"No," he said and grinned. "As a business man. I don't want to worry you—too much. You've got to make good in this contract—and that I have a $10,000 stake in your success."

Two days later Fordyce bawled her out before everyone on the set. "You'll never be an actress," he shouted. "Dye want me to get Alice Delaware for the part? He immediately regretted saying it. But Livia was enough to try the patience of a saint. Perhaps Bruce knew what was the matter.

"I guess it's a case of nerves," Bruce said, and then suggested, "But don't be of my business, of course but why don't you go a bit easier with her? I think she's just scared of the part."

"All right," Fordyce agreed.

But it made no difference whether he was harsh or kind. The spark that Livia had shown in the first weeks of production was gone. And the front office demanded that Livia be removed from the picture.

"But Charlie," Ronald Dunne protested, waving his long cigarette holder, "That's a two million-dollar production. The girl is no good. What are you trying to do— ruin the whole company?"

They were in the production room to see the "rushes" of the day. Livia's performance was terrible. Even Fordyce had to admit that now. But she had been doing fine until a few days ago. What was the matter with her?

"I guess she couldn't take it—it was too much," Fordyce thought.

"If we get rid of her now," Dunne said, "I'll bet right, we lose a hundred thousand dollars, but that's better than losing two million."

"Give me another week with her alone," Fordyce said. "If I don't snap out of it then, we'll get another actress."

"Another week—that means more good money after bad. All right, I'll give you a week, but get me Alice Delaware," said Dunne grimly.

"OKAY, you can get Alice Delaware," Fordyce thought.

He was kinder to Livia the next day. There were just a few close-ups before lunch. He came into her dressing-room.

"I wish you'd tell me what's the matter," he said gently.

"Nothing's the matter," she said and burst into tears. He waited in silence. "I guess I'm overtired," she said finally.

"Would you like to go home?"

"But the picture—"

"This isn't doing the picture much good, Livia. If you're overtired, this afternoon first, I can shoot around you today and tomorrow. Go home now and don't think of the picture at all. Then we'll start again all fresh, hey?"

She smiled gratefully through her tears.

But instead of going home Livia drove to Al Jonas' office. She had a plan for her father. Someone on the set had mentioned a sanitarium in Santa Barbara with a reputation for curing the worst drunkards.

Jonas grinned while she expounded her plan.

"It's for him to decide," he said. "All right. Where is he? I'd like to put in a word to him," Livia said.

"He's pretty drunk now," Jonas warned her. "But if you really want to see him, Livia, I'll take you to him myself."

They drove to Terry's apartment. There were two other men with them. They were silent until Livia put her hand on the leather flap at the back of the driver's seat.

"Sir," said the man next to her sharply. Jonas grinned and pulled up the flap revealing a small arsenal of guns. Livia shrank back with a cry.

"Nothing to get nervous about," Jonas assured her. "You're safe— you're in my play ball."

Livia decided to tell Bruce the whole story. She was frightened. These men were killers as well as gamblers. Perhaps Bruce could help her. She hesitated to see him again, but the exhilaration of confession already lifted some of the fear in her heart.

Terry opened the door.

"I'm having trouble with him," he said to Jonas. Then he saw Livia. He drew back into the shadows of the apartment. Jonas beckoned Livia to follow.

Her father was sitting in an armchair, holding his head between his hands. She thought he was drunk but the eyes were clear he turned to her was almost sober.

"What are you doing here?" he said and came toward her. She stepped back a little. If Dixon saw the aversion on her face, he ignored it.

"What d'ye mean by bringing her here?" he demanded angrily.

"I wanted to come," Livia interposed.

"Yeah," said Jonas. "She has a scheme to cure you, Dixon. Listen it might do you good."

"Is there anything left in that bottle?" Dixon asked Terry.

"Plenty, sir," Livia supplicated, "hear what I have to say first—please." He looked away and muttered something, and Livia did not ask for the drink again.

"Let's all sit down and be cosy," Al boomed.

Dixon went to the window and tapped nervously on the blind. He turned when Livia would go. He was sure there was something left in the bottle. Forgetfulness—that's all he wanted. He'd do anything that wanted of him—except killing of himself. Suicide was the only way to get rid Scotch. What had Livia been talking about just before Livia came in? He could not remember. He confused these days.

"I wouldn't like to be a director again, making good pictures?" Livia's father was saying.

"Sure. Who wouldn't?" he replied. "Have a job for me?"

"No, but if you got him conditions," Dixon laughed.

"I'm afraid it would take too long, my dear."

"I know a place in Santa Barbara," Livia began eagerly. Dixon frowned savagely.

"Leave me alone, d'ye hear?" Then his shoulders slumped. "It's no use, Livia. I've tried all that. It's no use and I wouldn't do it even if I could."

"Sure you will," said Jonas. He looked significantly at Terry, who stared back, then nodded his head in understanding.

"Sure will he said and whispered something into Dixon's ear.

"I'll try the sanitarium," he said. He looked at him with suspicion and disbelief. "Really I will." How's the picture coming?" Dixon asked with an obviously painful attempt to change the conversation.

"Fine," said Jonas. Livia said slowly, "Why do you live here with Terry?" she asked Dixon. One of the men with Jonas made a move toward Livia, but Jonas shook his head.

"For Pete's sake, give me a drink someone," Dixon's voice trembled. Terry looked at Jonas.

"Sure give him a drink — it's okay," he said to Livia. "You have to wean Dixon gently—and the sanitarium is the best of every thing." Dixon felt better after allowing the Scotch.

"I'll start the cure on Monday," he promised grimly. It was now Thursday. And with this Livia had to be content.

She felt better and slept well for the first time in a week. Before going to sleep she called Bruce.

"Charles told me you're not feeling well" he said.

"What are you doing for lunch tomorrow?" she asked. "I was overdoing it—I'll be all right soon."

"I'll see you certainly sound more cheerful—"

"I am. Let's lunch here."

"Swell."

"I'm in a sort of jam—I want to tell you about it."

"That's what Charles thought. His said you were in some jam, and I said, 'Oh, no, if she were she'd tell me about it.'"

"You were both right. One o'clock tomorrow?"

"Okay."

The Filipino butler brought her breakfast on a silver tray. Livia read the papers, laughed at an erroneous item in a movie column that she was a distant relative of the author of "Honoria Lewis". "Which" said the columnist, "is one of those coincidences in which Hollywood abounds."

"I'll certainly does," said Livia.

She lay in the tub a long while, thinking of her father and the sanitarium. If he were cured, he might become a father she could be proud of instead of being so horribly ashamed.

"I'm a snob," she told herself. But Jonas was right. Her relationship with the drunken derelict if publicized would destroy the hope of her blossoming career beyond redemption. Bruce would advise her He arrived at 1:45 and they went into the dining-room.

"Now, what is it?" Bruce said.

"We'll eat first. I don't want to spoil your digestion," Livia smiled at him. She wore a green silk house-coat emphasizing the soft contours of her figure.

"What are you trying to do— break me down?" Bruce asked. "How am I going to rescue a damsel in distress—that's you—or rather, your double—from the sinking ship this afternoon with you looking like Cleopatra?" and he chanted softly, "Other women clov the appetites they feed, but she makes hungry where most she satisfies."

"If you're talking about food— you'd better shut up," Livia warned.

On their way from the hall to the living-room Livia idly picked up the early afternoon paper. Bruce had brought with him. A headline in black letters arrested her—Earl Dixon, Famous Film Director, Charged With Murder—the words roared-Jo Livia's ears.

"What's the matter?" Bruce caught her as she swayed. He half-saw Livia's face, stricken and staring blankly at the headline, and he took the newspaper from her, gently escorting her to a chair.

It was very quiet in the room, and Livia closed her eyes. This was the end, of course. Everything would come out. Her father a murderer? It was hard to connect that weak, sodden face with anything as vicious and brutal as murder.

Bruce looked at the picture of Dixon on the front page. It showed him at the height of his career as a director. He wore a riding outfit and carried a megaphone in his hand. The face was handsome, young and alert. The expression in the eyes reminded Bruce of someone—Livia! Was Livia related to the director? She had told him her father was dead. He looked from the photograph to Livia again. He knew that she was in challenging look, the same eagerness.

ENJOYS 3 MEALS EVERY DAY NEVER NEEDS DOSE OF SODA

Belleville Man Has No Sign of Indigestion, Gas, Bloat, Heartburn or Shortness of Breath. Aches and Pains Are Gone. Praises Synteda For Splendid Relief.

"Besides taking several different kinds of stomach powders, I think I have eaten more baking soda in the past five years than any man on earth," said J. William Belec, a well known resident of Belleville, Ontario, in a recent statement.

"My trouble was indigestion, sour acid stomach, awful gas bloating and shortness of breath. It didn't make any difference what I ate, I had gas and trouble all the time. I would get up 4 or 5 times a day. It would keep me awake while, then I got worse than ever. I would have dizzy spells and feel weak, nervous and upset in my head. Sometimes I felt so bad I didn't would get sick and throw up. I got very nervous and began to feel tired out all the time.

"Then I was telling my friend of mine how I felt and he got me to try Synteda, and I decided to try it. That is two years ago and that medical discovery of my stomach so that I haven't had to take a dose of soda since. I eat three big meals every day and never have any indigestion, gas, sour stomach or any distress at all. Synteda is a great relief for aches and the other aches and pains I had. I am glad to tell others what Synteda has done for me."

Yes, Synteda has helped many people in this same way. Made entirely from the pure liquid extract of 13 of Nature's Finest Herbs and Roots, Synteda acts on the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels. It aids in the elimination of excess acids and poisonous waste matter from the system and promotes better assimilation of food for increased strength and energy.

Synteda is sold and recommended in Belleville by Nelsen, the Druggist. P14-20

CANUCKS, YANKS FREED BY REDS, REACH MOSCOW

Number Unknown but Most Freed in Evacuation at Szubin

By DANIEL DE LUCE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Moscow, Feb. 20 (AP) — The rapid advance of Russian armies has caused the liberation of many United States officers and men from German prison camps despite enemy attempts to move the allie prisoners from threatened areas.

(A number of Canadian army men have also reached Moscow along with American and British prisoners formerly held by the Germans, but full details of the movement are not yet available.)

Freeing of the Americans was disclosed by Maj.-Gen. J. Russell Deane, chief of U.S. military mission in Moscow. He also said he had ordered every detachment to proceed to Lublin, where some of the liberated prisoners have assembled, to "conserve its treasure" their repatriation. Other groups of prisoners are known to be scattered in Prags and farther west.

Precisely how Americans was disclosed by Maj.-Gen. J. Russell Deane, chief of U.S. military mission in Moscow. He also said he had ordered every detachment to proceed to Lublin, where some of the liberated prisoners have assembled, to "conserve its treasure" their repatriation. Other groups of prisoners are known to be scattered in Prags and farther west.

Precisely how Americans was not estimated, but officers alone among the Americans now in the care of Poles and the Russians. Most of the officers left their liberation in the confusion of the German evacuation of the prison camp at Szubin, near Bydgoszcz. Canadians held in that area are believed to have been herded principally at Stalag 8B, 23 and 344.

Medical Treatment by Poles and Russians.

Statements of our liberated soldiers and airmen all attest to fine treatment by the Poles and Russians whether military or civilian," Gen. Deane said. "Within their means our Allies have given everything they could to be kind, merciful and friendly."

Liberated prisoners reaching Poles and Germans had provided only a starvation diet for liberated officers and men alike. They asserted a situation antagonistic to mass murder would have resulted if the Germans had not also implemented the diet.

Deane estimated the daily ration in the German camps contained 1,000 calories, 1,300 calories, although 1,800 calories is the recognized minimum, even for bedridden persons.

Two-thirds of a pound of bread and a few potatoes formed food staple. Meat theoretically amounted to one-fifth pound but actually the ration barely flavored soup for the meal. Breakfast was a cup of hot water. Then a few additional potatoes and a dab of margarine formed the daily ration.

Some Fighting Alongside Russians

Moscow, Feb. 20 (CP) — Some American soldiers who escaped from German prison camps during the advance of the Red Army through Poland now are fighting alongside Russian troops inside Germany, using borrowed Russian weapons and Russian front point system" of sign language that they have learned, Capt. Ernest Gruenberg of New York said today.

"I know of one personally and they're still with us," said Gruenberg, an American who got into Germany when his German guards fled. "His name is Captain Dinkleberg. He got into Germany with the Russians.

(The German radio recently said that an American airman had been captured in the Oder River bridgehead east of Berlin.)

Hearing the story, Maj.-Gen. J. Russell Deane, chief of the United

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Feb. 20 (CP)—Index gains were posted by the industrials and golds at today's session. Volume was sizable at 718,000 shares for the first three hours.

Gains were posted in the gold group by McIntyre, Giant Yellowknife, Chesterville, Malartic Gold Fields, Macassa and Lake Shore. Cockshutt and moderate weakness was shown by Wright-Hargreaves, Cochenour Willans, Bear, Stratton and Preston.

Mining Corporation advanced 13 cents in the list.

The paper, steel and utility groups were stronger. C.P.R. changed hands in volume with the price firm at 15.

MONTREAL LIVESTOCK

Montreal, Feb. 20 — (CP)—Prices on all classes were steady to firm today on the livestock markets. Receipts: cattle 1,000; lambs 10; hogs 374; calves 167.

Receipts of cattle were made up of cows and bulls. Butcher cows ranged from 6.25 to a top of 9.50. Veal calves sold at 13.00. Good veals were mostly 16. Lambs offered were mostly good and bright 11-11.50. Sheep were 3-8.50.

The bulk of the hogs was sold at 18.25-18.35 with an odd sale at 18.50 for grade A. Sows brought 15-15.50.

HOGS

Toronto, Feb. 20 (CP)—Dressed weight were up 10 cents at Hamilton and prices were steady at other bacon-hog markets reports Canada Packers Limited. Sales were delivered, Hamilton $17.90; Barrie and Hull $17.75; Stratford, Brantford, Kitchener and Woodstock, farmers $17.50, to truckers $17.65.

Dairy Production For January

The production of creamery butter in Ontario during January amounted to 2,400,000 pounds, representing an increase of 15.5% over January 1944, when the output amounted to 2,067,000 pounds. This output was up in all sections of Ontario, states the monthly report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Cheddar cheese production shows a decrease from the level of a year ago. The January output is reported at 1,440,000 pounds as against 1,530,000 pounds in 1944, a decrease of 4.7%.

The quantity manufactured by districts increased in Western Ontario from 293,000 pounds to 297,000; declined in Southern Ontario from 886,000 to 804,000 pounds, in Central Ontario from 1,000,000 to 1,000,000 pounds, and in Eastern Ontario from 220,000 to 240,000 pounds; and in Northern Ontario from 19,000 to 20,000 pounds.

The amount of milk used in the manufacture of creamery butter and Cheddar cheese during January this year was 110,178,000 pounds or 5.4% more than in January 1944, when 96,980,000 pounds were required.

Creamery butter stocks in warehouses in the City of Toronto on February 1st, amounted to 2,000,000 pounds. This was considerably lower than a month earlier when stocks totalled 3,352,000 pounds, and somewhat more than a year ago when the figure was 1,531,000 pounds. Dairy factories throughout the province had 3,947,000 pounds of creamery butter on hand at February 1st, as against 3,903,000 pounds at January 1st, 1945, and 2,693,000 pounds at February 1st, 1944.

States military mission in Moscow smiled.

"You know how it is, General," grinned Gruenberg. "When you finally get away from a prison camp and a friendly fellow like Deane offers you a ride in a tank and an opportunity to fight the Germans you just do it."

STOCK MARKET

New York, Feb. 20 (AP) — The forward swing to new high ground ended today's stock market although many leaders made more or less restrained by profit taking at the day's highest. While a smattering of issues was in evidence during the closing hour, fractional advances predominated.

Up to the closing Canadian stocks were Hiram Walker 1½ and Distillers Seagrams, each up 1-8, and Dome Mines, up 1-4. Off 1-8 were Canada Malartic and Noranda.

Trading most of the time included N. Y. Central, Great Northern, Southern Pac., Int. Harvester, Du. Pont, American Telephone, Canadian Pacific, Union Carbide and Johns-Manville. Bonds were irregular.

Commodities turned a shade irregular.

TINY IWO JIMA ABLAZE FROM ONE END TO ANOTHER

Graphic Picture of Fighting Is Seen from Bomber Over Island

By WILLIAM F. TYREE

Aboard a Navy Bomber Over Iwo Jima, Feb. 20 (AP) — Tiny Iwo Jima was ablaze from end to end today as the Japs poured down into its battle smoke to watch what was left of Marines plow ashore from an armada of warships ready for a showdown fight in the enemy's own backyard.

From 1,000 feet over the beachhead I saw the first wave of the Marines had a terrific battle on their hands.

As the battleships, cruisers and destroyers circled endlessly, sending shells screaming into the volcanic slopes of the island, I could see Marine landing craft over on the rocky southeastern beach. Some were headed toward the airstrip.

Japanese were fighting back from their underground defenses. Below us was a group of Mount Suribachi's crater at the south end of the island and around the northern wooded section, Japanese were under bursts of anti-aircraft fire.

Over the center of the island, hundreds of small craft moved toward the beaches, unloading a fierce barrage of thousands of rockets.

Scores of Marines followed within 40 minutes.

Two Looks Like Landing Park Chez

Two Navy fighter planes covered this entire island. Two Navy bombers like the one I was in flew over and over. Above us were Mustang fighters, and jet-like planes swept in under us, strafing and bombing every installation they could find.

One fighter crashed in flames just inland from where the Marines struggled to consolidate their beachhead. In the calm waters off the island, hundreds of ships maneuvered endlessly while old pre-war battleships—the New York, Nevada, Arkansas, Idaho and Tennessee—steamed in to support their squat gun platforms.

M. F. HEPBURN CHALLENGES DREW ON ANSWER GIVEN

Not "Proper Answer" Says Liberal Leader to Question on Family Allowance Bill

Toronto, Feb. 20 — (CP)—Mitchell F. Hepburn, onetime Ontario Premier who rejoined the Liberal party last fall, today said the answer to the question "reactionary" Progressive Conservative party leader yesterday carried his campaign to the floor of the Legislature.

The first House conflict between the Liberal House Leader and Premier Drew since the formation of the latter's Progressive Conservative government, turned on the controversial Federal Family Allowance Act.

A. A. MacLeod (Leb-Prog — Toronto Bellwoods) recalled a reference of Mr. Drew's of the measure as "iniquitous legislation," asked if that's were still the Ontario Government's attitude and if the statement proposed to block enforcement of the Act.

When the Premier replied that the question was answered with "at the proper time," Mr. Hepburn interjected that Mr. Drew after the Labor-Progressive Convention a "proper" answer.

Times Has Come

"We are sick and tired of the Premier's dilatory tactics," he said. "The time has come for challenges. Members must be members."

Premier Drew had persisted in these tactics despite the "sympathetic consideration" of non-government House members, "but certainly Legislature nor old man Ontario is going to be treated as identified on the twisted cross of reactionary Liberalism."

This final statement drew laughter from the government benches. Liberal members applauded the new C.C.F. were silent.

Mr. Hepburn, in setting the Legislature gave second reading to the Family Allowance Act, moved that substitute to direct ballot for the ballot vote for Ontario servicemen, including members of auxiliary services, in wartime elections.

Wards 'Crisis' Removed

E. B. Jolliffe, leader of the official C.C.F. opposition, urged action by the government to relieve the present "crisis" in food supply and distribution. The situation was such, he said, that another cold spell could bring "suffering to tens of thousands of homes throughout the province."

Premier Drew replied that his government was ready to alleviate the situation but fuel supply was entirely within Dominion authority under the War Measures Act. The Ontario government would continue to press for action by Federal authorities.

Number of Amendments

Attorney-General Blackwell, who introduced the active service electors measure, said a number of amendments — including provision for proxy voting by prisoners of war — would be introduced when the bill reached committee stage.

Mr. Jolliffe said the opposition favored the principle of the bill but did not agree to the section setting out that regulations of the measure would be drawn up by the chief election officer, said a number.

Today the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne is to be moved by Charles H. Martin (PC—Dufferin-Simcoe) who was elected to a Legislature seat in 1943 and is in the one by-election which has been held since the provincial general election of 1943. H. R. Scott (PC—Wellington) is scheduled to second the address.

It is expected Mr. Jolliffe will open debate on the Throne Speech tomorrow and that he will be followed by Mr. Hepburn, Liberal Progressive House Leader. Mr. Hepburn is expected to speak in the debate Thursday.

Say Plans Laid To Scuttle What's Left Of German Fleet

London, Feb. 20 — (CP) — The Moscow radio, quoting a Zurich dispatch from Stockholm, asserted yesterday the Germans had organized special demolition squads in Oslo and Bremen in anticipation of scuttling what remains of the German fleet.

Gasoline Rations Are Unchanged For Coming Year

Ottawa, Feb. 20 (CP) — Gasoline rations for Canadian motorists will remain unchanged for the year beginning April 1, with little prospect of an early increase, Transport Minister Howe announced last night.

Under the present ration, each motor car registered for highway use is allowed an "AA" category license good for 40 units or 120 gallons of gasoline.

Special categories now in effect will remain basically the same but motorists who believed they are entitled to special categories must make a new application.

New gasoline ration books went on sale in a number of centres yesterday and will be available throughout Canada shortly.

Officials said 245 licence plates must be purchased before a new number will be issued.

Mr. Howe said in his statement that no improvement has been made in the Allied situation since last year, with the war "tremendous" demands of Allied oil resources.

MUSTARD TREATMENT HELPS LESSEN PAIN OF Chest Congestion

"I have had severe chest congestions on three occasions," Mr. L. Goertz of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan revealed. "The first occurance was very painful, for I had not learned what to do, but simply suffered with every breath. The second time I got an attack, my mother sent for the doctor, but began before his arrival to apply mustard poultices. She used one part of mustard to four of flour. When the doctor came, he ordered these poultices to be continued. They eased the pain in a short time and helped me recover much more quickly."

Mustard Quick First Aid for Colds, Too

At the first symptoms of colds or chills, it is wise to get busy with mustard in either poultice or bath form. Mustard helps bring quick, safe relief from the discomfort caused by winter infections, it helps to prevent serious complications from developing as a result of such infections. Never leave on a mustard poultice for longer than twenty minutes. When symptoms are serious, however, it is wise to call your doctor.

Thousands Find Mustard Helps Alleviate Painful Ailments

All across Canada, many who once suffered anguish from rheumatism, sciatica, neuritis, and neuralgia, have learned to turn to mustard to help secure relief. Mustard poultices and mustard baths prove time and time again the safe, quick way to help ward off needless pain.

Movies at Sea Grip Navymen

Ottawa, Feb. 20 — (CP) — The sea-going movies of the turbulent North Atlantic are just as popular as the land theatres, even if it does sometimes take two men to hold down the projector and another to keep the screen steady on a rolling sea.

Few theatres anywhere serve a better purpose than the makeshift layouts in the mess decks of 17B ships of the Royal Canadian Navy where 16 mm. copies of major film productions are shown in all weather and latitudes from Halifax to North Russia.

These films for navy men are rented by the Royal Canadian Navy Film Society, a non-profit organization run entirely within the naval service to provide naval officers and ratings with film entertainment wherever they may be.

Films are rented by the ships and at sea and in remote ports are passed on from ship to ship.

Navymen in ships pay five cents each to rent the films they take to sea with them. This assessment works out to approximately $4 for a minesweeper and $19 for a destroyer. The cost in each case is fooled by the ship's canteen fund so the cash out-of-pocket expense to the man in the lower deck is nil.

Frankford

Frankford — The service to celebrate the World's Day of Prayer was held in the United Church Friday afternoon, Feb. 13th., a good representation from each of the churches of the town was present for the impressive service. The program for this world-wide prayer service was prepared by the Inter-Board Committee of the Women's Missionary Societies of Canada, and was taken on the theme "That we should show forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvelous light," 1 Peter 2:9. The scripture from 1 Peter 1:3-6 was read by Mrs. P. E. Bonisteel.

Mrs. J. R. Finnigan gave a brief paper concerning the origin and the meaning of this World Day of Prayer. She said that it was started in Canada in 1930 and by the year 1937 had become a world-wide day of intercession, and was celebrated in churches in occupied countries in Europe the year the program was censored leaving out all portions save any mention of the made of the war. In a few words she outlined the meaning of prayer and the part it plays and will continue to play in keeping the church of the Lord Jesus Christ the pillar of the world at peace with one another.

Mrs. J. A. Warren contributed a vocal solo "Prayer." The Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison. Short periods of silent prayer were followed by brief extemporaneous prayers by Mrs. Cuttle and Mrs. Ellsworth.

The offering was taken by Mrs. R. J. Madill and Mrs. J. A. Warren. The Dedication Scripture was read by Mrs. J. J. Stickle and all repeated the dedicatory prayer in unison.

The singing of "The Day Thou Gavest, Lord is Ended" closed this prayer service which was held during one end of the world to the other uniting in all forty hours. The prayer of benediction was read by Mrs. Powell.

ON THE NIGHT of March 31, 1942, Ford of Canada ceased making automobiles for civilians. There was a risk that many Ford dealers thus deprived of their revenue from new car sales, would seek some other means of livelihood. The character of the individual Ford dealers prevented this from happening. Thousands of Ford owners have continued to receive repair service and civilian transportation has been maintained.

Ford dealers are men of resolution. Faced with this perplexing problem each one exercised his own private judgment, drew on his experience as a member of the Ford organization and charted his course for the future.

Events have sorely tried these men. But, once again, it has been proven that the strong are not beaten by difficulties—that for every one able to stand prosperity, there are a hundred who will stand adversity. So do character and resolution make organizations that endure.

On March 31, 1942, Ford of Canada had seven hundred dealers. There are still seven hundred.

GERMAN FORTRESS CITY OF GOCH CAPTURED REDS SLASH FRANKFURT'S LIFELINES TO BERLIN

Fortress Town On W. Bank of Oder Now Under Siege

Marshal Konev Continues Drive on Guben Stronghold

London, Feb. 21 (CP)—Red Army troops have captured the Polish town of Oesig, 17 miles northwest of Chojnice and 45 miles from Danzig, Premier Stalin announced today.

The city, on the main Danzig-Stettin railroad, was taken by troops of Marshal Konstantine K. Rokossovsky's Red White Russian Army.

To the south, Marshal Zhukov's troops, fighting to encircle Frankfurt on the Oder river 36 miles east of Berlin, have "temporarily" slashed the city's lifelines to the capital, a German military commentator said today.

The fortress town on the west bank of the Oder is under siege to the constant hammering of Russian artillery and bombers, said the report from Berlin. The city's fall, the ocean war reporter, Hans Arnim, .

Marshal Ivan Konev's 1st Ukraine Army continued to drive steadily westward toward the Neisse river stronghold of Guben and the southern end of Berlin's eastern defence wall along the Oder.

10-Mile Advance

Advancing as much as 10 miles through a heavily-forested region in the area of persistent German counter-attacks, Marshal Ivan S. Konev's troops yesterday captured the hamlet of Schegsth, eight miles east of Guben and 57 southeast of Berlin.

Four miles to the north Marshal Konev's right flank swept through Neuendorf, on the southern bank of the Oder five miles west of capital Sorau, and rolled on toward the point seven miles away where the Oder flows into the Neisse before swerving northward past Furstenberg, Frankfurt and Kustrin.

Capture of Crossen, announced in last night's Moscow communique, firmly joined Marshal Konev's northern flank to the southern prong of the front held and steadily strengthened for many weeks by Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's 1st White Russian Army east of the Oder.

Break Into Breslau

Marshal Konev appeared about to draw up with Marshal Rokossovsky by reaching the Neisse river.

In addition to Crossen, Moscow announced capture of two other large towns, Furstenberg and Charlottanstadt, and more than 80 populated places by Marshal Konev's troops.

More than 4,000 Germans were killed and 33 tanks knocked out as the enemy reinforced his defences at Christianstadt, Moscow announced. Survivors were scattered through the forests east of Guben.

The Germans reported that Soviet troops had broken into the town "and passed" and encircled Oder river cities of Frankfurt and Guben, but declared they were repulsed. Berlin asserted the Russians penetrated and spurred a counter ultimatum.

Gains of up to 12 miles were registered yesterday by Red Army forces driving through the Polish Corridor toward the Baltic port of Danzig. Fifty Polish Corridor towns were captured.

The Moscow communique said 1,500 Germans were killed and nine tanks and 30 cannon destroyed as encircled Graudenz, now 20 miles behind the Polish Corridor battle line. The Russians declared another 2,000 enemy troops were killed in hard fighting on the Samland Peninsula northeast of Koenigsberg, East Prussian capital.

In the mountains of Czechoslovakia some 60 miles due north of Budapest, Red army troops opened up a new drive, capturing more than 60 communities and advancing northwestward to within 12 miles of Banska Bystrica. Northwest of Budapest in the Danube valley route to Vienna the Russians were fighting on German counter-attacks east of Szekesfehervar.

GERMAN CLAIM UNCONFIRMED

London, Feb. 21 — (Reuters)—The German Transocean agency claimed last night that German torpedoes carrying aircraft yesterday sank 7 merchantmen, totalling 5,700 tons, two light cruisers and two destroyers, part of an Allied convoy on its way to Britain from Murmansk, Russia. There was no Allied confirmation.

Germans Guilty of Military Offences Formed Into 'Battalions of Damned'

By JAMES M. LONG
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Allied Supreme Headquarters, Paris, Feb. 21 (AP)—Hitler's army now is giving its suicide assignments to battalions of the damned, made up of German soldiers convicted of military offences, it was learned authoritatively today.

Instead of going to prison, they go back to the front.

Such forces are known to have been used against the Russian army. Employment of troops in American uniforms at the time of the Ardennes break-through indicated that the convict corps had been in action on the western front.

These troops get dirty jobs. They clear minefields under fire. They spearhead hopeless counter-attacks. They are thrown into attacks when other German troops have been stopped. They are forced to fight with the guns of non-convict officers and non-coms in their backs.

Hitler's officers do not follow the battalions of the damned into the certain fire. They lay the big safety behind and shoot down any who falter.

MARINES MOVING ON SECOND IWO JIMA AIRFIELD

Thirty Hours Ahead Of Schedule Troops Now Assisted by Newly-Landed Artillery

By AL DOPKING
(CP War Correspondent)

Guam, Feb. 21 (AP)—Approximately 2,650 Marines were killed or wounded in the first 48 hours of the battle for Iwo Jima, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced today as he reported the American made general advances ranging up to 1,800 yards on the island's central air field.

Admiral Nimitz, U.S. Pacific Fleet commander, listed approximately 2,500 men and 150 officers as casualties—killed, wounded and missing. He said 3,063 of the wounded have been evacuated, indicating about 600, were killed or missing. There was no estimate of Japanese losses.

Tank-led Marines, holding firm control of more than a third of the island, began an enveloping drive against the fighter field, known as Motoyama No. 2. The 5th Marine Division by-passed the southern tip of the field in a flanking move, preparatory to striking at it from the west, while the 4th Division pushed directly toward the centre of the airdrome.

Every yard of the advance was made under a steady hail of Japanese machine-gun, mortar, rifle and rocket-fire over wet, rocky slopes criss-crossed with revetments, pillboxes, blockhouses and reinforced sniper holes. Mines and tank traps were plentiful.

Along the entire line gains averaged 500 yards, with the most spectacular progress on the Japanese defences.

On the south tip of the island other marines drove more than 200 yards up the steep slopes of Mount Suribachi, volcanic fortress where pillboxes are spread at 10-foot intervals.

Made Yard at Time.

Every advance, Admiral Nimitz said, was made a yard at a time "under a steady hail of Japanese machine-gun, rifle and rocket fire over wet, rocky slopes criss-crossed with fortifications."

WIDOW OF FIRST U.S. AIRMAN TO DIE OVER BERLIN TO WED

London, Feb. 21 —(CP)— Mrs. Rose Fiske, widow of the first American to lose his life flying for the R.A.F. in the war, is to be married to Lt.-Col. J. C. A. Digby Lawson, it was announced yesterday. The American was PO. William Mead Fiske, III, son of Wall Street of a New York banker. Mrs. Fiske formerly was the wife of Kit Carruthers, but her marriage to the Earl of Lonsdale in 1938. Lawson is the elder son of Sir Digby Lawson of Somerset.

2,000 FAGS FOR A NAG

Indianapolis, Feb. 21 —(AP)— Two cartons of cigarettes, a pair of 2,000 fags has found a pair of takers, James W. Burch and Ernest Wade, operators of a market here, yesterday they had made a "great bargain" when they had made a tobacco wholesaler for enough cigarettes to give them to D. B. Oakley of Howard County for a two-year-old horse.

NAZI LINER SUNK—7,000 DIE

Nazi liner, the 25,000-ton Wilhelm Gustoff, said to have been transporting about three thousand U-boat crewmen and nearly 5,000 refugees from eastern Germany, when it was sunk by a torpedo, according to Finnish radio. The ship was sunk in an attack after leaving Danzig, and only about 1,000 of those aboard were saved.

AMERICANS BLOCK BOTH ENTRANCES OF MAIN TUNNEL

MacArthur Says Fighting Has Cost Japanese 24,000 Casualties in Past Week

Manila, Feb. 21 — (AP)—Medley-al siege tactics, in modern guise were employed against trapped Japanese garrisons in Manila's thick-walled Intramuros and on Corregidor today as Gen. MacArthur announced the past week's fighting has cost the enemy 24,000 casualties.

Cannon and howitzers gnawed steadily at the 40-foot-thick outer wall of the Intramuros to cut an entrance for tanks and infantry seeking to eliminate the cornered enemy and liberate an estimated 7,000 civilians.

Gen. MacArthur said in his communique today that the enemy garrison in south Manila, now compressed into an area only 1,200 yards by 800, "is acting with the greatest savagery in its frenzy of mass combatants and private property."

On Corregidor, both entrances of the main tunnel were blocked by explosives and troops swarming over the tunnel poked through each up in search of the ventilation vents. When they find it the Japanese will be completely sealed off, their doom certain.

Fighting Still Bitter

Gen. MacArthur, describing the fighting in Manila as still bitter, underscored its severity by announcing enemy casualties of 22,000 for the six weeks of the Luzon campaign as against American casualties of 12,929 — 2,678 killed, 945 missing and 10,006 wounded.

Gen. MacArthur said a survivor of Manila disclosed that the Japanese occupation army thoroughly looted all private possessions and spared only shipped the stolen goods to Tokyo.

Four hundred Japanese, trapped on a ridge southeast of Japanese Fort William McKinley yesterday, refused an ultimatum to surrender.

Many Japs Killed

Planes and artillery opened on the enemy immediately and a nightfall many Japanese had been killed.

South of the Zambales range the Americans cleaned out Japanese pockets on the University of the Philippines campus in close-quarter fighting.

Heavy and medium bombers attacked Formosa "in force" despite additional flying training missions, dromes and industrial targets were bombed effectively. Fighters destroyed 13 locomotives and 50 rail cars in low-level sweeps.

SHELTER FOR ADMINISTRATOR

Hamilton, Feb. 21 (CP). — The chief problem of Hamilton's emergency shelter administrator is shelter for the administrator. After a month-long search office quarters were finally found for F. F. Treleaven, the administrator, but he won't be able to move into them until repairs are completed in about 10 days.

MONTE BELVEDERE IS CAPTURED BY U.S. TROOPS

Ropes Used at Times for Scrambling up Slopes of Mountain Terrain

Rome, Feb. 21 — (AP)—American troops striking over Italian mountain terrain so forbidding that at times they used ropes to scramble up the steep slopes, have captured Monte Belvedere and seven villages on the peaks west of the Pistoia-Bologna highway.

The Germans fought back viciously, but all counter-attacks were repulsed and the fighting for the dominant heights continues, an Allied communique said today.

Once before Allied troops had held the commanding, 3,500-foot peak of Monte Belvedere, but the Germans recaptured it last Nov. 29 and had held it since.

Patrols continued to be active on the rest of the Italian front, with no changes of positions reported. The Germans still were peppering Allied positions with propaganda leaflets.

The attack in the Belvedere area was launched Monday night. The mountain villages of Polla, Valpiana and Monte Pospolaccio were brought into the 5th Army lines.

While positions on Monte Abbacinello—the Pisso Lo Campino Ridge—west of Belvedere—still were being contested, the Germans launched a four unsuccessful counter-attacks.

In one of these, 90 of the enemy came forward with their hands raised as if to surrender, then dropped to the ground and opened fire. The Army troops drove them off with heavy losses. The 5th Army losses were described as extremely light.

U. S. ARMY BOMBER FOUND IN CANYON

Walla Walla, Feb. 21 —(AP)— An army bomber missing since last Thursday with seven men aboard was found in a canyon Monday. The 10 aboard were killed instantly, according to an announcement by Col. David Webb, commanding officer at the local field.

BOY OF 15 KILLED BY SHOT

Peil City, Ala., Feb. 21 —(AP)— Donald Gene Hollis, 13-year-old son of a couple with war plant jobs was shot to death at the family residence yesterday following an argument with his 14-year-old brother, officer Hal Rich reported. Rich said the boy fired accidentally in "something about the pressing of a pair of pants."

CHASE DEER INTO GARDEN

Fort Erie, Feb. 21 (CP)—Further evidence of the continued presence of deer in the Niagara area was reported yesterday in the last several years. It was revealed again when a resident noticed two deer and two wolves had chased a deer into the yard of his home. The woman succeeded in scaring the wolves away and providing temporary shelter for the deer.

BERCHTESGADEN, HITLER'S PRIVATE CITY, RAIDED

1,200 Bombers and 650 Fighters Hit Targets At Nuernberg For Second Straight Day

By HENRY R. JAMESON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Rome, Feb. 21 (AP).—Rocket-firing Thunderbolts of the United States 12th Air Force made the first attack of the war yesterday on Hitler's private city of Berchtesgaden, mountain hideout high in the snow-capped Bavarian Alps, it was announced today.

The planes, sweeping in from Italian bases, pumped rockets into railyards at low levels, ripped rail tracks, cars and locomotives and smashed at other targets in and near Berchtesgaden, which map-be the most heavily fortified spot in all the Reich. They ran into intense flak and small arms fire.

While there was no official comment on the attack, it was speculated that the surprise strike was directed against the movement of top priority personnel, supplies and Nazi films from Berlin.

Assault Pattern

The assault fits into a pattern with two attacks yesterday and today from Allied and French bases by the U.S. 8th Air Force on the Leipzig marshalling yards and Nuernberg, 90 miles northeast of Munich, centre of former Nazi propaganda activities and an important rail junction. The extraordinarily heavy concentration of traffic at Nuernberg led to speculation that it might be a movement of government offices from Berlin, or a buildup for the defence of Vienna.

Hitler's retreat is at Obersalzberg (Upper Salt Mountain), in the edge of Berchtesgaden. The only previous Allied attack on the mountain was October top Nazi leaders have homes in the area, last occurred several months ago when a force of bombers hit Salzburg, Austrian border town just across from Berchtesgaden.

Troop Train Smashed.

The Thunderbolts knocked out a locomotive and 10 cars, indicating the attack. At Iowna nearby they set fire to a railway station and destroyed a troop train estimated to have 150 soldiers aboard, and destroyed or damaged nearly 50 rail cars, some loaded, with tanks.

(TURN TO PAGE 7)

Hitler's retreat in Obersalzberg is reported to have been in readiness for months as an alternative to the Berlin headquarters.

TWO BODIES FOUND

Northville, N.Y., Feb. 21 (AP)— Bodies of two men in the uniforms of officers' uniforms were found yesterday in the Long Island Sound shore. The British naval liaison office in New York said they undoubtedly were those of crew members of a Royal Navy plane missing with seven others since it had left Floyd Bennett Field, N.Y., for the Brunswick, Me., naval air station Saturday.

Cocker Spaniel Wanders 6,000 Miles to S. Pacific to Find Master

Pittsburgh, Calif., Feb. 21—(AP)— Joker, a black cocker spaniel, was a desolate little dog when his master, Capt. Stanley C. Rayé went off to war.

For 13 days he wandered restlessly around the Rayé home in Pittsburgh.

But Joker knew where he was going—to join Capt. Rayé.

Mrs. Rayé this week received a letter from her husband — 6,000 miles away on a South Pacific island.

Joker is with him and as excited as the captain at the reunion.

Capt. Rayé in his letter explained part of the mystery of how the little black dog reached his master, but Joker can't talk and the complete story will always be unknown.

The captain wrote his wife he was sitting in his tent on the island three months later when an officer came down the road leading a black cocker on a leash.

Rayé shouted one word: "Joker," was enough. The little dog's frenzy of joy persuaded the foster owner to surrender title on the spot.

Capt. Rayé said the officer told him he had found the dog walking through an army camp, hurriedly sniffing this way and that, although he were looking for someone. The officer adopted Joker and took him along with him to the Pacific.

Americans Drive 5 Mi. Toward Rhine Seizing 11 Towns

Within 2 Miles of Saarburg Key to Defences on Moselle

By JAMES M. LONG
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Paris, Feb. 21 (AP). — Scottish troops of the 1st Canadian Army captured the northern German fortress city of Goch today while in the centre of the Western Front the American 3rd Army advanced up to five miles in a broad sweep in the Moselle valley toward the Rhine, seizing 11 towns.

Third Army tanks and infantry thundered forward through the Eifel mountains on a 30-mile front. Vanguards reached to within two miles of the heavily fortified road centre of Saarburg, a key to German defences along the Moselle.

Suicide Squads Cleared.

In the north, the last enemy suicide squads were cleared from the ruined road centre of Goch, once a town of 13,500 and still the centre of eight military highways. The Scots thrust on 600 yards southwestward. Goch is eight miles south of captured Kleve, terminal of the original Siegfried Line, and 17 miles southeast of the Netherlands city of Nijmegen, whence the Canadian offensive started.

Beyond the once-bristling town lies a small open plain in which no fixed German fortifications have been noted.

British Empire troops fighting with Gen. Crerar's Command gathered momentum and drove deeper into the centre of German defences as reinforcement thrusts through Buchholt and Walverboom, villages four miles from Goch, swelling the total of approximately 10,000 the gains taken since the offensive began Feb. 8.

Take Easing Point.

On both the Canadian and 3rd Army fronts, clearing skies allowed planes to take off early to smash at the enemy. Hundreds of Allied planes flew toward the teeming Ruhr valley, 15 miles from Goch. The Ruhr is the beating point for the entire German defence system, struggling desperately to stem the steady pounding gains toward that arsenal.

British intelligence reported that 50 battalions were opposing the 1st Canadian Army, including Col.-Gen. Kurt Student had commanded the remains of his parachute army to the battle, scraping up infantry, tanks and other Germans from other sections of the Rhineland Western Front. All his troops were Elite or those drawn from the very young and infirm of the Volksturm and Volksgrenadier divisions.

Both the Rhine and the Meuse (Maas) rivers, like the Roer, were flooded between their banks and roads were hardening.

Five Tanks Destroyed.

Five tanks were lost in regaining ground lost to German counter-attacks yesterday near Uedem, destroyed five huge panther tanks, three armored cars and 40-millimetre guns and two half-tracks.

NOT AN EGGSHELL CRACKED

Meanwhile, Feb. 21 (CP)—Not an egg was broken when a transport truck loaded with hundreds of dozens of eggs toppled over on its side as it attempted to pass another vehicle on a narrow township road. The vehicle was towed back on to the road.

IN KEY AIR ROLE

London sources report that Air Marshal Sir Charles Portal, British air chief (above), who returned to England immediately after the Yalta conference, personally carried the instructions that started one of the greatest air offensives of the war — the attack on the Ruhr by Allied and Russian armies on both fronts.

25 Jap Vessels Sunk by U.S. Subs

Washington, Feb. 21 — (AP) — Twenty-five more Japanese vessels, including three combatant ships, have been sunk in the Eastern waters by United States submarines, the Navy announced today.

The warships were an escort aircraft carrier, a destroyer and a large converted cruiser.

Non-combatant vessels were a medium transport, 14 medium cargo vessels, three small cargo vessels, a large cargo transport, six tankers and a small transport.

The announcement raised to 1,045 the total number of Japanese ships sunk by American submarines since the start of the Pacific war. These included 26 combatant and 933 non-combatant craft.

Sinkings announced by the Navy since Jan. 1 have totalled 61 ships.

While not confirmed by the Navy, the converted cruiser listed in today's communique was believed to be one of the nation's pre-war 10,000-ton luxury merchant vessels.

City and District News

WARN MERCHANTS NOT TO CASH ORDERS

Warning for local merchants to not cash postal money orders for persons unknown to them regardless of the strength of the ties which may be put forward, was issued today by Postmaster A. V. C. Trussell following reports from Kingston. Many bogus money orders have been passed in that city, Mr. Trussell says, travellers and furniture store proprietors are particularly warned to be on their guard against cashing orders for strangers.

Origin of the bogus money orders is believed to emanate from Toronto where some time ago blanks were issued in that city. Up until now the blanks have been filled out in $75 amounts and have been passed on unsuspecting merchants. The bogus money orders were passed in Kingston last week.

Local merchants approached by strangers seeking to pass money orders were advised to contact the local city police immediately in order that the guilty party may be apprehended.

Cars being driven along the Bay Bridge Road sidergated on Tuesday causing extensive property damage. The vehicles were driven by Sgdns.-Ldr. R. Scott of Mountain; Flying and Clarence Cornell, R. R. No. 7, Belleville. The matter was amicably settled between the responsible parties.

Fire Alarm Treacheres.

Otherwise on city streets several minor mishaps involving accidents were reported all the result of slippery conditions. Co-covered snow-blanks that fooled motorists. Practically all city streets making the traveling at a standstill for motor vehicles exceedingly treacherous.

POLICE BELIEVE CAR WAS STOLEN

City police removed a motor car from off West Dundas Street late yesterday following complaint that the vehicle was obstructing traffic. The vehicle carried license No. number F-L-381 and a registered in the name of Thomas Hill of Shannonville. The authorities is believed by police to have been stolen and abandoned when the supply or gasoline became exhausted. Mr. Hill was notified of the fact that his car had been towed to a local garage for safe-keeping today.

Excellent Musical Program Heard By Energetic Club

Presenting a galaxy of local musical talent of which Hastorudi of which has seldom been assembled on a Belleville platform, the Energetic Club of Holloway United Church staged its annual concert Tuesday evening with a splendid turnout indicating the depth of musical appreciation in this community by music lovers in the city.

Handled with artists among cross section musical talent in the city presented a varied program of vocal numbers and instrumentals for the appreciation of their music loving audience. During the program the artists were entertained by Energetic Club members in the church Sunday School room where the club president, Mr. Wm. Slavin expressed the club's appreciation to those taking part in the program, Mr. Alex. Gordon very capably responded on behalf of the artists.

Among those taking part in the program were Mr. James Sankier who by his own inimitable style was heard in six popular and classical numbers, and other vocalists were the popular boy soprano Ronald Elmy, and Mrs. Doris Burgess mezzo soprano who was heard in two classical solos.

Miss Leona Riggs and Mr. Alex Gordon demonstrated their ability as a piano duo and were heard in three solo numbers. Appreciated number while Miss Gena Hicks "tower" her way into the hearts of her audience as she played four different selections. Miss Ruth Hicks acted as piano accompanist for her sister.

Cornet solos were played by Jack Fenn and Don Charlton Bob Blakely of Trenton gave a Trombone solo, while Bob Stebbings rendered a number on the euphonium. Organ solos on the church organ were given by Mr. Alex Gordon, organist at Bridge Street United Church. Miss Leona Riggs acted as piano accompanist for the programme while Mr. Gordon accompanied other vocalists. Bouquets were presented by Miss Cecilia Maloney.

H. & P.E. Regt. History Recounted To Kiwanis by RSM A. Duffy

"They consolidated their positions over there and we must consolidate our position here and with their shirt drives and themselves will have a decent way of life and a service worthy of their name," was the statement made by Regimental Sergeant Major A. Duffy, D.C.M., M.M., of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, from the time of its inception in 1899 until the present war, in an address to members of the Kiwanis Club at their weekly luncheon at the Quinte Hotel on Tuesday. It was one of the most inspiring talks that has been given to the club in many months and was delivered in a graphic manner by means of directives to every member of the regiment, as he included known to many, has distinguished himself in many battlefields, has won the Efficiency Medal and has been Mentioned in Despatches on the field of action. He served as R.S.M. for the 15th Battalion, Canadian Infantry, from the time of its inception in 1939 until he was wounded the second time, when he was brought to Hospital in England. He later went to France, Holland and Germany as headquarter's company.

Mr. Duffy spoke reverently for those of the sufferings of the men who did not get the original regiment. 5½ Years of Service.

After being introduced by Taylor Farnsworth, Mr. Duffy said he knew 2,000 men who would dearly love to be here to hear his address. "They have had 5½ years of service and they are glad to have served and have the will to win but they would rather be with their home," said the speaker. "Belleville looks pretty good to me with its well appointed streets and fine buildings. Everywhere I have missed for a long time. Belleville looks like a million dollars back to the declaration of war in 1939 when a small group volunteered for active service. They had the feeling explained to them by the speaker that it was their duty to go and hard. He stated there were 1,000 men in the city at the time in Trenton armouries, but from that number Hastings and P. E. Regiment has grown into the fighting force of the Canadian army.

Tale of Training.

The speaker told of the Regiment's training in England, when the men had to march through the streets with rifle route march at one time with-out rifles. It was experienced by the men that the human body could stand a lot of punishment" at that time was preparing for his campaign in Africa. "The Canadians of the First Division were the finest fighting element," said R.S.M. Duffy.

The speaker told of the battle drill came into existence. "After the Dieppe raid back from Dunkerque it was shown that British tactics left the infantry had to be changed, so the battle drill was introduced and this is the most important conditioning that is given by any army. Battle drill is taking this drill because live ammunition was accepted.

Hard to Keep up Morale.

"It was hard to keep up the morale of the men as we were not allowed to go overseas. Sometimes the men were kept fit by running up and down a 1,000-foot cliff every day without stopping After arriving in Sicily the Regiment went into rest action and distinguished itself on many occasions. He told of marching with rifle emplacements in 40 degrees of heat for sixty miles in four days and then without even catch up with the Germans but later the troops managed to overtake them and when spotting the Germans they had to dig in and shoot. The Germans pushed them somewhere to engage the Huns and pushed them back. "Who says there's no hell on earth? I've been there," he said. "I've been pushed down with seven feet of water in the trenches and unbearable told the men to get out and fight the next day. The next morning the position was taken and eighteen Germans were found dead around the emplacements. Machine gun and revolver were both empty. Later the troops moved up to Arnhem

Kinsmen Have Real Opportunity For Public Service After War Says Lt. Col. Sisler at Anniversary Dinner

A quarter of a century of national progress from the time of its inception in Hamilton 25 years ago, was observed Tuesday evening by the association of Kinsmen clubs across Canada when clubs throughout the Dominion changed their date of meeting that they might all meet at the same time on the date of their founding.

Program at each of the meetings was the same message from the national president and the Kinsmen founder Hal Rogers being read. Guest speaker at the Belleville meeting was Lt. Col. R. C. Sisler, manager of the local Dominion Bank here, who is one of the few charter members of the Kinsmen club.

Col. Sisler carried his audience back 25 years when a small group of Hamilton's young business men met and founded the Kinsmen Club as a club which is wholly Canadian. "24 Million Quarts of Milk."

He indicated that the virtues of Kinsmanship, friendship, and comradeship which are part and parcel of "Kin" really mean something. But in the 25 years of the association's existence its aims have become of national service. This efficiency and ability to serve has been tested during the present war, and has not been found wanting. The 24,298,199 quarts of milk sent overseas through the association's "Milk For Britain Fund" represented only a small part of the activities.

Problems of the future, however, were looming up as of equal or even greater importance than those of wartime and the speaker doubted that the people of Canada were ready for them. The youngest generation across Canada was called upon to carry the burden of leadership during the next few years and the speaker intimated that the association of Kinsmen Clubs with its membership scattered across Canada could be a powerful influence for good in planning the future.

The association could be a moulder of public opinion and this privilege must be kept aroused following the war. People then could not relax and forget about the strife and let the politicians settle the score. Rehabilitation Great Task.

Col. Sisler said that the last time," stated Col. Sisler, "We won the war, and lost the peace. The result was another war in twenty years. This must not happen again—we must make sure the terrible sacrifices of war are not in vain."

Well around 1,000 well-informed public opinion must be made to understand the problems of rehabilitation as planist. Among the guests at the meeting was Cpl. John Calhoun, recently returned home after five years overseas.

3 Local Artists To Participate In Music Festival

Three budding young instrumental and vocal artists from this city are taking part in the second annual music festival being sponsored by the Belleville Kiwanis Club in the Royal York Hotel from February 19th, to March 3rd. The local entrants in the festival are John Fenn who will play violin concerto numbers; Donald Charlton who will also give a cornet number, and Robert Mahaffy on the trumpet in two vocal numbers.

More than 2,000 boys and girls will participate in the festival with the prize scholarships totalling $3,350 in scholarships to be awarded to competitors, who show most promises of future musical success. The scholarships are all in the form of tuition to assure the award will be used for the purpose it was intended. Young musicians from all parts of Ontario will take part in the festival. A final concert of winners is planned for March 9th, at Massey Hall in Toronto.

Lieut. Percy Gray Prisoner of War Of Germany

Reported missing following action in Italy last December, and while fighting with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, Lieut. Percy Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Gray of Delora, is now a prisoner of war in Germany, according to word received yesterday by his parents through the International Red Cross at Geneva. Word that Lieut. Gray was missing was received by his parents in Delora on December 27th. According to the information received Tuesday he is being held prisoner at Stalag 7-A Germany.

Lieut. Gray proceeded overseas approximately one year ago. His wife resides at Delora.

26th Anniversary Belleville Chapt. O.E.S. Observed

With approximately 300 members and guests present, the 26th anniversary of the Order of the Eastern Star, No. 55 was observed last Tuesday evening when charter members of the local organization were fittingly honored with suitable presentations from visiting officials. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Kathleen Adams, W. M., and Mr. Hayes Pitt, W.P.

Grand Matron, Mrs. Margaret Chambers, Grand Patron Mr. Fred Gilkeson and Grand Ada Mrs. Burgess of Toronto were among the visitors present with guests attending the meeting from Trenton, Napanee, Amelisburg, Windsor, British Columbia, and also the Minerva Chapter in Belleville.

The Worthy Grand Matron gave a lecture on patriotism and commended the Chapter on the part it had played in the work of the organization since its inception 26 years ago. The altar room was tastefully decorated in a patriotic motif with flags forming the background. Cutting of the birthday cake was presided over by the Grand Matron.

The evening's program was concluded in a social time and in dancing.

ELDERLY COUPLE INJURED IN COLLISION

An elderly Prince Edward County couple sustained injuries during a truck-motor car crash near Mountain View yesterday afternoon. The couple are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Rorabeck, or R. R. No. 2, Mountain View.

According to Traffic Officer W. Hendren, who investigated, Mr. Rorabeck was proceeding on Provincial Highway No. 14 and was about to make a left hand turn into a county road to proceed home. The elderly gentleman made the turn in the fact of south-bound traffic with the result a transport, driven by George Hubbard, Picton, was in collision with the car, which was pushed some distance into the deep snowbank. Mr. Rorabeck sustained forehead injuries while Mrs. Rorabeck suffered from shock.

Traffic Officer Falls From Train Dies in Hospital

Traffic Officer Robert Duncan, of the Ontario Provincial Police stationed at Bowmanville, died in the Oshawa General Hospital today following an accident near Port Hope on Monday night when he fell from a C.N.R. train. As the result of his accident Constable Duncan sustained a fractured skull. Further, his face was badly lacerated and he also suffered from a fractured skull. He only regained consciousness for a short period yesterday.

Inspector Harry Storey, in charge of District No. 2 of the O.P.P., announced the death shortly after noon today. A wife and two small children survive. Prior to being stationed at Bowmanville as traffic officer, Constable Duncan was at district headquarters at Belleville.

Maj. Norrington Accepts Position In Calgary

Major Arthur Norrington, former Picton boy and recipient of the Original Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, has just concluded a long and honorable military career and has accepted an occupational counsellor with the newly-formed Department of Veterans Affairs. He is stationed at the Calgary District office.

Major ex-Carrying Place school teacher and Trenton insurance agent has ten years service with his regiment, three of them overseas during the present war.

Commissioned in 1936, he served as adjutant for a period of two years following the formation of the unit at the outbreak of war, he was appointed captain and adjutant. He proceeded overseas in 1939.

In Britain he served in various capacities and was a member of the expeditionary force of the 1st Brigade of the Canadian Army in France in 1940 during the down-fall of that country. He also took part in the ill-starred Spitzbergen raid. He returned to Canada in 1942, in command of the first prisoner-of-war escort troops to arrive in Edmonton, and was posted to M.D. 13 in 1943.

He was secretary of the Ottawa Hockey Association for a time, was the famous Allan Cup, emblematic of Canadian amateur hockey supremacy, and tas taken active interest in sports since he was a youngster.

Major Norrington's discharge from the army recently and was given a fine send-off by his fellow officers in the Calgary Garrison Officers' Mess. He was featured as "Star of the Week" over a Calgary radio station.

Flt. Lt. Jas. Follwell Organized R.C.A.F. Orchestra in Iceland

Away up in the ice-bound stretches of Iceland, Hekinga are hearing swing tunes these days.

Unbelievably enough, perhaps, Johnny Rakimo's igloo is resounding to the strains of "Don't Fence Me In," and other popular tunes, especially in the Reykjavik region.

Up there where members of the Royal Canadian Air Force are stationed in keeping with the northern outposts of Empire, a Canadian orchestra, organized and led by Flight Lieutenant Jimmy Follwell, of this city, has the whole Canadian orchestra, organized and led by Flight Lieutenant Jimmy Follwell, of this city, has the whole Canadian orchestra, from the army recently and was given a fine send-off by his fellow officers in the Calgary Garrison Officers' Mess. The War Today— Big Squeeze on Germany Likely To Be Intensified at Early Date

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

Little Joe Goebels, Hitler's propaganda minister has been complaining that the Allies have ganged up on the Reich, and says Germany could win hands down if it could take on its enemies singly. Well, Joe, maybe I saw Joe he was spell-binding 3,000 Nazis in an outdoor meeting in Berlin, just before the armies joined forces. Impressed with his line of double-talk at the time—although he put on a good show—but it must me admitted he has something now. The Allies not only have ganged, but as I see it they're giving a remarkable display of military unity.

Full Allied Partnership.

Allied activities on both eastern and western fronts point to early intensification of the big squeeze on Hitlerdom. One of the most satisfactory aspects of this is that it represents a full partnership and concerted action. The Big Three are going in for the kill together.

Barring a great emergency the western Allies would be attempting an all-out offensive at this time. This is the season when the Rhine-land weather is at its worst—and that's mighty bad. The terrain is a sea of mud or is under water. The Allied troops—Canadians, British, French, Yanks—have had to fight in mud and water up to their necks at times, and actually have had to use amphibious equipment in some places which normally are high and dry.

West Allies Keep Attacking.

Nevertheless all of Gen. Eisenhower has kept on attacking and improving his positions in preparation for the big push, instead of waiting for decent weather with the beginning of April, only a few weeks away. The full weight of our armies is going on the western front to complement the Red drive.

We've had the good news that the flooded Ruhr river—last natural barrier between the Allies and the Cologne plain—is receding. The Roer was semi tumbling high out of its banks some days ago when the Germans loosed a great volume of water from huge reservoirs in order to stymie the Allies.

They may a few days in likely to see the Roer fairly-normal again, and then Gen. Eisenhower may send his men across the Dueren sector and start his drive onto the Cologne plain towards the Rhine. Meanwhile Field Marshal Montgomery's forces in the north, and Gen. Patton's American 3rd army in the south, are continuing to turn the German flanks, thus creating a great claw which is calculated to squeeze Nazi Marshal Von Rundstedt's armies out—onto the open Cologne plain where Allied armor can destroy them.

EMPLOYEE LACERATES FINGER ON LEFT HAND

While working at his employment at the Universal Moulded Company plant Front Street, Sidney Street had the misfortune to badly lacerate the middle finger on his left hand. The injury was of such a serious nature that the finger had to be amputated at the second joint after examinations were made at the hospital.

SECRET REVEALED

London, Feb. 21 — (Reuters) — One of the most closely guarded British war secrets was revealed yesterday when it was disclosed that the distant reading gyro-magnetic compass, the wizard robot which made possible the successes of British and American bomb-aimers was fitted to all long-range bombers of the R.A.F., Dominions' Air Forces and the United States Army Air Forces.

GERMAN "WORLD MAP"

Oslaw, Feb. 21 — (CP) — Lieut. Dave Roscoe, with the 1st Canadian Army in Northwest Europe, has sent his parents here a German "world map" of the future he said he found in a former Nazi-controlled Netherlands' school. A big slice of Canada has been marked as German territory.

Alberta experiments, with best Western grain, show that it takes 1,050 lbs. of grain, fed alone, to take a hog from weaning to market. So 1 ton of grain fed alone barely produces 2 market hogs.

Hundreds of practical Canadian hog raisers, in actual feeding, have taken their hogs from weaning to market on an average of 600 lbs. of a mixture of chop and Purina Hog Chow. THEY market 4 hogs from a ton of grain plus between 3 and 4 bags of Hog Chow—and the 2 extra hogs bring in nearly 4 times what the Hog Chow cost them.

"The Last Round"

Colorful Field Marshal Montgomery says something picturesque every time he speaks. Germans not being good sports in the ordinary meaning of that word and certainly unsportsmanlike as soldiers in battle and in treatment of overrun peoples and civilians could not of course understand him when he likened the present situation of the war in Europe to the "final round of a boxing bout." The Germans themselves do not go in for the national sports which Britons, Americans and Canadians enjoy. Some idea of the German relation to what is known as sport is the fact that a German uses the fake prize in the cicatrice or scar of a wound obtained in sabre duel usually fought in a school or military academy. There are rules of the sport, but the Hun in his relation to other peoples observes no rule but his dominating passion of scorn for the weak and those not German.

If ever there was a sportsmanlike character it is Marshal Montgomery. In his message to the troops of the 1st Canadian and 2nd British armies he speaks in the language of the boxing ring which his troops understand. Here are some of his words:

"We have won every round on points, we now come to the last and final round and we will go for the knockout blow.

"And again, 'The Battle of the last round will be that we continue fighting till the final count. There is no time limit. We know our enemy well; we must expect him to fight to stave off defeat possibly in the vain hope that we may crack before he does.

"But we will not crack; we shall see this thing through to the end.

"The last round may be long and difficult and the fighting hard, but we now fight on German soil. We have got our opponent where we want him; he is going to receive the knockout blow—a somewhat unusual one, delivered from more than one direction."

Then the Marshal quoted two lines of a poem written by a soldier of the 8th Army before public battle in North Africa, words defining the aims he realized the Allies are fighting for. The full poem follows:

Stay with me, God. The night is dark,
The night is cold; my little spark
Of courage dies. The night is long;
Be with me, God, and make me strong.

I know that death is but a door.
I know what we were fighting for:
Peace for the kids, our brothers freed.
A kinder world, a cleaner breed.

Help me, O God, when death is near
To mock the haggard face of fear.
That when I fall—if fall I must—
My soul may triumph in the dust.

This poem is from "Poems from the Desert," a collection written by members of the famous 8th Army serving in the western desert in 1942 and 1943 just published by the Oxford University Press. The volume contains 27 poems—one anonymous—of battle, of love and home, submitted to the army newspaper "Crusader" as the men were driving Rommel out of Libya. The poem the Marshal referred to was the only anonymous one in the book and is entitled "A Soldier—His Prayer."

Montgomery commented: "In the trying conditions of battle it is very important that we achieve this object so well expressed by a fighting man of the British Empire. And so we embark on the final round, in close co-operation with our American Allies on our right and with complete confidence in the successful outcome of the onslaught being delivered by our Russian Allies on the other side of the ring."

Then he commented, "somewhat curious rules, you may say, but the whole match has been curious. The Germans began this all-out contest and they must not complain when in the last round they are hit from several directions at the same time."

To the last he carries on the analogy of the ring, "Into the ring, then let us go and do not let us relax until the knockout blow has been delivered."

Goebbels' Wail

Goebbels has been lamenting that the United Nations have gone out to destroy Nazism by ganging up on Germany, saying "our enemies should be ashamed of themselves for attacking us at odds of ten to one."

There was a time that Goebbels did not feel the need of saying this but with Allied victories mounting and the last glimmer of hope of the Nazis pulling out with a compromised peace gone, he has to take a new line of defence before the German people.

Goebbels' defence now is that the Nazis are united against Germany. He neglects to say that they have done so to cleanse the world of Nazi savagery and warmaking of militaristic Germany.

Union of the freedom-loving peoples to destroy the Hitlerite wild beast is the best thing that has ever happened in the world for the enemy of humanity must be put out of business forever.

Goebbels did not mention the planned atrocities and treacherous assault of Germany upon nation after nation in trying to pick them off one by one until a great part of Europe had felt the aggressor's brutalities. Germany cowardly wanted to conquer the world piece by piece with her great might and by fear.

On the other hand it is the part of Allied wisdom to unite its greatest strength for the freedom of the world to down the enemy which has used its own brutal strength and any strength it could gather from the resources of overrun nations to try to conquer the world.

Hitler's savagery will be crushed and out of the unity of Allied powers will come, the world hopes and believes, such a powerful organization as that for democracy and freedom that Germany will never be able to make even an attempt to dominate the world. Let Goebbels whine or howl more about that.

Germany is to be taught that this world has no place for the aggressor and that he will be extinguished for good. Germany is not going to be allowed to plead that she was just using the methods of war to gain her ends and if she finds she is losing in the fight to win her foul purpose by any means open, that she be allowed to excuse herself, saying she did her best and expect an easy peace. Hitler won't be able to take off his uniform and say that the war is over and all will be friends. German aggression is criminal and for it Germany will be compelled to undergo punishment and to be so fenced in that she must learn, if that is possible, that she cannot flaunt the laws of nations.

The United Nations have the right to condemn Germany for her sinister plotting and diabolical purposes which have brought millions of men, women and children to death and caused a world to suffer. Germany removed herself from the association and interplay of nations by her foul lash against upon nation after nation in her selfish design for the glory of Germany and the grandeur of sovereignty which Hitler held. It is not a game but a sin and in a draw, in forgiving the worst criminals in history. The war as the Allies carry it on is a great court of judgment in which freedom, justice, sacrifice and brotherhood have brought the Germans to the bar of international justice. Its sound judgment will be that warlike Germany is irrevocably doomed because she chose the way of crime and that she must be condemned as a criminal and be made to bear punishment for the enormities she has committed against neighbor nations and the world.

Steel Pins

(Chicago Daily News)

Sheer hosiery woven from cobwebs of spun steel is promised by a spokesman of the steel industry.

This imparts a new connotation to the term "steel shank," but it remains to be seen whether the metallic stockings will exert a greater magnetic attraction to the wolfish eye than those woven from silk, rayon or nylon. The effect of the stocking rather than the package itself will probably continue to be the determining factor.

Not even a gossamer of piano wire could do much for that type of gam.

When the battle comes their way.
"This is it!" for which we've trained!
Lord, may victory soon be gained.

"This is it!" and none can say
He will see another day.
"This is it!" Lord, help us now
Strength to fight it through, somehow.

"This is it!" The furious heat
Calm instructors said we'd meet,
And unto the best they knew
Tried to teach us what to do.

"This is it!" They said in school,
Facing danger's hour: 'Be cool!
Keep your head and use your wit!'
Okay, fellows! 'This is it!'"

Pyle Tells of His Book and Movie

By ERNIE PYLE

San Francisco—I think it perplexable to mention in this column the two big things that have grown out of the column, and that many people ask me about them. They are the book "Brave Men" and the movie, "Story of G. I. Joe."

First for the book. It was almost impossible for you to buy on new in late December and early January. That was because of the paper rationing. The publishers, Henry Holt & Co., simply couldn't get scarce or steel enough paper.

Holt's finally succeeded in printing 230,000 in 1944, and they were all sold before they were printed. In addition, the Book-of-the-Month Club printed 415,000 which I understand is their largest single printing sale in history. (No harm in a little bragging, is there?)

On New Year's Day the 1945 paper quota opened, and Holt's began a new printing of a quarter of a million. They go out to bookstores over the country in monthly drblets of about 20,000 so you should be able to find the book by the time this is printed. Provided, of course, that you still want it. And if you don't I'll send my hatchet man around to chop your head off.

Holt's say the book will sell a million by late spring. The previous book "Here Is Your War" in past a million and a quarter. Don't you wish you were a great big writer and had author like me?

I finally got around to reading "Brave Men"—myself—something which I've not yet succeeded in doing to "Here Is Your War." I read it for the purpose of making typographical corrections, and bringing little incidents about the men in it up to date, for later printings.

And when I finished, I counted up and found that 18 of my friends in it had been killed. Others had been wounded to varying degrees. That many I know of, that is. Probably others have written me. Doubtless there are many more that I haven't heard about.

While I'm writing about the book, I want to use this device to express my reverence for the hero we kind. I had intended writing about him in the letter, but hell there are lots of things I intend to do.

There aren't many experiences more pleasant than reading nice things about your book, and the book reviewers were certainly gentle with me.

Old wartime acquaintances, such as Hemingway and Ira Wolfert and Quentin Reynolds, put a lump in my throat by the nice things they said. And others by people I've never known were touchingly beautiful. To every one of you who wrote so feelingly about this book herewith is my deep gratitude.

So you know the book, except for the last chapter, was simply a reprint of the columns I'd sent back from the places from Sicily, Italy, England and France.

No changes were made in them. But in some instances they were supplemented in order to put similar subjects all in the same chapter. This work was done by a meticulous little creature who works for Holt's, named Judy Underhill.

The other big hands in the publishing of the book were Holt's editor, Bennett Cerf, Helen Taylor and Bill Sloane, both of whom made some good friends through our slight association on these two books. The title "Brave Men" was given the book by the late Ben Miller, of Scripps-Howard Newspapers.

First proofs were flown to me in France in early August, and I made and called back what corrections I could. I wrote the last chapter in France in August and called it back. By the time I got back to Paris the printing of the pages.

The very first copy was autographed by all the Holt's people who work in the Trade Department, and sent to me in Albuquerque. I sent a few copies to friends overseas, give a few hundred to friends in America, and have since autographed about 1000 more around the country.

Once I autographed 176 books in 40 minutes. And however the end I'd have to stop and think to spell my name. Sometimes I haven't known where I am, and often I don't know who I am. Oh goodness, oh goodness!

And now about the movie which is being finished in Hollywood from the war fronts over the last two years.

Well, the movie is finished at last. I finished shooting is finished. But there's a lot of cleaning up to be done, and it was no easy job. Many of those scenes that a film isn't ready to show for about three months after they've finished shooting. So I don't expect myself to seeing it till April or May.

They are still calling it "The Story of G. I. Joe." I never did like the title, but nobody could think up a better one, and I was too lazy to try. There is still a possibility they'll change it, and I hope they do.

It is a movie about the infantry. That's all I know about it. I wrote it, and there's no conventional love interest whatever in it.

The War Department co-operated, and furnished jeeps, trucks and soldiers who were moved to Hollywood, plus lots of equipment such as trucks, tanks, guns and what-not.

The soldiers all grew beards, and although they got awfully itchy, they have given up the idea of wood sure do go for a soft floor! Anyway, the only tragedy was when one soldier's beard was shaved off one day, and he got pretty badly chewed out. I don't remember if he got a Purple Heart for that or not. I always mean to look it up in the picture were played by professional soldiers. Only two or three small soldiers were played by real soldiers. As was expected, a couple of the real soldiers were killed before the "finis" as actors. By the time you see the picture, however, all of the soldiers in it will be fighting somewhere.

I spend a week in Hollywood seeing into the picture, and then another week in December, and finally a couple of weeks in March. I've always kept razor-sharp.... the time I've been in Hollywood. They give me injections, slowly.... then they the injection does not hurt are very careful with the doctor and send others. I'm essential for something. I'm a painless. The physician using this method gets better results, says his patients are frequently as may be unnerved and gets better co-operation.

Third, last observation is significant. If the doctor sees the patient frequently and the patient co-operates, the doctor becomes more intimately to every satisfactory, whether it is considered psychiatric injections or encouraging pats on the back or sympathetic words.

There is a good deal of wisdom and professional sagacity in the good doctor's unwillingness about this method of administration, although if I were the patient I'd prefer to take vitamin B-complex by mouth and I'd expect better results from it than I'd expect from any amount of vitamin B1 alone administered by injection. But then, I don't believe there is anything mysterious about "shots." Do you?

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Saccharin

Unable to obtain sugar, a woman substituted saccharin in tea, coffee, etc. Soon she began to feel irritable and nervous and unable to sleep well nights. Her doctor said it was due to the saccharin.

(Miss C. D.)

Answer—I believe the use of up to five grains of saccharin a day as a sweetener is safe, and the like, in place of sugar, never does harm. Are you sure?

Leg Cramps

Ben Told you to consult a reader regarding cramps in the legs. May I suggest that you repeat the recommendation? I suffer cramps during the night. ....57, have had colitis for several years.

(T.D.A.)

Answer—Dietary restrictions imposed by the sickness or other causes, have very likely cut down the amount of vitamin B1 intake. Many people get insufficient calcium in their diets. Suggestions in pamphlet "Adult Dietary and Cramps" will be mailed on request if you inclose a stamped, addressed envelope. Clipping of this item is not essential for answering your diet sheet with a good daily ration of calcium and B1. Dr. Vitamin D is essential for calcium absorption.

There was once a "First Lady of the Land" who was absent all of the time that her husband was President of the United States. She never laid eye on him, but he was President.

William Henry Harrison, 9th President, died before his wife was able to join him in the White House.

Mrs. Harrison married in 1795 at North Bend, Ohio, the daughter of Col. John Cleves Symmes, Revolutionary soldier and member of congress. Their home was in the Northwest Territory of the Miami Settlement in Ohio.

The Harrisons had ten children—six boys and four girls.

When Harrison was elected President in 1840 at the age of 68 he was 68 years old, and his wife was 64.

General Harrison, the hero of the battle of Tippecanoe with the Indians, was a fine soldier and a popular man in the United States, strapping, perhaps handsome, and energetic.

The makeup men shaved his head and powdered his face and age made him up so well that he's even called "Old Tippecanoe."

The picture was directed by "Wild Bill" Wellman, one of Hollywood's top men. Wellman is a demanding director, wild with enthusiasm, and everything is done to produce the greatest thing he ever saw in his life. Which is, thank God, usually goodness, he thinks this picture will be the greatest.

The picture was produced by Lester Cowan, an independent. Through United Artists, which is releasing picture, poor Lester will have to wait for his money until after the million irate soldiers. If it isn't a hit Lester can then be can float on air for years.

Another anonymous person whose hand has been guiding the picture is an old Indiana school friend of Lester's named Dan Cavanaugh. Being one of my closest friends, he quit writing and went to work for Cowan, largely to insure, as Lester says, that Cavanaugh didn't loose Pyle up."

But in spite of Cavanaugh's innate good sense began to make Lester's production difficult, however, and in the end they have leaned on me, Dan, Wellman, Cowan, Cavanaugh, being a farmer. I've been a writer at Hollywood, but he's got a feeling for the eye that looks permanent to me.

When the picture is finally ready for release, they hope to fly a print across the Pacific, a print to the little world premiere of Vincennes, Indiana, where the fighting infantrymen somewhere in the world.

But there won't be any single premiere in America. It will open simultaneously in 100 cities. My little old hometown of Dana, Ind., and my new hometown of Albuquerque will of course be among them.

The theatre manager in Dana has volunteered to let my Father and Aunt Mary in free on condition that they think this is sure mighty nice, and they'll probably take him up on it.

PERSONAL HEALTH TALKS

SO YOUR TAKING SHOTS?

Injection of medicine under the skin (hypodermic, subcutaneous) or, by plunging the syringe needle straight in to the hilt so that the liquid is injected into muscle—this is generally the simplest, most painful way—or intravenous injection (inserting the needle into a vein and letting blood for a Wassermann test or taking blood from a donor) has some advantages and disadvantages.

Advantages of hypodermic administration are accuracy of dose, rapidity of action, availability (when for some reason medicine cannot be given by mouth or is not retained by the patient. Disadvantages of hypodermic administration are comparatively unimportant, the chance of infection due to ignorance or failure to apply aseptic technic just as though for a vaccination, the chance of injuring a nerve by injecting the medicine into it, and the remote chance of injecting the medicine directly into the blood in a vein, which would make an embolism (clot) and provided the injection is made slowly, it should be safe in every instance.

On the other hand, I quote from a personal communication from a physician who does not entirely agree with my teachings about "shots." He writes:

"Dear Doctor Brady:

The writer wishes you would try giving vitamin B1 and some other vitamins intravenously. You would be astonished at the prompt response and the excellent results. Of course one does not have to charge more than a fee for an office hypo!

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Approves Trudeau Report

Editor,
The Ontario Intelligencer.

I read with much interest the report of Mr. J. J. Trudeau, chairman of public works, Mr. Trudeau gave the public in fine detail what had been done in connection with equipment for removing snow from the sidewalks. At long last, it looks as if some action is really going to take place.

This, Mr. Editor, should have been done long before now. Consider it one of the most important things that has happened in the city. If it is started, I don't think it will not want to revert to the old system.

Mr. Trudeau deserves a lot of credit for the way he has worked and supported him.

I believe a lot of people would not want to go south for the winter if the streets are kept in good condition.

F.D.R. Conferred With 3 Middle East Rulers

Washington, Feb. 21 (AP)—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill have "conferred anew on strategic problems in the Pacific where Russia officially continues her role as a "neutral power," it was announced today.

The whole dramatic story of the President's journey through the middle east after the eight-day Yalta conference was told in a lengthy dispatch released by the White House.

Aboard a United States man-of-war in Great Bitter Lake in the Suez Canal, Mr. Roosevelt received three storied rulers of eastern countries—King Farouk of Egypt, Emperor Haile Selassie I of Ethiopia and King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia.

Russia's future role in the Pacific has been a subject of speculation since the United Nations conference was set for San Francisco April 25. That date is the limit for Moscow to give Japan official notice if Russia wishes to denounce the non-aggression pact with Tokyo. Otherwise, the treaty renews itself for five years.

Meets Ambassador.

Ambassador John G. Winant also met the President in the Middle East travelling by air from Teheran.

Two more ambassadors, Jefferson Caffery, now Paris, and Alexander Kirk from Rome, were met by the President's party.

Mr. Roosevelt was reported to have brought the three ambassadors up to date on what took place in the Crimea conference as well as to whether them fully regarding his meetings with the rulers of Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Ethiopia.

The conference with Mr. Churchill at Alexandria, while lasting less than four hours, was described as permitting "new and important discussions at least one of which they could not take up before."

It added:

"That had to do with Japan and the war in the Pacific where Soviet Russia is a neutral power."

Determined to Smash Japs.

The statement said Mr. Churchill told the President "in blunt words that his government was determined to throw everything it had at the Japs as soon as Germany has been defeated and, meanwhile, would do all it could to strengthen its forces already engaged in that conflict."

Newspapermen were cautioned not to speculate on the whereabouts of the President at this time. It was stated, however, that when the President reaches the White House he will have travelled about 14,000 miles, more than half way around the world.

At Simferopol, the statement said, Mr. Roosevelt saw "scenes of stark destruction by the Germans" and lacked words to describe adequately such devastation.

"Only six buildings out of thousands," it added, were left in useful condition when the Germans fled.

Next morning the President motored to an air field where Foreign Commissar Molotov and a guard of honour bade him farewell.

Meets King Farouk.

Aboard a warship at anchor at Great Bitter Lake, Mr. Roosevelt received King Farouk shortly before noon. Guests included Admiral William D. Leahy, the President's Chief of Staff; Mr. John Boettiger, the President's daughter; and Harry Hopkins, his special assistant. Emperor Haile Selassie was received later in the afternoon.

In his talk with the Emperor the President was said to have stressed communications between the United States and Ethiopia, particularly by air. The two countries would come to know each other better, the Emperor, White House said, "enthusiastically endorsed the President's hope for closer relations."

In conversations earlier with the Egyptian King, Mr. Roosevelt referred to large American purchases of long-staple Egyptian cotton during the war. The White House said also "stressed the hope that greater increased exchange of other commodities would be developed in the future."

"Unprecedented Honor."

King Ibn Saud travelled more than 500 miles from Jidda on the Red Sea to meet the President, the White House said it was the first time in his life he had left his country's soil—a fact interpreted by spokesmen of his party as "an unprecedented honor" for the President.

A destroyer was put at the King's disposal for the trip. It was reported in the Arab world's warship history to enter the port of Jidda as well as the fact Ibn Saud's men vet set of its kind to pass through the Suez Canal during this war.

The discussions were described as being in line with the President's desire that heads of governments throughout the world "should get together from time to time to talk as friends and exchange views in order to better understand the problems of one another."

Murder Charge Is Preferred

Toronto, Feb. 21 — (CP) — Antonio Urban, 45, of Toronto, Tuesday was remanded to Feb. 28 when he appeared in court here on a charge of murdering George Yagodich, 37-year-old Ukrainian of suburban New Toronto.

Yagodich died en route to hospital here Monday from stab wounds police said were inflicted by a four-inch carving knife. He was found collapsing in a snowbank a few hours after the stabbing.

Urban was arrested on a murder charge after telling police "I'm the guy who did it."

Charles Evans, who lives in the Urban flat, told police Urban had warned Yagodich to stay away from his home.

"Tony (Urban) told George that if he didn't stay away from the house he would kill him," Evans was quoted. "He had come around here at different times and Tony had told him plenty of times to stay away."

Evans told police Urban had demanded to know where his wife was Monday on returning from work and that Mrs. Evans had told him she was out. Mrs. Urban had been caring for the youngest of Urban's three children while their mother was absent. Two others were at school.

Mrs. Urban, for whom police had been conducting a search yesterday after she was said to have left her home at noon, returned to the house late last night and was taken to police station for questioning.

SECOND STOREY MEN OF THE R.C.A.F.

Pt. 41402. The long and the short of it all at Bomber Bomber base of the R.C.A.F. Canadian flyers caught by the camera recently. At the left is Wing Commander J. W. Scott, Bomber Command Officer Brien Lankfree, Distinguished Flying Cross, six foot seven. Lankfree left the Republic of Argentina to join the Royal Air Force in Rhodesia before the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan, he returned to Britain and served on "ops" with Wing Commander J. Easton, D.F.C., of Thunder, Ont., former Commanding Officer of the Goose Squadron. Mess Room Chatter Of Canada's Airmen

With the R.C.A.F. Overseas, Feb. 21 (CP)—Canadian pilots with R.A.F. Hurri-bomber squadrons now are flying from the first air-strip built in reconquied Burma. Others, in Spitfires and Hurricanes, were established just before Christmas on airfields which are less than 2 miles from the Japanese.

As the Japanese were driven back, engineers with bulldozers moved to selected locations. Landing strips were levelled, R.A.F. advance parties arrived by road and then transport Dakotas began bringing in supplies.

P/O. E. A. Robinson of Dryden, Ont., and W/O. Geo. Coldwell of St. Thomas, Ont., were among the first to land their Hurricanes on the strips—landing newly-built fields. Others included Plt. Lt. A. J. D. Hopkins of Orangeville, Ont., P/O. Frank Forsyth of Russell, Ont., and Pilot Officer Reed of Barrie, Ont.

Spitfire pilots now flying from the most advanced of the new bases—landing strips—are from the Japanese—include P/O. Melville (Red) Watson of (26) Pacific Ave.) Toronto, P/O. Don Rathwell of (46 Cunningham Ave.) St. Vital, Man., and P/O. Bill Fell of Norwood, Man.

One of the fleet Catalinas in the R.A.F. is of four Canadians shipped by Flt. Lt. C. Aikman of 367 Kingsway, Toronto, B.C., from a Ceylon base.

"T for Tommy" has a flying time exceeding 2,400 hours and has operated in almost every zone of operations, warfare—Atlantic, the Mediterranean, and the Indian Ocean. Operating from the United Kingdom (the aircraft helped track down the Bismarck).

Wing Cmdr. Russ Bannock, D.F.C. and Bar, of Edmonton and Toronto, added to his list of German aircraft recently by shooting down a Heinkel 111 and a Junkers 88 during an intruder patrol from Britain.

The commanding officer of the R.C.A.F. Fighter Squadron now is credited with nine kills and two damaged.

LAC. John Paul Hunsault of (636b Gulnet St.) Montreal, a 22-year-old French-Canadian fitter, is credited with shooting down and averting much property damage when he jumped into a loaded gasoline truck and drove it away from a fire on the Lynx Squadron's airfield.

The fire followed a crash in dense fog and the blazing plane was only a few feet away from the truck when it stopped. Hunsault had to drive 400 gallons of high-test gasoline through part of the wrecked fortress to get it into the clear.

FO. C. A. Graham of (3222 Robinson St.) Regina suffered a smashed spine in a crash at a French airfield just after D-Day but now he can match a physical training expert at his job.

Doctors cut a large piece of bone out of his leg and used it to make splints around the shattered vertebrae of his back. His complete recovery took just 6 weeks.

Russian medical experts who visited his hospital "wouldn't believe my story," Graham said, "but I showed them."

Graydon and Case Criticize Govt. On Manpower, Reinforcement Policy

London, Ont., Feb. 21 (CP)—The Federal government was criticized for its manpower policy and the reinforcement situation of the Canadian army overseas in addresses delivered here by Gordon Graydon, party leader in parliament at Ottawa, and W. Garfield Case, Progressive Conservative MP, before the Defence Minister McNaughton and a CCF candidate in the Grey North by-election two weeks ago.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the London Progressive Conservative Association, Mr. Graydon issued a call for a "massive reconstruction program" saying the Federal government plan "is too long delayed." Mr. Case declared "the time has come, the hour has struck for Prime Minister Mackenzie King to give in to the will of the people and fire McNaughton."

Mr. Graydon said that the Progressive Conservatives had co-operated with the Federal government when it thought that it should do so, but the Federal government did not co-operate when last July he demanded that an Order-in-Council be passed asking Home Defence call-up men liable for overseas service. The government on Nov. 22 passed an order making 16,000 N.R.M.A. men liable to overseas service.

Cites Nine Points.

Mr. Graydon said that if Prime Minister Mackenzie King had complied with the demand last July, these nine points would not have arisen:

1. There would have been no lack of reinforcements.

2. There would have been no reinforcement question at the last minute.

3. There would have been no cabinet crisis.

4. There would not have been the public anxiety that arose.

5. There would have been no loss of the Defence Minister (J. L. Ralston).

6. There would have been no opposition against Ralston at all.

7. There would have been no Grey North by-election.

8. The Prime Minister would not be in his present "dilemma."

"At present the only government with a "muddled-up manpower policy," asked why should the Prime Minister hesitate now (to accept McNaughton) when he did not hesitate to fire the man (Ralston) who held the job of Defence Minister for four and a half years?"

Mr. Case said the result of the Grey North by-election was also simply a re-endorsation of the stand taken by the people in eight of the nine provinces in the 1942 conscription plebiscite.

Says King Fleeing People's will.

"And what do we get," he asked. "A Prime Minister fleeting the people's will. A Prime Minister who threatens that if you don't elect Mr. Andy he won't call another session. And when the Prime Minister or a democratic state threatens, he demands that an Order-in-Council be passed asking Home Defence call-up men liable for overseas service. The government on Nov. 22 passed an order making 16,000 N.R.M.A. men liable to overseas service.

Chopping Axe Discloses Traces Of Human Blood

A chopping axe, which Desjardins allegedly used to strike his wife and Clarence Randell, a border in their home, was produced in court.

Miss Verda Vincent, from the Attorney-General's Department, testified that examination of the weapon disclosed traces of human blood at the blunt end and a flake of human tissue.

Miss Vincent identified as human blood stains found on a pillow case and mattress allegedly taken from the Desjardins home, also scrapings of blood from various parts of the walls and floor.

She screened has maintained an even composure throughout the trial. This morning he took his coat off, and, at counsel's request, to enable a Crown witness, Steve Lazoran, to identify the injury scarcer he was wearing as identical to the one he wore when he came to Lazoran's house on the night of Jan. 26. Lazoran said Desjardins told him he had been "killed a friend and crooked his wife."

Articles Identified.

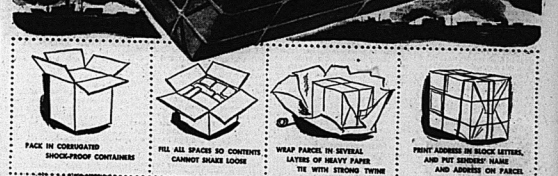
The articles analyzed by Miss Vincent were identified by Constable Sheldon Killar as those taken from the Desjardins home. Killar told the court of responding to a telephone call at three a.m. on the morning of Jan. 26th and finding the accused, apparently under the influence of liquor in the living room, in Randall's bedroom. He said he found Mrs. Desjardins slumped on the floor beside a small cot.

Clarence Randall also covered with blood, was found lying unconscious on his back, his arms at his sides, the top of his head a pool of blood leading from Desjardins' bedroom, where a blood stain was found on the mattress on the double bed, through the house to Randall's room, with Mrs. Desjardins marking the end of the stain.

Constable Sheldon said he later viewed the injured woman in blankets to take her to the hospital, at the request of Dr. H. O. Singer, who placed her on the back seat of the car, but found that he did not have the keys, he left Mrs. Desjardins in the car for approximately 15 minutes, until the ambulance came.

Find Axe Behind Tank.

Constable Killar also told of finding the axe behind a hot water tank in the cellar.



Dr. Gordon White, Port Colborne, head specialist, said he examined Mrs. Desjardins on Jan. 26, at the Welland County General Hospital. She was suffering from severe skull fractures, a cut over the right eye extended into the frontal sinus and at the time it was impossible to see brain tissue. Although the wound went through the wound two days later. the skull bones were depressed in a fairly large area, and there was another, the seeing laceration with two skull-cracks, her collar bones were fractured, and cerebral blood was flowing from her nose.

He determined the cause of her death on Jan. 26 as being due to brain injuries. Dr. White also described the wounds of Clarence Randall, now in the Welland County General Hospital, which he reported recovering from skull fracture and lacerations.

How to Pack Overseas Parcels...

PACK IN CORRUGATED SHOCK-PROOF CONTAINERS

FILL ALL SPACES SO CONTENTS CANNOT SHAKE LOOSE

WRAP PARCEL IN SEVERAL LAYERS OF HEAVY PAPER TIE WITH STRONG TWINE

PRINT ADDRESS IN BLOCK LETTERS, AND PUT SENDERS' NAME AND ADDRESS ON PARCEL

It is easy to pack a parcel so it will arrive safely overseas. Yet thousands of packages are ruined each month through poor packing . . . or delayed through incomplete addressing.

Remember first, that your parcel must stand up under the great weight of thousands of packages in the ship's hold, it must bear the shock of rough transport over shell-torn roads, and perhaps be unloaded in a hurry under enemy fire.

While your Post Office and the Canadian Postal Corps do everything in their power to assure prompt, safe delivery . . . much depends on HOW you pack and WHAT you pack.

Print or Write Address Clearly—Make Sure It's Complete

To speed delivery Armed Forces mail is sorted into bags labelled with the name of the Overseas Unit. So make sure you put the name and number of the UNIT on all mail. Always remember to put the sender's name and address on the letter or parcel.

Mail to wounded men in hospital Overseas should have the complete address, then ADD the words "IN HOSPITAL" in big letters on the envelope. This will ensure quicker delivery.

DO'S AND DON'TS

DO

Pack parcels in corrugated cartons. Wrap in several layers of strong paper. Tie with heavy twine. Print address in block letters. Make sure address is COMPLETE. Affix completed Customs Declaration.

DON'T

Don't use shoe boxes, they crush easily. Don't use flimsy, coloured wrapping paper. Don't send meats, fresh fruits or foods that can spoil. Don't send matches or inflammables. Don't send any kind of liquid in glass or cardboard containers.

At the close of the evening each one wished Betty future happiness.

WEDDINGS

SHISLER-TATT

Stately palms and pink and white carnations banked the altar at St. Luke's United Church on Niagara Falls on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock when Miss Constance Norma Tatt, A.Tech, Niagara Falls, was united in marriage to LAC. Howard Newton Shisler, R.C.A.F., Trenton, formerly of Mill St. and Mrs. P. Shisler of Chippawa. Rev. S. B. Sharpe officiated. The arrangements of violets tied with white ribbon bows marked the pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the pretty bride wore a street length frock of sea blue color with a matching feather hat. She carried a bouquet of American beauty roses. Her only jewellery was a strand of pearls, the gift of the groom.

Her sister, Miss Doris Tait, who was her only attendant was gowned in an ensemble in old gold color and wore a corsage to match. She carried a nosegay of violets and daffodils.

Sergeant Major Leo DeSantis was the best man and the ushers were Flying Officer Ernest Mouland, R.C.A.F., and Corporal James Desmond, R.C.A.F.

The soloist, Miss Patty Lou Woodley sang "Through the Years" and "Oh Promise Me." Mrs. J. W. Hamilton played the wedding music.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Wright House. The bride's table was centred with a three tiered cake, and was flanked by bouquets of spring flowers and yellow tapers in silver holders and hand painted cards marked the places for the guests.

The bridal couple was assisted in receiving the guests by the bride's mother who looked attractive in a navy crepe, Royal purple crepe, with which she wore a matching feather hat and corsage of violets and red carnations and the groom's mother who wore a smart ensemble in black crepe with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

For travelling the bride chose a gabardine suit of forest green color. She wore a matching green coat with black accessories.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Montreal, N. Y. the groom will return to his station at Trenton.

HARRISON-BRASON

The home of the bride's grandmother Mrs. H. Brason was the scene of an interesting wedding on Saturday at 12 o'clock noon, when Rev. George McKee united in marriage Shirley Betts, youngest daughter of Mrs. Harry Brason and the late Mrs. Brason, Picton, to Jack Winfield Harrison, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Harrison, Picton.

The ceremony took place beneath an arch of evergreens, decked with pink and white streamers, completed by a handsome horseshoe and wedding bell in the centre.

Given in marriage by her father Mr. Harry Brason, the bride was lovely in a floor length gown of white crepe trimmed at the neck-line with pearl buttons. She wore a fingertip veil, with wreath of white flowers and carried a sweetheart rose and white heather and fern. Her only attendant was Miss Shirley Sayers of Picton who was dressed in a frock of dark rose crepe and carried a bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and white heather and fern.

The groom was attended by his brother Mr. Ross Harrison, Picton.

The Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Mrs. Lorne C. H. Y.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Burr and during the signing of the register she played and sang "Until."

The bride's grandmother received in a two piece dress of wine crepe trimmed with gold sequins. The groom's mother wore a dress of mauve crepe. Twenty-four guests sat down to a delicious luncheon. Table assistants were Miss Tena Brooks, Miss Pauline Burr, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Osterhout.

The groom presented the bride with a silver engraved bracelet, to the bridesmaid, a pearl necklace, to the pianist, pearl earrings, to the best man cuff links.

The happy couple left amid showers of confetti for Toronto and points west. The bride travelling in a gown of red crepe with black and brown hat and red accessories. On return they will reside at the groom's home, Plainfield.

AIKENS W.M.S.

The World's Day of Prayer was held at the home of Mrs. F. Moon Friday, Feb. 16.

The meeting opened with quiet music by Mrs. H. Hamilton after which Mrs. S. Spafford took charge of the program the theme being, "That ye should show forth the praise of Him who has called you out of darkness into His marvellous light."

Prayers were offered by Mrs. W. Bush, Mrs. O. McMuller, Mrs. F. Moon Mrs. H. Hamilton and Mrs. S. Marshall. A solo was given by Mrs. E. Bush.

After a hymn Mrs. S. Spafford closed the meeting with prayer.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. F. Moon assisted by Mrs. G. Brickman.

Hair Conditioning Necessary Before the Permanent Wave

Barbara Britton advocates all treatments for the hair.

By HELEN FOLLETT

YOU MAY have noticed that many of the lovelies who pose for magazines have hair that is not straight as a string, without a suggestion of undulation.

Only two types of women can get away with the severely arranged hair-do—the young beauties and jacies of fashion who have just had a permanent, the average girl the permanent is a must, if she is to hold up her head with the rest of the sisters.

Permanent Waving

One should not forget that although permanent waving methods are improving all the time, it is wise to condition the hair for several weeks before submitting to the machine wave. Any machine-less or the cold treatment. Once the waves and ringlets are there the wool upon the feminine head requires little care that makes for a healthy, glittering, lovely loop.

You can have conditioning treatments at your favorite beauty parlor, if you can find the time, you lucky lassie. If hours are precious, bring your scalp and tresses a thorough lubrication the night before the shampoo.

Mineral Oil!

Use mineral oil for the purpose; it is easily washed out in the morning. Start with a rousing overhauling, sweeping from the nape line up to the crown of the head.

Part the hair at various places, tricking the oil all along the partings with a medicine dropper. The farther away from the scalp the dryer the shafts, so pour some oil in the palm of your hands, rub it on the ends of your precious locks. The oil should remain on your hair all night, so don't be afraid to use plenty of it. If dandruff is your beauty curse, the oil will loosen the scales.

Next morning, start the shampooing with a rinsing of hot water, using a bath spray. Three soapings are necessary, and as many rinsings.

Economic Defense Made Him Quarrel With Her Before Christmas

Dear Mrs. Fairfax,

I'm just a poor chap with a medical discharge from the Army, so I'm making as much at the job I'm trying to master. Later on I hope to do better and have more responsibility, but I just couldn't keep pace with the doll I fell for. She wanted in fact demanded, the most expensive present and when I'd gone into debt and borrowed from my folks for her things she never seemed satisfied that they weren't about as good.

Well, Lady, one night I had a run of common sense. She was asking for expensive pieces of jewelry for Christmas; she might as well have asked for the moon, and I up and told her to get over it while she was at it.

That the only presents I could afford weren't much above the auto class. Ye Gods, I'd like to make up with her, but somehow my pride said I'd been a lesson to her; shall I tell her the break was economic and my heart is still sore.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

IODE Book Fund Campaign Will Continue a Week

Although originally intended to have been closed this week, the I.O.D.E. book campaign for the raise funds for the purchase of books for the armed services will be kept open until the end of the month, it was announced by Chapter officials last night. The date for closing of the fund had been reached, but the committee who instituted they wished to obtain for the armed forces as near to the end of the month.

After a comparatively slow start contributions toward the fund have come in fairly well during the latter part of the campaign and once again the willingness of Belleville people to support a worthy cause, which cause has been indicated, the success of the fund is also indicative of the standing of the I.O.D.E. organization which has lent its support to many charitable causes during the war.

Contributions to the fund to supply reading material for the boys in the services have been encouraging but there is still room for every dollar that can be spared and donations to the fund will still be gladly accepted. Contributions may be left at any of the Belleville and Bank branches or with the Regents of the I.O.D.E. Chapters.

Fashion Flashes

VERY STRIKING is the profile brim (usually associated with the casual felt hat. The silhouette is used for a hat in natural Rio straw braid, the brim gently flaring to one side. In front is a massed flower arrangement in shades of pink to red. The veil is violet.

NECK INTEREST extends from unusual necklines to neck jewelry. Sometimes it's a high ruff of fine eyet neckband, background for tiny ceramic heads in pink, white or yellow. Tiny matching ceramic

TREMENDOUS SEASON for checks ahead. Combinations of brown and white checked tweed in soft all-wool fabrics, with button classic with fine navy accessories. Also the divided skirted flare and for collar and notched revers.

RIGHT NOW, under furs, and through Spring and Summer into Autumn, the best program for dress, if it is well chosen. A good choice is a print of champagne beige rayon crepe made on slim lines, dropped neckline with deep V, wide-draped three-quarter length sleeves, draped skirt caught into the waistline at the left front with a knot. Nice in black, too.

SUN MAIDENS are flocking into the sunshine departments to pick up clothes for next Christmas's play hours. A fine choice is a costume in coarse white Mexican cotton with green stripes, a dress bib-lined coat, draped halter bra and shorts, with stripes used in various ways.

THE COAT is back, but with plenty of ribbon to tie it in at the ness. Kelly green felt is used for a coat with a flaring "tip" which supports huge bows of pink and kelly-green taffeta ribbon combined with blue, yellow and black.

Works of Canadian Writers, Poets Studied By Holloway St. Y.P.U.

The Christian Culture group of Holloway street Y.P.U. conducted a meeting program on Monday evening when the theme was "Canada on a Trans-Canada tour, making the study of literature, the people of the authors, whose writings have made Canada a place in the world of literature.

Mrs. Milton Reade made a brief talk on Columbia where Rodyn Robertson was born, then the life of Pauline Johnson, who came from the Six Nations tribe of the Iroquois Indians, and lived on the reserve near Brantford, Ontario. Her father was chief of the tribe. In British Columbia, the one of her poems "The Song My Paddle Sings" was read by Evelyn Keefe.

Traveling across the bridal plains of the prairies a stop was made to visit Willie McClung. One of her short stories in which she expressed a desire to visit "beautiful Ontario" was read by Marion Richardson.

At Winnipeg Rev. Charles Wilkinson was met by the famous Canadian-name Ralph Connor, to the delight of many. Some readings from much of his writing was about Glengarry, where he was born and lived his later years in Winnipeg. Mrs. Campbell which tells of the early days in the province.

Roslyn Robertson read one chapter from a recently-published book, about a barn raising.

Travelling eastward to Montreal Williams, Mrs. Empson and Mrs. Reade visited. Although a Scotsman, he is known as one of the French speaking Canadians. He was a medical doctor as well as a poet of woods, camps, and the open country. His poem, "Little Bateese" was read by Pat Thurston.

Father east in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, contributing to Canadian literature have been made by Miss Ott acting D. D. Roberts, L. M. Montgomery, and Sophie Lacombe.

Assisting the leader, Roslyn Robertson. In the worship service were readings assigned, who read the Scripture, and Ana English who was pianist.

The group welcomed as a guest, Mrs. Hardy, Citizenship convener for South Hastings District Y.P.U. In a capable manner Dog reminded the members of their duties as Christian young people emphasizing the need of serving, illustrating that a solution may be reached for the severest social problem, which cannot be solved by politicians, but solved only by the citizens.

Following the business period the Christian Culture group served doughnuts and coffee.

MARSH HILL W.M.S.

The February meeting of the W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Bert Searles following a dinner. The worship period was taken by the president Mrs. E. R. Parks. Twelve members responded to the roll call with verses. Items of interest were given by Mrs. Searles for the literature, Mrs. Mills for temperance, Mrs. Mitts for Missionary topics and Mrs. P. Campbell rec. sec.

Mrs. Lindenfield took charge of the remainder of the meeting, reading a reading entitled "Not Comforts Only."

Mrs. Marisette gave another reading entitled "Thes Other half of the Envelope."

Mrs. Fred Heasman read from the Monthly Letter about the Secretary, Dr. Carney.

Mrs. Mills offered prayer for missionaries and the meeting closed by all repeating the Lord's Prayer.

INVICTAE MISSION CIRCLE

The February meeting of Bridge Street Mission Circle was held Tuesday evening in the church parlors. Refreshments were served by GrGoup 3 and a sing song led by Mrs. Sharpe.

Meeting opened with hymn 545 followed by prayer by Wmona Best. Minutes of last meeting were read, roll call and business discussed.

Mary Hooks was guest speaker and gave a very much enjoyed address. Meeting closed with Mizpah benediction.

Warsaw Insurrection is Described

One of the most vivid accounts of last summer's uprising in Warsaw has been given by a Swedish actress, Elna Gistedt. A favorite with Polish audiences before the war, Miss Gistedt was keeping a restaurant in the capital when the revolt broke out. She survived its hardships and later, those of a Nazi concentration camp.

(From the Polish Review)

The Germans were aware of the preparations for the uprising, warned by their numerous Volksdeutscha and other Axis spies. At the end of July they made mass arrests. They claimed that they had discovered Polish underground headquarters in Mazowiecka Street, which they immediately surrounded, arresting several score and shooting 30 persons. Among the latter was the son of the writer, Juliusz-Kaden-Brandowski.

On the 30th. of July, 4,000 Germans, stationed in the students' house on Narutowicz Square concentrated 4,000 tanks there, taken from the Saski and Botanical Gardens. Towards the end of July the Germans began buying up as much of all sorts of provisions as possible. On August 1st., a German officer warned a saleswoman, friend of mine, Gistedt, not to leave her house after the 14th. The Vistula bridges, mined in July, each had only one traffic lane in use.

The inhabitants of Warsaw believed that these German preparations were being made to stop the Red Army or for the forced evacuation of the city, and estimated that the battle would last only five days at the most.

The outbreak of the insurrection caught Miss Gistedt in the Brandlicki Palace, that became the centre of "no-man's-land" between the Germans on Jerusalem Avenue and the Polish barricades that crossed Nowy Swiat Street, at the head of Chmielna and Piusa Streets.

Later she worked at a first aid station in Smolna Street. The Russians had bombed and partially damaged her restaurant on July 29th.

The Germans transferred all the inhabitants of Smolna Street to the National Museum as hostages, but Miss Gistedt escaped and remained at her work, going all about the city during the insurrection, visiting temporary hospitals, often crossing embattled Saptialna, Warecka and Nowy Swiat Streets.

She personally observed the battle for the Holy Cross Church that took place at the end of August, during which the Germans saved themselves by retreating to the University, and the battle for the Bank of National Economy on September 1st. The Germans often used tanks, nick-named, "Bellowing Cows" by the Poles, firing incendiary shells and machine-gunning the Polish position from airplanes.

The great aerial bombardment began on August 5th, when thirty persons were killed and more than a hundred injured in a shelter on Krolyiowa Street. Boys of 14 and 15 formed anti-tank squads each composed of four boys, so efficient that the Germans feared to send their tanks into narrow streets. Each house defended by the Germans had Polish hostages.

Gestapo men whose function was to keep an eye on the Wehrmacht, killed all German soldiers who wished to surrender, for the Wehrmacht's enthusiasm was low and it greatly feared the Poles. Each building occupied by the Germans had wells and auxiliary electrical power stations prepared in advance for the time when the central stations might no longer function.

There were some who never ventured out of their shelters during the entire two months, but in general Warsaw tried to lead a normal a life as possible under the bombardment of artillery and aircraft. In the beginning Poles went about without taking any special precautions, but they fell and lift began more and more to be carried on subterranean character.

Sidewalks disappeared — torn up by teen-age boys for barricades. Young boys and girls acted as couriers and mail and newspaper distributors.

Divine services were celebrated in cellars where marriages were also solemnized. During the first period of the uprising, fallen heroes were laid, to rest with full ceremonies in those cellar hide-outs.

On the 9th. of August, Miss Gistedt attended a concert at the Conservatory given by Stanislaw Wisnia, Karolina Lubienska and "Kalma," (a new singer, the pupil of Adam Didur.)

Between August 5th. and September 5th., the stores and shops of Warsaw were partially open. One could mostly frequently purchase meat from horses killed in the fighting at 65 to 321.50 a pound, at the pre-war rate of exchange, depending on the relative quiet of the section. Potatoes cost 8 a pound.

Children too young to fight or too young for auxiliary services, picked vegetables and fruits in kitchen gardens along the Poniatowski railway tressel that let one go about the city, through the various barricades, for the Poles guarding them, sometimes acting strict, fearing German counter-spies.

The famine was indescribable. Only sugar was in abundance. At the end, all Warsaw lived on bread water, when water was obtainable. Miraculously, there were no epidemics, save one of dysentery at the end of August that lasted three to five days.

Economy in Warsaw was most urgent during the insurrection. The American paper dollar in secret circulation rose in value at the close of the insurrection from 200 zlotys (320) to 500 zlotys (800), and dropped to 180 zlotys (324) after the capitulation.

The price of butter before the uprising was about 320 a pound (800 zlotys). Sugar disappeared during the fighting it was 547 a pound, and after the capitulation in the camps near Warsaw, it cost as much as 952 a pound. During the insurrection an egg cost 96.

One woman offered Miss Gistedt a Persian lamb fur coat for a kilogram, 2.2 pounds of butter.

On September 5th., Miss Gistedt along with 6,000 other Warsovians (800 slightly wounded),

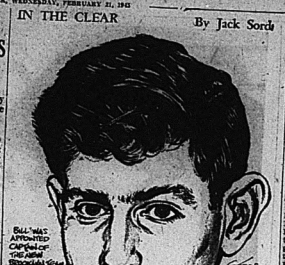
KENNEDY'S LOSS TO MAPLE LEAFS KEENLY FELT

Aggravates Old Hand Injury but Will be Ready for the Playoffs

(By The Canadian Press)

Loss of Ted (Teeter) Kennedy has just about filled to overflowing the cup of sorrow of the management of Toronto Maple Leafs. Kennedy aggravated his old hand injury in Saturday's contest with Montreal Canadiens and his absence from the lineup Sunday contributed to the club's 6-1 setback at the hands of Detroit Red Wings.

The 18-year-old centre, one of the smartest stickhandlers in the league and a protege of Nels (Or Polson) Stewart, is the leading scorer on the Toronto club, tied for ninth place in the standings with Ab Demarco of New York Rangers. Only Montreal's Rocket Richard, with 44, has scored more goals this season than Kennedy, who has 24.



Coach Hap Day of Leafs has been loyal in praising the Port Colborne, Ont., youngster, comparing him to Bill Cowley, Johnny Gottselig, Billy Taylor and other N.H.L. stars.

"I think Kennedy is the best teen-aged boy to reach major hockey since Busher Jackson," Day said.

Coupled with the earlier loss of Denis (Dewsweeper) Smith, Kennedy's injury leaves Leafs badly crippled condition and their double remiss last night and stretches their current losing streak to four games.

They do hope to be back at full strength centre back in time for the clubs' next game Saturday against Rangers at Toronto.

OLD-TIMERS WILL DISPLAY WARES FOR YOUNG FANS

Masters of Hockey in Bygone Days Will Play for Sweet Charity

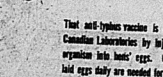
Toronto, Feb. 21 — (CP) — The hustling and pulling should be almost enough to rock the walls of Toronto Maple Leaf Gardens tonight and possibly there'll also be some fine and fancy hockey in the old fashioned manner, though.

For tonight is the night the old masters of hockey as it was played in an earlier age meet in the Gardens in the interests of the Navy League of Canada.

The game is as close as they can come these days to duplicating the old Toronto Maple Leafs—Montreal Maroons National Hockey League rivalry of a hockey era that knew no record centre ice line but plenty of rough body checking.

The lineups could be something almost from the fisticuff era, or out of an old and yellowed hockey program pulled from the attic keepsake collection. Here they are:

Leafs: Hap Day, goal; Roy Worters and George Hainsworth, defence, Hap Day, Alex Levinsky, Red Horner and King Clancy; forwards, Joe Primeau, Charlie Conacher, Harvey Jackson, Billy Taylor, Bryan Hextall, Eddie Cowley, Frank Boucher, Al Murray, Bill Cook.



Maroons: goal, Dave Kerr; defence, Lionel Conacher, Marvin Wentworth, Hollis Shore, Stew Evans; forwards, Nels Stewart, Hooley Smith, Russ Blinco, Neil Colville, Russ Blinco, Babe Oatman, Bobby Bauer, Earl Robinson, Lorne Duguid.

Not all of them are so aged and the lure of youth is to make sure somebody is upright at the end of the game. But the old timers have been working out for this game and yesterday Eddie Oatman was coaxing only Toronto ice by his tall Eddie Cowley, Normand Mahoney, for the first time in 23 years. Eddie, now 56, last showed here in 1922 with the old Vancouver Millionaires against Toronto St. Pats.

Sky Chief Midgets Take 4-Goal Lead To Port Hope

Picton, Feb. 21 — Sky Chief Midgets, representing Picton, Bloomfield and Wellington, take a four-goal lead to Port Hope as they soundly trounced Port Hope Lions' entry from that town, in the first of home and home games in the O.M.H.A. playdowns. Goals count on aggregate.

The game here saw some good hockey by the stars of tomorrow. In the Tyro period, deep second for Port Hope, with Bovay tying it. In the second, Bovay clipped three goals home with no reason on the visitors. Town scored for Port Hope early in the final period but Bovay came back with two more. Tait added another to make it 7-2. Pollard scored the third for the visitors. Robinson starred in the Picton net, with MacDonald and Bovay in turn giving fine support on defence. Stephens and Bovay each scored 3. For Port Hope, Town, Pollard and Churchley were outstanding.

TRANSPORTATION To be DISCUSSED

Washington, Feb. 21 — (AP) — Baseball's representatives will discuss the transportation situation today following an appointment with baseball conference on manpower with the War Mobilizer, James F. Byrnes.

Ford Frick and Will Harridge, baseball league presidents, will end their official business here in a talk with Col. J. Monroe Johnson, Office of Defense Transportation Director.

With spring training period early next month, the two problems —manpower and transportation — are considered the sport's most pressing.

Frick and Harridge had little to say after a discussion with Byrnes.

They told reporters the meeting merely laid our problems before him" in facts and figures.

Frick later added that "we talked manpower on a broad scale."

Byrnes was very friendly and courteous, Frick said, and he and Harridge looked as if the interview had been encouraging.

Byrnes had no comment.

ST. LOUIS FLYERS DEFEAT HORNETS

By The Canadian Press

In one of the fastest games witnessed by St. Louis fans this year, the Flyers raced to victory over Pittsburgh Hornets 4-3 last night but the result brought no change in the standings of the western division of the American Hockey League.

Flyers were behind after the first two periods when the Hornets had succeeded in working up a 2-1 lead but by scoring three goals in the final period, including the winning tally by the last 18 seconds, St. Louis emerged victorious.

The two goal lead in the second period after a scoreless period was built by Deed Klein and Roland Rosaignol.

Johnny Hurecek, George Blake and Bill Hergert were the St. Louis scorers in the third with Bob Walton counting the only Pittsburgh goal.

NO EVIDENCE OF DISHONESTY

New York, Feb. 21 — (AP) — No evidence of dishonest or corrupt dealings has been found in college basketball games played at Madison Square Garden, the Department of Investigation reported yesterday.

Commissioner Edgar Bromberger, who began a probe after the Brooklyn College point-shaving scandal broke Jan. 20, asserted "... there is no evidence of any dishonesty, culpable irregularity or corrupt dealings in the negotiations between the Garden corporation and City College of New York and Brooklyn College, or in the conduct of the games themselves or in the financial transactions resulting therefrom."

In addition, the interim report to Mayor Fiorello La Guardia declared the "officials in charge of the games were, according to unanimous opinion, of high character and incorruptible conduct."

TORONTO RINKS MAKE SHOWING IN ROYAL YORK

G. R. Redfern, Winner of Grand Aggregate Last Year, is Quarter-Finals

Toronto, Feb. 21 (CP) — The second big event in the 1945 annual Toronto bonspiel got under way today at the Royal York with games for the Strike-Mills-Ryrie trophy. The draw will take up most of the day, with the quarterfinals of a few games in the North American Life trophy event tonight.

Rinks skipped by R. R. Moore of Toronto High Park go into the quarter-finals of the main Royal York trophy event with a 13-12 win over last year's winner, A. J. Simpson.

Three other quarter-finalists hail from Toronto. They are G. R. Redfern of Toronto Curling Club, 1944 winner on a total aggregate and the Birks-Ellis trophy; T. Tasker and Ed. Young, both of Toronto Granites.

A three-time winner of the Royal York, Dr. Gordon Lindsay Hamilton, leads the put-of-town contingent in the quarter-finals. The others are Alex Gardiner of Barrie, J. Parr of Brampton and G. W. Mestin of Hamilton Victorias.

Leading in the Seiberling trophy competition were cut to 16 rinks Monday night of the second bonspiel underway. Among the survivors is Dr. Murdoch of Lindsay, last year's winner.

Alex Gray's all left-handed rink from Port Arthur, Ont., kept their game in the Waterloo trophy event which is also in the quarter-finals Saturday.

There will be no further play tonight in the Seagram-Waterloo section of the spiel but the Seagram-Ryrie-North American Life Association events completed the early rounds, probably late Wednesday and Saturday will be given over to quarter-finals, semi-finals and finals in all events.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By FRED KERNER
(CP Staff Writer)

Toronto, Feb. 21 — (CP) — Frank Sargent and the C.A.H.A. moguls will have to put on their thinking caps to straighten out the latest little problem that has been tossed their way. It seems that if the Allan Cup finals are to be held in western Canada this year, neither of the probable contenders from Quebec will be able to compete.

Right now it looks almost certain that Montreal Royals of the Quebec senior group or Valleyfield Braves of the Interprovincial League will represent the province in the senior Dominion playdowns. For that matter, the strength of either club gives them the nod as eastern Canada representatives in the finals.

But both clubs say they will not participate in the finals unless the C.A.H.A. makes the venue somewhere in Canada's west. Al (Mont-real Herald) Parsley, notes that most of the Royals are in war work and their executives see no reason why they should take time out for an extensive series of playoffs.

Royals and their backers — and that goes for the Valleyfield boys, too — feel that too much criticism has been hurled at hockey by "super-patriots" as it is, let alone taking a group of war workers away from their essential jobs for at least three weeks.

However, there is hope still alive

that a Quebec representative will enter the cup series. Quebec Aces-producers of the 1944 Quebec-Shawinigan Falls of the International League are willing to go through with the series if it's the only way to get the only drawback is that both the latter clubs are drifting in their respective loops.

But hoping being what it is, there is no telling. Perhaps the Montreal-Valleyfield group Aces or the Falls boys will emerge.

Post-war Planning:

Post-war hockey plans for the west coast indicate the desirability of having a first-class junior hockey setup. But Ken (Vancouver Province) McDowall points out that the only way of accomplishing this is by allowing the juniors more time to play. With the intermediate loops in British Columbia confined to one rink each, they get considerably little time to practice.

The financial interests behind these rinks often wonder what there is in it. It seems that the clients take most of the loot-time in practices — the only hope is that worthwhile teams are produced so the loops can as well maintain their interest.

Says McDowall since Vancouver fans have long proven they'll support hockey, perhaps the post-war dream had better be a good senior team in a first-class Pacific coast loop, or a fast, though perhaps junior, puntor circuit.

CASUAL COMMENT
by K.J.C.

Unpredictable Humans.

Two flies were strolling along the ceiling. Suddenly one of them stopped.

"You know," is remarked, "human beings are very silly."

The second fly shrugged.

"People are silly?" it echoed. "How do you make that out?"

The first fly tapped the ceiling with its foot.

"Well, take a look," it chirped. "They spend good money building a nice ceiling, and then they walk on it."

Ready For Fray.

Facing a three goal deficit, Fl. Jimmie McCaa's Mountain View Flyers don't feel confident they can still beat the Flyers tonight. You must remember we've played five games with the Flyers this season and that means 300 minutes of hockey. After the aggregate score was added up I find Trenton has only scored two more goals than we have. You can't say there's too much of a margin between us on that score. True enough our back-checking and defence was below par Monday night, but it'll be a different story tonight," predicted Cha-Cha today.

At that, when Trenton scored five successive goals in the first period it was a surprise to us. H.Q.A.F. loop and it's far from probable that they'll be supplied again. In their five meetings to date Trenton has won three games, View one while two others have been tied. They're playing assured the fans tonight, no tie will be in order and local teams will be on the proverbial "spot." Looking for that spot in the Command playdowns Manager Gordon Borden here Friday and there'll be more to be said about that tomorrow.

Mel Ott's Record.

In the last eight years, Manager Mel Ott of the Giants has hit .300 in the National League home runs to raise his record. Twenty-two times he has driven in 100 runs in league's seven other cities. He parked 17 homers in Chicago the last eight years, 14 in Philadelphia, 13 in Brooklyn, 11 in Cincinnati, ten in St. Louis, seven in Boston and only three in Philadelphia. And not one of his Philadelphia homers in the last eight seasons has been hit at Shibe Park, which field the Phillies moved from Baker Bowl in mid-season of 1938.

Mel's last home run in Cincinnati was hit in 1941, when he socked four at Crosley Field. He has not hit any at either Brooklyn or Pittsburgh the last two seasons, meanwhile clubbing 40 at New York.

Remember When.

Dusky Joe Louis, only seven months in the professional boxing world, knocked out Lee Ramage in the second round of a scheduled 10-round bout at Los Angeles ten years ago tonight, taking a long stride in his world's heavyweight title climb which was successful in 1937 when he sheared James J. Braddock of his world crown. Lee is at present in the American army and is still in the champ.

Page Percy Page.

Roy Van Grafian, veteran International League umpire, is compiling one of the most remarkable coaching records in basketball this season, with the Pirates of Rochester, N.Y., a girls' team. The leaders registered their 166th consecutive victory in Canada. The team has not been defeated in seven years, the last setback being a 25 to 24 defeat, coming in the final seconds of play on two technical fouls. Van Grafian has set 202 consecutive victories as the team's goal—a record he is confident will never be broken.

Too, Much on Ball.

Belleville Juniors led by Bernie Meagher had too much speed and combination for the Combines in their first game for the loop title at the arena Tuesday night. The boys are mike north never quit trying but their play lacked class and the solo efforts were wrecked a strong defence. Green deference. It is a long time since the fans saw two clean-cut players the entire sixty minutes. Belleville team has improved by leaps and bounds in the past month and are showing the results of good and patient coaching.

Cornwall Flyers In Second Place

Cornwall, Feb. 21 (CP)—Cornwall Flyers moved into second place in the Interprovincial Hockey League standings last night when they whipped Lachine Rapids 6-3 in a game that saw three points for the home winner.

The Flyers pushed Rapids down into third slot in the standings after the visitors had opened the scoring in the first period. Flyers came back with a couple of counters before the period ended and scored four goals in the middle session and twice without reply in the third.

Sports Roundup

New York, Feb. 21 (AP)—Felix (Doc) Blanchard, Army's All American halfback, and halfback Max Minor have enlisted Saturday's Midwest A.A.U. track and field championships, Blanchard in the shot put and Minor in the broad jump . . . that probably explains the absence of Notre Dame stars . . . I wonder Glenn Haegg and hurdler Haskon Lidman can get here for the meet, why not substitute Sharkey, the high-hurdling seal from the National Sportsmen's show . . . Sharkey later? He's right down in the Garden basement.

Ker-se the Luck:

Andy Kerr, Jr., son of the Colgate football coach, came within four seconds of having a perfect season in his first coaching attempt last fall . . . Andy, Jr., a doctor attached to a general hospital in Maryland, tutored the 111th Area, who were unbeaten and unscored-on going into the season fifth and final game against the 307th Hospital . . . if things continued to go well until the last four seconds when one of Andy's boys tried to pass, was pushed and the ball was deflected into the arms of an opposing guard, who ran for a touchdown.

Prize explanation of the basketball season came when a Canisius player was flattened after a break away goal against Syracuse. "He wasn't fouled," an official grinned decisively. "He collapsed from exhaustion."

Horse Sense Bridge

LESSON NO. 613
By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Editors must think only those who hate my column ever read it, probably nobody reads it card to say I would be missed. But you should hear the squawks when I hesitate to print a perfect hand down.

Guess a letter like this: "You must be wrong about a four card suit needing the face cards to be biddable. Culbertson says a seven is enough."

Between you and me and changing Culbertson, he bids such an untrue suit only to cover up some bad rule of his, just his regular biddable suits are already the same as in my Horse Sense method.

Look in his New Gold Book and in page 102 you will see a list of his regular biddable suits. They are:

	Q J X X
	A J X X
	A J X X X
	J 10 X X X
	K Q J X X
	K Q X X X
	K Q X X X
	Q X X X X
	Q X X X X
	A K Q X
	A K J X
	K Q J X X
	K X X X X
	A 10 X X X

Horse Sense says: a biddable suit is four cards with two faces, or five cards with a face, or any six cards, or better. If you see any difference between us, you can put it through a needle's eye.

But on page 103 he lists what he now calls conditional biddable suits. Wearing the word biddable with the word conditional does not hide the fact that they are what he used to call shaded suits.

If you know true biddable suits, you know when a suit is shaded or shady. A shaded suit is another name for a suit whose biddability you are lying about under certain conditions.

Shaded suits are resorted to under conditions created by a bad basic rule. It is a refuge in a system that is using something wrong as a foundation for its bids. Horse Sense is not that kind.

Such things are a cumbersome system. On page 119 he says: Deliberately we conceal the true picture of length to avoid a more dangerous false picture of strength.

When a suit is shaded the truth is evaded.

AERIAL GUN BATTLE

London, Feb. 21 —(AP)— The Swiss radio, quoting a communique issued in Berne, has developed in an aerial gun battle with an American bomber over Swiss territory yesterday after British and American planes "repeatedly violated the Swiss air space." The Swiss authorities opened fire after vainly demanding that the bomber land.

Belleville Juniors Score 7-2 Win Over Stirling-Marmora Combines in Final Playoff

Tally Three Times in the Initial Frame and Never Headed

Moving out into a commanding lead of three goals in the initial period, Belleville gained a 7 to 2 victory over the Stirling - Marmora "Combines" in the first game of the "Little Ed" junior O.H.A. finals. The second game of the series will be played at Stirling on Friday night.

With some 900 fans on hand, of which fully two-thirds were from the Combines' stamping ground, Toots Holway's boys dominated the play in the initial period to lead 3-0. However, the Combines rallied strongly early in the middle session to score twice, but the homesters came back to add a brace as the middle frame ended 5-2. The only goals scored in the last period, in the fastest junior game of the year, were registered by Belleville.

Given Advantage

Early in the initial frame Wright drew down a penalty that gave Belleville the advantage, but McInroy stood firm to beat Holway at close range. After Wright was released from the sin bin Belleville continued to dominate the offensive play and were finally rewarded when Bernie Meagher drove in strongly from the left side to beat McInroy on a perfect pass from Jack Barrett. The Combines retaliated with effort but were thwarted by Fitzpatrick when Stapley and Courtney threatened. A few minutes later Day, Greatrix and Moher banded to beat McInroy at close range. Usman recaid through and was hailed by Kirkway and Green, that caused a whistle.

Deflected into Net

With new lines Bernie Meagher came out of a corner and his attempted pass deflected into the Combines' net. Day added a clear-cut goal. Seconds later Al Meagher set up a perfect relay for Don Barrett to put Belleville 3 ahead. Doug Green drew down a holding penalty and the Combine scored all up, but it was of little avail as Fitzpatrick rose to heights by tossing Bastedo, Stapley and Goodchild on repeated plays, as the Combines finished the period aggressors.

Trailing by three goals the Combines moved to the offensive to open the middle session and were rewarded with pressure plays, when Stapley shifted to ring the gong, on a three-way play, that saw Bastedo and Courtney lend helping hands. Continuing on the offensive and outshooting their foes 10 to 6, they raced through for a second goal, when Trumble drifted free to whip home Goodchild's pass inside the Belleville defence, making the score 3 to 2 for Belleville.

Green Scores Winner

After stumbling around for too long the Holway-led sextette finally found the scoring alert once again, when Jerry Moher slipped a fast pass to Doug Green, and the latter made no mistake to whip home what finally proved the goal to Belleville's win.

From there in it was Belleville as Bernie Meagher carries around the Combines' net for a sweet solo effort ending the middle session 6 to 2 for Belleville. Although the Combines dominated the play early in the final session, Bernie Meagher brothers combined for a fifth Belleville goal and Don Barrett made it seven for the homesters, as the Combines moved all out in a final effort to make matters even.

The highlight of the game came in the final session, when Usman and Barrett tangled in a minor fisticuffs, that was augmented with Ocalia McInroy playing a major part with a lending hand, Usman and Barrett drew down deserving penalties.

Goal Not Allowed

Starting the second period there were arguments galore in the Combine goal, but it was finally settled when the ice officials and the goal umpire finally agreed that the puck had slipped beneath a raised Belleville goal. It was a rather fair decision as the goal umpire from the visiting team accepted the referees' version.

For the game the Belleville defence of Holway and Green stood firmly and gave their best effort of the season. Bernie Meagher with four goals and an assist paced the locals followed by Don Barrett with three goals and an assist. Doug Green picked up the odd goal as Al Meagher added two assists. For the Combines Stapley and Trumble scored, but there were others around to make matters interesting. Especially noticeable in offensive work were Usman, Cousins, Bastedo and Courtney. Along the Belleville line Day skated miles with effectiveness and Moher and Greatrix broke up plays equally as well, but it was the Barrett-Meagher line that put off. Now it's to Stirling on Friday night for the second game of the series.

The lineups—

Belleville: goal, Fitzpatrick; defence, Holway and Green; centre, Barrett; wings, Bernie Meagher and Bernard Meagher; subs, Moher, Day, Greatrix, Lyall and Reeves.

AT THE BELLE

"Kismet", in Technicolor

At last the celebrated story of "Kismet" has reached its full glory and now it is on the screen—in glorious technicolor, and with a grand cast.

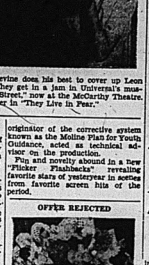
Brought to you by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer it is a movie that spells entertainment to beat Hollywood's best.

Starring in romance, drama, comedy and spectacle rolled into one, "Kismet" is highly successful engagement at the Belle theatre tonight.

Belle Canadian Movietone newsreel, and a funny Tommy and Jerry Kitty-Puddy cartoon complete the program.

Romantic Lead

John Emery plays the male romantic lead opposite Simone Simon in RKO Radio's romantic adventure story, "Mademoiselle Fifi" coming next to the Belle theatre. He plays a patriotic young French Republican officer who himself with Simone's efforts to thwart the bullying Prussian conquerors of France during the Franco-Prussian war.



Simone Simon is starred in "Mademoiselle Fifi" said to be one of the most exciting films of 1945. In addition to Emery, the principal supporting players are Kurt Kreuger, Edmund Glover, Alan Napier, Fay Helm and Jason Robards. The screen play was adapted from two stories by Guy deMaupassant.

"Yeah Keen Wild." Timely

A gripping treatment of juvenile delinquency, its cause and possible cure is presented in the new screen offering "Youth Runs Wild" announced on the 2nd feature attraction on the same program.

Bonita Granville and Glenn Vernon and Tom Brimi head the cast of the picture, which deals with the problem of the effect of war-working parents in a typical defence plant town, and the trouble that can arise from the lack of parental guidance.

The cast includes such favorites as Jean Brooks, Fritz Lieber, Mary Servoss, Ben Erard and Arthur Shields. Ruth Clifton, famous young Eisenhower has rejected the offer to set up a luxury welfare agency for junior flying officers in the once-swank Paris apartments of Mrs. Laura Corrigan (above), Chicago's most fabulous hostess and one of the world's best-known international lionesses. Gen. Eisenhower, the story continues, refused the grant permission to Mrs. Corrigan to cross the channel to London, contending that the American Red Cross is the only welfare agency for Yank soldiers overseas.

EDDIE BRANNICK PRAISES HUBBELL

Miami, Fla., Feb. 21, — (AP)—If Carl Hubbell wins a place in baseball history as a farm executive as well as a great pitcher, Eddie Brannick can see it probably will—say "I told you so."

The New York Giants' secretary sounded some words of praise today for the left-hander who became head of the club's farm system after his hurling days were over.

"He'll be as good a job as Branch Rickey or any of them have done," Brannick predicted. "He's going to be a big man. The fellows got plenty of ability."

Brannick said Hubbell may have probably the most colorful rookie in new camp in Tom Sheehan, 19-year-old pitcher from Wyalusing, Pa., one of the Memphis Chicks last year.

112 ROOKIES DUE TO REPORT

Chicago, Feb. 21 (AP)—At least 112 rookies a total comparable to last year's, are expected to report at the eight training camps of American League teams next month.

Heading the list of those most likely to succeed is Bobby Doerr, Martin, who won the American League's most valuable player award by batting .366 with 18 clouters last season. Martin, discharged after 3 1-2 years in the service, is one of 11 rookies the champion St. Louis Browns have in camp. He'll seek an outfield berth.

Boston Red Sox have probably the most colorful rookie in new camp in Tom Sheehan, 19-year-old pitcher from Wyalusing, Pa., one of the Memphis Chicks last year.

Shawinigan Cataracts Beat Valleyfield Braves

Shawinigan Falls, Que., Feb. 21—(CP)—Shawinigan Cataracts, the dore-mats of the Intersprovincial League until they suddenly started to mow in every opponent in sight in their third straight triumph last night by pinning a 12-3 licking on the hapless Valleyfield Braves.

The highly-rated Braves just weren't in the running. After a 13th final, when the Cataract spree were held to a single goal, the homesters ran in five straight counters in the early part of the second and had moved the count to 7-0 in the third before the Braves recovered with both their tallies.

The Cataracts added five more for good measure after that.

Noel Tremblay, Jack Toupin, Herb Carlson and Armand Paquette each scored twice for the winners, Paquette and Hal Anderson drew majors in the second period when they started trading blows and then went at it again after breaking away from restraining hands.

What's Doing in Sport

(By The Canadian Press)

There is a mixed reaction to the suggestion at Ottawa yesterday that the Physical Fitness Branch of the Federal Health Department serve as a link between sport organizations and the government. The suggestion was made by Maj. Ian Eisenhardt, director of physical fitness, urging closer co-operation between the branch and Canadian sport organizations. Officials at Winnipeg football and skating organizations favored the suggestion.

The Eisenhardt suggestion was also welcomed at Regina, where A. W. Pickard, vice-president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said co-operation should be mutually helpful, but sports officials at Vancouver said they do not "see" government assistance.

Dan McKenzie, past president of the Canadian Lacrosse Association at Vancouver said "naturally we are interested in seeing the government take an interest in sport, but we might be leaning on a broken read if we depend on Maj. Eisenhardt to speak for us."

At Montreal it was announced last night that Howie Morenz junior will be out of hockey for the rest of the season, having suffered a dislocated shoulder in the exhibition game between Montreal Junior Canadiens and Peg Juniors at Kirkland Lake Friday night.

Harold Clements, former Toronto steeplechase rider, was missing in Germany, now is reported killed in action while fighting with the United States army. Clements was home in Toronto on leave last summer and rode with success at Woodbine Park.

At London last night the Western University Mustangs beat the Chatham training centre 84-62 in an exhibition basketball game. The game was a fairly good and bad basketball with the soldiers outclassed in the second half.

YOUR BLOOD DONATION MAY SAVE A SOLDIER FRIEND'S LIFE!

"FILM-STRUCK"

By SHEILAH GRAHAM

CHAPTER 22

"He's my father," Livia told him wearily.

He whistled. "That's the guy you were in?"

Yes—but I didn't know about this. It's the end for me, I'm resigning from the picture."

She walked slowly to the telephone. Bruce overtook her.

"Wait."

"Why?" Her voice was hopeless. Bruce took the telephone from her wheel Livia fainted and slid to the floor.

Bruce carried Livia to her bedroom. She revived in his arms and started to cry. He hushed her as though she were a child, and after a while her tears ceased.

"I'm all right."

"Where's the newspaper?" she asked.

"Can you read it without fainting again?" She tried to smile back.

Yes."

He put a pillow against her back and handed her the newspaper.

The police had raided Al Jonas' vending cloth. A shot had been fired and a policeman killed. When the squad rushed into the room, they found Earl Dixon with a smoking gun in his hand. He was staring at it and not fighting stupidly. There were signs of hasty retreat. Drawers were open and empty.

"I don't believe he did it—unless he was so drunk he didn't know what he was doing. He's not a killer."

She told Bruce all she knew about Earl Dixon.

"The last time I saw him was at Terry Davidson's apartment." Bruce comprehended his lips at the name. so he was in this, too. It would give Earl great pleasure to mess up that pretty weak face.

"I'm not kind of stupid," Livia said, "Because, of course, Terry kept the money I gave for my father. And now Jonas is back—calling me," she concluded desperately, "you're not thoughtful for some minutes.

"I think," he said finally, "I'll call on Mr. Jonas."

"No, don't!"

"From now on I'm handling this, Livia."

"But what good will it do? Besides, my father had the gun in his hand."

Mrs. Sayles came in.

"What's the matter?" she said in alarm.

"Livia's been working too hard." Bruce said quickly. He called his doctor and stayed with her until he arrived.

The first thing was to find Terry. During the period of his disappearance of Bruce's sister, Elizabeth, Bruce had done some research on Terry. He found him on the third try in a second-hand furniture shop in Los Angeles which was a camouflage for a gaming and bookmakers who worked for Jonas.

Terry rose nervously when he saw Bruce in the doorway. He was playing poker with three men, and they stared stolidly at Bruce when he interrupting the game.

"What do you want?" Terry asked curtly.

"To talk to you," Bruce replied quietly.

"Anything wrong, Terry?" said the player dealing the cards. Terry hesitated.

"I'll be back," he said and followed Bruce into another room. "Okay, what's on your mind?"

"Earl Dixon," Bruce said. He rolled a cigarette and looked reflectively at Terry.

"What's that got to do with me?" Terry attefighted a laugh, but it did not quite come off. "I suppose Livia Charkas has tried to implicate me. If that's all you came for I'll be busy." He turned to go back into the other room. Bruce crushed his cigarette with a swift movement and grabbed Terry's arm.

"Not so fast," he said softly. Besides, I didn't say you had anything to do with the shooting.

"By the way, have E.C. Forsythe and Company, Incorporated, failed yet?" The blood drained from Terry's face.

"What d'ye know about that?" he said hastily.

"You'd be surprised," Bruce said. "I know, for instance, that they import silk from the Orient."

Terry's breathing came a little easier.

"And I know," continued Bruce, "that the silk they import is used up for the importation of drugs. Are you still peddling it in Los Angeles?"

"What's this got to do with Dixon or the policeman?" Terry said blustered.

"Did Jonas murder him?" Bruce said. Terry looked nervously toward the inner room.

"Not so loud," he whispered.

"I let you get off the last time," Bruce said, "because I didn't want my sister involved in the filthy mess. But unless you come through now, the police will investigate E. C. Forsythe and Company, Incorporated. Well?"

"I'll see you tonight," Terry whispered as one of the men came to the door.

Bruce sailed in vain for Terry that evening. He went to Al Jonas' eight-room flat in Beverly Hills, but was shuttered and a caretaker told him that everyone else was away and the club would not be opened.

Bruce tried to look cheerful when he saw Livia the next day.

"I'm not going to the studio," she told him. "I'll have to tell Charles today—he's been too swell. I can't ruin his picture."

"Don't do anything until I've seen Earl Dixon," Bruce said. She finally promised.

Bruce pretended to the officer in charge of the prison that he was Dixon's lawyer.

It was hard to believe that the battered wreck, twitching nervously in the bare white-tiled visiting room was the father of the girl he loved.

"I don't want a lawyer," he told Bruce flatly. "Leave me alone."

Not all of Bruce's persuasion could elicit more from Dixon than that he had not been alone when the shooting took place.

"But I reckon I did it all right," he mumbled. He looked furtively around. "You haven't have some liquor on you, would you?" Bruce shook his head. "I thought not," said Dixon desperately.

"Was Jonas there?" Bruce asked.

"I guess I don't remember much of what happened. You see," he continued gravely, "I was a little confused at the time. Now if you'll excuse me—" He went away with the attending policeman.

Well, did he do it?" Livia demanded before Bruce was inside the room.

He looked like a frame-up," Bruce said.

"Jonas?"

"He or one of his men."

"Did my — my father" mention me?"

"No — and I don't think he's going to. Livia, you've got to see, he thinks he's killed the policeman. He's going to take the rap for it anyway. I guess it's fitting that he hasn't much to live for one way or another."

"That's awful."

"I'm only concerned about you. You can't give up that picture now."

"I thought you didn't want me to be a star?"

"I didn't, but now I do," he said grimly. "Everyone was crazy about you. Be brilliant."

"Until I get mixed up with these people Jonas—"

"Yes. You've got to go back to the picture day after tomorrow—or they'll sue you out altogether."

"I can't."

"You must."

"All right, I'll try, but I don't know how long I can keep going."

"You'll keep going until the end of the picture. I'll take you to the studio," he volunteered, and she was grateful. It would help to have Bruce somewhere in the darkness beyond the bright, glaring lights.

Fordyce looked at Livia critically when she let him on the lot.

"Feeling better?" he asked.

"Oh, much better," Livia hoped her voice was convincing.

"Then let's get started then," Fordyce said abruptly.

In the scene Livia had to display the terror of the desertion of the husband she loved. Fordyce coached her. "Let it come from both she found it impossible to concentrate on what the director was saying. He was saying his cut the scene into small fragments.

"All you have to do, Livia, is to open the door, stand there, and take in that your husband is packing his clothes—that's all."

Over and over again the scene was rehearsed. Then they "took" it.

Maybe she would do better in the next scene.

But she had to rush up to her husband and throw out everything he had put in his bag. Her face was actually distorted—right for the scene.

"Print it," Charles cried after one "take".

Bruce slipped quietly away after that. He had a lot to do—Sheriff's to find Al Jonas. But first he went to the jail.

"You can't see Earl Dixon," he was told.

"Why not?"

"He's seriously ill—brain fever. They've moved him to the infirmary. It looks like pneumonia that case."

"I hope so, poor devil," Bruce said and strolled slowly away.

It would be the best way for Earl Dixon. But what of Livia?

The next day Dixon's illness was in the afternoon papers. There was another, the first one he'd seen since the shoot. The police were looking for Al Jonas. The mayor of Los Angeles was demanding a shake-up down on the race-track racket. A grand jury had been informed of the wide-spread race fixing. Al Jonas was named as ring-leader.

"I've got to find him before the police do," Bruce thought. Jonas was the type of criminal who would sink everyone on board with him. The paper Livia had signed must not be found by the police.

Bruce's mind was busy and his heart and intellect at odds.

He's raving. It won't do you any good," said a man in the hospital office.

"If he's as sick as you say, he won't make him any worse if I sit with him."

Bruce had been shadowed ever since his visit to Terry Davidson's. The Los Angeles police would help his plan if the men shadowing him reported him to their boss —Al Jonas—that Bruce had been with the delirious man.

He stayed thirty minutes. Then he went back to the set, noting that the men still followed him. Livia had seen the rushes and knew she was crying.

"I'm afraid I'm licked," Fordyce told Bruce helplessly.

"When shall Alice Delaware start?" Bruce asked.

"Tomorrow—and there's nothing to do now but to stop it."

"Give Livia another day," Bruce pleaded.

"I've already jeopardized the picture," Fordyce said, "Sorry, can't do it."

"Not even if I guarantee that by this time tomorrow she'll be all right?"

"Sorry, no can do."

Livia joined them.

"It's hopeless, Bruce," she said, "I'm through. I'm all done, I know it."

"Paid so, Livia," Fordyce said kindly, "it's as disappointed as you are."

"Promise me one thing," Bruce persisted.

"If I can," said Fordyce cautiously. Bruce took him aside.

"Don't use Alice until 12 o'clock tomorrow."

"All right—but that's final." Fordyce walked slowly away from the studio gates.

"Better get in my car," a voice said quietly. Livia felt a hand substance pressed against her arm. Bruce introduced George Maxwell, husband of Livia's friend, Vera, one of the two men.

"What of earth are you doing here?" Bruce exclaimed. George looked at them contemptuously and did not reply. They drove away.

They drove to a narrow street near Vera's at Santa Monica and stopped in front of a wooden house.

The three men mounted the precarious wooden stairs. A small aperture in a closed door slid open, and a dark eye filled it.

The door was opened. Al Jonas went back to the army cot against one of the sound-proofed walls.

"Things must be tough when you have to hide in this dump." Bruce said pleasantly. He let his hand to his pockets and found himself looking into a gun, held by George Maxwell, the husband of Livia's friend, Vera.

"I was only going to roll a cigarette," Bruce said calmly.

"Let him have his cigarette," said Jonas benignly.

Maxwell while Bruce spilled the tobacco carefully on the thin paper,

"You bad about Earl Dixon, hey?" Jonas said quietly. Bruce lit his cigarette.

He wanted a confession of murder from Jonas. Then he had to get away, with second hopeless. There was a window, but it was high and barred. Maxwell guarded the door.

Bruce is only one way to deal with people who stick their noses into other people's business," said Al pleasantly, "and that's bad you couldn't leave Earl Dixon to die nicely and without any trouble."

"Did you kill the policeman?"

"And if I did—what?"

Bruce wasn't sure. He couldn't leave this room alive, what difference did any of it make?

"Stand over there," Jonas barked. He jerked his head to one side of the room. "Go on," he said as Bruce hesitated, vainly seeking a way out.

"They tell me it doesn't hurt at all," Jonas said pleasantly.

Bruce started to walk slowly to the wall.

"Have you a last message for your—Livia?" Jonas laughed.

Bruce suddenly flung himself on Jonas. A shot rang out. The speaker's face twisted grotesquely, and he pitched forward with outstretched arms falling the air. The man who had fired the shot said, "I aimed at the other guy." He scrambled as Jonas pulled the trigger of his gun three times. The two men lay still.

"The car outside," Maxwell said to Bruce, I'll join you in a minute."

Mayor's Secretary Committed for Trial

Hamilton, Feb. 21 (CP)—William V. Patterson, ex-Secretary to the Mayor of Hamilton, was committed for trial on a charge of being an accessory after the fact to the concealment of the birth of a baby whose body was found Jan. 8 in a snowbank east of the city.

Wilhelmina McCash, Miss Dunbar, awaiting sentence on a charge of concealing the birth named Patterson as the father. She testified the baby was born in a snowbank Jan. 7 as they were endeavoring to obtain assistance.

At the conclusion of hearing, Crown Attorney Harry McGregor suggested to the court that the press be asked not to use any evidence which might be construed as prejudicial to Patterson.

KING GIVEN ACCOUNT

London, Feb. 21 —(CP)— Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden last night gave first-hand accounts of the big Three Crimean conference to the King in an audience at Buckingham Palace.

TRENTON

Happily Wed For 50 Years

Trenton, Feb. 21 — Mr. and Mrs. Chester Higgins, R. R. No. 3, Trenton, celebrated their golden anniversary on Tuesday last but unfortunately due to the condition of country roads at the present time were unable to entertain their many friends as they would have wished.

Mr. and Mrs. Higgins were married 50 years ago on the Methodist Church in Trenton by the Rev. Mr. Johnson, and have lived for the forty-six years in the home they now occupy on their farm just west of Trenton.

Mrs. Higgins, the former Mary Martin, was born in Manchester years ago in Manchester, England, and came out to Canada when a child of seven.

Mr. Higgins was born in Belleville, seventy-two years ago, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ben Higgins. Mr. and Mrs. Higgins have three children, Fred, living at home with his parents on the farm; Mrs. Rose Young, of Carrollton; and Mrs. Ethel Hamilton, also of Trenton, a great grandchildren.

Mr. Higgins has always been a most successful fruit grower and still is actively engaged in this work, while Mrs. Higgins has been a cellent health and able to perform all her own household duties.

Their many friends in Trenton, Belleville and district will extend them hearty congratulations and hope they may be spared to enjoy many years of active and happy farm life.

Council May Buy Diesel Grader For Town's Use

Trenton, Feb. 21 — What may prove the first step towards modernizing the town with a modern machinery for already a number of summer and winter was taken by the Trenton council at its last meeting, when it was decided to invite tenders for a caterpillar diesel motor grader. The council was shown moving pictures depicting this type of machine in use in the United States by a manufacturer's agent, in which the road construction and maintenance and also has a power attachment for opening and grading snowbound roads.

The council is particularly interested in the latter service in view of the fact that the town has to rent bulldozer to cope with the record snowfalls of the past two or three months. The only piece of equipment the town now owns is a truck with plough attachment which broke down early in the season, and is still under repair after several weeks.

The council, if it decides to make a purchase, will have to make application for release to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, and it will also have to be cleared by the department of labor before the decision to purchase was made. Although a majority of council appparently favored it.

Mayor Thompson stated,

The committee in charge of supplies for the corvette "Trentonian" has been advised that the vessel's commander Lieut. Harrison has been appointed to command the C.S. Joliette and command of the "Trentonian's" has been appointed Lieut. C. Glasco, of Hamilton, Ont., whose father is a prominent doctor of that city. Lieut. Glasco joined the R.C.N.V.R. in 1941 and last year was First Lieut. on board the Ville de Quebec.

On the Joliette with Commander Harrison is a Trenton boy Stoker Clyde Mason, whose wife, the former Margaret Andison and two small children reside in Trenton.

TO BE EXECUTED MARCH 5TH

London, Feb. 21 —(CP)— Execution date for Sgt. Clifford Runham, parachute trooper of Cambridge, Mass., and Corporal Frederick Arthur Beth Jones was set today for March 5th.

Both have been convicted of the robbery-slaying of George Heath, London's "Chich Citizen" after an appeal from the earlier conviction was refused yesterday.

ARRESTED AT NAPANEE

Napanee, Feb. 21 —(CP)— Robert Murray of Kingston, foreman of a local coal storage plant here, was charged with being found in possession of stolen property. He was released on $1,000 bail. Murray was arrested last night when police said he admitted buying butter stolen from creamery here. Prices board officers have recovered a portion of the butter.

NOTICE

An X-Ray clinic for diseases of lungs is being held Thursday and Friday, February 27 and 28 in the old Standard Bank Building. Your local Board of Health urges all who are due for appointments for an X-Ray Chest at the Mass survey clinic to avail themselves of this opportunity for these reasons:

1st—It is accepted that an X-Ray or film of the lungs is a most efficient method of discovering Tuberculosis.

2nd—Tuberculosis is a contagious disease and survey of apparently healthy groups offers the best opportunity of finding unknown cases.

3rd—Tuberculosis is curable and the earlier the discovery, the earlier the recovery.

Permanent Record of Thoughts In Drawings; Cuneiform Tablets And Writing at Basis of All Progress

The place of tremendous importance which books and writing have played in inspiring the progress of the universities was the subject of St. Andrew's Men's club at their regular monthly dinner meeting yesterday evening in the Hotel Quinte. Howard of Albert College was the guest speaker.

The speaker declared that all the progress of the ages and all the progress which has been achieved by the civilized nations of the world to-day is the fact that man learned to record his thoughts in a permanent form. This first was achieved by the drawing of pictures on the walls of caves, this developed to cuneiform writing and finally the alphabet was devised.

So important writing and books in modern life is the position of saying that the destruction of the human race would be most quickly accomplished by destroying of schools and universities and other centres of learning. This had been the attempt of the Germans and the Japanese. The Chinese, however, had realized the truism of the importance of their cultural assets and with the invasion of their homelands by the Japanese had preserved them by laboriously carrying them into the mountains.

Values of Books.

Very often books had accomplished that which famous professors and ministers had failed to achieve in years of lecturing. Inspiration and ideals were frequently put across through medium of book writing, with the result that Archbishop Hence John Fox Jr. in his Trail of the Lonesome Pine, had brought about appreciation that in mountain folk was represented the true spirit of the Canadian Rockies. Dickens in his desire to save the children of the poor from a hell which people of today know nothing of, had written the immortal Oliver Twist.

But Dr. Bible through the years had shone with the light of truth and had remained the most popular book ever printed.

President Charles Brown presided over the meeting with 15 members being called upon to introduce the speaker. A vote of thanks to Albert College was expressed by Mr. Arthur Hill. Entertainment during the supper hour was provided by the Belleville collegiate quartette, the members of which rendered harmonized versions of popular numbers. During the business session a proposal of the men's club purchasing a moving picture projector for use by the various church organizations was introduced by the president.

TORONTO EXCHANGE

Toronto, Feb. 21 (CP) — Base metals and western oils posted minor gains and industrials and golds were down moderately this afternoon on the Toronto exchange. Trading was active at 697,000 shares.

Trans-Reconrses jumped thirty cents to $3.60 and then went off to end to 2.60 for a net gain of 15 cents.

Western oil industrials appeared mainly in the steel, liquor and food groups.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

New York, Feb. 21 (AP) — Stocks fell fractions to two points under a wave of selling prompted by the reports of Marriner S. Eccles, Federal Reserve Board chairman, that speculative activity on stocks and real estate be subjected to additional heavy taxes as a wartime measure.

A few sections of the market were bolstered by investment buying. Near the fourth hour the general run of issues was 1 to 5% above the day's lows.

Scattered commodities were irregular.

Eccles' relief that the impact of selling included Chrysler, U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Goodyear, Allied Chemical, Sears Roebuck and Harvester. Lake Shore and Public Service were off a point. Lake Shore and Public Service were off lost ½ and Hiram Walker dropped a point. McIntyre was off ⅝.

LIVESTOCK

Toronto, Feb. 21 — (CP) — Cattle trade was slow with prices barely up to mid-season on the livestock market here today. Calves, lambs sheep and hogs were steady. Sows were up 50 cents over late yesterday and were the only notable change.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: Cattle 600, calves 200, hogs 900, sheep and lambs 900. Receipts from yesterday were 800 head of cattle.

Prices in the trade included:
Cattle: Steers $11 - $13, heifer butcher steers $9.50-$11.50, heifers $9 down, butcher cows $7-$9, canners downward to $5.50, bulls 7.50-$9.50, yearling grass $10-$13.

Calves; $13.50-$14.50 choice, common downward to $10.

Lambs: a few good $14.50-$15, common downward to $8.

Sheep: $5-$6.

Obituary

MRS. JESSIE TUFTS (Tweed)

Mrs. Jessie Tufts, widow of Arthur Tufts, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Montgomery, near Tweed, on Tuesday afternoon. Feb. 20th., after a lengthy illness.

The late Mrs. Tufts, who was advanced in years, was born in the 2nd concession of Tyendinaga Township, and was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Sherman. Operating expenses totalled $28,141,000, leaving net revenue was $3,854,000. In January, 1944, revenues were $28,406,000; expenses, $28,073,000, and net revenue $5,023,000.

JAP STRATEGY INADEQUATE

London, Feb. 21 — (CP) — A Red Star article broadcast in Moscow today said Japan's military strategy in the Pacific war has proved inadequate and that "latest events show that the invasion of Japan proper is now out of the question."

Vest calves 11-16, mostly 11-13. Grassers generally 9-9.50. Lambs 14 ewes and bucks fetched 11-11.50. Bulk of lambs in bags was made at 13.50 for Grade A Ewes 15-15.50.

Inspector Given 'Warm' Welcome

Guests at the Rotary Club luncheon this week raised quintal eyebrows at the "introduction of guests" portion of the meeting.

The usual hearty ovation accorded guests was missing when one of the number rose to his feet.

Instead, casually, bose, and rose of "throw him out" echoed in the luncheon room from venerable and other hearty throats.

The noise eventually subsided, and others guests relaxed and smiles beamed on chubmen faces. It was all good cheer at the Meade.

The guest introduced was Mr. W. H. Feld, inspector of income tax for this district.

Mrs. H. W. Dillnutt Re-elected Pres. British Israel Federation Group

Stork; secretary, Mr. Steven Aman; treasurer, Miss H. Averill; librarian, Sgt. Aman; membership secretary, Mrs. Dillnutt; pianist, Mrs. Aman; publicity secretary, Mr. J. Ketcheson.

Plans were laid for the coming season and the meeting closed with the Benediction.

Madoc Juveniles Defeat Eldorado

Madoc, Feb. 21 — The Madoc A.A. Juveniles defeated the Eldorado kids 10 to 3 in their first game in the North Hastings juvenile hockey title and the Donman Trophy on Monday.

W. Hawthorne of Madoc scored all three of the Madoc markers while C. Thompson registered both Eldorado goals. The second game will be played tonight.

Over 500 fans were on hand to take in the game at the Madoc rink, that saw Hawthorne open the scoring on a pass from C. Plaxton four minutes later C. Thompson evened matters for Eldorado by driving home H. Pigden's pass but Hawthorne put the homesters up once again by scoring M. Carew's pass out.

Hawthorne picked up his third Madoc counter for the only goal scored in the middle session, while C. Thompson notched the lone third period goal for Eldorado on a pass from F. Sherwood. Carew in the Madoc nets was the star of the game with his fine net-minding.

The line-ups—

NOTICE

An X-Ray clinic for diseases of lungs is being held Thursday and Friday, February 27 and 28 in the old Standard Bank Building. Your local Board of Health urges all who are due for appointments for an X-Ray Chest at the Mass survey clinic to avail themselves of this opportunity for these reasons:

1st—It is accepted that an X-Ray or film of the lungs is a most efficient method of discovering Tuberculosis.

2nd—Tuberculosis is a contagious disease and survey of apparently healthy groups offers the best opportunity of finding unknown cases.

3rd—Tuberculosis is curable and the earlier the discovery, the earlier the recovery.

Madoc W. I.

The February meeting of Madoc's Women's Institute was held in the assembly room of the high school.

Mrs. Geo. Hall, president, called the members to order and the meeting opened at 2.30 p.m. with "O Canada." Mrs. Wheal presided at the piano. Following the reading of the minutes of the January meeting, the roll call answered by "My First School Teacher" showed eleven members and five visitors present. Letters of thanks were received from Ralph Martin, Roy Smith, C. Brown and Allan Martin overseas for gifts received. Plans are being arranged for sending gifts overseas at Easter, also catering for the Easter dance by the Women's Institute. Wheal as guest speaker addressed the members on Education in Other Countries, Russia, China and Mexico. Russian educators are shown to be much broader than ours, with open air schools for all ages and all degrees of mentality. The school ages are to teach, fight and etc., to take older boys and girls' jobs who are in war work. Schooling is free as well as educational movies. In China, where years ago all outside influence was checked and girl babies were killed, women were not educated. Now education is open to girls and study is carried on even in moving schools. In Mexico where only boys mattered, girls are now educated. Sports are introduced and foreign teachers are imported. Secondary education is compulsory. Girls are especially well groomed. In Russia educational guidance is stressed. Student activities are encouraged. The final thought was that one youth is ready to accept and learn more if given the opportunity rather than a few. Miss Phyllis Beatty sang a solo and an encore accompanied by Stanley Hawthorne. They then favored the audience with a vocal duet, Mrs. Geo. West in the absence of Mrs. K. Brown took charge of Current Events. Instead of a series of war events she chose to read an article on research carried on by the government at the Sylvanic or Suhonic Plants spread by bees and gophers. A vote of thanks was tendered the guest speaker and those who assisted in the program. Mrs. Hill expressed appreciation to Miss McDermid for the use of the school. After closing with the National Anthem the meeting adjourned to the library where Mrs. Beatty conducted a valentine contest. Refreshments were served by Mrs. R. Perry, Mrs. C. Henderson, Mrs. W. Hill and Mrs. Tanner.

Wallbridge

Wallbridge — Mrs. W. Badgley conducted a splendid Temperance program at the close of the usual S. S. session on Sunday morning.

On Friday evening at the close of the school under the leadership of their teacher, Miss Phillips, a Valentine party at the school house. A splendid program of choruses, choral readings, recitations and plays all in keeping with Valentine's day was given. At the close of the program, the pupils exchanged Valentines with each other. The Juniors enjoyed a sleighride on the school yard and the older ones played games inside. At the close, candies, pop, corn and cookies were passed. A silver collection was taken for the Mission Band. There was a very happy evening the interest taken in the work.

The "World's Day of Prayer" service in connection with the W.M.S. was held at the home of Mr. Nobes Friday afternoon. Due to road and weather conditions and sickness in the neighborhood the attendance was not large, but the program was carried out.

We are glad to report that the sick of the neighborhood are improving. Mrs. O. Colby is home from the hospital and able to be around. Mrs Chilcoat is also improving and Mr. James Sine.

Mr. Barton Hinchliffe and June and Mrs. Bonnie Moore visited Mr. and Mrs W. Blackburn and family, Sidney, Sunday.

The members of the Ladies' Aid held their quilting last Wednesday afternoon at the homes of Mrs. F. Phillips, Mrs. Cecil Sine and Mrs. Wilfred Johnston. All were completed.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Johnston attended the funeral of the former's aunt in Hawden last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Pound and Rose, Hamilton, spent a recent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. F. Hards.

Wallbridge W.M.S. February meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Morley Phillips with a good attendance of members and friends and was in charge of the President, Mrs. W. Badgley. The devotional service as given in the Misglonary Monthly was led by Group Leader Mrs. Cecil Sine. A collection was taken for the circulating library. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were given. Mrs. S. M. Nicolson read a letter re the allocation and the missionary for prayer. She also gave a reading "Kindness is Not Rationed." Mrs. Morley Phillips gave a short message on Temperance. The grain used for the making of liquor would feed five millions of starving people.

Mrs. Badgley gave a short talk on mission work in Trinidad. Mrs. R. F. Elliott then gave the chapter from the Study Book a nine Church in Thailand and Pyrenc India China giving some most interesting information. Mrs. Hannah gave a reading "Look on the Bright Side" and the meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Cecil Sine.

The W.A. meeting immediately followed in charge of Mrs. A. Clark. It was opened with singing and prayer by Mrs. Hills. The treasurer's report was given. A discussion followed re some quilting to be done. The meeting closed with prayer.

33 MORE REICH TOWNS TAKEN IN MOSELLE VALLEY

Yanks Fight Way To Within 5 Miles Of City of Trier

City Keystone of Defence System Before Middle Rhine

By JAMES M. LONG
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Paris, Feb. 22 (AP)—The U.S. 3rd Army fought its way to within five miles of Trier today, crossed the Saar river against disintegrated German resistance and swept to 38 more German towns in the Moselle valley.

The drive developed as British and Canadian troops of the 1st Canadian army drove to within 2-500 yards of bitter-contesting Kleve car in their offensive aimed toward the Ruhr valley.

Third army tanks and infantry were within sight of the main defensive works covering Trier, a city of 58,000 and keystone of the whole German defense system before the middle Rhine. They were 1 1-4 miles from Ehrang, site of a large fort at the confluence of the Saar and Moselle rivers.

The 3rd army columns advanced three miles or more immediately north of the Luxembourg Saar district, the U.S. 7th army struck into the district from the south, advancing to within two miles of ruined Saarbruecken, the capital.

Troops of the 7th captured half of Forbach, French gateway to Saarbruecken, the raw coalmining city of the Volkszahn who wore holster-ed by Dorothy Lamour, Werner Spilcrhen fell and the Siegfried line was within view.

Resistance Disintegrates

A report from 12th Army Group headquarters said German resistance in the Saar-Moselle triangle, now virtually ended, had "completely disintegrated." The Saar crossing south of Saarburg was unopposed.

Saarburg itself was almost cleared, the only organized resistance of a general German withdrawal into the rugged Hochwald.

Despite the gains of the 3rd Army and the steady chipping progress of British and Canadian troops in the north, it was evident that Gen. Eisenhower had not yet loosed his full-scale offensive.

Between the forces was the greatest potential weapon of the whole western front—the British 2nd, the American 1st and 9th Armies—still waiting for their hour at the flooded Roer River slowly receded before them.

May Have Breached Dam.

Reports of the 3rd army, Army group headquarters told of a tremendous explosion just before midnight near the Urftalsperre dam on the Roer headwaters. Its reservoir empties into the Rursee-Schwammenauel Lake, now 90 per cent empty, and was apparently completely apparent whether the dam had been breached, causing new floods on the Roer. The river up to midnight was sufficiently low and slow to allow bridging of the 1st. Army front near the dams, southwest of Monschau.

Bright sun bathed the western front again today and again came out early. In 5,400 sorties yesterday, bombers and fighters of Marshes as Dubburg, Nuernberg, Berlin, Worms and Calcar—the latter 17 times.

Carry Thru' to Mayland

The American army drive, moving forward again after days of bitter fighting in Monshouwer had carried through the streets of Morsbach and into the northwest of Siegcar, in a drive increasing the threat to the Ruhr.

Other troops striking from the north reached the line of the Gochem railway at a point a little more than two miles west of Uedem.

The triangle formed by the Moselle and Saar Rivers, long a massive enemy defense stronghold, was all but erased by the 3rd. Army.

One of the biggest prizes was Tawert, 6½ miles southwest of Trier, a city of 7,000 and the most important in the path of 3rd. Army tanks and infantry.

Added to 2,000 captured yesterday, 3rd. Army men have scooped up 64 Germans in the last 24 hours. advances of more than 12 miles. Opposition was generally light.

The Saar was crossed in assault boats by the 95th. Infantry, which forged 3½ miles southeast of Saarburg which an armored division was behind.

The American 7th. Army further south moved within 3½ miles of the devastated Saarbrucken and fought house to house through the nearby French rail and industrial centre of Forbach (population 11,-500). Historic Spicheren on the border, which the Germans stormed in a great battle in the Franco-Prussian war of 1870, was taken.

THIRD MARINE DIVISION THROWN INTO TWO FIGHT

Make Timely Arrival on Wednesday to Hold Lines Already Taken

By AL DOFKING
(A.P. War Correspondent)

Guam, Feb. 22 (AP) — Several heavy Japanese counter attacks last night were driven back by marines on the slopes of Central Two Island, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific fleet commander, announced today.

Offensives were resumed by the marines toward the central fighter field and toward the Suribachi volcano fortress on the southern tip of the island but little ground was gained.

The renewed attacks were launched with the support of the 3rd. Marine Division, poured onto the island yesterday to support the 4th. and 5th. Divisions which had been temporarily halted by bitter Japanese resistance.

7 Planes Shot Down.

Seven Japanese planes were shot down in an air attack which inflicted some damage on the U.S. fleet standing offshore.

American casualties were estimated 365 killed and 4,168 wounded up to 8:45 p.m. yesterday.

A number of enemy guns and heavily-defended positions were knocked out.

Marines, supported by flame-throwing tanks and tanks, launched an assault on the northern face of Suribachi yesterday afternoon.

The 3rd Division, victors over the Japanese in the invasion of Bougainville and Guam, made a timely arrival Wednesday as headquarters for the first time acknowledged "no appreciable change in our lines."

The reinforcements were rushing to the ranks officially listed for the

Manila Hotel Scene of Fight To Death in Hand-to-Hand Battle

Manila, Feb. 22 (CP) — Only scattered enemy remnants were left on Corregidor today but fanatically resisting Japanese troops still held out on the second floor of the Manila Hotel, turning the hotel into the bitterest battle spot in the capital city at dawn today.

Early front-line reports that elements of the 188th Glider Infantry had captured the big hotel, one of the most luxurious in the Orient, have been corrected to say they have cleared the ground floor, with the Japanese on the second.

Typical of the bitter inch-by-inch struggle of the Corregidor trapped Japanese blew themselves up yesterday in the midst of one of the principal underground ammunition depots.

Southeast of the Manila Hotel, infantry engaged Japanese in the city hall after capturing the three-storey Ermita Normal School.

2,200 PLANES HIT TWENTY CENTRES IN MIDDLE REICH

During Night Rail Bottlenecks of Worms, Duisburg and Berlin Heavily Pounded

London, Feb. 22 (CP) — Fleets of 2,200 American planes attacked 30 communications centres in Middle Germany last night, aiding the British-Canadian attacks during the day on the rail bottlenecks of Duisburg, Worms and Berlin.

The air forces were intent upon disrupting the vital links of the German railroad system. Targets today were the marshalling yards attacked. Some 1,400 bombers and 800 fighters attacked.

Freight yards at Duisburg and Worms were crammed with priority reinforcements for the western front when the RAF-RCAF night fleets of 1,100 heavy bombers struck. Night fighters escorting the bombers engaged in numerous dogfights in skies lit by fires glowing below and a bright bombers' moon.

The Air Ministry said 39 bombers and fighters were lost and that 13 enemy planes were destroyed overnight. Crews reported smoke rising two miles above the targets. One pilot said the whole town of Worms seemed on fire.

Except for "carpet bombing" attacks on troops and tanks, launched in assault on the northern face of Suribachi yesterday afternoon.

The 3rd Division, victors over the Japanese in the invasion of Bougainville and Guam, made a timely arrival Wednesday as headquarters for the first time acknowledged "no appreciable change in our lines."

The reinforcements were rushing to the ranks officially listed for the

Russians Batter Their Way Into Guben

Swedish Correspondent Gives Graphic Picture Of Conditions in Berlin

By JERIE GRANBERG, SWEDISH NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENT
(Written for The Associated Press, Copyright, 1945, by The Associated Press)

Stockholm, Feb. 22 —(AP)— I have just left Berlin, city of the doomed, where the fateful arrival of German army deserters helped spread creeping paralysis among the capital's 3,500,000 bartricaded, bewildered and bomb-pulled inhabitants. I got away to Sweden in an automobile which no amount of money in the world could buy, but two old suits, some socks, ties and two pounds of coffee turned the trick.

More Deserters

As the front moved closer and closer to Berlin more and more deserters slipped into the capital. One German officer chased and a desperate mother confide in another woman that her son and 17 comrades had arrived in Berlin from the front as deserters. Frantically she asked advice. Should she hide her son? But how? What would the do? She certainly couldn't report him as a deserter.

Believing life is cheap in Germany I didn't give the matter much thought, but the same day a Nazi spokesman urged the population to report all deserters immediately. The current punishment was threatened for anyone hiding them. Even street cars are being searched, he warned, would be searched.

Berlin's fall may not come as fast as most persons seem to believe, presuming the Russians are ready to concentrate their whole strength against the ruins of Berlin instead of cutting off the city with part of their forces and using the rest for other strategic aims. It certainly will be a question of weeks before they have forced the German defence back as far as the city proper. The first backbone of very strong resistance is expected behind the Oder, and these fortifications are known as the Thousands of Barricades.

Then the Russians will have the Berlin suburbs and the city itself with its Nazi-prepared system of barricades and ruins transformed into fortresses. As far as the city stretches, fortifications against streets and byways. When I drove from Berlin I took no 40 minutes to travel six miles because the barricades are so thick it is difficult to pass them.

When the Russians come they must count on heavy anti-tank fire from each barricade. If everything goes "according to plan," one may predict Berlin's conquest will require six to eight weeks.

High military staffs were evacuated from Berlin in haste last week and the capital is supposed to be declared a fortress soon. Also the government will remain in Berlin is uncertain, but it seems improbable since all civilian work is to be placed under army authority.

The government was evacuated in part after the last heavy daylight raid Feb. 3, but at the time it had been functioning only formally in the devastated government quarters. Ministerial conferences were held in ruins that bloody Saturday as a result of the American carpet bombing, and long into the night letters dictated to reporter archieves from the ruins. The ministries were emptied to nearby Hitler's chancellery, which though blasted open, never was fully laid waste.

No Evacuation Feasible

Whether the evacuation of Berlin as a fortress the last chance of escape for the civilian population is problematical. In reality this opportunity has not existed for the civil population for weeks. Berlin simply can't be evacuated because there is no place to go and no means to travel.

Even if it proved the Baltic coast the roads were crowded with endless caravans of refugees "prairie schooners" of every description. Pomerania, all moving westward. Every town in every village and every town was packed with refugees to the last corner.

Under conditions, therefore, must stay put in their ruins. But the fear of transportation makes evacuation unthinkable. Despite the bombing Berlin's population is bigger now than before.

Swift-Driving Reds Free 91 as Huns Flee

By WRIGHT BRYAN
(Associate Editor of the Atlanta Journal, Distributed by The Associated Press; Copyright, 1945, by The Atlanta Journal)

Sweden, Tuesday, Feb. 20 (Delayed) —Liberation for at least one group of American war prisoners in Europe has been held here by the Germans came within eight days after the Red army had outflanked and by-passed powerful offensive.

Although the number of prisoners released here was relatively few, there is hope that many more of all Allied forces may be close to freedom if they have not already achieved it. Several of the largest war prison camps were located in the Baltic region and German efforts to remove them at the last minute may have driven Americans out in the speed of the Russian advance.

In the Polish Pomeranian town, a half hour's train ride southwest of Bromberg, was a camp for 1,200 U.S. Army officers and air force officers captured in Africa, Sicily, Italy and France. These men were living behind barbed wire, waiting impatiently for the end of the war or for an opportunity to escape.

A little more than a week ago they learned from a German commandant that the camp was being beginning more than 100 miles westward.

On Saturday, Jan. 20, the German guards marched the American prisoners to prepare for evacuation of the camp on foot at any time after midnight Sunday.

Sunday morning the American officers assembled on trucks, and gate in a column of three, escorted by German guards.

Hospital patients and others unable to walk were left behind. That group, including a few doctors and orderlies to care for them, numbered 91. It was one of the group because of a slight bullet wound in the left leg. Still, that was entirely healed.

Monday morning we looked out to the deserted highway and wondered. Then someone saw two American soldiers driving trucks, and a light tank go by. They did not stop, but we knew our camp lifted.

Just after 10 o'clock a vehicle stopped between two principal German officers across the street from the hospital. Both were armed men scattered to search the buildings. We knew we were free, so we could not tell by they snowcovered winter uniforms, precisely they were German rearguards or Russian spearheads. But when officers came to our gate we saw they were Russians.

INCREASE BREAD RATION IN LIBERATED ITALY

Rome, Feb. 22—(AP)—The Allied commission announced yesterday that the bread ration throughout liberated Italy would be increased to 200 grams daily effective March 1st. The new order increased by 100 grams the bread ration for liberated territory north of the Germa-Gothic Line. Previously, farther south have been receiving 300 grams.

GOVT. TO DEMAND CONFIDENCE VOTE ON JOINT POLICY

Reference Will Be Made to Clause 'Unity Of Action' in Peace As in War

London, Feb. 22 (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill said today the government would demand a parliamentary vote of confidence on the joint policy agreed to by the Big Three powers at the Crimea conference, particularly with reference to "unity of action" in peace as in war.

As leader of the House of Commons, Foreign Secretary Eden set down the government's motion for the debate for next Tuesday and Wednesday even at the parliamentary lobby buzzed with reports on Churchill's return from the Crimea conference over the Polish issue.

Government spokesmen were confident of getting a handsome vote of confidence.

Conservative bloc, which does not like the government attitude toward Poland, is known to be undecided just how to attack without giving the impression it is repudiating the entire Crimea declaration.

Soma Not Abolish Vote.

The possibility some would abstain rather than vote against the government seemed unlikely. The earlier reports that Labor opposition was not clear, but it was believed Labor leaders would support Mr. Churchill's position.

The government motion did not specifically mention Poland, but said:

"This House approves the declaration of joint policy agreed to by the three great powers at the Crimea conference and in particular welcomes the determination to maintain unity of action not only during the war but in the peace to promote among but thereafter in peace as in war."

The Prime Minister was in the House again today. In answer to a question he gave assurance the Allies, in imposing peace terms on Germany, would bear in mind the Nazis' indiscriminate bombing by V-weapons. He declined to take a stand, however, on the future question of limitation of aerial warfare.

"I certainly do not think that the victorious Allies should deprive themselves of defence which are open to them through the air," the Prime Minister said.

INVESTIGATE DEATH OF BOY.

Rochester, N.Y., Feb. 22 (AP) — Authorities today investigated the death of Lawrence Makowiecki, three, whose bruised and cut body was found beneath the front porch floor of his home. Detective Chief Edward Donovan said the boy's mother, Mrs. Ines Makowiecki, 28, of Rochester, was in the hospital with another child, Michael, two, and that Lawrence and his twin sister, Louise, three, were in the kitchen, when she heard Lawrence cry, and found him injured.

Canadian Headquarters Holds Out Against Nightmare Attack by Nazis

By DOUGLAS AMARON

With the 1st. Canadian Army in Germany (CP)—Canadian and British tanks milled about a house on a muddy road junction today slowly reducing it to ruins with high explosive and machine-gun fire.

Downstairs in a tiny cellar lived a dozen Germans who refused to surrender. Upstairs in the shattered house whose position was overrun by a German counter-attack force inside the building a handful of men in a carpet platoon returned enemy fire from still trenches.

It was an impossible situation but because these Canadians refused to believe in the impossible most of them are alive and unharmed today, preparing to return fire.

This Eastern Canada battalion attacked toward the Goch-Calcar road Monday and consolidated their astride the road. It had not been an easy advance, for there were Germans to mop up, and artillery and mortar fire with a weight to threaten and the troops were scarcely on their positions before the German counter attacked.

Set up House

The Battalion headquarters was set up in a two-storey house and although the colonel was not inside it then there was a gap in the line across which shells fell and many pushed one of their many tanks into the house. Soon after darkness the headquarters was isolated and two or three other tanks were circling the building.

Tanks Mill All Night

"Tanks milled about all night but only one section did not break," the colonel said. "A sentry shot one German who tried to come down the stairs."

Neisse Hingepoint S. East of Berlin Under New Attack

Germans Gain Ground West of Koenigsberg

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
(AP Staff Writer)

London, Feb. 22 — (AP) — The Russians again have battered into Guben, German hingepoint on the Neisse 51 miles southeast of Berlin, a German military commentator reported today.

Street fighting is going on in the town, he said.

Guben previously was reported by the Russians, who announced gains up to the confluence of the Neisse and Oder.

The Germans said last Monday that the Russians had fought into Guben, but were forced to withdraw.

Col. Ernst-Von Hammer, Berlin commentator, said a new assault had been launched upon the stronghold this morning.

Use 2,000 Planes

In East Prussia, Von Hammer reported, Russian pressure has "increased to the greatest ferocity" with more than 2,000 Soviet planes joining the assault. He said Zinten, 17 miles south of Koenigsberg and 15 miles from the coast, had been evacuated by German forces.

While the Russians scored new gains southeast of the German capital, other Soviet troops were forced to give some ground in East Prussia in the face of heavy German counter-blows west of Koenigsberg. The Berlin radio said a surprise German counter-offensive had rebuffed a corridor between Koenigsberg and the port of Pillau, 30 miles south. The Russian advance lodged some German units in what in that sector but said the drive was "only the colossal enormousness of men and equipment.

Moscow announced Soviet forces had seized a strategic ridge position on the forest on the eastern approaches to Guben, and more than 50 populated places north and south of the Danzig-Gdynia area.

Says Communications Restored

Further south, Marshal G. K. Zhukov's 1st White Russian Army units were reported attempting to complete encirclement of Posen. The German radio announced communications between Berlin and Posen had been restored, but that Marshal Zhukov had increased the pressure on the German capital, but said they had been repulsed.

Pravda said the Russian Army stood only 34 miles from Berlin in that area. The paper did not specify the location but indicated Marshal Zhukov's troops were below the Oder.

Moscow announced Soviet German forces were fighting a defensive battle between Berlin and the Frankfurt-Kustrin front, but declared Russian bridgehead west of the Oder were "as firm as granite," a major offensive toward Berlin.

23 Miles Away

The 2nd White Russian Army yesterday drove within 33 miles of Danzig in its sweep up the Polish Corridor.

The Soviet communique declared that Marshal K. Rokossovsky's forces had taken 40 towns in the Polish Corridor yesterday, the northernmost being Pelkalkerlde.

Moscow said Russian withdrawals were made in the face of violent counter-assaults by the Germans on Bandau line, what appeared to be an effort to set up a "Dunkirk" escape from Pillau for thousands of Nazi troops trapped in East Prussia.

Russian planes, however, were ranging the Baltic coast and Danzig Bay slashing any Germans ships that might be coming up for such a withdrawal operation.

Turkish Assembly Meets on Friday

Announcement of Important Decision Expected as the Result

Istanbul, Feb. 22 — (AP) — The Turkish National Assembly was summoned today to meet in special session Friday, with reason for the summons was given, but announcement of an important decision was generally expected.

Ankara radio (Reuters)—Turkey is likely to declare war against the Axis at a special session of the Grand National Assembly on Friday well informed political circles here said today.

The same circles forecast that Syria and Lebanon will quickly follow Turkey's example. The Egyptian parliament is holding a special session today.

AXIS CLAIM ALLIES PLANNING OFFENSIVE IN S. W. CHINA

London, Feb. 22 — (Reuter) — The German Transocean agency, quoting a dispatch from Berne, Switzerland Sommer, ill Tokyo correspondent, claimed last night that the Allies were making preparations for an offensive in southwestern China.

The General Got

With the U. S. 84th Division in a German Village, Feb. 23—(AP) — The American general came into action with the 84th Division yesterday, dismounted from his jeep and walked 200 yards under fire in front of a machine-gun a soldier had set up.

There was tough fighting still going on in the town. The soldier didn't wait to check the general's rank.

"Get the hell out of here," he yelled, "You're going to draw fire and get my men killed."

The general left, and the soldier won a promotion of a promotion from his colonel.

NAPANEE OFFICER GIVEN PROMOTION

Only one district man is listed among the 52 officers and other ranks of the Canadian Army serving overseas who have been promoted, as announced by the Department of National Defence today.

Lieutenant Gordon Macgregor, M.C., of Napanee, serving with the Royal Canadian Artillery has been promoted to the rank of acting captain. His wife Mrs. Fannie Macgregor, resides at John Street, Napanee.

CEMETERY ROADWAYS CLEARED BY PLOW

Deep snow cavaties, their precipitous banks rising in places to a height of eight feet mark the roadways in the Belleville cemetery. A heavy bulldozer pushed its way through snow that averaged a depth of three-and-one-half feet yesterday clearing roadways that have been plugged since the heavy December storm.

Funeral directors can now drive hearses and other vehicles to convenient places near burial sites where heretofore they were forced to resort to horse-drawn sleigh.

Grave-digging has taken place all winter, cemetery caretaker Thomas said today. Despite the heavy snow burials have not been postponed nor bodies placed in the mausoleum. There is no frost in the ground, and digging has been comparatively easy.

REV. BEAUCHAMP PAYNE INJURED IN FALL

Slipping on the ice at the corner of Bridge and Church Streets this morning while proceeding to morning church services, Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne, Rector of St. Thomas Church, sustained undetermined injuries and was rushed by ambulance to Belleville General Hospital. Exact nature of injuries was not immediately determined this morning as X-ray examination but it was believed bone had been broken.

WAR VETERAN LOCATED BY POLICE

Anxious relatives in the Frankford area reported 24-year-old Harold Brown, returned soldier and farmer, missing yesterday. Provincial Police here broadcast a description of the war veteran, who had been missing for two days, with the result P. C. Thompson located Mr. Perry walking along Front St. last night. His relatives were notified and he returned to his brother's home on the third concession, Sidney.

GARBAGE COLLECTION ON E. HILL DELAYED

Due to an extra amount of salvage materials having been placed at the curbside, the regular scheduled salvage collection on the east side of the city was not completed on Wednesday, it was reported this morning. Calling to make the complete rounds on Wednesday, officials were unable to complete the salvage collection, on Thursday morning. This morning, Wednesday night's rain made it necessary for all public works employees to be made and the salvage collection will be available for sending operations delayed until the emergency has passed.

EX-MAYOR THOMPSON GIVEN APPOINTMENT AS LIQUOR VENDOR

Ex-Mayor Glencoe F. Thompson, and present Alderman of the city has been appointed vendor for the Belleville branch of the Ontario Liquor Commission, it was announced today. Mr. Thompson succeeds Mr. Bryson Reed, who relinquished the position a few days ago.

His new post will not affect his standing as an alderman on the city council, the announcement by appointment to the position as assistant vendor, has been made as yet, he added.

GARAGE OPERATORS HEAR SPECIAL REPORT

But a very few members of the organization were present Wednesday evening when the regular monthly meeting of the Hastings and Prince Edward Ontario Operators was held at the Y.M.C.A. Hearing of the report of a special committee appointed to consider the matter of establishing a standard rate for towing charges was not heard but as result of considerable discussion on the problem members considered it advisable for operators in each centre to set rates applicable to costs in their own area. The committee will report throughout the district might be established, it was considered.

The matter of arranging programs for the coming meetings, with the view of making them so interesting so as to show a marked increase in attendance, was also discussed at the meeting.

SEVERAL MINOR MOTOR ACCIDENTS

As the result of icy streets throughout the city several accidents reported to the police in the past 24 hours, however, no serious collisions were the most treacherous of the year. With snowbanks piled high on both sides of the city streets the travelled portion has been minimized in some areas making passing of vehicles difficult, while other accidents were attributed to the icy ruts.

On East Dundas St. a motor car driven by Lyle Hutchinson, Shillaway, skidded into the Smith bus depot causing damage to the lighter vehicle. The identical accident prevailed on East Bridge St., when a motor car driven by William Barlow of Carrying Place, skidded against a car in a city bus.

Two other similar accidents also resulted in minor fender damage. Although city streets were in a treacherous condition, owing to their slippery surface, no serious accidents resulted as motorists proceeded with caution.

AIR OFFENSIVE

Duisburg is the western exit of the Ruhr, and the attack on it was aimed at bottling up the military traffic through this great industrial region. Approximately 2,000 tons of bombs were dropped last night before on Dortmund, eastern gateway to the Ruhr.

1,300 Acres Destroyed

The R.A.F. Ministry announced more than 1,300 acres of built-up area and its satellite towns have been destroyed.

The greatest railway network in Europe—one which principals Hitler keeps his troops going and the Germans depended on to move their armies—was dealt a blow of formed by the cities of Dortmund-Duisburg and Cologne.

189 Engines Disabled.

The high toll of locomotives shot up by Allied fighters in the last three weeks probably accounts for the jammed condition of many of the railroad yards. A total of 189 locomotives was disabled yesterday.

The tactical air forces are the continent flew 2,800 sorties yesterday in support of the front line troops. Spitfires made more than a dozen attacks on rocket sites and airfields in Holland. At least 1,500 enemy vehicles of all descriptions were raked in widespread strafing attacks, which R.C.A.F. Typhoons and Spitfires took part.

Little opposition was encountered in the air although 11 Nazi aircraft German planes were shot down. Ten others were destroyed on the ground.

Photographs taken of yesterday's heavy raids by more than 1,300 light-headed bombers and fighters from England showed that in Northern Italy, Austria and Yugoslavia showed great damage on the Vienna railyards.

Sgt. Bill Holway Expected Home This Weekend

Considered locally to be the youngest member of the last War to serve overseas in the present conflict, Sgt. William Holway of this city has returned to Canada and is expected in Belleville by the week-end according to word received by his parents.

Sgt. Holway went overseas with the Cobourg Heavy Battery at the age of 15 during the last Great War and celebrated his 16th birthday on the battlefield in France. He is now in his 45th year.

Former sales representative with a local grain supply firm in Belleville, Sgt. Holway enlisted in the local 9th Battery early in the present war and after training with the 3rd 47th Battery in Kingston proceeded overseas three and one half years ago with the 4th Light Anti-Aircraft Battery. Other local members of his battery went to war by flight to the Mediterranean war theatre but he was held in England and for the past year has been serving with the Reconnaissance in the British Isles.

One brother, Lieut. Ernest Holway is still in England with No. 5 Headquarters Staff after serving in Belgium. Mrs. Holway is daughter of the Sergar and Crawford office in the city.

SWEDISH

Not only have tens of thousands of previously-evacuated women and children and masses of refugees returned to the capital with no other place to go, but there are hundreds of thousands of soldiers.

During the last air attacks the air raid shelters proved inadequate, and indescribable scenes occurred at the entrances.

Despite all, however, life continues in Berlin — work and business, traffic where it hasn't been destroyed. But one senses a breathless tenseness in the face of some hideous uncertainty which is inevitable.

Traffic Slowed to Standstill, Bus Services Disrupted By Freezing Rain in Quinte District

Freezing rain which fell throughout the Bay of Quinte district yesterday night slowed motor traffic generally almost to a standstill while bus service schedules were disrupted this morning, leaving many workers stranded miles away from their respective jobs.

Over an area of 100 miles this morning, several hours after the rain had commenced and temperatures had moderated to cut the ice on the downtown sidewalks, pedestrians found the going tough and were forced to creep along to avoid taking a nasty tumble on the slippery sidewalks.

Airports Shorthanded

District airports were particularly shorthanded during the earlier hours of the morning with civilian employees unable to obtain transportation to their jobs when buses failed to begin their schedules owing to the icy conditions of the highways. The Trenton bus ran a partial service between this city and the junction of Station, but many workers either stayed at their homes or caught a ride with them when it was found the buses were not running.

Many transport companies had their transports tied up in Belleville as they were unable to negotiate Murney Hill. Sand placed on the hill was quickly worked away and sand piles placed at the hill for convenience were almost used up this morning.

City Engineer Charles Mott indicated that the available city employees were out early sanding the most dangerous spots and that trucks being made to cover hills first to enable the city bus service maintain schedules.

Motors Helpless

But slippery as were highways and sidewalks this morning conditions were mild compared with that shortly before midnight last night when freezing rain had covered Belleville with a great coating to leave pedestrians and motorists practically helpless. Because nearly all forms of amusement around midnight had surprises in store for those who had to be shipped on icy sidewalks. Motorists were forced to make many detours to make their way homeward by way of routes on which there were no grades.

By midmorning, however, local traffic was moving with some freedom on partial schedules and many persons were enabled to get to work although up to two and three hours late.

The War Today—

United Nations Want France Restored But Much Depends on Herself

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
(AP War Analyst)

The storm which has grown out of Gen. deGaulle's refusal to meet President Roosevelt for a discussion of the Crimea Conference of the Big Three (to recall the British are also invited) probably will die down as quickly as it began, but the implications of this incident are such that we should not overlook it as a mere tempest in a teapot.

Gen. deGaulle's pique strikes me as striking two causes. The first — which is of great importance — is that he is battling with might and main to get the Big Powers to restore to France a place of personality; his pride in which is very great — has been hurt.

The Disappointment

The French leader had hoped (perhaps expected) that his country would be invited to the Crimea parley, thus enabling her to equal partnership and changing the "Big Three" of Europe to the "Big Four." You may recall that after the liberation of Paris last summer he addressed the nation over the radio and assured his people that France was on the threshold of rejoining "the ranks of the greatest."

So the inability of the Big Three to find a seat for Gen. deGaulle came as a vast disappointment, and probably left him with a feeling of personal hurt. This reaction has resulted in his ill-advised gesture of resentment in declining to journey to Algiers to confer with Mr. Roosevelt.

France Needs Help

France needs help — Big Three, I use the term "ill-advised" deliberately, because France's recovery obviously needs the help of the Big Three. What Gen. deGaulle must know, but feeds it hard to admit, is that while France has been a great power — and we hope will be one again — she isn't one now. The rank isn't a matter of large territory and population. It is very there are numerous relatively weak countries which would qualify. It depends on the overwhelming greatness of the nation to take her place in international councils.

Must Climb Back Herself

But there's one fundamental fact which we can't evade. Whether France rises to her former places of greatness depends mainly on herself. Nobody can hoist her onto the pedestal. She's got to climb back herself. This involves a spiritual, economic and political rebirth.

CANADIAN

The headquarters had six Piat bombs and used them all against the tanks, knocking out one but failing even to dent the other, which was so big the soldiers thought it might have been a "Tiger." This tank pulled away in the morning and under cover of a barrage the Canadians got back to their own lines as other troops broke through to join them.

"The colonel remained in the house until all the men were away. He had been there 24 hours when relieved.

The battalion intelligence officer, a lieutenant from Montreal, organized the headquarters defence, manning a Bren gun himself. He was wounded but believes that he did a job which won him praise of his soldiers.

"He was going round inspiring the men," said Sgt. Bill Walsh of Windsor, Ont., "and then he was on fire and anyone moving was shouted at that he was hurt but he still went out in front with a Bren gun, firing back at the Germans. He was wounded in the arm.

In And Out Several Times

"Walsh was in and out of the house several times, going back for reinforcements and bringing up supply troops manning the outside defences.

"Lying out there in the field we didn't know who were our boys and who were the Germans until we heard them talk; then we would shout to the sergeant who first got off eight Sten gun magazines himself, firing from the hip, so encountered were less than 20 yards away.

The signallers included Pte. Gerry Moynahan of Tilbury, Ont.; D. E. Snowdon, Toronto; Cpl. Jim Silkstone, of Toronto. They too had a thrilling fighting time.

Downie and Pte. Douglas Alderson, of Windsor, Ont., a carrier driver, accountant for the Crown who tried to come down the stairs. Germans were at the bottom of the stair room by a hand grenade which exploded in the room with the door. He moved to the cellar soon after this German counter-attack and guards thought he was another German.

"I never talked so fast in my life," Moynahan said.

Kinsmen Follies To Be Presented At the Collegiate

Featuring Miss Barbara Dimont whose dancing abilities are well-known throughout the Bay of Quinte district, and supported by her troupe of 50 stars including a chorus of ten young girls, the Kinsmen Follies will be presented at the Collegiate auditorium on March 1st and 2nd, promising to afford two splendid evenings of entertainment for the citizens of Belleville and district residents.

Produced sponsored by the local Kinsmen Club, the show is expected to go in aid of the different activities the charities, headed by the "Kinsmen Follies" and the direction of her troupe of 50 singing and dancing stars is being left to Miss Dimont, genius of local theatrical circles. Previous stage shows under the direction of this young artist have been received with the full hey ability in planning a spectacular production.

THIRD MARINE

first 48 hours of the invasion at 2,650 killed, wounded and missing. A dispatch of Morrie Lansberg, Associated Press war correspondent, said 'side of those casualties occurred in the "initial hours" of the invasion, now five days old.

The commitment of three marine divisions in the four-day-old Iwo invasion meant as many as 45,000 men may be either ashore or in the process or being sent against the enemy.

Tough Going

The Marines, having sealed off the southern third of Iwo encountered tough going at the south tip of the island against Japanese on the slopes of volcanic Mount Suribachi and to the north near the island's centre in a drive to capture Motoyama airfield No. 2.

Fleet-throwers and tanks were sent against enemy pillboxes on the slopes of Mount Suribachi. Wednesday afternoon. The Japanese who previously had weathered a terrific bombardment by warships of the U. S. Fleet, knocked out four of the tanks. The sector is strewn with land mines. East of the volcano, the enemy staged a counter-attack in daylight for the first time out it was buried.

On the southwest coast, Marines are striving to flank the fighter base, the only airfield still in enemy hands.

Yesterday for the seventh straight day the 4d — and 14-inch guns of the newest type American battleships joined with the guns of heavy cruisers in shelling all sectors of Iwo's eight square miles.

Carrier-based Hellcats, Helldivers and Avengers gave the Marines close support.

Boys in Holland Regularly Get Kinsmen 'Fags'

"I have met a lot of Belleville boys here in Holland and they all are receiving their Kinsmen cigarettes with regularity and we sure appreciate them here at the front," wrote W. L. Glover to thank the Kinsmen "Fag Fund" for cigarettes received overseas.

From the mud-soaked slit trenches of Italy Bill Tinmiss also sent expressions of thanks to Chairman Buster LaBarr, while from India R. Stewart's letter of appreciation, mailed on Jan. 31st, was also received this week along with scores of other such letters of thanks. In order that local lads receive regular shipments of fags the Kinsmen Fag Fund continues to function as a voluntary fund to which the public is urged to contribute.

The list of Belleville boys overseas sent individual shipments of 300 cigarettes by the Kinsmen this week included: Privates — of War Jack L. Adams, Clem Allen, F. P. Archer, R. F. Arnold, B. G. Active Service Election Bill Thru Committee

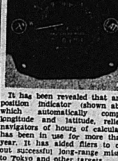
Toronto, Feb. 22 (CP) — Debate on the Throne Speech will resume in the Ontario Legislature today when E. B. Jolliffe, leader of the official C.C.F. opposition, speaks on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

Mr. Jolliffe will be followed in order by Premier George Drew, Liberal Leader Mitchell F. Hepburn and A. A. MacLeod, Labor-Progressive member for Toronto Bracondale.

Yesterday the Active Service Election Bill, providing a special ballot for Ontario servicemen, passed through committee and the House gave second reading to a bill proposing minor amendments to the Mental Hospitals Act, the Children's Protection Act, the Surveys Act and the Territorial Division Act.

W. B. Reynolds (P.C.-Leeds) was appointed deputy speaker to replace Roland Morin (L.-Grey North) who died. The house will continue in office this session.



Behind Lens

Members of the C.C.F. are "solidly behind" their leader and Bill Temain, K.C., M.P. (C.C.F.-Cochrane South) told the House during a rumor that he was "leaning" toward the Progressive Conservatives. He attributed the rumor to a House member whose name had linked "frantically to bed" with the C.C.F. and had been denied.

Premier Drew, answering A. Belanger (L.-Prescott), said he had "no recollection" of making a statement that "the only way to keep French-Canadian pressure within bounds is through a strong Conservative." Mr. Belanger said the remark had been "distilled to the premier in an article by Beverly Baxter, Conservative member of the British House of Commons.

The Active Service Election Bill in addition to replacing the proxy vote with the direct ballot for Ontario servicemen, would provide for taking the votes of prisoners of war. This would be accomplished through a proxy system, a direct vote for war prisoners being been considered unfeasible. The bill follows in the main the Federal Act providing for an Active Service vote.

Balloon Command Hauls In

The Minister for Air, Sir Archibald Sinclair, announced recently that, because of the greatly reduced need of British cities, towns and industrial buildings for defence against air attack, R.A.F. Balloon Command is being disbanded.

A nucleus of the balloons, equipment and staffs will be retained in Britain, and balloon detachments will continue to serve overseas, but the remainder of the officers, airmen, and the W.A.A.F. will be remustered into other posts. The men and women are being interviewed by the R.A.F. Central Trade Test Board, and will be transferred to other trades according to their qualifications.

Sir Archibald made the announcement during a review of a thousand airmen and airwomen at a Command Headquarters, thanking them on behalf of the Government for their loyal and courageous service by which, summarizing the record of Balloon Command, he recalled that in September, 1939, the Command was flying 600 balloons; by the end of 1940 the total was flying 2,400. This expansion had not been easy; the factories making the equipment were damaged by air attack, and a large number of balloons were shot down by the enemy.

Having fought through the blitz period and the tip-and-run raids, the balloon crews were urgently required to help combat the flying bomb. It had been calculated that a barrage of 500 balloons could be deployed in eighteen days, but the task was actually accomplished in five, and within a short time nearly 2,000 balloons were flying in defence of the capital. They brought down 278 flying bombs which had eluded the other defences.

The work of the balloons has not confined itself to the defence of Britain; they went into action over the beaches of Sicily and Italy, and flew over the Normandy beaches on D-Day. In the darker days of the war they flew in defence of the Suez Canal, the Persian Gulf and Ceylon. In co-operation with the Royal Navy they helped guard convoys and naval establishments. In 1943 over 1,000 balloon sites were staffed by women, who shared equally with the men the danger of bombs and flying bombs, and the hardships of the weather.

The London barrage came into existence on March 17, 1937, when Number 30 (Balloon Barrage) Group was formed within the R.A.F. Fighter Command. The decision to provide barrages for the ports, naval bases and coastal towns and for towns caused Balloon Command to be formed, on November 1, 1938.

When the Allied invasion of Europe was being prepared, balloons guarded the docks, patching ports, and others flew above the ships and invasion craft during the crossing and the French coast, while balloon units landed on the beaches to protect those unloading the ships and landing troops.

Lesson of Malta

Events in the struggle in Europe have moved with such speed in the past months that it seems a long time since the world was hearing news of the intrepid island of Malta, the bastion of British defence of the Mediterranean. Now the events of that heroic period in the war are recalled by the visit to Canada at this time of Lieutenant-General Sir William Dobbie, who was commander and governor of Malta for a quarter of a century and the defender of the fortress island during the war. He said at one of his appearances in Canada that he attributes the steadfast endurance of Malta to the help of Providence. His story of Malta's defence and when Malta was embattled and remained the key of the North African campaign is a fervid expression of faith in the power of prayer and of the work of God in the world of men. Sir William is a devout Christian and gives this testimony to his conviction which was strengthened by what he saw and by what was endured by the defenders and the people of Malta for the sake of freedom and righteousness.

Malta had been in a sad plight as the lifeline was almost cut at one time, he said, and the powerful enemies were surrounding her. The food reserves were not large. But still Malta endured and the enemy did not come.

The former Governor said that at one time there was little or nothing the islanders had with which to stop the enemy, "nothing except one thing—God's help. That is why I am on this continent to tell the people how God helped us through the ordeal of Malta. We could not have held out without that help. I am trying through such illustrations to explain what Christ has meant to me in my army life."

Men like Sir William Dobbie and the heroic defenders of Malta had an inner reserve of strength which fortifies it cannot fail; faith and conviction in the righteousness of their cause and their implicit faith that Providence has an overruling influence upon the destiny of men and nations. Field Marshal Montgomery is another leader with a burning faith. The Hun on the other hand has put his reliance upon power and ruthlessness and defiance of the laws of man and God and has not the inner resources of the knowledge of a just cause. But the British people have faith and with their faith goes the stout-hearted determination that does its utmost in human effort for the things that are right, for righteousness and for liberty.

A Lighter Thought

Vast stocks of carefully prepared maps the Germans planned to use in the invasion of Britain were captured in Brussels. But, despite all, and to add insult to injury, Hitler's disappointments, they are still being used for military purposes. The British Information Service reports that as a paper saving measure, the War Office simply instructed its printers to use the unprinted sides for the large-scale maps for the push into the Reich. That is an effective boomerang in itself. However, it is rather intriguing to wonder what the reaction of a German intelligence officer would be if one of these maps fell into his hands and at first glance he tried to figure how his homeland was being occupied with a map calling for action in quite another direction.

British Winters

The Economist (London)

Every winter brings unnecessary hardships, suffering and expense to the British people. Inevitably at the time of year there is plague of burst water-pipes, caused, no doubt, by the exhibitionism of amateur plumbing. It is followed (and preceded) by a series of epidemics—of which the common cold is the most notable—caused, or at least encouraged, by the draughtiness of British houses, buses and trains. How much of sickness and absenteeism can be attributed to these national follies it is impossible to say, but it must be considerable. It may not be necessary to insulate British houses with double windows, as in Russia but very much more thought should be given to methods of excluding draughts.

Meteorologists, it may be added, predict winters of greater severity during the second half of this twentieth century.

Virgil's Prophecy Not Yet Fulfilled

(From letter by L. S. Riley of Bethlehem, Pa., in New York Times)

We have been reading about the Soviet scientists' development of growing cotton in various colors—an excellent result of these days of labor shortage. Will those scientists perhaps turn their attention to the dingy linen now worn on their plains? If so, they might fulfill a prophecy made some 2,000 years ago by a Roman poet, of all people.

Virgil wrote in his fourth Eclogue: "Wool shall no longer learn the trick of different dyes, but the ram himself in the meadows shall bear colored fleece—now luscious purple, now saffron yellow—and the grazing lambs shall find themselves clothed in vermillion."

But perhaps cotton in natural colors must be our natural approach to Virgil's vision of another Golden Age, which was to be free not only from labor but from all the pursuits of war.

Those who educate children well are more to be honored than even their parents, for these only give them life, those the art of living as well.—Aristotle.

WASHINGTON

How keep this day? With bugle blast
Or words stirring and in rounded phrase
Or bit of glittering bronze, new cast,
On which is stamped a line of praise;

Go back Mt. Vernon's aisles to tread,
To pace the stairs he loved or old
And mark the precious books he read?
By guides, to hear his worth re-told?

How keep this day? Besides his tomb
To speak of him, with voices low,
And leave a wreath of lovely bloom
That we remember him to show?

How keep this day? They do it best
Who fight for freedom, as did he,
And scorning selfish interest
Dare even death for liberty.

Stop-Over at Honolulu Gives Pyle Respite Before Leaving for the War

(By ERNIE PYLE)

Honolulu—The hour of leaving came at last.

Usually when starting overseas, you get sent away on the day the transportation people originally set for you. Therefore when I first started going to war, my excitement at delay I would be, and how I would fret. I lived in a frenzy over every day of waiting. But time changes things like that.

This time also there was a delay of a few days. Every one of them I welcomed with a big embrace. I felt like saying to it "Ah, my love, you are the day of my dreams. You are my one more day of security—her I cherish you".

But the final day came, as it has the best. I put on my uniform again for a long, long time, and sent my civilian clothes to a friend in Los Angeles to keep for me.

It was night when we left from Francisco. We flew in a big four-motored land plane, operated by the Naval Air Transport Service, in the Navy they call it "NATS", as though it spelled a word.

The Army's equivalent is the ATC. I've flown on both of them so much I feel like a stockholder. They fly all over the world on clock-like schedules, over the Pacific oceans and all the continents, carrying wartime mail and cargo and passengers.

I've flown the Atlantic four times, but this was my first flight across the Pacific. You go non-stop from California to Hawaii. It's about the same distance as crossing the continent, yet it was as easy as flying from Albuquerque to Los Angeles.

We left shortly after suppertime, and were over the Pacific. Then after daylight next morning, there it was simply nothing unusual at all and of seeing friends. Lieut. Cmdr. to report about it.

Shortly after we took off I got some blankets and lay down on the floor in the rear of the plane. When I woke up it was getting daylight, and we had only an hour to go. That's the way I like to fly an ocean.

All of us had left California in our woollen winter uniforms. But when we stepped out of the plane in Honolulu, those heavy clothes almost made us sick. By the time we got through the formalities and left the field, we were all dripping and sweating ourselves.

In Honolulu I stayed in the home of a Naval friend. The first thing he did was a shower bath, change to light khaki clothes, and a plateful of beautiful yellow papaya. A wonderful tropical feeling of well-being came over you.

A Naval boatswain's mate, Flores, a native of Guam, took care of us. He had our clothes and made our beds and fixed us fruit juice and papayas all day long.

A squat Hawaiian woman, in blue mu-mu and with a red bandana around her head, waxed the lawn over and over and over again, very slowly.

The sun shone brightly and while I could reach an embroidery over the ridges of the far green hills, the valleys were like rain, and the deep whistles of departing ships came from the harbor below us. This, truly, was the Pacific.

The trip over had not exhausted me, but the change of climate did, and for a day I did nothing but loaf and recover from America—and get back in being warm.

Then I started making the rounds of completing my Navy credentials,

Federal Election May Come June 11 Ottawa Forecast

(By R. K. CARNEGIE)
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Feb. 22. (CP)—Although the date of the forthcoming federal election has not been finally set, Cabinet Ministers are generally on the assumption that it will be held on June 11. The Canadian Press was informed Wednesday by usually reliable sources.

The source also said he did not expect there would be another session of parliament before the life of Parliament expires April 17. He added that the "election" forecast on the fact that the cabinet was making no plans for assembling the Commons and that it had not been the subject of extended discussion. Parliament was prorogued Jan. 31 until Feb. 23 and a proclamation extending the date to March 23 was issued this week. While the original proclamation did not provide for assembling "for the despatch of business" on Feb. 23, any new proclamation still should be issued before members are not expected to come here at the end of February.

While it would be possible to hold an election sixty days after parliament is dissolved, the government's chief electoral officer, expressed the view before the Commons committee of parliament last session he would like 75 or 90 days between the time required to arrange for the votes of the forces overseas.

May dissolve early

It is expected Prime Minister Mackenzie King will decide to dissolve parliament fairly soon and not wait until the date of expiry, thus giving the chief electoral officer the full time he requires.

It is known the government does not want the election to clash with the next Victory Loan expected to extend from April 22 to May 8, therefore, if June 11 is chosen as election day June 4 or 5 for campaign would be over two days before nomination day and 26 days before voting.

Apart from the practice to dissolve parliament and issue writs for an election the same day, but with the election date announced when the writs have been issued as in the case of 1940, after closure motion. Many think, however, Mr. King may dissolve parliament and delay issuing writs depending on the progress of the war.

Churchill Has Last Word in Tilt With Lady Astor

London, Feb. 25. (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill, it would have been known as a prohibitionist, had had the last word in debate in House of Commons tilt with Lady Astor over Churchill's pulse. He would be allowed to take the floor off on D-Day.

The drink trade is already making plans to get out menu cards, Lady Astor said, when we should all be on our knees praying God for victory", Lady Astor said.

"I really think those misgivings are a little premature," Prime Minister Churchill replied. "Of course I am a believer in moderation and sensitive on these points."

The two-day discussion started on a sober note when Lady Astor, Conservative Plymouth Sutton, Presbyterian clergyman who replaced Nancy Astor, Viscountess Astor Down, sated the Prime Minister on the "enormous responsibility on the cessation of hostilities . . . when we have set apart for prayer and thanksgiving." She said the success of all work and the closing of all hostilities depended on prayer.

"I hope and believe that when the time comes we shall celebrate the victorious peace by the sobriety of the British nation", Mr. Churchill replied.

Pressed to take into account the shortage of beer in the country that the day should be a holiday, Mr. Churchill said he believed it would be necessary for us to go into all the details in advance."

Max Miller and I stocked up with cigarettes, against the possibility of shortages, later on. Actually you can buy cigarettes (even Camels, and, too) right downtown in Honolulu.

There is no rationing of anything in Honolulu, as yet. Rationing of gasoline became necessary everything here is considered military, and there's always shipping space from the mainland to Honolulu for anything.

The great number of uniforms on the streets and the clock curfew are the most vivid reminders of the war in Honolulu. That and the vast growth in population that has occurred since Pearl Harbor.

Otherwise the war seems far away. The grinding days of Pearl Harbor Honolulu has gone. In many ways it's the newcomer, beguiled by the climate and the beauty, ignorant of everything, and the soldiers, feels more remote from the war than he did back home.

And so I passed my fifth anniversary overseas in Honolulu. Another interlude as another capture. I am with old friends; I made a sentimental visit to the little hospital apartment on Waikiki where "That Girl" and I lived for a winter seven years ago; I went to parties and danced almost tearfully to the sweet singing of Hawaiians.

I relished the short time here in Honolulu, and didn't even let pretend that I was starting out to repeat the Pacific war. All that would come soon enough.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Dentist Laughs!

My gums seem to be soft and shrinking away from the teeth. I see my dentist. When I asked the dentist if more milk, tomato juice and fresh fruit would help he laughed at me and said it is too late, that I am too old, nothing can help now, as I have stopped growing and developing at the age of 21 years.

(Mrs. M. W).

Answer—Chemical composition of the gums, bones, teeth, organs, in fact of the entire body changes constantly, from birth to death. Even though you are 90 there is nothing to do with it. Let the dentist laugh if he wishes, but send him a physician. I can assure you that more milk and milk products (cheese, particularly fresh), raw or fruit juice and tomato or tomato juice in your diet will at least retard the progress of the degeneration and tone up the entire mouth. Hot of gums, teeth and body—raise the whole gamut nothing dentist may have about it.
